THE PROSPECTS OF THE BUILDING TRADE.

Every well-wisher of this city must take a lively interest in the condition and prospects of the building trade. Activity in building denotes vigor and growth of the metropolis, whereas stagnation just as surely indicates decadence and retrogression. Indications abound on every hand that the long wave of adversity which has rolled over this interest has become thoroughly exhausted, and that from the present year we may look for more propitious signs if not for substantial encouragement for embarkations in this line. The conditions which present themselves to-day bear a marked contrast to those out of which was germinated the wild and reckless activity of the last great speculative era. The recuperative forces, which are now at work and which promise to reinvigorate and reinspire this noble calling, are all of the legitimate kind. The next great era of building activity promises to take its origin in a plane of low values, relatively if not actually the lowest that the city has known since it has taken on the dignity of a metropolis. In all but the most exclusively fashionable localities and along the most prosperous business thoroughfares, the price of land has fallen to nearly as low a level as that which prevailed twenty years ago.

The establishment of rapid transit and the prospect of an early resumption of specie payments are the potential factors of the new order of things which is likely soon to be inaugurated. The steadying and pacifying effects of a specie basis afford a meet reciprocal for the great prospective demand for dwellings which is likely to grow out of the successful establishment of rapid transit.

We have exhausted the benefits and tasted the bitterest dregs of a scale of high values, and we come now to test the virtue and efficacy of low prices. In familiar words high prices invite competition, and, we may add, destruction; but low prices defy competition as well as invite a liberal demand.

An important element in the calculations of the building trade must necessarily be the prospective results of mercantile operations. The fact, however, that a moderate degree of building activity has been kept up during the past five years of unparalleled mercantile depression, would seem to indicate that the vigor of building activity is not strictly or entirely dependent upon commercial results. There is a forceful vitality in the growth of our metropolis, which finds its root in sources which either cannot be traced out or which are not apparent to the ordinary observer. It is saying nothing new to aver that the latent wealth of New York—that which is ordinarily dissociated from and independent of mercantile revulsions—is the true germinating force behind many leading building improvements. Although the predominant sentiment and tone of business circles are those of gloom, uncertainty and trepidation, it may be easily determined that there are branches of business in this city, which are enjoying and have been partakers of a large share of success. The superlative advantage of a great financial and mercantile metropolis is that its impulses of prosperity are derived from a multitude of sources, and while some may be stagnant and unfruitful, others are sure to be glowing with warmth, and bristling with a healthful activity. If a discriminating and periodical census could be taken of the occupants of our most fashionable mansions, in probably no way could the waves of business prosperity and adversity be better delineated. While unfortunate members of our New York society withdraw to secluded abodes, the representatives of business success quickly step forward and take their places in the front ranks.

The two most serious problems which present themselves in connection with the revival of building are those of labor and taxes.

The greatest hardship that was ever inflicted on the building trade of this city was the enactment of the eight hour law, which so seriously disturbed the relations of employer and employed and which led directly and swiftly to a reaction in the condition of the mechanical classes, from the effects of which they are just beginning to recover. Wages like capital must ever be left under the controlling influence of the law of supply and demand. Probably no human device, and certainly no legal enactment can be framed for regulating the value of wages, or for establishing them upon any arbitrary level. During the dulness of the past few years, wages have become unduly depressed, sinking even in the case of first-class skilled mechanics to levels lower than those that prevailed before the war. Mason's and carpenter's wages at one dollar and seventy-five cents per day of ten hours, and laborers wages of from sixty cents to one dollar per day, cannot be taken as representing any normal standard. Already slight reactions have set in which have enabled mechanics to obtain a small increase of wages. Whether wisely or not, we would hardly venture to say, the leading mechanics have inaug erated a strike during the present season for a still greater advance, masons and carpenters claiming two dollars and a half, and other skilled mechanics claiming a proportionate advance. This movement is undoubtedly responsive to the outcropping of an enlarged demand for such services.

The steadying influence of the gold standard is no where more required for the interest of all parties than in the regulation of wages. A fluctuating standard of currency, and consequently of wages, introduces the element of uncertainty into all the calculations of the master builder. Unexpected and excessive advances in wages work a serious hardship to a contractor, as an unduly depressed standard of wages does to a mechanic. The interest and well being of the two classes (employer and employee) are so directly connected that it becomes most desirable that a fixed and uniform level of wages, at least for a given year or season, should be established. There is a possibility that the agitation of this question of wages may deter timid capitalists from embarking in building enterprises, and the forcing of any such condition would be certain to react upon the mechanic by lessening the demand for his services.

As the disposition seems to exist among employers to concede the rate of wages now demanded, to wit—two dollars and a half per day for the highest grade of mechanics, it is more than likely that this will be adopted as the prevailing standard for the coming season, and contracts will be gauged according to it.

With the adjustment of the labor question, there remains a solitary obstacle to a full and healthy revival of building, to wit—the matter of taxation. If one-half or two-thirds of the present taxation could be removed from real estate, by a reduction of city expenditures and by a distribution of some such share of it upon other objects, we would venture to prophesy a startling revival in the building trade that would extend promiscuously from the Battery to Harlem River, embracing the substitution of new and imposing edifices for old and dilapidated ones, and the covering of the immense area of vacant land that now disfigures the upper end of the island with new and comfortable homes. As it is, the unequal and oppressive burden of taxation that now rests on real estate acts as a powerful deterrent in the revival of this interest.

The building trade naturally divides itself into two branches, and we propose to consider the prospect of each of these separately.

LEGITIMATE BUILDERS.—The rank and file of the legitimate builders, those who execute work upon contract, have been lying in enforced idleness for many months awaiting the revival of business and a renewed demand for their services. This vast body of master and minor mechanics resembles a great army marshaled and equipped for duty and awaiting the word of command to advance into active service. There is no lack of mechanical genius in this city for executing the most varied and difficult tasks. That ability, however, waits patiently to be called into action by the inspiring invitation of the capitalist. Aside from the rumors which are floating about, of the projection of elaborate and costly private works, and aside from the numerous outcroppings of private orders which are already in course of execution, there are certain conditions which favor the hope of widespread and early employment for legitimate builders. The cheapness and plethora of money, which have become the chronic symptoms of this great money centre, cannot fail in time to have an effect in inducing capitalists to seek permanent investments in real estate. As the hope recedes of procuring high rates for money on call, or of obtaining solid securities that will pay a satisfactory rate of interest, the capitalist will be driven through sheer desperation to seek investments in real estate which will pay him a reasonable annual interest.

The scarcity of good mortgages and the discouraging prospect that this class of investment may be made the object of invidious and blighting legislation must in time have an effect in determining capitalists to give their preference to investments in improved property as the best means of combating the demands of the tax gatherer. The moment the plane of rental valuations is clearly defined, and a reasonable expectation can be founded of a demand for hiring improved property, we are persuaded that good real estate in this city will be decidedly preferred to even the best securities, which pay but meagre returns in the way of dividends. As compared with fluctuating and uncertain railroad bonds or county bonds of doubtful legality no room for hesitation is afforded. The ownership of good New York property, capable of producing a well defined income, is recognized by shrewd and experienced men as the most valuable and reliable expression of wealth that the world can produce. The exceptionally low scale of prices at which land can be bought and improvements made, must present an irresistible temptation to the man of means to invest in building productions.

The law of gravitation by which large areas of vacant property are slowly accumulating in the hands of wealthy people is another consideration which points to an early and extensive revival of building. The unwillingness to relinquish property that has once been acquired unless at full prices must eventually determine the owners of such estates to seek to make them productive by improvements.

SPECULATIVE BUILDERS.—The undaunted and unflinching courage of our leading speculative builders is proverbial. The ardor, not to say the recklessness, with which they have pursued their calling in these hard and difficult times furnishes the ground for extended and timely comment. No small degree of wonder has been excited by the promptness with which many extensive blocks of new buildings have been marketed. A knowledge of their results satisfies us that the question of a market is altogether one of price and not of character or volume of demand. For more than a year past a steady and continuous demand has been exhibited for dwellings of the better class, which only suffered a slight interruption during the agitation of the silver bill. As soon as this menace to business was withdrawn buyers presented themselves again in goodly numbers. A few notable instances have occurred of successful building speculation during this period, but we regret to say that in many cases the builders have failed to realize the cost of their productions, owing to the unfortunate fact of their having paid too great a price for the land on which their buildings were erected. This high price in some instances has included a bonus for a building loan. In other cases, where the land had been purchased for cash, it has been found that the attempt to market such productions when completed was baffled by the high cost at which the work had been capitalized. As the mechanical portion was executed on the lowest plane of prices and wages, it would be idle for the builder to look for any further reduction of the cost in that branch of the work. To enable them to cater successfully to the prevailing demand for houses, it is necessary for them to secure their land at the lowest possible rates. The value of vacant property must hereafter be gauged according to results in the selling of improved property. The sales of improved property which have recently been made have realized prices rather above than below the average views of purchasers, and, hence, may be accepted as reliable expressions of the public sentiment in regard to the prices of houses. As the buying public are the ultimate arbiters of value, so builders are compelled to gauge their transactions according to the standards set up by house buyers. All the leading and active speculative builders have had more or less experience with the views of current house buyers. It will be worse than folly for them in future to capitalize their productions on any higher planes of value than those indicated as the current ones during the present season. However unwelcome the prospect of a further reduction of values may be to the lot owner, it must be borne in mind that his interest conflicts with the twin interest of the builder and house buyer. Since the lot owner is left in the minority, the least he can do is to submit or else busy himself with the improvement of his own property. From our knowledge of affairs, we believe we cannot impress upon speculative builders too strongly the importance of seeking to acquire land at the lowest ruling rates, and above all to avoid any unnecessary outlay in the securing of building loans. Neat, comfortable and attractive dwellings are in good demand and may be readily sold at fair prices, and these prices may be considered large enough to include a satisfactory profit for the builder, provided he is not compelled to pay a disproportionate price for his land. The results of the past season, and we may say of the past year, afford reasonable encouragement for judicious and prudent operations of the speculative builder. They give the assurance that there is still an active demand for meritorious productions, and this demand seems to come from persons who are not seriously crippled by the times. The prevailing feature of this demand is that the buyer insists on acquiring property free from mortgage, and at a price which it shall be his privilege to strictly define. More than one-half of the current sales have been made to parties who have paid every dollar of the purchase price in cash, and are completely satisfied with the bargains which were made.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

On Tuesday last Messrs. E. H. Ludlow & Co. offered for sale by order of the executors of the will of the late Paschal W. Turney, several parcels belonging to the estate of deceased, but owing to the inadequacy of the bids made by the parties in attendance at the sale, only three plots were disposed of, as follows: two lots situated on the south side of Eighty-fifth street, 225 feet east of Tenth avenue, brought $1,030, and the one quarter interest in the plot of ground with building known as Numbers 647 and 649 Tenth avenue realized $8,000. At a sale held on Wednesday last, by order of the Receiver of the Clinton Savings Bank, the lot with buildings thereon known as No. 230 West Sixteenth street, was sold for $15,000, and the five-story brown stone store and tenement house, known as No. 252 East Seventy-fourth street brought, $5,000. By order of executors, Messrs. Muller & Son sold the six-story brick building and lot situate on the southwest corner of West Houston and Mercer streets (25x62.9) for $30,000, and two lots on the southeast corner of the Grand Boulevard and Ninety-eighth street, for $12,000. Mr. Harnett also disposed of the house with lot 18.9x100.5, No. 168 West Forty-seventh street, for $14,000.

Several important foreclosure sales have been held since our last report, full details of which appear below.

Under private contract O'Reilly Bros. have sold to Dr. Frank Abbott, of No. 12 West Nineteenth street, house and lot No. 22 West Fortieth street (18x95x100.5) for $35,000. Lynde Bros. have sold to Lawson B. Bell, one of the new houses on the south side of Fifty-fourth street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues (20x65 x100.5) for $33,000.

It is reported that R. Schoonmaker has sold to E. Oppenheimer parcel of land north side Fifty-seventh street, between Fourth and Lexington avenues, 40x 100, for $12,000. Oppenheimer has resold to W. A. Croft, builder, for $15,000, with a loan of $12,000. The cash price of this parcel is at the rate of $7,500 for a full lot. The adjoining lots were sold in 1875, (T. F. Neville to Brian McKenna), for $11,500 for a full lot, showing a decline of just $4,000 per lot.

Thirteen plans embracing twenty-five buildings, were filed with the Superintendant of the Department of Buildings during the week ending June 6, the estimated cost of which is $192,900. The notable buildings to be erected are a five-story apartment house, at No. 129 East Seventeenth street; one five-story brick warehouse at No. 144 Nassau street, by Banks, Bros.; six four-story brick stores, at the corner of Second avenue and Thirty-eighth street, and six three-story brick dwellings on One Hundred and Eleventh street, between Third and Fourth avenues.

The following are the sales at the Exchange Salesroom for the week ending June 6:

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Since our last report receivers have had a pretty hard market to deal with, and found it impossible to prevent a decline on values. The check to the demand occasioned by the holiday and the miserable condition of the weather resulted in a very full accumulation afloat, and this week opened with what even with a good business would have been considered a full supply, an advantage buyers were not slow to improve, and refused to negotiate except at a concession. A short trial convinced sellers that resistance would only briefly postpone the decline, and the necessity was therefore accepted under which prices went off until $5.25 became the actual selling rate for the best Haverstraws, and "Up Rivers" did not exceed $4.50 per M. This shading drew out a somewhat larger number of orders, but did not quicken the demand into positive animation, and no important recovery took place except possibly on really fine cargoes, for which about 12½c. more per M. was in some cases obtained. A great many of the offerings show the effects of stormy weather, being rough, washed, etc., and on these naturally it has been necessary to grant the greatest favors. As we write, sellers seem to be hopeful that the market has seen its worst, and a steadier tone must soon be infused. Much, however, will depend upon manufacturers who thus far appear to have been producing freely and shipping as rapidly as their stock was ready for market, giving a surplus of supply over demand which the best management of receivers cannot counteract. There is a good prospect for the sale of a large number of brick this summer on ordinary building wants, with additional calls also likely for consumption in the extension of the elevated railroads; but buyers cannot be induced to anticipate their wants, and offerings must be regulated accordingly. Pale Brick have been simply nominal, at about $2.00 with an occasional small sale at $2.25. Nobody appeared to want the stock, but holders would not shade the above rates. Fronts have been in moderately active demand, and remain steady on a basis of about former quotations. The export call is moderate, but still a little is doing, and we learn of charters for St. John of a schooner of 105 tons at $2.15 from Haverstraw, and one of 122 tons at $2.25 from Cold Spring.

We quote Pale, ℔ M., $2.00@$2.25; Hards, Up-rivers, $4.00@$4.50; Haverstraw bay, $5.00@$5.37½; favorite brands, $5.50@$5.75; Fronts, Croton—brown, $7; dark $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $23@$27; Trenton, $21.00@$29.00; Baltimore, $34@$38.00. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@$3 higher on ordinary and $5.00@$6.00 on fronts.

CEMENT.—On domestic the market continues unsettled, but without evidences of gaining much positive strength, the amount of the offerings fully balancing the outlet, and always a little to spare, looking up extra orders. As usual of late our local consumption affords comparatively little relief, but demand for shipment to home dependent points continues to take out a goodly amount of stock. Prices without important alteration. Foreign continues in some demand on local account, but the principal outlet is on interior orders of which the number is fair and from a variety of points. Supplies hold out well, and values remain easy on about the general range for some time current.

HARDWARE.—The distribution of supplies is not active, and occasionally the market shows a pretty dull tone, but more especially so on outlets toward interior points. The local wants are on the whole fair for the season, and exporters keep up a very good call for goods. Stocks and assortments hold out very well, without becoming excessive, with dealers offering readily to desirable customers on a basis of about former rates. A price list for the Family Vise has been published as follows: No. 1, plain japanned, 1½ in. jaw, $6.00 per doz.; No. 2, do., 2 in. jaw, $7.50 per doz.; No. 3, ornamented, 1½ in. jaw, $7.50 per doz.; No. 4, do., 2 in. jaw, $9.00 per doz. There is much irregularity on cast Butts again, including japanned, and the evident tendency is toward a lower range except possibly japanned with silver acorns.

LATH.—A moderate shading has been made since our last, with sales down to $1.50 per M., but we can hear of nothing below this, and, as we write, the tone seems to be a trifle firmer again with some dealers talking $1.55 per M. as a likely price, especially on small lots. The demand is not over liberal or general but as the forwarding of supplies has been judiciously managed the exhaustive capacity of the market was not overtaxed.

LIME.—We find no change in the situation. The supply and demand of all kinds appears to very nearly strike a balance, and this prevents a surplus accumulation pressing for sale, but at the same time no actual scarcity is shown, and sellers thus far have been content to accept former rates.

LUMBER.—Our general lumber market continues free of the least sign of speculative feeling and pretty much all the demands developed have the basis of actual and early wants. While few of these are very large at the moment there appears to be rather more of them and a steady going trade from day to day commences to move a fair amount of stock. Quite a number of builders have so far progressed with their work as to reach the point of actual consumption of lumber, and others are opening negotiations against the requirements of operations already in hand or soon to be started. The supply on hand has thus far been found about equal to the calls made upon it, but is by no means large or any too well assorted and additions have been found necessary by some dealers though the inclination seems to favor the policy of purchasing as little as possible and making old stocks go as far as they will. From exporters the inquiry continues fair, as a rule, but shows some irregularity according to available freight room or the necessity for filling vessels that have unemployed capacity. This, however, is least noticeable on West India shipments, from whence many orders come direct and positive.

Eastern Spruce comes forward to a fair extent on contract, and many of the reduced accumulations are now for the time being filled to very good working order. Random parcels not particularly plenty, however, and desirable bills find sale without much difficulty on a basis of about former rates, the average tone ruling steady. Sales of specials at present are moderate and buyers crowd hard for easy terms.

We quote at $12.00@$13.00 for random, possibly $13.50 for choice lengths in small cargo, and $13.00@$14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult.

