

WORD

Volume 57
Number 2

ARTICLES

- A phonotactic link between strong verbs and function words in English* Christopher Beedham 181
- The role of mood marking in complex sentences:*
A case study of Australian languages Jean-Christophe Verstraete 195
- Existing, being, having in Modern Hebrew and in English* Ninah Beliaevsky 237

REVIEWS

- Kay, Roberts, Samuels, and Wotherspoon: Historical thesaurus of the Oxford English Dictionary Elly Van Genderen 249
- Montgomery and Hall: Dictionary of Smoky Mountain English David K. Barnhart 252
- Rubel and Rosman, eds: Translating cultures: Perspectives on translation and anthropology Kanavillil Rajagopalan 258
- Aikhenvald: Evidentiality Edward J. Vajda 263
- Van Gelderen: Grammaticalization as economy Kleanthes K. Grohmann 266
- Fenyvesi, ed: Hungarian language contact outside Hungary Anthony P. Grant 270

WORD

Volume 57

Number 3

ARTICLES

Introduction	Kate Parry	275
Deixis and digital communication	Clifford A. Hill	279
Variation in multimodal literacies: How new technologies can expand or constrain modes of communication	Jo Anne Kleifgen	303
Does literacy improve sentential length and syntactic complexity?	Francesco D'Introno	325
New literacies: Historical and contemporary perspectives	Kate Parry	341
Stability and instability among Jewish languages and alphabets	George Jochnowitz	361
Three models of script transfer	Peter T. Daniels	371