

The roles of (written) text and anaphor-type distribution in the construction of discourse*

Contents

FRANCIS CORNISH

FRANCIS CORNISH

The roles of (written) text and anaphor-type distribution in the construction of discourse 1

SANDRA HARRIS

Politeness and power: Making and responding to 'requests' in institutional settings 27

SIRPA LEPPÄNEN

Universalistic handbook discourse and the local needs of writers 53

Yael MASCHLER

The discourse marker nu: Israeli Hebrew impatience in interaction 89

ASHA TICKOO

On variable temporal passage in storytelling: Identifying constraints and evidencing constraint violation in the narratives of second-language writers 129

Keywords: anaphora; text; discourse; cohesion; coherence; context.

Introduction

The aim in this article is to demonstrate, using two attested texts (newspaper articles), how the reader creates discourse on the basis of the many and

Contents

Evaluating evaluative language

SRIKANT SARANGI

SRIKANT SARANGI Editorial: Evaluating evaluative language	165
---	-----

J.H. MARTIN Introduction	171
------------------------------------	-----

GLARE PAINTER Developing attitude: An ontogenetic perspective on APPRAISAL	183
---	-----

RUTH E. PAGE An analysis of APPRAISAL in childbirth narratives with special consideration of gender and storytelling style	211
---	-----

KRISTEN PRECHT Stance moods in spoken English: Evidentiality and affect in British and American conversation	239
---	-----

P.R.R. WHITE Beyond modality and hedging: A dialogic view of the language of intersubjective stance	259
--	-----

MARY MACKEN-HORARIK APPRAISAL and the special instructiveness of narrative	285
--	-----

MARY MACKEN-HORARIK Envoi: Intractable issues in appraisal analysis?	313
--	-----

Gender, genre, and writing style Contents

written texts

SHLOMO ARGAMON, MOSHE KOPPEL, JONATHAN FINE,
and ANAT RACHEL SHIMONI

SHLOMO ARGAMON, MOSHE KOPPEL, JONATHAN FINE,
and ANAT RACHEL SHIMONI
Gender, genre, and writing style in formal written texts 321

MIRANDA Y. P. LEE
Discourse structure and rhetoric of English narratives:
Differences between native English and Chinese non-native English writers 347

PERIMASEIDE
Medical talk and moral order: Social interaction and collaborative clinical work 369

YASUKO OBANA
Anaphoric choices in Japanese fictional novels:
The discourse arrangement of noun phrases, zero and third person pronouns 405

Introduction

Question of identifying and interpreting possible differences in linguistic between males and females has exercised linguistic researchers for (e.g., Trudgill 1972; Lakoff 1975; Labov 1990; Coates 1998). It has long been argued for some time that some consistent differences exist in speech (summarized in Holmes 1993), although the interpretation of such differences remains somewhat elusive. Most previous work has investigated phonological and pragmatic differences between male and female speech use in speech (e.g., Trudgill 1972; Key 1975; Holmes 1990;

Speaker contributions in radio sports commentary

Contents

commentary

WENDY L. BOWCHER

WENDY L. BOWCHER

Speaker contributions in radio sports commentary 445

PAMELA HOBBS

'You must say it for him': Reformulating a witness' testimony on cross-examination at trial 477

LESLIE JEFFRIES

Not a drop to drink: Emerging meanings in local newspaper reporting of the 1995 water crisis in Yorkshire 513

PER LINELL, JOHAN HOFVENDAHL, and CAMILLA

LINDHOLM

Multi-unit questions in institutional interactions: Sequential organizations and communicative functions 539

SANNA VEHVILÄINEN

Preparing and delivering interpretations in psychoanalytic interaction 573

Index of articles in Volume 23 (2003)

607