White Pine remains about steady on all grades but the market without particularly brilliant features. On home account there is not much demand, but apparently a light stock available, while from shippers the call is met by a balancing offering of most grades wanted. This keeps matters about uniform, though the buyer has a little advantage now and then, where figuring is close and a slight shading will place an invoice. The amount on hand is very fair and pretty well assorted to present wants. We quote at $15@17 per M. for West India shipping boards; $20.00@21.00 for South American do; $15@16 for box boards; $17 for do. wide and sound; and timber to order at $30@40 per M.

Yellow Pine continues under delivery on previous contract to a fair extent, and there is also more or less being forwarded to dependent points from the same base of sale. New business, however, is moderate and confined principally to a cargo or two for shipment from Southern points, or possibly a call for flooring boards, or siding from stock in first hands here. There is a prospect that a pretty full sale of this class of wood will again be made to the elevated railroad companies during the present season. Receipts from the Southern ports since January 1st amount to about 31,750,000 feet. We quote random cargoes at about $18@21 per M.; ordered cargoes $22@24 do; green flooring boards, $20@21 do; and dry do. do. $20@23. Cargoes at the South, $14@15.50 per M; hewn timber, $7.50@14.

Hardwoods are said to be in better export demand again, but some dealers incline to the belief that everything they report will at once revolutionize the entire trade and, therefore, they refuse information. Nominally (under the circumstances), there is a better demand, induced, so rumor says, by easier terms, and we report it for what it is worth. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut $77@85 ℔ M; ash, $33@36 do; oak, $35@40 do.; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do., do., culls, $18@20 do.; cherry, $45@75 do.; white wood, ¼ and ⅝ inch., $25@27.50, and do. inch $33@25 do.; hickory, $25@30 do. for Western, and $40@50 for good near-by stock.

Yard trade has been fair in many sections of the city, in others rather dull, but rarely are dealers to be found who distribute with any freedom on fresh orders, the supplies going out in this way being of very light character. Supplies and assortments are good enough for the wants of the market, and terms not exacting toward desirable customers.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

The Albany Argus reports as follows:

The receipts of lumber are large; larger we presume than was anticipated by the trade. The market since our last report has been quiet. Prices are unchanged but are weak. Stocks are ample and are well assorted.

In coarse lumber there is not any change in prices; the trade has been fair, but rather quiet. The receipts are moderate; at some of the Northern mills there is a complaint of lack of water. Stocks in the district are, however, ample for the demands of the trade.

Chicago reports an advance of $1.00 ℔ M. feet in dry lumber with a good demand and orders ahead of supply.

On the 29th ult. a fire at Port Levis, Quebec, destroyed $35,000 worth of lumber.

The shipments of lumber from the Saginaw Valley for the season are 124,590,000 feet.

The exports of lumber from New York to twenty-three foreign ports during the week cover about 1,099,000 feet.

The receipts at Chicago since January 1st, 1878, are 199,380,000 feet against 136,112,000 feet for a corresponding period in 1877. The shipments, 198,314,000 feet against 165,590,000 feet.

The receipts of lumber at Buffalo for the week by lake are 7,524,300 feet; by rail, 69 car loads.

The receipts at Oswego for the week 2,301,500 feet; the shipments by canal, 2,593,000 feet.

Freights from Buffalo and Tonawanda to Albany are 2.10 ℔ M. feet; from Oswego, $1.60.

SAGINAW VALLEY.

Lumberman's Gazette Office:

BAY CITY, Monday, June 3, 1878.

The lumber market in the Saginaw Valley is now in a very quiet condition. About all the dry lumber on hand has been disposed of at good prices, and this year's cut is not yet in shipping condition, so that there is very little demand for lumber at the present time. We hear of a few sales being made during the past week at former quotations. Manufacturers do not look for much trade during the next sixty days, as the time is now close at hand when the farmers in all parts of the country will be busy with their harvesting, and the consequence will be that no building will be done until the farm work is finished. Lumber dealers will undoubtedly stack up early this year for the fall trade, and we look for an active market along about the first of August. The prices still rule firm, and manufacturers seem determined to hold their stock in preference to shading prices in the least. Dealers here in the city report an active car trade, orders coming in as fast as they can be filled. The shingle trade is good and prices steady as quoted.

The shipments of lumber from the river during the month of May just closed have been brisk, although freights have been so low as to make it unprofitable for boat men to handle the same. The amount shipped is but little in excess of that handled during the same month last year, yet the season opened so much earlier that the excess in the shipments from the river for the season is nearly 70,000,000 over that shipped to June 1, 1877.

Comparative statement of shipments from the river for the past three seasons to June 1:

	1876.	1877.	1878.
Lumber	93,476,050	69,732,948	138,028,773
Lath	4,916,200	5,823,300	10,490,000
Shingles	27,243,850	15,624,250	35,232,000

Hoops	6,536,000	3,810,000	3,113,000
Timber	341,036	377,000	89,000

The salt shipments will aggregate over 100,000 barrels.

The wholesale quotations following are the prices at which manufacturers hold stocks.

The Lumberman and Manufacturer as follows:

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., May 30, 1878.

All things work together for good to those who have got lumber on their yards and back-bone in their bodies. Trade continues large when the amount of lumber on hand is taken into account, although it has been interfered with by the recent heavy storms which have swept over Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin, and demoralized the roads. Freight discriminations have also effected the trade of the Valley unfavorably.

In the matter of the drives nothing of importance has occurred. The logs on the upper Mississippi are running into the Minneapolis booms and are all out to within a few million left on the brooks.

On the St. Croix nothing has been accomplished toward getting out the Snake River drive, which for three weeks has been wind-bound in the dead water above Cross Lake. The St. Croix Falls jam has been picked out, and is safe in the booms. The Apple River logs are also driven in. The other drives are making indifferent progress. The St. Croix has now probably 40,000,000 feet in.

There is nothing doing on the Chippewa, Black or Wisconsin rivers, and cannot be until there is a serious rise. Several of the mills on these streams have shut down for want of logs, and others will be compelled to in a few days.

Prices are not affected by any of these apparently important matters. Chicago and the river towns from St. Louis to Minneapolis are engaged in debating whether they can maintain prices on lumber which they have not got, and cannot by any possibly get, in 1878. A few leaning to the opinion that they cannot, and the majority fully impressed with the idea that if they had the lumber they could sell it.

Minneapolis continues to maintain her price list, which is a little above the other Northwestern markets on certain grades or sorts, while she is lower on others. It is probable that their differences will soon be adjusted, in some way, by the parties.

Chicago market piece stuff advanced 25 to 37½ cents on Monday, but if it was advanced 37½ dollars it would hardly effect outside markets, as yard prices would continue the same.

FOREIGN.

The London Timber Trades Journal as follows:

LIVERPOOL, May 22, 1878.

There is little change in the condition of the wood, market here, notwithstanding the deplorable state into which this country has been plunged by the war between labor and capital in the manufacturing districts, for as all transactions have been limited to the supplies necessary for satisfying immediate or pressing wants to complete contracts in hand, the same limited state of affairs still continues, and prices for dealers' quantities are unchanged.

In the open market, low qualities of goods are offering at reduced prices, and cargoes of some descriptions of timber, &c., can be bought at lower prices than have ruled during any previous part of the year. On the other hand, the stock of pine wood of all descriptions continues to diminish, and prices are consequently stiff for these kinds, as the stocks on hand are very small.

Spruce deals and battens show a slight decrease in value; but some dimensions are scarce and still command high rates, as will be seen from the returns below.

GLASGOW, May 22, 1878.

There are no arrivals into Clyde to report during last fortnight. For many years past we have been accustomed to receive in the early spring an abundant supply of St. John, N. B., deals, through the regular Anchor Line steam traders to Glasgow. This year, however, has been an exception, for up to this date there has not been any import, so that missing these large cargoes the yards here now present an extremely bare appearance. Indeed, from the quantity removed during the last few weeks, the depot is now nearly empty of deals. This might seem to give great encouragement to importers, but it is necessary to be guarded, for it will be a considerable time before our building trade can revive from its present languid and depressed condition, many tenements in the city and outlying districts still remaining unlet. A large cargo of broad Wisconsin pine deals recently arrived was sold here by auction to-day by Messrs. Edmiston and Mitchells. There was a very good attendance of buyers, and the lots were readily taken up.

Detailed prices will be found below:

First quality Wisconsin pine deals. 9 to 16 feet, 22 to 27 by 3, 2s 8½d; do., 17 to 21 by 3, 2s 8d; 13 to 16 feet, 16 by 3, 2s. 7½d.; 13 to 16 feet, 15 by 3, 2s. 7d.; 9 to 12 feet, 16 by 3, 15 to 18 feet, 14 by 3, 2s. 6½d.; 9 to 12 feet, 15 by 3, 13 and 14 feet, 14 by 3, 2s. 6d.; 15 to 16 feet, 12 and 13 by 3, 2s. 5½d.; 13 to 14 feet, 12 and 13 by 3, 2s. 5d.; 12 feet, 12 and 13 by 3, 14 to 16 feet, 11 by 3, 2s. 4½d.; 9 to 12 feet, 11 to 14 by 3, 13 and 14 feet, 11 by 3, 2s. 4d.; 12 to 16 feet, 10 by 3, 2s. 3½d.; 9 to 11 feet, 11 by 3, 9 to 18 feet, 9 by 3, 2s. 3½d.; 9 to 12 feet, 10 by 3, 9 to 20 feet, 7 by 3, 2s. 3d.; 9 to 16 feet, 8 by 3, 2s. 2d.

Second quality Wisconsin pine deals. 9 to 16 feet, 22 to 27 by 3, 1s. 11d.; do., 21 by 3, 1s. 10d.; 9 to 16 feet, 20 by 3, 13 to 16 feet. 18 and 19, by 3, 1s. 9d.; 9 to 13 feet, 18 by 3, 13 to 16 feet, 17 by 8, 1s. 8½d.; 9 to 13 feet, 19 by 3, 13 to 16 feet, 16 by 3, 1s. 8d per cubic foot; 9 to 13 feet, 17 by 3, 12 to 18 feet, 15 by 3, 15 to 18 feet, 14 by 3, 15 to 17 feet, 13 by 3, 1s. 7½d.; 9 to 12 feet, 14 to 16 by 3, 9 to 16 feet, 11 to 13 by 3, 1s. 6d. to 1s. 6¾d; 13 to 15 feet, 12 to 14 by 3, 1s. 7d.; 9 to 12 feet, 11 and 12 by 3, 13 to 18 feet, 10 by 3, 9 to 20 feet, 9 by 3, 1s. 5d. and 1s. 5½d.; 9 to 12 feet, 10 by 3, 1s. 4¾d.; 9 to 20 feet, 7 and 8 by 3, 1s. 4½d.

NAILS.—The demand continues moderate and uncertain from nearly all sources, and the market throughout is dull. Probably every dealer continues to quote on the basis of the old card, and these certainly are the nominal valuations, but for actual business in a wholesale way constant concessions are making and some of a very liberal character. Stocks not large but ample for present wants. We quote: 10d. to 60d., common fence and sheathing per keg, $2.60; 8d. and 9d., common do. per keg, $2.85; 6d. and 7d., common, per keg, $3.10; 4d. and 5d., common do., per keg, $3.35; 3d. and 4d., light, per keg, $4.10; 3d., fine, per keg, $4.85; 2d., per keg, $4.85. Cut spikes, all sizes, $2.85. Floor casing and box, 75c. above the same sizes of common. Finishing, $1 above and fine finishing $1.25 above.

CLINCH NAILS.

1¾ to 1½in.	2 & 2¼in.	2½ & 2¾ in.	3 in. & longer
$5@$5.25	$4.75	$4.50	$4.25 per keg

OILS.—Business is variable, but not often very free, and the market as a whole has a dull tone. Supplies are not allowed to accumulate freely, but there appears to be no scarcity against ordinary calls. We quote: Linseed, about 58@60c. ₱ gallon; lard, 55@57c. for winter; 51@53c. for No. 1, and 45@50 for No. 2; crude cotton seed, 35@40c., and refined summer yellow, do., 49@51c.

PAINTS.—There has not been quite so much doing of late. More or less call is made for the leading grades of stock but buyers evidently do not handle more than they require for early consumption, and refuse to indulge in any purchases that will have to be carried for more than a few weeks. In a wholesale way the operations are also small on both domestic and imported goods and dealers are prone to complain of the condition of trade. The supply shows good quantity and assortment and terms are easy, very much so in some cases, but these facts are no attraction to buyers who are without immediate use for supplies,

PITCH.—A quiet, slow sort of trade is doing, confined in the main to orders on immediate positive requirements and to satisfy this the supply is fair in both quantity and assortment. Prices vary a little according to size of order, &c., but preserve about the former general range. We quote at $1.87½@2.12½ for city delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Demand not very active in a jobbing way, but still most dealers manage to keep a little stock moving and to the ordinary outlets. The offering only fair, and prices have hardened somewhat, closing firmly at 29½@33c. according to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—Supplies continue to about balance the calls made, and sellers gain no very great advantage. Further concessions, however, have not been considered necessary, and in a jobbing way the position is steady. We quote at $2.05@2.15 for Newberne and Washington, and $2.10@2.25 for Wilmington.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

THE FIFTH AVENUE.

The supremacy of Fifth avenue is natural and demonstrable, not accidental or artificial. A cursory examination may lead some to believe that under given circumstances in the settlement of the city, Fourth or Sixth avenues might have been chosen as the seat of fashionable residence. Aside from the pre-eminent claims of Fifth avenue as the natural centre of the island, occupying an elevated and commanding position, there are other considerations which may have precluded any other choice. Fourth avenue was already occupied by the horse and steam cars, and Sixth avenue had been appropriated for business purposes. The claims of localities east and west of these last mentioned avenues had been investigated, tried and found wanting.

It required but little prescience to determine that the shore line of this island would eventually and wholly be taken up as the locale of manufacturing business, although no one could have anticipated that, in this class of business would be included fat rendering and bone boiling and the production of fertilizers. Sufficient experience had been gained in the once fashionable localities of the Seventh Ward, and in the colonization sought to be established by Dr. Clement Moore on the North River, to convince observant and far-seeing citizens of an early period that the shore line, notwithstanding its commanding river views and salubrious breezes, was entirely unfitted for purposes of fashionable private residences. These considerations predetermined the choice of Fifth avenue as the seat of fashion, a choice which after generations have fully approved, and which reflects conspicuously the sagacity and forecast of our forefathers. It stands to-doy the via maxima of the metropolis and of the continent; destined in time perhaps to assert its superiority over any fashionable thoroughfare that the world can produce.

At the present day we are little concerned about its past history or the legends and traditions of its origin. We propose to take a brief glance at its present status and its future prospects and capabilities. We will consider it in sections.

1ST. WASHINGTON SQUARE TO TWENTY-SECOND STREET.—This lower extremity of the avenue is in an anomalous condition. It can hardly be deemed to be in an obsolete or moribund condition, because it still retains the residences of many eminent and wealthy citizens, and there is a fair sprinkling of business along the line. It is bisected and invigorated by Fourteenth street, a street destined to renew the traditions and glories of old Canal street as a retail shopping mart. And yet, somewhat unaccountably, property valuations are at a very low ebb in this section of Fifth avenue. The Springler leases are being renewed at valuations of $12,000 to $16,000 for a full lot, and the lease of the old Delmonico corner, with its commanding frontage of street and avenue and its extended superficial area, was recently made at the ground rental of $3,500, a higher sum it is believed, than the property can now afford to pay. Business experiments on this line have not been remarkably successful. The trouble seems to be that there are too many old wealthy citizens firmly settled in their spacious and comfortable houses, who have stubbornly and resolutely determined not to be removed except by the undertaker. Consequently there is not sufficient unanimity in the conversion of dwellings into stores. Here and there a single owner has defied the common sentiment and ventured to erect a handsome store, as the Cutting estate, the Gibbs estate and some others have done, and, in truth, they have been very poorly repaid for their enterprise. Then this part of Fifth avenue is obliged to compete very sharply with those established marts with which it is adjacently and completely surrounded, to wit: Broadway, Fourteenth street, Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street. If one or two solid blocks of old dwellings on this line could be converted at one time into appropriate stores so as to afford an opportunity for a variety of business occupations, we believe the future of this section would define itself very quickly.

It will be hard we know to move such old residents as the Lenox, Talbot, Minturn, Taylor, Belmont families and others, who have lifelong and priceless associations connected with their present abodes, and who are there surrounded with creature comforts which more modern residences might fail to afford. These large residences are too wasteful of room and too expensive to be eligible for boarding house purposes, when at length they are surrendered by their present owners. The probabilities are that slowly but surely they will be converted into stores, and, in time, lower Fifth avenue will be a formidable competitor of the surrounding business thoroughfares. Those who imagine that it is hopelessly cut off and isolated by the crossing of Broadway, at Twenty-third street, may live to see their mistake demonstrated.

2D. TWENTY-SECOND STREET TO THIRTY-SECOND STREET.—Within these ten blocks are comprised the most interesting as it is the most active and bristling portion of the avenue. The great vortex of population that surges and pulsates around the street focii at Madison square sends a more or less disturbing influence up and down Fifth avenue. The two faces of the blocks between Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets are now wholly given up to trade with the exception of Dr. Peckham's corner. His residence continues to stand as a noble sentinel of the past, and is a type of the stubborn but unavailing resistance which old residents have invariably presented to the encroachments of trade. This short section between Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets exemplifies what we may expect in a short time to be the appearance of the whole avenue as far as Thirty-second street. A dozen years ago a sincere and determined effort was made to turn the whole or the greater part of this section to commercial uses. This purpose was thwarted by the prohibitive tariff which owners then saw fit to place upon the fee simple of their premises. There may be a few, but very few, of the owners who refuse to recognize the rapid onward march of business on Fifth avenue. The conviction has been forced slowly and reluctantly upon the minds of all, that sooner or later these residences will be demanded for business purposes. With some it is a question of "how soon" and with others of "how much." Already many of the houses in this quarter have been given up for boarding house purposes for which they happen to be very well adapted. This is an evidence of the exodus of the fashionable owners, which has already begun. Scarcely a year passes but two or more of these buildings are converted into stores and nothing prevents their wholesale conversion to-day but the exorbitant prices which are demanded by owners. At one time as high as $200,000 or $250,000 was asked for a single lot. Since then these pretentions have fallen, but recent transactions indicate the very high appreciation in which this property is held by both buyers and sellers. The most recent sales are the northwest corner of Thirty-second street at $120,000; the northeast corner of Thirty-second street at $115,000; the southeast corner of Twenty-ninth street at $120,000, while inside lots of the standard dimensions have brought from $55,000 to $75,000. These prices, though carrying house-buildings with them, may really be taken to represent the value of the land alone, as the buildings in time will have to be torn down and can now be utilized for store purposes only at the outlay of considerable money.

