DESCRIPTION: Correspondence, manuscripts, a documents, photographs, and printed materials of Anatolii P. Brailovskii (-), who was secretary of the Russo-American Progressive Political Committee in New York in the 1930s. Most of the collection dates from the 1930s, and touches on such topics as emigre activities in New York, American reaction to the Soviet purges, and the celebration of Pavel Miliukov's 80th birthday in 1939. Among the correspondents are Vladimir Burtsev, Geroid Robinson, and Aleksandra Tolstaia, and there are two prints of a photograph of Miliukov. There is a typed copy of a diary attributed to one T. Zabytyi, apparently from the period of the Russian Civil War. Printed materials include posters from the Civil War period.
