

UNSETTLED:

PAST AND PRESENT OF CARIBBEAN REVOLUTIONS

APRIL 26, 2011
3-5PM

1512 INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS BUILDING
COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY
420 W118th ST. 15 FLOOR, NYC

Historically, the Caribbean has produced revolutions of significant global impact, including in Haiti and Cuba. The reach and currency of these revolutions' style and logic remains contested. As revolutions rock Northern Africa and the Middle East and new conceptions of revolution emerge, considering the Caribbean's revolutions anew becomes an urgent task for both scholars and Caribbean societies.

Welcome and introductory remarks:

FRANCES NEGRON-MUNTANER

CSER, COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

Roundtable guests:

DORIS L. GARRAWAY

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

MAJA HORN

BARNARD COLLEGE

LAURIE LAMBERT

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY

NORA GAMEZ TORRES

CITY UNIVERSITY OF LONDON

Roundtable presented by:

The Caribbean Working Group at the Center for the Study of Ethnicity and Race (CSER), the Institute of Latin American Studies, and the Center for Ethnomusicology.