3D. THIRTY-SECOND STREET TO FIFTY-NINTH STREET.—However rapid the conversion and absorption of property below Thirty-second street maybe for mercantile purposes, at or near Thirty-second street a bulwark is presented in the order of ownership which may resist the onward tide of trade for many years. It is quite unlikely that either of the Astor mansions or the Stewart mansion will be given up to trade purposes in the lifetime of the present occupants, and the extensive surroundings possessed by both of these estates afford a substantial guarantee that the existing features of the neighborhood will be preserved intact for an indefinite period. This section embodies the best architectural display, the most substantial wealth as well as the most aristocratic instinct of the metropolis. Our wealthy citizens have ever been peculiarly gregarious, and this trait is nowhere more aptly illustrated than in the circumscribed limits of the strictly fashionable portion of the Fifth avenue. It is to be regretted that one section of the avenue at least could not be preserved for a time free from any intrusions of trade. Its ultimate fate may call for its complete surrender, though we may believe that day is far distant, when we contemplate the massive and stately mansions that abound throughout this section. As omnipotent and fastidious as wealth is, it has been powerless to preserve the inviolability of this portion of the thoroughfare. Strange to say, residents themselves in some few cases, have procured the erection of buildings which are not at all creditable to their taste and which certainly mar the appearance of the avenue. The deed is done, however, and is not likely to be undone for many years. It is a free country, and owners have a right to do as they please with their own. The heterogenous and nondescript character of some of the new improvements on this line are the outcome of the inordinate prices that were once asked for this property. The owners believed that there were people living with money who would pay any price that might be asked for property on Fifth avenue. Under this conviction property has been improved with cheap and unsuitable buildings in anticipation of meeting with customers at some future day who would pay the exorbitant price asked. The demand in the past has been sufficient to take up all vacancies on Fifth avenue, and, but for the obtuseness and stubbornness of the owners, the avenue would present to-day an unbroken line of grand residences through this entire section. The mixture of buildings and occupations has gone so far as to make the necessity a virtue on the part of our wealthy citizens to forego their extreme fastidiousness as so surroundings, and adopt the English plan of living contentedly within their residences; not allowing themselves to be disturbed about exterior surroundings. Having stood undismayed the incursions of hotels, apartment houses, livery stables, shops and horticultural gardens, it is more than likely that the fashionable occupants of these houses will continue to assert their superiority over disagreeable associations.

4TH. FIFTY-NINTH STREET TO ONE HUNDRED AND TENTH STREET.—This introduces us to the Park section of the avenue. No intelligent observer of the city's growth can fail to see that it was a topographical blunder to interrupt the continuity of this great fashionable drive and thoroughfare. The Park has conferred on Fifth avenue absolutely nothing, compared with what it has taken away. It should never have been extended to the avenue. The easterly boundary should have been a new avenue running parallel with Fifth avenue, at a distance of 100 feet or 200 feet. If the former distance, then a view of the Park might have been had from the gardens and rears of the avenue houses. If the latter distance, the residents of the new and special avenue would have gained the benefit of this view. Then our one avenue of world-wide celebrity would have presented an unbroken and continuous line as far as Mount Morris. As a device for attracting fashionable residents, the Park feature of the avenue has been an acknowledged failure. A few wealthy citizens, blessed with the courage and spirit of pioneers, have built conspicuous mansions on the Park line, at the rate of about one in every five years since the Park was opened. These mansions have generally been built by persons who were largely interested in neighboring property, and the projections of some of them may be looked upon as expensive real estate advertisements. The indisposition of wealthy and fashionable citizens to cross Fifty-ninth street is as rooted and insuperable as if a rapid transit frame-work, or a deep river marked the line of division. There is no lack of reason for this freak of fashion. The unwillingness to live opposite a vast open space which presents so dreary and bleak an appearance in winter; the desire for opposite neighbors to enliven the monotony of daily life; the dread of unwholesome influences emanating from such a large surface of unimproved land; these are some of the considerations which have determined the practical failure of land speculation around Central Park, and will compel the owners of this property, in time to look for some outlet for it other than residence occupation. Undoubtedly the most suitable and profitable use for it is in the construction of mammoth apartment houses. This style of improvement has already been successfully inaugurated and is likely to predominate in the future, as the most popular and judicious use to which these lands can be put. The few gentlemen who have built their private residences here, have found that it takes more than one swallow to make a summer, and one residence, however costly and elaborate, does not constitute a palatial neighborhood. Libraries, hotels, churches, and apartment houses are the typical structures of the boundaries of Central Park as now defined.

5TH. ONE HUNDRED AND TENTH STREET TO HARLEM RIVER.—This brings us to the Harlem section of the great avenue, the central feature of which is beautiful Mount Morris Square, which divides the section in equal portions. Parks have some, and we may say their chief, attractions in purely residence quarters where land is cheap. The most charming, delightful and picturesque park in this city is little Mount Morris, which has cost the least of all. Its dense foliage, its velvety green sward, its beds of flowers, its bushes of roses, together with its elevated promontory from which a widely extended view may be comfortably had, are features in which it has no rival. Yet with all its conceded attractions it has failed to exert any active influence upon property immediately surrounding it, another evidence of the indisposition of our people to live opposite open spaces. The growth of this section of the avenue is from the centre, at about the corner of One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street. Its characteristics are those peculiar to a suburban town. With the exception of the historic mansions of Connolly and Genet, the residences are plain, modest structures, mostly detached or semi-detached, presenting the fascinating features of ideal villa life.

If owners of vacant property on this line are wise they will seek to maintain its villa character and avoid introducing the oppressive four-story block mansions.

From One Hundred and Tenth street to One Hundred and Sixteenth street, the lots are mostly sunken from twenty to thirty feet below the grade. These will have to be filled up in time. From One Hundred and Sixteenth street to One Hundred and Twentieth street there is a continuous line of high, rocky ridge, at some places as high as thirty feet above the grade through which the avenue and street openings have been hewn. This rock should be removed simultaneously, otherwise the prospect of bombardment will hinder improvements. The avenue is graded, paved and sewered, clear up to the margin of Harlem River, and at the upper end presents some very eligible building sites.

The beauty and comeliness of this extremity of Fifth avenue is a standing remonstance against the enormous folly of constructing those costly boulevards on Sixth and Seventh avenues which have conferred no benefits and imposed so many hardships upon property owners.

THE UNIT OF LAND MEASURE.

It is not to be wondered at in a city whose citizens are drawn from all parts of the globe, that there should be a diversity of ideas respecting the proper unit of city land measure. Naturally, those of our wealthy citizens who essay the task of land investment, and none but those above the common necessities of life are equal to such a task, adhere in their estimates to those standards of measurement with which they became familiar in the places of their nativity or early business life. For instance, in rural and farming countries the common measure is that of superficial area, the acre and its fractions being taken as the standard unit. In provincial cities and overgrown villages the custom is to measure land by its frontage on a given street or roadway. In this case the value is quoted by so many dollars per front foot, an allowance for greater or less depth being usually made in the established price. The fact of such lots being unequal and irregular in depth is deemed to be of little account, provided the frontage is combined with a sufficiency of depth for ordinary purposes of occupation. It not infrequently happens in our own city that deluded persons will curtail the depth dimensions of their lots, and still imagine that they are possessors of a city lot entitled to equivalency with similarly situated lots of standard depth. This practice obtains conspicuously along our leading avenues, where the temptation is almost irresistible to cut off a street lot from the ends of avenue lots. Rarely is the attempt made to curtail the depth dimensions of street lots. Although an unwise proposition has been laboriously and earnestly urged upon the community to subdivide some of our up-town city blocks into infinitesimal portions, by plotting out new transverse streets, with a view of reducing the cost of land necessary for a moderate building site. The unwisdom of this proposal will be obvious to those at all familiar with the subject of New York building construction.

Experience and the lapse of time have only served to demonstrate the foresight and wisdom of our forefathers who laid out the rectangular blocks into which the city is divided north of Fourteenth street. For facility of reference, of access and of subdivision into convenient city residence sites, no plan that we can conceive of may be said to surpass the one which has been adopted in this city. At all events, the lines are defined, recognized and established beyond any possibility of recall. We believe it is well to emphasize and bear in mind that there is an existing unit of city land measure theoretically if not practically recognized in this city, namely, the lot of twenty-five feet by half the block. In ordinary calculation it is assumed that the dimensions of a city lot are twenty-five feet front by one hundred feet in depth, although there is a variation of between seven and eight feet in the depth of different blocks. This variation is not sufficient to disturb the value of the common unit, twenty-five by half the block.

The integrity of this unit depends upon the strict observance of these exact proportions. Any increase of width and shortening of depth, or narrowing of width and increase of depth beyond this standard measurement will merely produce a parcel of land greater or less than the standard unit, the valuation of which must be determined accordingly. The reduction of the depth dimensions while preserving the width dimensions constitutes a fraction of the standard lot.

It is not sufficient to meet the requirements of this standard that a parcel of land shall contain the given area of twenty-five hundred feet, because this area may be distributed in a manner that would give greater or less value to the parcel. Every irregular shaped piece of land in this city should be estimated and valued according to its relation to the unit of land measure, to wit, the full city lot of twenty-five feet in width, front and rear, by a hundred feet in depth on either side.

THE BURLINGTON.

While the apartment houses proper, notwithstanding their convenient construction, still throw the burden of housekeeping on those who seek that style of domicile, the new family hotels, which have recently been erected in this city, combine all the comfort of the larger hotel and all the privacy of the apartment house. The latest addition to this class of structures is The Burlington on the south side of Thirtieth street, between Broadway and the Fifth avenue. This building, now ready for occupants, presents a solid appearance, being erected in the modern French style with modifications suited to the tastes of our people. It covers a plot of ground which has a frontage of seventy feet on Thirtieth street, and is ninety feet deep.

Built of Philadelphia brick and trimmed with brown stone, the six stories of the Burlington present a massive front, which, owing to its plainness, offers a marked contrast to the ornamental buildings of this kind recently erected in this city. A thorough examination of the structure does not at all belie its solid outside appearance. Everything has been constructed in the most substantial manner and of the very best material.

The floors over the working part of the house are thoroughly firepoof, built with iron beams from Althause & Co., and filled with cement. The rear hall also is fireproof, and the stairs of heavy wrought iron in the rear of the building are enclosed in brick walls up to the roof. If a fire should occur in the lower part of the building, it would be virtually impossible for the flames to reach the upper stories.

The carpenter work, by J. C. Hoe & Co., of Gansevoort street, is superior throughout, The Burlington, being finished completely with hard wood, including even the kitchen and laundry, where the appointments are of the most thorough nature. The main hall and vestibule are in mahogony and cherry, and so is also the enclosure of the elevator, which is one of the hydraulic elevators erected under the Otis Brothers new patent. This elevator rises in a carefully constructed well-hole, no posts at all disfiguring the surroundings. It is encircled on three sides by an elegant marble staircase, which is one of the finest ever constructed in New York.

In fact, the Messrs. Fisher & Bird, who have furnished the marble for The Burlington have completed their task in a manner for which due credit should be given, not only for the marble stairs above alluded to, but also for the marble tiling and wainscoating throughout the building. In the hall, this marble tiling is relieved with Bardiglio and red Greotte marble and also with a Belgian black base to the wainscoting.

The first room that strikes the attention of the visitor on entering is the dining-room which measures 26x44 feet. It is elegantly finished in ash and oak, and the workmanship of Pottier and Stymns tells here to great advantage. There is direct communication with the staircase as well as with the private stairs. But by far the greatest attraction of the dining-room is the outlook upon the adjoining flower garden, which is part of the property belonging to the Messrs. Darling & Griswold, proprietors of the Fifth Avenue hotel. Of course there can be no complaint that this dining-room needs ventilation.

Each room is provided with one of W. H. Jackson's ornamental grates, the tiled fire places especially being exceedingly attractive. The chandeliers in all of these rooms are of a new design by Mitchell, Vance & Co.; the shades over all of the lights adding considerable to the cheerful ornamentation of the rooms, which are also provided with speaking tubes.

The number of bath-rooms in The Burlington shows that it is really what it professes to be—a family hotel; no less than two of these necessary appendages to a well constructed domicile being attached to each suite of rooms. These contain all the latest improvements which the well known plumbers Locke & Munroe, of Broadway and Thirty-fifth street, could possibly devise. Their work throughout the building, from cellar to roof, has been conducted on scientific principles, which exclude all possible chance for the escape of sewer gas. In this connection it should also be stated that great care has been taken in the bakery, as well as in the kitchen, to prevent the smell of cooking from penetrating into any of the suites or halls of the house. Messrs. Bramhall, Deane & Co. have furnished the most approved ranges, while the steam heating has been attended to by the Angell & Blake Manufacturing Company.

There can be no doubt that everything throughout The Burlington has been constructed with the sole idea of making the guests feel comfortable. The rooms are all perfect, and the tout ensemble enables each person to either retire to his or her own suite of apartments, or to enjoy the companionship of other guests who happen to take advantage of the reception and dining-rooms, the same as in any other hotel. The flower garden especially, of which other houses like this should take an example, is a common ground for all guests to meet upon, while the corridors and private halls again soon bring each guest back to his own exclusive domicile. In these corridors the beautifully embossed glass by the Smith & Dalleime ornamental glass works, will not fail to be admired by all the visitors. In fact, every detail of The Burlington speaks of comfort and ease, showing that Mr. Stephen D. Hatch, the architect, when he conceived the plans for all this excellent work thoroughly appreciated the responsiblity of the task conferred upon him by those popular hotel propretors, who are the owners of the building. Messrs. N. & H. Andruss, of West Twenty-sixth street, the masons of The Burlington, have also performed their work in accordance with the letter of the contract, and produced an edifice that adds greatly to the beauty of that section of the city. And yet the entire cost of the building is not over $130,000. Conducted as it will be by a Mr. Colt, whose practical experience in the management of such a family hotel, is said to be the very best that can be had, The Burlington will not fail to become at once popular with a refined class of people and remunerative to the owners, who will find a speed and plentiful return for their investment. We are glad to hear that more than half of the suites have already been rented, and that in very few days The Burlington will be in active operation, and afford a pleasant home to those families who while preferring apartment suites to a large hotel, nevertheless will find themselves installed in one the most comfortable family hotels in New York.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

Full details of all sales held at the Exchange, since our last report, appear below. There is little, if any, change in the market, and the week closes without any notable incident, except the activity still displayed in building. Twenty-one plans, embracing thirty-two buildings, were filed with the Superintendent during the week ending June 13, the total estimated cost of which is $569,500. At Nos. 40 and 42 West Fourteenth street, Mr. Jacob Rothschild will erect a five-story iron and brick store, to cost $70,000. At No. 32 West Twenty-third street, Messrs. Stern Bros. will erect a five-story iron store to cost $65,000, and five four-story brown stone dwellings will be erected at the northwest corner of Fifty-seventh street and Fourth avenue. Fifty-five two story and basement, high stoop, Philadelphia brick dwellings will also be erected on both sides of One Hundred and Forty-second street, corner of Willis avenue. Mr. Thomas Smith is the owner and builder, and William O'Gorman, of No. 334 East Seventy-fourth street, is the architect and superintendent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Any hopes entertained of an improvement in the tone of the market for Common Hards have been doomed to disappointment, matters taking even worse form than last week, and the position showing a slight touch of demoralization. This is the direct result of a supply far in excess of the demand and the utter impossibility of attracting buyers who cannot handle stock in immediate advantage. Nearly all the yards are fairly stocked, consumption was very slow owing to the unfavorable weather and with contractors unwilling to risk prosecution for street obstructions by piling up in front of work, an outlet for supplies was rarely found in proportion to the amount offering, especially when at one time nearly eighty cargoes were afloat seeking sale. There is naturally considerable grumbling over the condition of the market, but nothing particularly encouraging at the present writing, and it is hardly possible that any positive stiffening on values can take place until supply and demand are more closely adjusted. On quotations much irregularity has existed, and the figures as we write have rather a nominal basis, but it would appear that $5 is the very extreme on Haverstraws, and $3.75 the top on "Up Rivers," though some of the choice Fishkills might be made to realize $4. On the inside figures as low as $4 on Haverstraw, and $3@3.25 for "Up River," these rates of course covering the poorest quality. On Pale Brick the market must be considered as entirely nominal, about $2 being named as the average wholesale figure, but no business taking place to fairly establish a value. Fronts have remained quiet, but are steadily held, and the accumulation not large enough to result in any pressure to realize. Export movements are not very free, but a little doing all the time. About 200,000 were cleared for St. John, N. B., last week.

We quote Pale, ℔ M., $2.00@$2.25; Hards, Up-rivers, $3.75@$4.00; Haverstraw bay, $4.25@$5.00 favorite brands, —@$5.25; Fronts, Croton—brown, $7; dark $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $23@$27; Trenton, $24.00@$29.00; Baltimore, $34@$38.00. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@$3 higher on ordinary and $5.00@$6.00 on fronts.

LIME.—Matters keep the even tenor of their way on this market, an outlet being found for most of the stock coming to hand and prices ruling about on the line of former quotations. Possibly a few more orders have been received, but without display of anxiety on the part of buyers, and receivers gain no advantage. In a general way Eastern and State grades are in the same situation.

