Office files and individual case files of the Program for Soviet Emigre Scholars, an agency which in 1974-83 helped recent emigres from the Soviet Union who had professional and academic training and experience to adjust to the United States and find suitable positions. Office files provide information on such topics as contacts with professional societies (such as AAASS and AATSEEL), grants and finances, particular professions, special projects, publicity, and conferences. There are also individual case files on the people who came to the Program.

For an outline history of the Program, see verso.
For box list, see register.

(AAASS-- American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies.

(AATSEEL -- American Association of Teachers of Slavic and Eastern European Languages.)

PE & SC/12-83

The Program for Soviet Emigre Scholars began in 1974, with initial funding by a grant from the Ford Foundation to the American Council for Emigres in the Professions. Its goals were to assist recent Soviet emigre scholars to enter the American academic community; to help them get through the initial transition period (for example, through English language instruction, preparation of curricula vitae, small grants, scholars-in-residence programs, and general advice, counselling, and support); and to help them locate appropriate positions. In 1979, the ACEP closed its doors, and the Program became affiliated with the National Association of Jewish Vocational Services. The Program continued its work until the summer of 1983.
