DESCRIPTION: Papers largely collected by Alexander Dallin(1924- ), Professor of International Relations at Columbia University 1956-1971. Almost all the materials concern World War II in the Soviet Union. Materials include reports, two diaries, documents, and printed materials. There are photocopies of reports concerning the German occupation of Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union, written by German military staff, and a mimeographed research report by Alexander Dallin entitled, "Kaminsky: The History of an Experiment(1941-1945)". One diary is by Otto Bräutigam, a German Foreign Ministry official detailed to work in the Ministry for the Occupied Eastern Territories; the other diary is by one Linge, apparently a secretary to Hitler, for his diary is a record of Hitler's daily appointments from 1934-1943. Both diaries are photocopies. The printed materials include issues of a number of titles published mostly in the German-occupied parts of the Soviet Union; they are mostly single issues. Two pamphlets concern Ukrainian nationalism during World War II, and there are several pamphlets published by the Russian Liberation Army(POA). There are photocopies of documents, cartoons, and leaflets concerning the partisan movement in the Soviet Union.