GLASS.—Dealers are still more or less discouraged by the demand, which is very irregular and seldom reaches any full volume. Buyers seem to know just exactly the amount they can use within a given period, and nothing induces them to operate beyond. Under an ordinary demand, neither the supply or assortment would be considered full, but for the present condition of the market there is quite enough and to spare. There is, however, an evident tendency among dealers in domestic product, as well as with the importers, to assume a steadier tone, and while this does not merge into an attempt at forcing an advance, it results in the refusal of further concessions, and especially on jobbing parcels.

HARDWARE.—Demand has again proven only moderately active, and confined largely to such small parcels as may be wanted to satisfy the current wants of local jobbers, or the usual run of mail orders from regular correspondents in the interior. Indeed there is scarcely anything of interest on the business of the current week, and dealers appear to think that trade will not now revive to any extent until the summer drag has passed. On prices the most important changes are in Burden's horse shoes to 3⅜c. per lb., cash; mule shoes, 4¼c. per lb., do., in lots of 100 kegs or more, delivered free on board at Troy. The same goods from store here are worth $3.50 per keg for horse, and $4.50 do. for mule shoes. On cast butts, the irregularity so often noted, appears to become greater, and it is almost impossible to give any quotations calculated to fairly indicate the market. Sales are said to have been made at 80 and 10 per cent. discount, and buyers certainly have all the advantage. A price list for the Bisbee trowels has been issued. On brick trowels, London and Philadelphia patterns, the cost is $8.00 per doz. for 8 inch, double ferrule, with 30c. per doz. added for each ½ inch increase in size up to 14 inches, making top rate, $11.60. The cost of single ferrules is 3½c. per doz. less on all sizes. On New England and P. S. or Lowell pattern, $7 25 for 6 inch double ferrule, with 12½c. added for each ½ inch up to 9 inch, and 25c. for each ½ inch from this up to 11 inch. Pointing trowels, $3.50 for 3½ inch patent ferrules, with 5c. added for each ½ inch up to 7 inch. Extra finish pointing trowels, 3½ to 6 inch, $4.10; and 6½@7 inch, $4.40. Plastering trowels, 3½x9½ inch, $10.00 per doz.; 4x10 inch, $10.50 do; 4½x10½ inch, $11.00 do; 5x11 inch, $11.50 do. Corner trowels, 5 inch, $8.30 per doz.; 6 inch, $8.60 per doz.; 7 inch, $8.90 per doz.; extra finish, 5 inch, $8.60 per doz.; 6 inch, $9.00 do; 7 inch, $9.50 do. From the above rates there is a trade discount of 10 per cent.

LATH.—The market is weaker. Arrivals have proven pretty heavy, there was no corresponding increase of demand, and the advantage tended in buyer's favor. Most of the receivers, as we write, seem to think that about $1.50 should be quoted as it is an asking rate, but $1.45 has been accepted, and though this is understood to cover cash sales only, the rate is probably all that could be obtained in an ordinary way.

LUMBER.—So far as our local wants are concerned there is not much demand for lumber of a general character, but still the improvement advised in our last is retained with here and there a dealer reporting some additional calls for special cargoes, etc. The wants of the elevated roads, both the extensions on this island and those building in Brooklyn, will, it is likely help swell the sales of lumber materially, especially of yellow pine, and there are also a few more calls for manufacturing purposes. The export demand thus far this month has been very fair, and is still doing pretty well, with West India orders, as usual, affording the best outlet, though South America wants a little, and the grain vessels continue to take out considerable quantities of ceiling to Europe. Supplies are sufficient to satisfy all calls at present but do not accumulate with any freedom.

Eastern spruce remains steady for attractive serviceable stock, and meeting with about the average demand, but buyers are not particularly vigorous in their calls for goods and would scarcely afford an outlet for many additional cargoes. Manufacturers and their agents here endeavor to feed the market slowly and this preserves values at a fairly uniform level. Only a few special bills are ordered.

We quote at $12.00@$13.00 for random, possibly $13.50 for choice lengths in small cargo, and $13.00@$14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult.

White pine shares much the old condition of affairs. The local demand is not active, and is of a erratic character, with sellers rarely making a price on goods until they know the exact wants as to quantity and assortment of buyers. Export demand, however, affords a steady outlet for a considerable amount of stock, and on this movement dealers appear to be very well satisfied. We quote at $15@17 per M. for West India shipping boards; $20.00@21.00 for South American do; $15@16 for box boards; $17 for do. wide and sound; and timber to order at $30@40 per M.

Yellow pine is not much in demand for shipping orders or on calls for local consumption in the ordinary form, and the tone is a little irregular though probably buyers rather have the advantage, special contracts for railroad purposes, however, are said to be making, and in some cases at pretty low rates considering the requirements. We quote random cargoes at about $18@21 per M.; ordered cargoes $22@24 do; green flooring boards, $20@21 do; and dry do. do. $20@23. Cargoes at the South, $14@15.50 per M; hewn timber, $7.50@14.

Hardwoods are held steadily, and there does not appear to be a very large or any too well assorted supply here. The demand, however, is uncertain, and while the rumors of export orders before referred to are still current they do not have positive confirmation. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut $77@85 ℔ M; ash, $33@36 do; oak, $35@40 do.; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do., do., culls, $18@20 do.; cherry, $45@75 do.; white wood, ½ and ⅝ inch., $25@27.50, and do. inch $33@35 do.; hickory, $25@30 do. for Western, and $40@50 for good near-by stock.

Among the yards there is some signs of life daily, but the movement is confined principally to small parcels taken away for immediate consumption by buyers, and covering about an average selection. Prices, of course, vary according to amount, and our quotations cover as near as may be the figures obtained on the ordinary run of open sales. Under special contract or for large orders, buyers can now and then obtain better terms, and competition between two or three dealers also reduces cost in some localities.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

The Albany Argus of June 12th says:

There is a steady trade in the district for pine lumber, with buyers both from the South and East; some round lots have recently been shipped east by rail at quotations. The receipts by canal continue free, giving us an ample and well assorted stock. Freights for pine lumber from Tonawanda to Albany are down to the very low figure of $1.90@1.95 per M. feet; from Bay City to Tonawanda lake freights are reported at $1.12½ per M. feet, and some shipments are reported as low as $1.00.

Coarse lumber are in good supply and demand. Never up to this time in the history of the trade has there been as much sold as there has been this season. There is not any change in prices. Receipts about as usual and mainly of spruce, which is accumulating; of hemlock there is not any overstock.

At Saginaw 125,000,000 feet of dry lumber sold at $6.50, $12.50, and $28.00; a cargo now being cut sold at $6.00, $12.00 and $27.00.

At Bay City 200,000 feet of green lumber sold at $6.00, $12.00 and $28.00, and at these rates the market is strong. The shipments from Bay City and Saginaw this season are 137,028,000 feet against 69,733,000 feet in 1877.

The Toronto Globe says: "Lumber freights from East Saginaw have not been so low since the war as they are at present;" and in another paragraph: "The Green Bay lumber fleet has laid up; it will not pay to carry lumber to Chicago at $1.00 per M. feet."

The receipts at Chicago since January 1st, 1878, are 231,371,000 feet against 163,068,000 feet for a corresponding period in 1877. The shipments, 210,441,000 feet against 170,904,000 feet.

The receipts of lumber at Buffalo for the week by lake are 2,414,400 feet; by rail, 79 car loads.

The receipts at Oswego for the week 5,040,200 feet; the shipments by canal, 2,108,300 feet. The receipts of lumber for May were 15,800,000 feet. The shipments by canal during the month were 12,500,000 feet. The receipts since the opening of canal navigation to June 1st were 21,442,600 feet; the shipments by canal for the season, 16,311,600 feet. The rail shipments of lumber during May were 2,058,600 feet, and since January 1st, 9,051,500 feet against 7,270,300 feet in 1877.

Freights from Tonawanda to Albany are $1.90@1.95 ℔ M. feet; from Oswego, $1.60.

THE WEST.

The Lumberman and Manufacturer as follows:

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., June 6, 1878.

No rains on the Chippewa, Black or Wisconsin rivers, and no driving on any of them, is the most important fact we have to announce on this 6th day of June, and many of the mills have already shut down for want of logs. The St. Croix, more fortunate, has secured her Snake River drive of nearly 40,000,000 feet, making some 75,000,000 or 80,000,000 feet total, with fair prospect of a clean drive. The upper Mississippi drives are practically in, giving the whole Mississippi valley about 360,000,000 feet as the total amount of logs in sight for the season. Logs on the St. Croix are selling at $9 to $12 Poles, a proper name for a share of the crop, brings $7.75.

Lumber on the Chicago auction market came up about 75 cents per thousand during the week, and trade was brisk at the yards. Stocks along the river are well nigh exhausted, but no change in the price lists,

The total receipts and shipments of lumber from Minneapolis during the month of May foot up as follows: Receipts, 157 cars, or 1,491,500 feet, against 89 cars, or 845,500 feet, for the same time last year. The shipments were 983 cars, equal to 9,338,500 feet, against 1,108 cars, or 10,526,000 feet last year, a decrease this year of 1,187,500 feet. The shipments during the same time in 1876 were 1,625 cars. The wagon yard trade has been exceedingly heavy the past month, and therefore the actual sales of the month may be said to exceed the sales of the same month last year.

The adoption of the new system of grading or sorting lumber at Minneappolis necessitated some changes in the price list, and last Saturday several important changes were adopted, which will be noticed in our list. The reduction of common to $14, and wiping out the difference between 12-foot boards and dimensions and other lengths, is a concession of one dollar. As to the necessity of this change growing out of the supply and demand, we commend to the reader an examination of the tables of shipments. With about 30,000,000 feet of available dry lumber in Minneappolis, sales amounting to 3,000,000 feet per week (including wagon trade), and no competing stocks this side of Milwaukee, Chicago and Dubuque, it must be set down as a mere generosity on the part of the holders, to concede the dollar.

STILLWATER, June 6.—There are 25,000,000 feet of logs in great jam at Taylor's Falls. There are one hundred and fifty men and twelve horses at work to break it, making fair progress. There are 10,000,000 feet of Snake River logs in the jam. The pile driving steamer will be sent up to-morrow to assist in hauling out the logs.

THE DEAL TRADE.—The Chicago Inter-Ocean of the 29th speaks of the foreign deal trade and mentions the following charters: The negotiations for deals to Europe alluded to yesterday morning have been completed, the schooner City of Manitowos being engaged for a cargo from Pentwater to Liverpool at $2 gold. The rebuilt schooner Ætna was also figuring, but the Manitowoc accepted the character. There are more cargoes offering, and the Ætna and several other vessels may be put in within a few weeks. Atkins & Beckwith are making the charters.

METALS.—COPPER.—Ingot has found only a moderately active and uncertain sale, and while stocks are not pressed for a market they are plenty, and prices rule easy, quoted at 16⅛@16¼c. for Lake. Manufactured sells slowly, and only in small job lots as wanted for immediate consumption. Nominally prices are unchanged, but the card rates are rarely adhered to. We quote as follows: Brazier's Copper, ordinary sizes, over 16oz., per sq. foot, 28c. per lb; do. do., do. do., 16 oz. and over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 30c. per lb.; do. do., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 32c. per lb.; do. do., lighter than 10 oz. per sq. foot, 34c. per lb.; circles, less than 84 inches in diameter, 31c. per lb.; do. 84 inches diameter and over, 34c. per lb.; segment and pattern sheets, 31c. per lb.; locomotive fire box sheets, 28c. per lb.; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz., per square foot, 26c. per lb., and Bolt Copper, 28c. per pound. IRON—Scotch Pig has no sale except in a very small jobbing way, and prices are easy. Stocks not large but full enough. We quote at $22@25 per ton, according to brand and quantity. American Pig selling slowly and at somewhat irregular rates, but the turn rather in buyer's favor. We quote at $18.00@19 for No. 1 per ton, $17.00 @18 for No. 2 do, and $15.50@17 for Forge. Rails are quiet owing to the scant supply available, and the wide difference between the views of buyers and sellers. A considerable quantity could be placed on prompt delivery. We quote at $32@35 for new iron, and $42@44.00 for Steel at the mills. Old Rails, $18.00@18.50 per ton; scrap, $20.00@21.00; the latter slow. Manufactured iron in about the usual jobbing demand, and at old rates. Common Merchant Bar can be had in round lots at 1.7c. and Refined at 1.9c., but for ten-ton lots from store, 1.8c. and 2c. are respectively insisted upon. Common sheet, 3c., and best R G. American, 4c. from store. LEAD—Domestic pig meets with a very slow and uncertain sale, and while holders make a show of steadiness they cannot realize except upon pretty easy terms. We quote at about 3⅛@3¼c. currency. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; Pipe, 5c., and Sheet, 6c.—less the usual discount to the trade; and Tin-lined Pipe, 15c. Block Tin Pipe, 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig not very active, but holders appear confident, and generally make a show of firmness at full current figures. We quote at 17¼@17⅜c. for Banca, 14⅜@14½c. for Straits, 14¼@14⅜c. for English Refined, and 14⅜@14½c. for do common. Tin plates are in very fair jobbing demand, and the market firm at about old rates. Spelter dull and somewhat nominal, but quoted at about 4¾@5¼c. Sheet Zinc jobbing fairly at about previous rates. We quote at 7¼@7½c. gold for foreign, and 6@6⅛c. currency for domestic.

NAILS—Occasional flurries of fair animation are shown, but demand is seldom continuous from any one point, and business has not a settled healthy tone. Stocks in a few cases appear to be scarce, but no buyer complains of inability to secure what he requires, and terms are about as before. We quote on a basis of $2.40@2.50 for 10d to 60d.

OILS—The demand does not show much animation, and is confined mainly to the momentary and pressing wants of jobbers, stocks in consequence keep pretty full, and holders gain no great advantage. Linseed oil is quoted at about 57@59 from crushers hands.

PAINTS—There has been about an average distribution by jobbers in the way of small lots, partly on local account and partly on mail orders from the country. Business, however, was not very active at any time, and prices ruled only about steady.

PITCH—A moderate movement is still reported, principally in the way of small irregular parcels as required for trade orders. Stocks equal all calls, and are available at about $1.87½@2.12½ for city delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Business has been somewhat irregular, but in small lots a fair amount went toward consumption on the regular outlets, and with a well controlled supply holders remain firm at full figures. We quote at 30¼@34c., according to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—About the same general features are current, demand moderate and confined mainly to the usual trade wants, with stock and assortment equal to the requirements of the market. We quote at $2.05@2.15 for Newberne and Washington, and $2.10@2.25 for Wilmington.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

OWNERS, ARCHITECTS AND BUILDERS.

In no other city would one naturally look for the exhibition of private orders for building in greater number than in the city of New York. Yet probably in no city does the ratio of private orders to speculative enterprises fall so low as in our own city. With an abundance of eligible and accessible land, with a perplexing assortment and variety of building material, with architectural and mechanical talent of the highest order and ready to be proffered in the greatest profusion, there is still a lack of disposition on the part of private owners to embark in building schemes. If we except from the calculation projections made by public corporations, banks, insurance companies and other stock concerns, the percentage of private orders in the annual building projection would not exceed ten per cent. in number or twenty per cent. in value.

If we cast about for the cause of this lack of enterprise on the part of private capitalists, the least experienced person in building affairs may readily assign it. It may be attributed primarily if not wholly to the ill-organized, not to say disorganized condition of the building trade.

It would be an astonishment to those who do not know, as it is a mortification to those who do know, how few building establishments there are in this city organized and equipped according to a true mercantile standard with respect to system, ability and solvency. The private order business of this city is practically monopolized by a few old and leading concerns, whoses names are a sufficient guarantee for the faithful performance of work; and yet scarcely any of these concerns are able to execute their work independent of an architect's superintendence and dictation. When an owner, actuated by a spirit of frugality or parsimony, seeks to cheapen the cost of construction, by accepting bids from persons of doubtful solvency, the experiment is pretty apt to prove a costly failure. A repetition of these experiences tends to confirm the monopoly already enjoyed by more substantial firms, and they in turn find it to their interest to cater to the whims, prejudices and interests of the architectural profession.

The ordinary routine of procedure in a private projection of building, is, for the owner first to select his architect to whom he explains his purposes, and from whom he expects to derive his whole initiation and instruction in the mysteries of building. The architect is accustomed to take possession of the job, and, we might say, of the owner for the time being. Architects much prefer to have an absolute engagement made at the start, and to receive a liberal retainer or promise of one as an earnest of the client's good faith. This is dignified and professional, and gives the architect that autocratic control over the whole undertaking which is so indispensable to the true conception of his calling. The average owner, however, is too canny and wary to fall blindly and artlessly into the professional trap which may be set for him. He is curious, inquisitive, catechetical, demands a great deal of advance information, is not chary about asking for sketch plans and for multiplied estimates of cost before committing himself absolutely to a contract. Probably the experience of every architect's office in this city is, that out of a hundred sketch plans prepared and submitted to clients, not more than ten are ever executed. Young architects have to be satisfied with superintending the execution of one out of twenty to fifty.

There is some inherent difficulty, either physical or mental, encountered in architects methods, ways or means which proves fatally obstructive to private projection of building. Practical experience with work thus undertaken usually proves dissuasive of further efforts. It is no uncommon event for the actual cost to materially exceed the architect's estimate. The architect's fee itself forms no inconsiderable portion of the cost of building; and where this fee takes the form of a fixed percentage of the cost, there is presented an irresistible temptation to lay on the expense in the name of improving the work. The readiness with which architects lend themselves to the suggestion of costly improvements and expensive alterations of work has a discouraging effect upon the mind of the untutored owner. There is a suspicion prevalent among experienced owners and a well established tradition among mechanics that some architects are in the habit of receiving commissions from sub-contractors. It is needless to say that such a practice is totally inconsistent with the relations sustained by the architect to his client, and is fatally injurious to the proper prosecution of the work. Besides, architects are apt to be absurdly and excessively theoretical and artistic—in a word, unpractical. Plans and designs that can be worked out readily enough with pencil and ruler are awkward, complicated and almost impossible of execution with bricks and mortar and scantling. Mechanics are frequently bewildered with fanciful plottings and sketchings of the architect's assistants, and find themselves too often involved in a net, from whose meshes the architect alone can extricate them. Such services are apt to afford the foundation for the exaction of a fee to which the mechanic is quick to respond as the readiest outlet from his difficulties.

In ordinary private jobs the architect and builder are apt to pull in contrary directions, and the innocent and unsophisticated owner stands appalled with the conflict of opinion.

Owners naturally seek to make a judicious investment of their capital, whether it may be large or small in amount. The conventional method of conducting building operations makes it to the interest of the architect to lay out as great a sum as possible, while the builder, if he is tied up in a contract, is anxious to give as little as may be consistent with a fair interpretation of the contract. The common result is dissatisfaction, sometimes law suits, with more or less protracted and expensive issues.

In this statement we have simply presented a common experience. We have no purpose of decrying one profession or exalting another. We observe this phenomenon in the growth of the city, that it is dependent upon public and private corporations and speculative builders; that private order work appears in a far smaller volume than might reasonably be expected. We are seeking to explore not only the cause but a remedy for this condition. From circumstances, which we will not stop to explain, we believe the future growth of this city will be largely dependent upon the enterprise of private owners. It will promote the physical growth of the city to devise some means whereby private capital may find a ready and satisfactory outlet in real estate improvements. The prevailing and established method has not been productive of beneficial or adequate results. There is another method, an efficient and reliable one we believe, but now in its infancy, which is destined to surpass any other that has ever been tried for enlisting the interest of private owners in building enterprises.

American capitalists are of a practical turn of mind. They know nothing of the traditions and customs of professional life abroad, and have no undue respect for pretensions of them in this country. It is not to be expected that a gentleman who desires to procure an elegant and modern suit of clothes should first select his designer, and from a specially prepared model have the needed garments wrought and fitted under the supervision of his chosen artist. He simply goes to Rock, Bell, Laws, or any other first-class tailor, describes his want and leaves his order. Or, if he desires an elaborate and costly piece of cabinet work, it is not the custom to first seek an expert draughtsman or modeler, but to apply directly to the manufacturers of cabinet work, to Marcotte, Herter, Pottier, Schasty, and select from their patterns, or adopt a design specially improvised by their employed artists.

These are unimportant matters compared with the erection of a building, but they are artistic and creative, just as the building business is. Instead of fostering or perpetuating discordant immobile and unsatisfactory offices, such as the separate functions of architect and builder are apt to be, we believe it is in the line of progress, and in unison with the inevitable elevation and advancement of the building trade to inculcate and require that builders should thoroughly equip themselves with the science as well as the technics of their calling, and should acquire such mastery of the principles of their business as will enable them to design, plot out, and execute the ordinary products of their trade.

We are aware that heretofore the builder and mechanic have ranked as inferior to the architect, just as the architect is esteemed to be the professional inferior of the civil engineer. But callings and professions in this country at least are not necessarily petrefactions, their functions are exchangeable. A competent, conscientious and pains-taking builder may easily become an architect or civil engineer, and, we may say, more naturally and easily than the professional man may become a master mechanic. It is inconsistent with the aspiring and ambitious temper of American mechanics that they should be satisfied to remain mere automatons of trained professional directors. Intelligence is so widely diffused and education so accessible in this country that it is but a step in the natural path of progress for the builder to seek to acquire a complete mastery of both branches of his calling, to wit, the theoretical and the practical. Thus equipped, he may fairly undertake to discharge the twin duties of architect and builder, to prepare his own plans, to elaborate special designs, and to back them with reliable estimates of cost, showing the aggregate contract price which an owner will have to pay for the production of a given work.

In this way the building trade may conform itself to the standards of other manufacturing business. Then under the guaranty of assured mercantile solvency, of artistic merit and mechanical skill on the part of builders, the private owners of this city may expect to have their interests served with economy, intelligence and complete satisfaction.

THE MEASURE OF LAND VALUE.

The measure of land value, whether of country acres or city lots, which is most universal in its application and reliable in its results is that of productiveness; a capacity of the land to yield a revenue satisfactorily proportioned in ratio to the amount of capital invested in it as purchase price. The severity of this test is illustrated in the nice discrimination of intelligent farmers in selecting lands for cultivation, and in the uniformity of value which attaches to productive and eligible farm land throughout the country.

In the valuation of city lots extrinsic elements are allowed to intrude themselves, some of which are real and substantial and others visionary and fictitious. We have no purpose now to discuss these various elements in detail, but will content ourselves with describing them as either legitimate or speculative. Nowhere in the world does real estate speculation assume so many characteristics of legitimate business as in our own city. The speculator in lots rarely contemplates or undertakes any substantial improvement of the property which becomes the subject of his manipulations. His function is to forestall the legitimate market; to buy in anticipation of a coming demand, and merely to hold on in expectation of reaping an inordinate increase. The forces which underlie his action are too intangible, evanescent and delusive to call for scientific statement. In the culmination of all the prominent speculations which have swept over city real estate, as in speculations concerned in less substantial commodities, the true cause of miscarriage may be detected in an over statement and undue exaggeration of values, which lead inevitably to a barren or unresponsive market and to a certain reaction or collapse in prices. As the operation of speculation is to force prices through an arithmetrical progression, so its miscarriage represents the natural effort of economic forces to adjust values to legitimate standards. Any conceptions of land values based upon the mythical and ephemeral hopes of speculators are in their nature misleading and disappointing.

After land has been withdrawn from the sphere of its natural productiveness by means of cultivation and tilling, after it ceases to be farm land spread out in acres and when it is sub-divided into city lots, we are compelled to rely for its power of producing a valuable increment upon entirely different instrumentalities. It then ceases to be arable land and becomes a raw material akin to the broadcloth of the tailor which requires the expenditure of skilled artisan labor to make it negotiable and productive. To be sure, there is a leasehold value attachable to vacant land, but this is merely the expression of a legal device for utilizing land tenure in the production of human habitations, and, the rent thus affixed to it is usually gauged according to the capabilities of a contemplated enterprise. There is no power in a bare empty lot to produce any value or increment beyond its capabilities in connection with building operations. In an ultimate analysis, therefore, to arrive at the true measure of city land value, we must contemplate land in connection with mechanical improvements. The ratio which the land value may be permitted to bear to the whole cost of a completed product must be governed by the value of the total product, and may be most reliably defined by gauging such value according to the income producing power which may reside in the ultimate product.

This process of evoluting a land valuation may seem tortuous and involved, yet it is the only safe and sure one for rational calculation. Even with the completed building product in hand made up of the composite elements of land, labor and materials capitalized with the most pains-taking regard for costs, we are without sufficient data for the solution of our problem, until we have ascertain what power of producing income belongs to the given product. A lot of land may be ever so eligibly situated, the improvements which it carries may be wrought in the highest perfection of mechanical skill, and yet its cost may serve indifferently to define its value. The quotable if not the marketable value must be determined by submitting property to the suffrages of those who are accustomed to pay rent.

This quality of productiveness can in no wise be determined by the arbitrary decree of the owner, but must be the result of an understanding or agreement between landlord and tenant. It is the power of a community to respond in rental payments which finally determines the value of its land tenures, and this power in turn is measured and limited by the capacity of the people to earn wages. This term wages must be understood in its generic sense as denoting the income of the capitalist, the stipend of the officer or clerk as well as the per diem earnings of the artisan and laborer. The ability of the people to earn or make money must be the final arbiter as well as the absolute measure of all land values. It would be absurd to include in this view of the subject that class of population which is independently wealthy and able to respond to the demands of caprice or fashion. This element is apt to be so limited in any society as hardly to become a controlling one, although many a fine speculation in real estate has been based upon the unsubstantial idea that there were enough men of independent fortune in this city to absorb nearly all its eligible vacant land.

Land, whether vacant or improved, and in respect to improvements whether carrying a hotel, flat, store, residence or tenement must be measured in its commercial value by the reasonable average rental likely to be realized from it. This reliable and universal standard rests upon and is determined by the average ability of active working people, whether of high or low degree, to earn wages or income. All other bases of calculation may be dismissed as visionary, unsubstantial and unreal.

The theory of a suspended or legitimate speculative value inhering in vacant lots remote from improvements pending the growth of the city, a value that might be counted upon when these lots were reached by the march of improvement, and fully realized through increased demand for them, was a conception once fondly entertained. In point of fact such vacant land has as much as it can do to bear the weight of its enforced unproductiveness, besides being handicapped with charges for taxes and assessments for street improvements. Rapid transit by rendering all property on this island equally accessible or nearly so, will effectually explode this theory which had its origin in the omnibus era of the city.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The market, although dull, is characterized by a strong undertone. This feature of quiet strength is exhibited in the dealings at the Exchange where many parcels of property are disposed of at sums approximating in a great degree to the amount of the liens affecting the property offered for sale. A report of the details of sales held during the week is appended, in which appears the amount of the incumbrances covering the several lots sold, together with the prices at which such lots were struck down. It will be observed that the difference between the prices obtained for many parcels and the amount of the liens affecting the same, is slight; in some cases the bids exceeded the amount of the mortgage. A large number of the transactions affected property in the upper districts, where lots are daily growing in favor, owing to rapid transit and the unusual enterprise recently manifested by many builders who are contemplating extensive improvements in that quarter.

In our last report we published the fact that fifty-five dwellings will be erected on One Hundred and Forty-second street and Willis avenue. Since our last issue, the plans and specifications for the erection of these buildings, the cost of which will be $232,000, have been filed with the Superintendent of the Department of Buildings. The following improvements will also be made in the upper portion of the city: Four three-story brown stone dwellings will be constructed on One Hundred and Twenty-second street between Avenue A and First avenue; four three-story brown stone dwellings on One Hundred and Fifteenth street, between Lexington and Fourth avenues; five three-story dwellings of the same description on One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues; and nine four-story dwellings on Ninety-fourth street, between Fourth and Lexington avenues. There will also be erected on Sixty-eighth street, between Madison and Fifth avenues, five four-story brown stone front houses, to cost $80,000. The total number of plans filed during the week ending June 20th inst., is twenty-one, embracing 104 buildings, the estimated cost of which is $617,700.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Up to the present writing, there has been no change for the better on the prices of Common Hards, and little or no improvement in the general situation of the market. More or less demand has been found nearly every day, and in some cases the sales were comparatively free, but buyers had too many opportunities to reach stock, both in quantity and assortment, to admit of marking up prices at all, and holders have been free sellers when they could obtain bids at former figures. The excess of supply over demand is still the principal difficulty with the market, and an adjustment upon a better balance, is about the only thing likely to bring the position into healthier shape. Receivers seem to think that present indications are more encouraging for this result, as the manufacturers commence to talk seriously of shutting down partially or wholly on a production which affords them no profit, and especially as many of their workmen can now find employment in the hay fields, and the loss of work will not fall so severe upon them. There is also a likelihood that consumption will increase rather than diminish, as a great deal of work is now just about commencing, the interval since the 1st of May having been employed in the removal of old buildings, etc. About $5.00 per M., seems to be the very top wholesale rate on Haverstraws, and it is rare that "Up Rivers" reach as high as $4.00 per M. Pale brick continue in a demoralized condition, and no one seems to know there value. About $2.00 is the nominal quoting figure, but we hear of some forced sales at $1.75@1.87½ per M. Fronts are quoted at old prices, and rule steady, and while the higher grades are not moving very liberally at the moment, there is a very fair distribution of the Crotons. The general export demand for brick is not active, but still there appears to be a fair number of orders here, and a few of them being filled, owing in part to the attraction of lower freight room, $2.00 per M. having been accepted on one or two vessels both from North River points and Jersey to St. John. The Custom House clearances this week were 485,000.

We quote Pale, ₱ M., $2.00@—; Hards, Up-rivers, $3.25@$3.87; Haverstraw bay, $4.00@$4.75; favorite brands, —@$5.00; Fronts, Croton—brown, $7; dark $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $23@$27; Trenton, $24.00@$29.00; Baltimore, $34@$38.00. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@$3 higher on ordinary and $5.00@$6.00 on fronts.

CEMENT.—For domestic, the demand on local account in the usual form is not very active, and nearly all buyers are calling for simply enough stock to carry them through the consumptive wants of the hour. Wholesale dealers, however, are finding more or less business on shipping orders from South and East, and also to the North, and there is further thought to be a good prospect for a renewed call for use on the extension of the elevated railroads. The supplies available are ample for all wants, and readily offered with terms easy and sales as low as 75c. per bbl., but 80@85c. are the more general selling rates for good brands. Foreign has not arrived quite so freely of late, and has met with a very good demand which tends to cheer sellers somewhat. The supply, however, is fully equal to all wants, and former rates are accepted readily when bid. The American Portland continues in close and successful competition with many brands of foreign, and sales are still reported at the old rate.

HARDWARE.—The general business has been moderate and does not seem likely to make any positive improvement for some time to come, the movement, as a rule, being now confined to such little parcels as buyers require to meet special necessities. Dealers are not over well pleased with the operations of the first half of the year, but many are willing to admit that they have done fairly, and entertain hopes that the early summer and fall trade will bring up the average. Prices rule much the same, and we have no recent changes to advise. An attempt was made to adjust the long ruling irregularity on cast butts, but without success, and every dealer and manufacturer continues to sell at such price as he may deem best under circumstances governing pending negotiations

LATH.—On the last downward trip an even five cents less than we quoted was reached with sales as low as $1.40 per M, but the market has since recovered somewhat, and may again be quoted at $1.45@1.50 per M. In the manner stock has come to hand the receiver managed to retain the advantage, and taken altogether, this market has been very well conducted so far, but the demand does not reach a point of activity or anxiety as yet, and it is evident that much caution is still necessary. Among the recent buyers were to be found some of our larger jobbing dealers, who have found it well to replenish stocks.

LIME.—Receivers and agents say there is nothing new to report, and the general condition of the market verifies this in every particular. Prices are just about the same all around, demand and supply appear to balance, with possibly a little more of the latter than the former, and so far as can be discovered no indications are given of immediate change.

LUMBER.—Our wholesale market continues moderately active with no radical changes on the general line of values, and, as a whole, the position may be called about steady. Beyond this, however, there is nothing to advise of any importance, and business has quite a monotonous tone. On home account buyers come forward when the pressure of consumptive necessity compels them to secure stock, and not before, and exporters confine themselves exclusively to positive orders or little lots in the way of ceiling boards, dunnage, etc. Supplies available have proven quite equal to all calls, but not excessive, and in some cases assortments a little broken. Still we do not discover that dealers are particularly anxious to replenish, the stocks at primary points with few exceptions proving ample, holders well inclined to operate and freight charges low, indeed, unusually so from many sections of the interior.

Eastern Spruce is reported at about the figures for some time quoted, and we do not greatly alter the general range. There is, however, occasional quiet variations guided in a great measure by the terms of settlement, and prompt cash buyers gain more than the usual allowances. Manufacturers appear to be forwarding cargoes with some care still, but our market is getting about all that it requires. For specials the orders are few and closely drawn on cost.

We quote at $12.00@$13.00 for random, possibly $13.50 for choice lengths in small cargo, and $13.00@$14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult.

White Pine continues in moderate demand on local account, the larger consumers drawing most of their supplies direct from the interior, and the orders obtained from other sources having rather more of a jobbing character than usual. The export business still helps dealers out to some extent, but even this has been a little disappointing, and shippers seem inclined to hold off in many cases without much reason. Stocks are fair, but assortments not first-class. About former rates are ruling. We quote at $15@17 per M. for West India shipping boards; $20.00@21.00 for South American do; $15@16 for box boards; $17 for do. wide and sound; and timber to order at $30@40 per M.

Yellow Pine has been arriving pretty freely within a week or two, but most of it under contract, and some to go forward to the Eastward, thus saving an accumulation in addition to the fair amount already within reach if wanted. Demand is not free for immediate use, but dealers have found a few new customers on specials for summer and fall delivery, and are making a number of very good sales for shipment from Southern ports to West Indies, South America, etc. We quote random cargoes at about $18@21 per M.; ordered cargoes $22@24 do; green flooring boards, $20@21 do; and dry do. do. $20@23. Cargoes at the South, $14@15.50 per M; hewn timber, $7.50@14.

Hardwoods find some little demand from manufacturers, and an occasional call from exporters, but are not active, and as a whole the market shows few features of positive interest. About former rates remain current. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut $77@85 ₱ M; ash, $32@36 do; oak, $35@40 do.; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do., do., culls, $18@20 do.; cherry, $45@75 do.; white wood, ¼ and ⅝ inch., $25@37.50, and do. inch $32@35 do.; hickory, $25@30 do. for Western, and $40@50 for good near-by stock.

Shingles are selling only moderately, either on home or export account, and the market has a heavy and unsettled tone. Cypress are selling at about $6 for saps, and $9 for hearts; pine shipping stock $4 for 18 inch, and Eastern sawed grades at $2.50@4.50 for 16 inch as to quality and quantity. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: For 30 inch $16@22.25 for A., and $23.75@33.25 for No. 1; for 24 inch, $6.50@16 for A., and $16.75@23 for No. 1; for 20 inch $5@10.50 for A., and $11.25@15.75 for No. 1.

The retail business at the yards is of about the usual volume and form, and shows nothing worthy of extended notice. The previous general range is quoted, but many intermediate variations occur according to quantity, terms, etc.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

The Albany Argus of June 18th says:

There has been a steady trade since our last report in pine lumber with free shipments. To-day there are several buyers in the district, and an active business is anticipated. Prices are unchanged; all sales are reported to have been made within the range. The receipts continue good; stocks full and well assorted.

In coarse lumber there is not any change to note in the tone or condition of the market; the demand is good and the receipts, especially of Spruce, have been free.

The stock of lumber at Chicago on June 1st was 248,665,000 feet against 196,891,000 feet on May 1st and 216,151,000 feet on June 1st, 1877. The receipts by lake from January 1st to June 12th are 241,564,600 feet; by rail, 29,210,000 feet—a total of 270,774,600 feet against 196,040,000 feet for a corresponding date a year ago. From Michigan ports the receipts are largely ahead of last year; from Lake Huron they are larger than last year's, and from Saginaw very much larger. The shipments from January 1st to June are 229,748,000 feet against 194,357,000 feet a year ago.

The latest items from Saginaw are 85,000 feet logs at $7.50 per M. A lot of dry uppers at $28.00; also, 1,000,000 feet green, log run, $6.50, $12.00 and $28.00, and 150,000 feet at $6.50, $13.00 and $28.00. The bulk of the lumber now on sale at Saginaw is new cut.

The reported shipments of lumber from New York during the week are 768,000 feet to twenty-five different points.

The receipts of lumber at Buffalo for the week by lake are 7,964,000 feet; by rail, 47 car loads.

The receipts at Oswego for the week 3,001,200 feet; the shipments by canal, 2,217,000 feet.

Freights from Tonawanda to Albany are $1.90@$1.95 ₱ M. feet; from Oswego, $1.60.

The receipts at Albany by canal from the opening of navigation to June 15th, are:

The Tonawanda Herald reports as follows:

We make no changes in our quotations this week, prices remaining firm, with an upward tendency on seasoned pine. The lumber cut in 1877 is now about all shipped from Michigan, and our yards are comfortably filled; but dealers as they consider the fact that no more seasoned stock is obtainable for several months, are in no hurry to sell or shave prices, and look confidently for a healthy demand that will maintain prices—perhaps advance them. Shingles are particularly firm, and in active demand. The attendance of buyers last week was fully up to the standard and the sales in many instances reached several boat loads.

THE WEST.

The following from Lumberman and Manufacturer:

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., June 13, 1878.

The retail trade is reported dull in many portions of the interior, owing to the bad condition of the roads, but the wholesale business seems to average up about the same as for the past month. Many of the mills in the northwest are cutting bill stuff, and as a whole the valley is selling more than it is manufacturing, and will continue to do so until the log crops of the Chippewa and Black rivers are released.

Prices may be considered as firm as holders desire them to be, as it is a mere election with them whether they will have uniform rates or not.

The difficulties of driving on the St. Croix have been largely overcome, and the log crop there is nearly certain. Nothing has been accomplished on the Wisconsin, Black or Chippewa during the week, except to inaugurate the work of building dams, which will require all summer to complete and put in operation. The prospect looks gloomy indeed for the operators on those streams, but they are not the kind of men who sit down in the face of difficulty, and if human effort can relieve them, they will come out all right. One favorable feature of the dilemma is that it is forcing the loggers into joint efforts and closer association with each other, which naturally tends to break down the little jealousies and want of mutual understanding that have kept them pulling against each other for years. This will probably lead to the complete improvement of the rivers for lumbering purposes.

Crop prospects continue as fine as could be desired. The harvests have already commenced in Missouri, and will rapidly come north to the great wheat fields of Minnesota; and everywhere the most favorable indications are reported.

Stocks along the river are being filled up with green lumber from the mills of central Wisconsin, and from Chicago, with few mills running on the great river.

Chicago has been paying $8.50 for piece stuff, and a corresponding advance on strips and boards, but her yard men think they will not advance before July, when they will put on another dollar.

The following table shows the stock of lumber, shingles, etc., on hand and for sale in Chicago on the dates named, as reported by Secretary Stockbridge, of the Lumberman's Exchange:

FREIGHTS.—As there have been but few arrivals during the past week, there is a continued scarcity of tonnage for both this and the nearby ports, and vessels are in demand for coastwise and off-shore business at advancing rates. We quote: To Baltimore and Chesapeake ports, $5.00@5.50; to Philadelphia, $5.00@5.50; to New York and Sound ports, $5.00@6.00; to Boston and eastward, $6.00@7.00; to St. John, N. B., $8.00. Timber from $1.00 to $1.50 higher than lumber rates; to the West Indies and windward, $6.50@8.00, gold; to South America, $18.00@19.00, gold; to Spanish ports, $14.00@15.00, gold; to United Kingdom, timber, 34@36s.; lumber, £5@5 10s. Rates from near ports, Brunswick, Darien, Fernandina, etc., are 25 to 50c. additional.

FOREIGN.

The Timber Trades Journal reports as follows:

LONDON, June 7th, 1878.

The trade are as a rule fully supplied, and getting tired of the public sales. Owing to the extravagantly low prices they have been tempted to buy a few lots here and there on each occasion, till at last they find their yards crammed with everything they want, and a good deal more, and they feel inclined to cry out with Macbeth, "Hold! enough!" but the sellers do not seem to know what enough means, and so the thing goes on from bad to worse—goods are offered to unwilling buyers, and there can be but one result on the market values. A few days ago the trade were startled out of their propriety by Gulf fir timber being knocked down at 35s., and imagined prices could not descend much lower than this; but at Messrs. Foy, Morgan's sale just referred to, similar timber realized only 32s., the best bid; some went at what was last month the f. o. b. price of good Swede, viz., 30s. Fourth Norway battens averaged at this sale somewhere between £4 and £5, Quebec pine, fourth quality, sold at £4 to £4 10s. These, of course, it is needless to say, are exceptions, but it is an indication of how little demand there is for the low quality stuff now thrust on the market. With regard to the parcel of pine, we don't take much heed of that; fourth pine cannot be of much account out there. Thirds lately have not been improving, and it has only been very recently that the former classification found its way to our markets, but we suppose the shippers think London is big and rich enough to consume anything. Anyhow, whatever the stuff may be, it has to come a long way, and the values quoted above do not leave much for the first cost, and it would not be much of a speculation if the shippers at Quebec got the wood for nothing. It is more than probable they made their money out of them long ago, but somebody has to bear the loss.

Notwithstanding the frequency of the London sales, at the docks things are very dull. The stocks are enormous, but there appeared no activity—nothing like the life and bustle we have seen in more propitious times.

LIVERPOOL, June 5th, 1878.

The stagnant condition of trade which has prevailed during the whole of the present year still continues, and the market here is practically without material change from its position of last fortnight.

Spruce deals have a downward tendency when dealt with in cargoes, but for special specifications or favorite dimensions prices are maintained, as stocks are comparatively low. Yet such is the uncertain tone of business that buyers will operate only to an extent just sufficient to supply their most urgent wants, and beyond this there is nothing to be done.

It cannot be too forcibly put before those who have the manipulation of supplies abroad that nothing but a very moderate quantity will meet with sale at remunerative prices, and above all that prime goods only are wanted, as the great bulk of our stock consists of inferior qualities.

There have not been any public sales of whitewood during the past fortnight.

GLASGOW, June 5th, 1878.

The wood market here has been quiet during the last fortnight. Only one public sale has taken place at Glasgow.

The sales made at present are evidently for immediate pressing demands, very little for prospective or speculative undertakings; and there is therefore a strong contrast between a time like this as compared with same period of preceding years. However, this inactivity which undoubtedly prevails at present may be confidently expected to change for the better when something like a certainty of peace on the Continent is understood to have taken place, as operations may then be entered into with greater security.

It may be mentioned that a cargo of good fresh mahogany is wanted at present.

Birch is also inquired for.

At Messrs. Singleton, Dunn & Co.'s auction sale today, the following prices were obtained: Spruce deals from Annapolis, N. S.—10 to 25 feet, 7x3, at 9d. to 9¼d. per cubic foot; 15 to 27 feet, 8x3, at 10½d. to 10¾d. per cubic foot; 10 to 17 feet, 9x3, 10½d. to 10¾d. per cubic foot; 10 to 25 feet, 10x3, at 10½d. per cubic foot; 10 to 26 feet, 11x3, at 10½d. to 11½d. per cubic foot; 10 to 26 feet, 12x18x3, at 11d. to 11½d. per cubic foot.

NAILS.—There is an unsettled market still, both as to the movement and price. Demand fluctuates almost daily, but has not as yet reached a volume of sufficient magnitude to make any scarcity of stock, and there always appears to be just a few more parcels than the market can provide for. The rates named below are the "card" figures, but probably this is about all, as offerings have been openly made to the trade at $2.40 net, and it is said that on large parcels, still better terms can be obtained. We quote nominally: 10d. to 60d., common fence and sheathing per keg, $2.60; 8d. and 9d., common do. per keg, $2.85; 6d. and 7d., common, per keg, $3.10; 4d. and 5d., common do., per keg, $3.35; 3d. and 4d., light, per keg, $4.10; 3d., fine, per keg, $4.85; 2d., per keg, $4.85, Cut spikes, all sizes, $2.85. Floor casing and box, 75c. above the same sizes of common. Finishing, $1 above and fine finishing $1.25 above.

CLINCH NAILS.

OILS.—The general market is a slow one, and especially so on local account, very few buyers making their appearance, and all orders being figured down to the close limit of actual necessity. Prices are unsettled, but generally show a tame sort of tone. We quote: Linseed, about 57@59c. ₱ gallon; lard, 55@57c. for winter; 51@53c. for No. 1, and 45@50c. for No. 2; crude cotton seed, 35@40c., and refined summer yellow, do., 49@50c.

PAINTS.—The current operations are small and confined mainly to orders from regular customers seeking to keep up an assortment. The selection runs about as usual as to variety of goods handled, but is a little irregular as to quality. Some calls insist upon the very best of stocks, and cannot be put off with anything else, while others make cost the prime basis of operation, and will take pretty ordinary grades in the effort to keep within the price-limit decided upon. Supplies in first hands are not of large proportion, but for the present wants of the market may be considered quite full enough, and permitting buyers to find all they require.

PITCH.—The market undergoes little or no change to note. Dealers say they have not much of a stock on hand, but still they manage to meet and satisfy all the orders received, and find no warrant to increase the cost over the figures for some time ruling. We quote at $1.87½@2.12½ for city delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—A pretty steady feeling has prevailed on the general market, but especially among jobbers, and stocks were offered somewhat indifferently. Demand not very active, however, and on wholesale parcels some concessions have been made. We quote at 29½@33½c. as to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—Now and then a shipping call and about the average demand on local account has kept the market active, and for small lots preserved a steady range of values. There was not, however, any indication of buoyancy. We quote at $2.05@2.15 for Newberne and Washington, and $2.10@2.25 for Wilmington.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

CITY PARKS.

It has become the fashion of late with an impressible public, and a preoccupied press to lay inordinate stress upon the value of our city parks, and to decry as a public outrage any attempt to curtail or utilize their dimensions.

Behind this undiscriminating and sentimental drift of opinion, there is a coterie of very respectable and estimable old gentlemen who were born in the beginning of the century, and have been accustomed for fifty years to extol the value and necessity of these parks. The secret of their prepossession it is not difficult to find out. Many of them are veteran operators or speculators in real estate, and a small number were wise enough to retire thirty years ago from the real estate arena with ample fortunes. In the beginning of their careers, Fourteenth street was the northerly limit of civilization on this island, while the line of building improvements hardly extended as far as Houston street. In those days the omnibus was the sole motor of local transit, and the utmost stretch of its capacity was the feat of carrying passengers to Greenwich and Chelsea in from two to three hours time. In those days lands north of Fourteenth street were reckoned by the acre, and seemed destined to be treated as farm lands for an indefinite period in the absence of any expeditious method of reaching them. The great problem of real estate speculation then was to absorb as much as possible of the vacant land of the island, and to take it permanently out of the market in order that there might be a well grounded apprehension of a possible scarcity of residence sites.

When we consider the enormous area of vacant property that then existed, we can understand how irresistibly and legitimately this great problem presented itself. No wiser or surer scheme for reducing the stock or area of vacant property could be devised than that of laying out innumerable parks. The inventive genius of the real estate speculator had not then acquired the boldness to project a single park of nearly a thousand acres. In fact, the method of detached and scattered small parks was more serviceable in the game of speculation, as it tended to distribute the ideal charms of these city garden plots through the different sections of the island.

It required no great prescience, even in those early days, to foresee that New York, as the most prominent and accessible city of the continent, would attract representative business men from home and abroad as its ultimate residents. It became but a matter of time when the island should be thickly populated, and the very acme of the real estate speculator's ambition would be fully reached by appropriating as much as possible of the surface of the island to these liberally defined parks.

In 1807, at the time of the plotting out of the city north of Fourteenth street into streets and avenues, a provision more than liberal was made for park accommodation. In less than twenty years, however, many of these small parks were closed and converted into common lands by act of the Legislature. As the port of New York attracted an ever expanding commerce, and the city sprang from its swaddling clothes into the form and stature of a municipal giant, these respectable gentlemen, pioneers of city land speculation, looked on complacently and thought they saw the realization of their prophetic dreams in the advance of New York in wealth and importance, the same being clearly attributable in their opinion to the wise forecast which had led them to suggest, urge and finally consummate the plan of providing city parks. The burden of their constant refrain is that city parks increase population and consequently increase real values and taxable values. The latter condition is indisputably the natural product of the former, but the argument is too often inversely stated. It seems to be the conception of some real estate speculators that public improvements, such as parks and boulevards, directly enhance the value of property; and that this enhancement attracts wealthy and desirable population.

It has been the privilege of the present generation to witness the fullest and loftiest development of the park and boulevard mania, and not a few of us are now suffering from the reaction which invariably attends the collapse of a great fever. The enormous growth and wealth of the city that have risen collaterally with the development of the park and boulevard systems, are phenomena eagerly seized upon by short-sighted and impulsive real estate speculators, and declared to sustain to each other the relations of effect and cause. A candid investigation into the real state of the case will develop an entirely opposite conclusion.

The growth of New York has been obedient to laws which are more or less obvious and defined. Its possible magnitude and volume can be better measured by a calculation of what we have lost of resident population, of the overplus that has flowed into adjoining suburbs, than of what we have actually gained. These suburbs surely had few or no attractions in the way of parks and boulevards when they so easily carried away a full half of the population that naturally belonged to New York. So far from being an advantage to the city's development it could easily be proved that the elaboration of numerous and expensive parks and boulevards has really restrained its growth and repressed its population and wealth. Because the absorption of so much vacant land has the tendency to unduly enhance the speculative price of remaining property, while the expense of organizing and maintaining these different parks compels an unwelcome addition to local tax rates. These two forces of high land values and high taxation have been the principal levers used in transferring our great middle class population from this island to Long Island and New Jersey.

Next to the folly of imagining that any great amount of territory can be spared for park purposes on an island of the limited dimensions of New York must rank the absurd infatuation of now resisting any curtailment of these parks or proper utilization of their surfaces. We have at length reached a point in the development of the park system where over one thousand acres, comprising the area of sixteen thousand city lots, have been thus appropriated, a sequestration and direct loss of real estate which is now being seriously felt.

As stoutly as the advocacy of these parks may be maintained, there is no likelihood, judging from past experience, that sentimental and æsthetic considerations will entirely overcome the common sense of our people. A review of park history is decidedly instructive in forming an opinion as to the probable future of the existing parks. We have no record of the number of small parks which were closed and abandoned by the Legislature of 1827, but it is matter of recent history that Observatory Park and a large portion of Hamilton Park have been sold by the sinking fund commissioners, while the remainder of Hamilton Park has been donated to various charitable and protective associations. Manhattan Square has been dedicated to the uses of a natural museum. City Hall Park has been so far encroached upon as to obliterate if not to completely destroy its original outlines, and the Battery has been so far shorn of its pristine features as to threaten and almost to invite its total abandonment as a public resort. Its partial occupation as an emigrant depot and barge office, may be fittingly followed by its complete surrender to the general government for the uses of the Custom House and Sub-Treasury. That most obnoxious development of the park system, known as the private park, has been so far condemned as to receive but two conspicuous illustrations. One of these, St. John's Park, has been taken up bodily for business purposes, while the other, Grammercy Park, is only awaiting the inevitable extension of Lexington avenue to bisect and secularize it. Reservoir Square was once, and may be again, appropriated to public purposes. But recently a movement in favor of utilizing what is left of Washington Square was all but successful, and doubtless the history of this famous parade ground is drawing gradually to a close.

Whatever anticipations may have been once indulged of laying out New York as a garden city, its rapid and invincible growth has determined contrariwise. A system of public parks and gardens is appropriate to retired inland towns and places abounding in accessible cheap land, but is not at all suitable for a great, active and irrepressible insular seaport like New York. The scarcity and value of land render such appropriation too costly, and the invidious and exclusive character of any isolated or scattered projections causes them to be objects of disdain rather than of envy. It is a noteworthy fact, that the property surrounding the several existing parks in this city, is relatively the cheapest that can be found on the island, and even our great Central Park has failed to realize its early and vaunted promise of becoming the centre of most fashionable residence. Representative private residences have been erected around that great park since its completion, at the rate of one in every five years. Building speculation around Central Park has been so signally and invariably disastrous as to deter any future ventures of that kind. If the park continues to be maintained in its present size, the architectural character likely to be given to it, is that of the locality of apartment house exploitations. For this purpose, which is strictly of an investment and business character, and not at all sentimental or idealistic, the value of the land must conform strictly to commercial standards. For this or for any other purpose that they can be used, it is doubtful whether the lots facing the park are worth the amount of assessments that have been levied upon them since the park was created.

The real utility and limit of the park system in this city has yet to be defined. Existing parks have either been badly located or badly contrived, as they have failed to attract and retain any large amount of public favor. Green triangles, like the small parks formed at the intersection of Broadway with the leading avenues, may afford an agreeable outlook and perspective, and perhaps some of the larger parks strung along this great highway may improve the general aspect of the city; but inaccessible and exclusive parks are wasteful and unpopular.

Public sentiment in the future as it has in the past will insist upon the utilization of all out of the way or private parks. The New York Park Protective Committee like the New York Sabbath Committee are very respectable and worthy citizens, engaged in a seemingly laudable work, but they will have great difficulty in winning over the mass of influential and intelligent opinion in New York to their ways of thinking.

PRICES AND VALUES.

Definitions commonly laid down in the books are, that value is the measure of the utility of any product, or the measure of its exchangeableness with other products, while price is the fitful expression of that measure. These studied and precise definitions answer very well for the purpose of scientific statement. Their application in practical affairs however is not always obvious or distinguishable. In their strictest sense they may be applied to perishable and renewable products, while the application becomes more difficult in the case of imperishable and immovable products, such, for instance, as real estate, a commodity which can be neither destroyed nor removed, except by earthquake, nor yet absorbed except in the operation of building improvement. In the latter case it loses none of its distinctive qualities but merely takes on a new character, but one which in time it may possibly lose, and thereby revert to its original condition.

These scientific definitions are either inapplicable in matters of real estate, or else our great commodity has failed to be embraced within the scope of rational science. When we come to examine the relation of real estate to the categories of value and price set up by political economists, we are lost and distracted in a maze of perplexity. It puzzles us to determine whether price dominates value, or, reversely, value dominates price.

Those who continue to be actively interested in matters of real estate enjoy a favorable and rarely occuring opportunity at present for studying the antics and vagaries of these twin subjects of value and price. In the presence of a notable decline in prices we are met with the pertinent inquiry: "Does the change in price really affect the intrinsic value of our city property?" The great hopes and glowing expectations that were once indulged in reference to city real estate, have met with signal disappointment. Those who once occupied the highest pinnacle of expectancy touching the capabilities of New York, and who fortified their enthusiasm by ample investments in real estate, have in turn become the most discouraged as to prospective results. The stately and majestic growth of a vast metropolis like New York is apt to unduly stimulate and excite the operations of a fervid imagination, and it is not be wondered at that, periodically, wealthy citizens and even those without great wealth should be led astray in regard to the capacities of our community to respond to the expectations of owners of real estate. Who can deny that the surface of our island possesses just as much intrinsic value now as it did when the hopes of speculators were running highest? The failure to realize the figmentary values once placed upon property by no means indicates decadence or lack of vitality, but simply that the limit of extremest tension in regard to values had been reached and overpast, while the revulsion and consequent unsettlement of values may operate temporarily to check the natural growth of the city. Speculative hopes were the earnest of great intrinsic worth in real estate, but the sequel proved that these hopes had been immensely exaggerated and pushed far in advance of the responsive abilities of the community. A tide of population once turned back and diverted cannot be easily recalled. Inducements in the shape of great sacrifices must be held out to reattract it. No doubt the losses on past investments in real estate constitute excruciating misfortunes, but we do not believe they can be said in any sense to signify the imminence of any disaster to the city itself. The speculators have been the losers while the public are the gainers. The barriers which high values set up to incoming population are swept away, and the true utility and exchangeableness of New York property will be more conspicuously developed under the operation of low prices. High prices act like a protective tariff, giving the owners of property the exclusive monopoly and control of their possessions, but this monopoly has proved to be an empty advantage because it led owners to over-value their possessions and to rate them far beyond the abilities or even possibilities of ordinary people to desire or seek the acquisition of them.

The truth is, the present plane of low values in real estate, accompanied by the invaluable accessories of rapid transit and cheap money, will promote the growth of this city in a more marked degree, and under more substantial and enduring conditions than ever could have been attained under the recent era. If the value of New York property has changed of late years it is for the better, and the low prices which are now ruling cannot fail in time to ensure its ready exchangeableness and its rapid diffusion among the masses of the people.

THE LIMITS OF CENTRAL PARK.

The present generation are fortunate in having survived the ravages of the park and boulevard mania. We have entered into, enjoyed and exhausted the fullest measure of benefit which those great public works were capable of conferring. We know their full capacity to bless us and to curse us. The poetic imagination will no longer be appealed to, to conjure up those brilliant fancies, whose realization was so freely promised in the completion of the system of great parks and boulevards. A former generation had the fun of looking forward to the completion and to the beneficient effects of these great works, while the present generation endures the hardship of having to pay for them. In true American fashion, nothing is undertaken in New York on a small scale. We would rather overstep the bounds than seem to fall short. In no respect have the uncontrollable ambition and enterprise of this community been better illustrated than in the limits ultimately assigned to Central Park. After once fixing its northerly boundary at Eighty-sixth street, then at One Hundred and Sixth street, this line was deliberately moved four blocks further up. It is a matter of special wonder that, while engaged in the work of extension its projectors and promoters did not push its limits in a northerly direction to the Harlem River and in a southerly one to Forty-second street.

The original inventors of this Park, authentic history tells us, were a body of real estate speculators, who despaired of the complete absorption of the vacant land on this island unless some of it was forcibly taken possession of, and who apprehended that real estate values in this city would not attain large enough dimensions unless the stock of vacant lots was permanently reduced.

The beau ideal of many of these gentlemen in respect to the topical conditions of New York, would be realized if the whole interior of the island was laid out in a grand park, with a fringe of costly and eligible lots serving as a border, provided always that these same gentlemen were also allowed to become the fortunate owners of these rare and choice boundary lots at moderate cost, and were able to dictate to the rest of the world the prices which should be paid for them. Central Park to-day represents the vaulting ambition, the boundless enthusiasm and the measureless projective enterprise of the typical real estate speculator.

As sacrilegious and disloyal as it may seem, it is nevertheless warrantable by many facts to criticise the present dimensions of the Park. The principal ground of criticism, and one which must sooner or later prove fatal to the maintenance of its established boundaries, is that the present arrangement constitutes a topographical blunder. Even allowing we could spare as much as eight hundred acres of vacant pleasure ground in the center of the residence part of the island, which cannot be safely done, it must be obvious to the most casual observer of our city map, that the southerly boundary of this tract should have been fixed at Seventy-second street, even though its northerly boundary should have been pushed to One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, or for that matter to Harlem River. It is unaccountable why the engineers of the Park should have thrust their southerly line so far into the city, unless upon the principle of approaching and encroaching as closely as possible upon the settled and improved limits.

If the creation of the Park had possessed one-half the virtue of attracting population which was claimed for it, it would have been wise to have left a larger extent of habitable territory on the southerly side of it, rather than to compel the dividing of population at so low a point as Fifty-ninth street.

The Park has served its great purpose as an absorbent of vacant lots. It is venturing but little to predict that in time it must give up a portion of this land which has been so ruthlessly, unceremoniously and thoughtlessly appropriated. The city is now built up almost solidly to Fifty-ninth street. Builders and citizens were once sorely puzzled as to which corner of the Park would be first turned, and what way the rounding of the corner could be most easily effected. A decided movement has been established in the direction of the easterly side, which, together with the rapid transit framework now partially constructed, threatens to completely cut off and isolate the westerly side. The city will thus present a lop-sided and unnatural appearance, and the West Side, really the most eligible and attractive part of the city, will be the ultimate site of miscellaneous, objectionable and inexpensive improvements. Whereas, if Seventy-second street, which has lately taken on the dignity of a boulevard, was made the southern boundary, the winding, oblique course of Broadway would then be so far west of the southwesterly corner of the Park that an easy joint could be made of the main trunk with either side, and the city's growth would present a solid, compact and orderly progression. We know the expectation was once indulged that the course of improvements would sweep around the southwesterly corner of the Park. The failure of this expectation may be clearly assigned to the awkward angles that the southerly line of the park now presents, and the necessity of choosing the southeasterly as involving in its circuit fewer difficulties than the other, and as possessing close and continuous contact with the fashionable quarter.

We present these views in no irreverent or iconoclastic spirit, but rather as the expression of a necessity that is being keenly felt, and the presentation of an obstacle to the natural, uniform and symmetical growth of the city, which should be removed. The proceeds of the sale of the land that the Park occupies below Seventy-second street, would be a welcome addition to the sinking fund; and from personal examination and survey we believe there would be little or no difficulty in harmonizing the present physical conditions of the Park with such a new southern boundary as Seventy-second street would make. It is certain that the present area of the Park exceeds the ordinary capacities and abilities of the city to properly care for it. The expense of maintaining so large a park is an enormous burden upon taxpayers, and a useless one, when we consider that for driving purposes the easterly side is used almost exclusively, that single road furnishing sufficient accommodation for all the vehicles that enter the Park at the height of the season. One quarter of the present dimensions of the Park would suffice for all the pedestrian and lounging patronage that it receives on the gayest holiday.

In no respect, that we can imagine, would the loss be felt of the small fragment which we here propose to lop off as a segment necessary to the physical symmetry of the city, and the speedy and natural development of its growth. The establishment of such a new boundary would afford easy and methodical inlets to both the east and the west sides from the center or backbone of the city, and both sides could then be built up simultaneously.

MR. PETERS' APARTMENT HOUSE FACING THE PARK.

During the month of January last Mr. C. Robert Peters, a wholesale cutlery merchant of Reade street, bought two splendid lots, each measuring 25x100.5, on the south side of Fifty-ninth street between Fifth and Sixth avenues, directly opposite the Central Park, for $20,000 a piece. These two lots, costing him $40,000, he at once set to work in improving, and recently the writer of this article had the satisfaction of visiting one of the most elegant apartment houses, so far as location and appointments are concerned, he has yet seen in the course of building, now pretty active all over the island. The estimated cost of the building erected there reached the sum of about $70,000, the architect being Mr. William Kuhles. The ground and the building cost Mr. Peters the round sum of $100,000, and let us see what return he may expect for his investment.

There are to be let twelve apartment suites, two on each of the six floors. Now, the house next door averages $1,200 per annum for each floor, and it should be remembered that it is a location directly opposite the Central Park, more agreeable, more convenient, than either Fifth or Madison avenues. Granted that Mr. Peters will only average a thousand dollars for each of his suites and he will have an income of $12,000 per annum, or, in other words, twelve per cent. on his investment, than which there exists no safer in New York.

The greater part of the lots on which this apartment house is erected is made ground, and while for the foundations Mr. Samuel Lowden, the master mason having charge of the work, had to dig down fully twenty-nine feet on the corner nearest to the Sixth avenue, he had to lay a concrete bed three feet thick. The style of the front is exceedingly attractive and rather ornamental, but not more so than the peculiar locality facing our great park warrants, while the lower part of the front up to the second story is of Nova Scotia and Ohio stone, furnished by Mr. Charles Huber. The upper stories are all of brick with stone window arches, stone balconies and a stone cornice. The monotony of this front will be, however, greatly relieved by the liberal use of Sgrafitta or terra cotta medallions, an ornamental material imported from Germany by Mr. Rudolp Frank, of 40 Murray street. It is all modeled by sculptors in Berlin, who have made a specialty of this kind of work, the medallions on the second and third stories creating a very excellent effect. The interior of the hall also is to be ornamented with terra cotta statues from the same house.

Another peculiar feature of the front is the use of the enamelled brick manufactured in Philadelphia, and of which Mr. Charles Schott, of 6 Wall street, is the agent for New York. This brick, which costs seventy dollars per thousand, presents a nice appearance, and would have been more liberally used by the architect but for the fear of making all at once too many innovations upon the front of the building, which already contains so many new attractions. The iron ornamental railings from Cook & Radley, at several of the front windows, also aid in relieving the monotony of the ordinary brick, but all together the entire whole forms a picture as pleasing to look at as any the writer has seen in the building line during the present season of active operations.

While touching upon the new features connected with the construction of Mr. Peters' building, attention should be called to the fact that for the first time in the history of New York building the master mason is making use of black cement mortar, of which General Steinmetz, in Cedar street, is the patentee. This mortar contains nothing but pure carbon, and will therefore, retain its color forever and cannot wash out. Of course the price is also higher than the ordinary mortar, but if experience proves it to be a more durable material than the old mortar, which is claimed by the patentee, no doubt other builders will follow Mr. Lowden's example, and avail themselves of its use.

Polished granite columns with Ionic caps, all forming part of Mr. Huber's works, add to the imposing appearance of the front entrance, peculiarly adapted for this style of house.

The building, as already stated, is six stories high above the basement, with an attic for servants' rooms. These rooms will be an addition to the ordinary servant's room which forms part of each of the twelve suites. In this respect the architect has done his utmost to make, wherever possible, separate accommodations for the servants. Separate halls for the domestics so as to enable them to go from their kitchen to the private hall, without disturbing those sitting in the dining room, servants' staircases from basement to attic, and servants' separate water closets have all been provided for. Each suite is composed of six rooms, being parlor, dining room, library and three bedrooms, of course, in addition to kitchen and bathroom. A court yard twenty-four by sixteen feet gives ample light to all the rooms while a large well-hole gives light to all the staircases. Mr. F. Schaettler, of West Twenty-eighth street, has charge of the carpenter work, and the main staircases throughout the building are to be of hardwood finish. The plastering of this apartment house was not included in the ordinary mason contract, but is specially attended to by Mr. Becker, of First street.

Hale's hydraulic elevator, enclosed in brick casing, will enable the tenants of this building to reach their respective suites without unnecessary delay, and the old firm of Gillies & Geoghegan are charged with providing the steamheating for Mr. Peters' model house. The boiler is to be located in the court yard, so that in case of accident no damage can be inflicted on the building proper.

Messrs. Gilroy & Reynolds, of Third avenue, have charge of the plumbing work, which always is one of the most important jobs connected with the erection of new buildings. The roof laid by Geo. Fisher & Co., of Forsyth street, already covers the building, and workmen are now engaged in perfecting the interior flooring. The building will be ready for tenants on or about the first of October, and will certainly be regarded as one of the most attractive apartment houses in New York city.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

In real estate circles the week has been devoid of interest. A few sales were held at the Exchange by direction of corporations, which were plaintiffs in several actions of foreclosure, involving amounts of considerable magnitude, the most noteworthy being the sale of seven houses and lots on Seventy-sixth street, between First and Second avenues, to satisfy mortages amounting to $19,500, held by the New York Life Insurance Company. One house with lot was struck down to C. McCoon for $1,900, and the remainder were bid in by the Company. The Manhattan Life Insurance Company also bid in the property situated on the north side of Ninety-second street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues (51x100.8), for the sum of $10,000, being about the amount of the liens affecting the premises. The five-story brick store on Forty-first street, 150 feet east of Eighth avenue, was sold for $14,150, to satisfy incumbrances amounting to about $12,225. The two five-story brick stores and dwellings with lots known as Nos. 290 to 294 Rivington street, were bought by Stephen Heatty for $16,750, and No. 50 Chrystie street was sold under a second mortgage of about $2,809, the plaintiff becoming the purchaser, bidding for the premises $19,453, an amount about equal to all the incumbrances thereon. George W. Sherman bought the houses and lots on the southwest corner of Bleecker and West Eleventh streets (58 x50), for $25,100, having been offered for sale to satisfy liens amounting to about $7,000. Details of all other sales held since our last report appear below.

Under private contract Hiram Merritt, of Third avenue, has negotiated the sale of the house with lot known as No. 56 University place, southwest corner of Twelfth street (40.3x27), for $22,000 cash, Thomas O'Connor of Twelfth street becoming the purchaser.

Since our last report the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments have submitted their annual report in which they state the assessed valuation of the real and personal estate for 1878 is $1,098,387,775, the valuation of real estate being $900,855,700, an increase of $5,791,767 over last year. The Commissioners state:

"The real estate market has been stagnant and depressed, yet the owners of real estate not overloaded by mortgage felicitate themselves in comparison with other investors. 'The investor in speculative stocks has found himself bankrupt; most railroad companies are in a similar condition; many manufacturing stocks have ceased to pay dividends; merchandise has depreciated from 40 to 70 per cent; trade debts have to a large extent proved worthless; and amidst all these wrecks improved real estate stands—not unharmed or unimpaired in value—but still, as compared with other interests, sounder, stronger, more hopeful than almost any.'"

The assessments for personal property are as follows:

	1877	1878
Residents	$118,832,577	$119,619,355
Non-residents	13,581,309	12,733,400
Shareholders of banks	73,614,274	65,179,320
Total	$206,028,160	$197,532,075

Only eleven plans, embracing twenty-two buildings, have been filed with the Superintendent of the Department of Buildings since our last report. The notable buildings to be erected are three brown stone dwellings on One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, and seven five-story tenements on the southwest corner of Second avenue and Seventh-sixth street. Extensive alterations and repairs will be made to the buildings Nos. 31 and 33 Pine street, at a cost of $30,000.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Common Hards have made a slight change for the better. Up to the present writing the addition to cost is slight, but on desirable grades prices have stiffened somewhat, and as dealers are making a fair delivery, there is a feeling that the outlook is more favorable for the seller than the buyer. No particularly buoyant views are expressed, but simply a natural recovery to a fair level is looked for, and a holding of the market uniform afterward. The amounts offering have been pretty full, but not excessive, and the cargoes to come forward are said to be lighter, whilethe advices at hand indicate a pretty general intention among manufacturers to shut down to half production after July 3d. The current distribution of cargoes is mainly on local account, very few domestic shipping orders coming to hand, and as we close about the old general range of quotations remains, with probably less effort required to obtain the outside figures. Pale Brick of all kinds continue slow, tame and uncertain, but really fine are as a rule held at $2.00 per M. Croton Fronts are still very fairly active, and manufacturers of the leading brands do not appear to be in a hurry to secure additional orders at the moment. The fine and fancy grades are in fair demand, and tend to increase on cost. Especially is this the case on Philadelphias, which are scarce with most of the manufacturers sold ahead and now asking an addition of about $3.00 per M., before they will consent to negotiate. A considerable amount of this latter class of stock has been bought for export, and we hear of two sales, one of 119 tons and one 131 tons from Philadelphia to St. John, at $5.00 per M. The export clearances reported at this port during the week were 100,000.

We quote Pale, ℔ M., $2.00@—; Hards, Up-rivers, $3.25@$3.87; Haverstraw bay, $4.00@$4.75; favorite brands, —@$5.00; Fronts, Croton—brown, $7; dark $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $23@$27; Trenton, $21.00@$29.00; Baltimore, $34@$38.00. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@$3 higher on ordinary and $5.00@$6.00 on fronts.

FOREIGN WOODS.—The general demand has shown no special animation, and a slow, somewhat uncertain tone was the characteristic of the market for some time past. Home consumption, especially of the finest or fancy woods was of the most absolute necessity, and buyers appeared willing to make up two or three invoices, rather than take more at any one time than would exceed their wants. Arrivals were not excessive, as importers have used considerable judgment in bringing cargoes forward, but there has been no scarcity of ordinary assortments at any time. Values have undergone no radical changes, but on a recent careful revision, our figures were marked down a trifle on cedar and the ordinary run of mahogany, with a small reduction also on satin wood. Tulip wood, however, and fine St. Domingo crotches of mahogony have advanced a trifle, closing firm.

GLASS.—Demand without much animation and of a spasmodic sort of character, which by its constant promise of improvement, and almost immediate failure, gives matters an irregular and discouraging tone all around. The supplies, however, appear to be fairly under control, with holders not very much inclined to force them to a sale, and this disposition preserves a reasonably steady feeling. Still, on the other hand, there is no standing out for extreme rates, and the opportunity to move stock in any quanity is very apt to bring concessions. On quotations the current views are still extremely variable, and it is impossible to give really reliable figures.

HARDWARE.—The market has became pretty dull, and a great many of the trade are now making the ordinary examination and straightening out of books, with a few taking inventory. Advices at hand from the country still indicate small stocks on hand, but no intention among holders to make additions until compelled to by necessity. City consumption, however, is fair and embraces a general run of standard goods. On prices, we have no reports of a positive character up to time of closing, but several important list are understood to be under revision. The irregularity on Cast Butts continues to be a very unpleasant feature of the market, and we find it simply impossible to obtain an accurate quotation. Close, sharp buyers, however, who can manage to incite a little competition between dealers are pretty sure to secure some advantage.

LATH.—It requires only a very small quantity of stock to overload this market just now. A fair, possibly an increasing consumption is going on, and this keeps the stocks of dealers moving out before the accumulation can reach an uncomfortable aggregate especially as amounts coming in have not run up full. Receivers, however, are evidently a little nervous over the situation, and seem to dread holding cargoes for any length of time, most of the arrivals being offered about as soon as reported. Operations have been moderate and the latest sale consummated was at $1.45, but $1.50 per M is the average quoting rate.

LIME.—There does not appear to have been any change on the general situation of the market during the week intervening since our last report. The demand is only fair and the supply about the same, making a balance which preserves an even run of values all around, but no lower figures, as manufacturers have worked down the rates to a margin which barely clears them and gives no profit. We hear of no accumulation in first hands amounting to anything, and none is wanted at this season.

LUMBER.—Not much change has taken place in the general situation since our last. A few dealers have had a fair business, but none reached a point of decided activity, and the advantage of the situation still remains sufficiently with the buyer to prevent any decided buoyancy on values. Indeed, if anything, the turn has been slightly the other way, and only the very best and finest selections will command outside figures as commonly quoted. The local consumption requires only moderate amounts of stock on fresh orders, and the outward movement on foreign account is a little slow just at the moment. Agents, however, secure a fair number of orders for shipment from the primary points, especially South. Stocks on hand are not large, but have slightly increased on early made contracts, and dealers seem to think they have enough for the present.

Eastern spruce has arrived to an extent quite sufficient to satisfy all open calls, and the market gained no strength with former outside figures, if anything, somewhat difficult to obtain, especially on a random offering containing any noticeable proportion of unattractive lengths. Most of the sales have been to buyers intending to consume rapidly, and no supplies of consequence have been taken to lay away. Indeed, manufacturers, by holding back, may secure a temporary tone of steadiness, but do not frighten buyers, none of whom appear to be in any way alarmed over a prospective scarcity. On the contrary, the belief is that there will be quite as much as the market can provide for, and possibly a little to spare, as competitors with the Maine ports are coming upon our market. We learn that a drive of sixteen million feet of spruce logs owned by the Connecticut River Lumber Company has arrived safely at Holyoke, Mass., and Hartford, Conn. This is a comparatively new enterprise and interesting to New York buyers, as it provides a source of supply of spruce lumber during the winter months at short notice and at a time when Eastern mills are shut down and navigation impeded by ice, etc.

We quote at $12.00@$13.00 for random, possibly $13.50 for choice lengths in small cargo, and $13.00@$14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult.

White pine does not change on cost to any quotable extent, and in a general way, the features of the market are just about the same as last noted. On local account, the orders are limited to small and irregular parcels, mostly such as can be worked into immediate consumption, and the export demand is less certain than a few weeks ago. Still on the latter outlet, more or less is moving, and some dealers seem to think this alone saves the market from utter stagnation. We quote at $15@17 per M. for West India shipping boards; $20.00@21.00 for South American do; $15@16 for box boards; $17 for do. wide and sound; and timber to order at $30@40 per M.

Yellow pine has continued to find some favor on orders for shipment from the points of production to foreign points, and has also sold on few contracts for late delivery here and adjacent ports. Sellers' views remained as before, and the general market had a fairly steady tone. We quote random cargoes at about $18@21 per M.; ordered cargoes $22@24 do; green flooring boards, $20@21 do; and dry do. do. $20@23. Cargoes at the South, $14@15.50 per M; hewn timber, $7.50@14.

Hardwoods have found some export demand, but no activity on this outlet, and the home calls still moderate and uncertain. Supplies not full, but enough for all wants, and former rates as a rule accepted. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut $77@85 ℔ M; ash, $33@36 do; oak, $35@40 do.; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do.. do., culls, $18@20 do.; cherry, $45@75 do.: white wood, ½ and ⅝ inch., $25@27.50, and do. inch $33@35 do.; hickory, $25@30 do. for Western, and $40@50 for good near-by stock.

Yard orders fluctuate somewhat, but reach about former aggregates, and the position is without new features worthy of note. Quotations are nominally unchanged.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

The Albany Argus of June 26th, 1878, reports as follows:

The present week opens well with the dealers in pine lumber; whether it be the fine weather or the wants of consumers that has brought buyers into the district, the attendance to-day is good with prospects of an active trade at quotations. In Michigan and on the Ottawa we have reports of an active trade for the East and for the States.

In coarse lumber we have not anything new to report nor any change to note in quotations. The demand continues fair with a light stock of hemlock. The stock of spruce is ample.

The aggregate receipts by canal for the season continue largely in excess of those to a corresponding date a year ago.

During the last two or three weeks purchases covering probably 30,000,000 feet have been made in Canada for the States. In view of the short supply from that source this season, it is thought the purchasers of these lots will do well.

The receipts of lumber at Chicago from January 1st to June 19th are 304,957,800 feet against 228,210,000 feet for a corresponding date a year ago. The shipments, 283,822,000 feet against 207,866,000 feet.

These shipments at Saginaw and Bay City to the 13th inst. are 172,728,700 feet. There is no disposition to force sales. Some Eastern buyers have been in market; and purchases by them covering 9,000,000 feet are reported. Freights from Bay City to Tonawanda are going at $1.00 per M. feet.

The Toledo Blade reports the receipts of lumber at that port, from the opening of lake navigation to June 24th, at 13,541,900 feet, against 2,333,000 feet for a corresponding period in 1877.

The reported shipments of lumber from New York during the week are 2,066,000 feet to twenty-two different foreign ports.

The receipts of lumber at Buffalo for the week by lake are 4,446,000 feet; by rail, 52 car loads.

The receipts at Oswego for the week 3,009,100 feet; the shipments by canal, 2,403,100 feet.

Freights from Tonawanda to Albany are $1.85 ₱ M. feet; from Oswego, $1.60.

The receipts at Albany by canal from the opening of navigation to June 22d, are:

The receipts at tide-water from the opening of navigation, to June 22d, are:

THE WEST.

SAGINAW VALLEY.

Lumberman's Gazette Office:

BAY CITY, Monday, June 21, 1878.

The week just closed has been one of considerable activity among the lumberman in the Valley. The buyers who have been here have purchased liberally, and as a consequence we are enabled to report quite a number of sales. Among these we may mention 1,000,000,000 dry stock to Buffalo at $6.50, $13 and $28; 2,000,000 green to Albany at $6, $12 and $28@30; 1,500,000 green to Albany at $6, $12 and $28; 200,000 at $6, $11.75@12 and $28; 740,006 at $6, $12 and $28, also 4,000,000 box lumber at $8. The sales of the week will probably aggregate over 12,000,000, and there has been no good stock sold at less than $6, $12 and $28.

The season is now pretty well advanced, and the stock obtainable throughout the country is known to be so far short of that of former years that is certain that the prices now obtained will be the ruling figure for good stock, and that lumber will be held even firmer in the fall than now. We do not imagine that buyers will get any better bargains by waiting than can be obtained at preseet, while they now have an advantage in shipping at the lowest rates that lumber has exer been carried for from this river.

Shingles are in good demand and manufactuers are readily disposing of all their stock as soon as cut.

The wholesale quotations following are the prices at which manufacturers hold stocks.

Three uppers	$28 00@30 00
Common	12 00@14 00
Shipping culls	6 00@ 7 00
Lath	1 30@ 1 35

The Gazette's Chicago correspondent writes:

For the past week the arrivals have been more numerous on the cargo market, and more anxiety has prevailed to put in stock, and prices have been very well maintained, considering all things. On some grades prices are a little more week, and some cargoes have sold at a decline, while other grades are more firm.

Shingles are decidedly weak and prices lower under very heavy receipts, much of which is very inferior stock.

The cargo demand from Missouri and Mississippi River points the past week has been good, the stock now going down and to go down the latter stream being entirely inadequate to the rapidly growing demand of the treeless prairies of the West. It is thought the trade tributary to the Mississippi River, and heretofore mostly supplied from that source, will be double what has been any season heretofore, and it is well known that the supply will be less than half what it has been in former seasons, leaving a deficiency that must be supplied by rail from Minneapolis, Wisconsin and this market. This would indicate that the demand for stock from this point may be heavier this season than ever heretofore, owing partly to the comparitively low rates of freight usually prevailing from here west—on account of strong competition—and partly to the heavier stocks and better assortments carried here, giving purlhasers an opportunity to make fine selections.

Cargoes may be quoted about as follows on this market now:—Piece stuff, $8.25; common inch, $8.50@9.50; the medium gradns are very quiet at $10@11, and choice at $11@13; lath easy at $1.25, and shiningles $1.90@2.10.

The following from Lumberman and Manufacturer:

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., June 21, 1878.

The harvesting of grain and hay in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri interferes with the trade of those sections. The almost impassible condition of the roads over a large part of the West also contribntes to lessen the demand for lumber. The grain crop of the whole West, with the exception of corn in Illinois and part of Iowa, promises to be the greatest ever raised, and as it will soon be saved, the trade will soon receive as great an impetus from it as it did in the fall of 1877.

The time is well nigh at hand when the shortage in the stocks at the manufacturing and wholesale markets will tell a story too plain to be disputed by the most perverse bear on the market; and while it is still our duty to record generally demoralized markets all along the Valley, yet we take pleasure in noting the upward tendency of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Toledo markets, which have received the benefit of greatly reduced freight rates to western points, and consequently a great deal of business which did not properly belong to them. This is well demonstrated by the presence of Milwaukee lumber at Owatonna, Minnesota; Saginaw lumber at St. Louis, shipped via Toledo; and Chicago stuff in southwestern Minnesota, as well as down in the Indian Territory. It is reported that Toledo has a $30 rate to Kansas City, while St. Louis pays $25 and Chicago $60, and the car rate from Toledo to St. Louis is $20. This, of course, will demoralize and depress trade as long as it continues. The matter of being able to sell lumber at any market, at any price, is fast settling down into a mere question of favor on the part of railways; simply a matter of transportation, which is adjusted too often by half a dozen men who have no interest or sympathy with the people, whose rights and property they play battle-door and shuttle-cock with, and the protests or remonstrances of the trade amount to nothing by way of correction of the evils.

The week has brought a little relief to the mills of the river cities, in the shape of some 50,000,000 feet of logs out of the Chippewa River, and several rafts out of that stream and the Wisconsin river, which have been distributed along the Mississippi at prices that seem fully up to the yard rates, as will be seen by the reports in another column. The stocks along the river need replenishing before they will be prepared for any extensive revival of trade. Prices are being shaded at certain points where the trade has been affected by low freights from eastern points.

FOREIGN.

Mail advices from Rio de Janeiro to June 4th, 1878, report as follows:

Pitch Pine Deals.—There have again been no arrivals, and the position of the market looks very favorable. We believe the first arriving cargo will fetch 33$000 to 34$000 per dozen. 3x9x11 and, if shipments continue moderate, a further advance in prices is probable.

White Pine Lumber.—The arrivals have been: 65,826 feet per "Olive Thurlow" from New York, 71,891 feet per "New Republic" from Philadelphia, 111,620 feet per "Jennie Sweeney" from Philadelphia, 12,480 feet per "Alice" from Baltimore, and 44,333 feet per "N. W. Smith" from New York, all sold at 80 reis per foot.

The market is steady but the above arrivals have prevented a further rise.

METALS.—COPPER.—Ingot remains dull, the demand not extending beyond the immediate wants of manufacturers, but stocks still under good control and held steadily at 16¼@16½c. for Lake. Manufactured in about average jobbing demand and the general range of prices as before. We quote as follows: Brazier's Copper, ordinary sizes, over 16oz., per sq. foot, 28c. per lb; do. do., do. 16 oz. and over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 30c. per lb.; do. do., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 32c. per lb.; do. do., lighter than 10 oz. per sq. foot, 34c. per lb.; circles, less than 81 inches in diameter, 31c. per lb.; do. 81 inches diameter and over, 34c. per lb.; segment and pattern sheets, 31c. per lb.; locomotive fire box sheets, 28c. per lb.; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz., per square foot, 26c. per lb., and Bolt Copper, 28c. per pound. IRON—Scotch Pig has continued under more or less neglect, and in some few cases holders were inclined to offer pretty low. Quoted at $22@25 per ton according to brand and quantity. American pig has moved to a fair extent, but owners worked off their stocks only by naming easy terms, and values generally are lower. We quote at $17.50@19 for No. 1 per ton, $15.00@17.50 for No. 2, and $14.50@15 for Forge. Rails have been rather dull of late, but remain about steady, and the stocks seeking sale is not large. We quote at $32@35 for new iron, and $41@43.00 for Steel at the mills. Old Rails, $17.50@18.50 per ton; scrap, $20.00@21.00; the latter slow. Manufactured iron selling slowly without quotable changes on values. Common Merchant Bar can be had in round lots at 1.7c. and Refined at 1.9c. but for ten-ton lots from store, 1.8c. and 2c. are respectively insisted upon. Common sheet, 3c., and best R G. American, 4c. from store. LEAD—Domestic pig has been unsettled on price, and without much demand, but closes at about former figures. We quote at about 3¾@3¾c. currency. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; Pipe, 5c., and Sheet, 6c.—less the usual discount to the trade; and Tin-lined Pipe, 15c. Block Tin Pipe, 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig has a slow easy tone, with a plentiful supply on hand and holders offering readily. We quote at 17¼@17⅜c. for Banca, 14⅜@14½c for Straits, 14¾@14⅞c. for English Refined, and 14¼@14½c. for do common. Tin plates meeting with a fair jobbing sale and on easy terms. Spelter in light demand and easy at about 4⅝@5c Sheet Zinc moderately active and about steady at old figures. We quote at 7¼@7½c. gold for foreign, and 6@6¼c. currency for domestic.

NAILS.—Matters do not improve much on this market, now and then a fair sized order is received, but there is no liberal or free demand, and stocks are full enough to cause some competition under which values rule easy. To the Trade sales are making as low as $2.40 net on ordinary parcels, while large invoices could be bought lower still.

OILS.—Demand without much animation beyond the ordinary call from regular sources, and the market shows a somewhat unsettled tone. In a jobbing way, however, holders are generally looking for about former rates and not forcing matters. Linseed oil sells at 57@59c. from crushers hands.

PAINT.—Business has been only moderately active, and as before the demand comes principally from the regular run of customers and is for a standard selection of goods. The jobbing cost remains much the same as for some time past, and there is not much alteration on wholesale parcels.

PITCH.—A slow monotonous sort of market continues, the supply and demand about balancing and keeping prices on the former level and nothing to indicate any early variation. We quote at $1.87½@2.12½ per bbl. for city delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Care is shown on the part of most buyers not to exceed early wants, and the demand in consequence moves somewhat slowly. Prices have fluctuated to a considerable extent since our last, but the market finally closes with a slightly tame tone at 29@33c. according to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—Supplies are not very large, and as a rule may be considered under good control, with owners refraining from pressure to realize. All fair bids, however, receive proper attention, and former rates are accepted. We quote at $2.05@2.15 for Newberne and Washington, and $2.10@2.25 for Wilmington.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

SPECIAL NOTICES.

OTIS PASSENGER ELEVATORS.

The accident which recently occurred at the Evening Express building, has been the means of directing attention to the Otis steam passenger elevator, and the many advantages claimed for this style of elevator by its proprietors.

The circumstances of the accident have been detailed in the daily press, and had not the automatic safety appliances, with which every elevator is provided, been called into requisition, loss of life must have inevitably taken place.

Two distinct kinds of safety attachment are attached to these elevators, the first of which is designed to secure the car in case the wire-lifting ropes part, acting simultaneously on the breaking of the wire rope or ropes. The second system of safety appliances is designed to arrest the car if from any reason it reaches a motion a little in excess of its ordinary working motion. This last described system of safety attachments was called into action on the occasion of the derangement of the lifting mechanism of the elevator at the Express office, which caused the car to descend. The operator finding he had lost control of the machine, became frightened and grasped the hand rope which is stationery. The car continued its descent at a moderate rate of speed, but the person in charge was, of course, lifted from the floor, and did not receive any injury, owing to the fact that the second system of safety appliances was brought into action, resulting in an arrest of the car at the second floor. With a less carefully constructed elevator the operator would probably have been fatally injured, inasmuch as three persons under similar conditions were lately killed at the Grand Hotel in Paris. No one has ever been injured by the use of an Otis elevator, and twelve years' experience has demonstrated its safety.
