A BROADWAY RAILROAD.

It is understood that at the present session of the Legislature, an effort will be made to secure a charter for running a horse railroad through that portion of Broadway lying south of Fourteenth street. This is a commendable and timely measure, and we hope the Legislature may be disposed to give it favorable consideration. The antagonism to such a project dates far back in the early history of street railroads, and was founded on prejudice and short-sighted policy. The exclusion of a horse railroad from lower Broadway has worked an almost irreparable injury to that thoroughfare, and objection to its construction at this late day can only find force in the supposition that the injury already inflicted is wholly irremediable.

Broadway, as the principal avenue of trade and traffic, is entitled to, as it naturally invites, the facilities of improved locomotion far above any other of our longitudinal thoroughfares. Heretofore, this proposition has been resisted chiefly, if not entirely, by local property owners. It has been constantly urged that the noise occasioned by the locomotion of these vehicles would injure the business prospects of the street, and that such ready facilities of travel would carry passengers away from rather than encourage them to frequent the shops and business establishments located on its line.

At the time of this early opposition, Broadway below Fourteenth street was the favored mart of the best retail trade. Under the impression that this trade was imperishable, and then practically monopolized, and with a full realization of the benefits derived from it in store occupation and liberal rentals, owners were prompted to resist the introduction of a horse railroad, and to regard it as the almost certain means of diverting and distributing this trade to other avenues. The result, which they blindly prognosticated and deplored as likely to result from this given cause has been brought about through other instrumentalities, and under the influence of totally different conditions. The time has come when these owners are forced to look upon the revival of this proposed scheme as one of the readiest and surest means of reinstating their property in its former popularity and lucrativeness. The retail trade has all but deserted lower Broadway, and lines of unoccupied stores have been the silent monitors for years past of some fatal disqualification, or of the commission of some capital blunder. Fortunately, we are not obliged to look long to discover both of these causes of disaster. The disqualification which has unsettled the value and imperiled the prospects of lower Broadway, is the exorbitant rental heretofore demanded for any eligible store, the demand for which has been persisted in until the tenants have been compelled to avail themselves of acceptable situations elsewhere; and the blunder in the management of this property was committed in depriving it of the benefit of those improved facilities of travel which modern taste emands, and modern ingenuity has devised.

The sole means of locomotion on lower Broadway is the same that has existed for the last forty years, namely, the lumbering omnibus. It may seem gratuitous to point out the defects of this mode of travel in the presence of vastly improved accommodations, but it is allowable to allude to them as they bear directly on the question in hand. The slowness of movement may be set down as the least objectionable feature in the long catalogue of its present disabilities. For short distances, this may be endurable, though it totally disqualifies it for purposes of long travel. But this, combined with limited capacity, the awkwardness of entering and alighting, particularly for ladies, who are the principal shoppers, the absence of a superintending oversight to enforce decorum on the part of unruly passengers, are considerations which have long since served to condemn this ancient mode of travel.

The close proximity, the almost indecent contact of passengers in a stage make it a peculiarly undesirable vehicle for ladies. It is no uncommon thing for genteel ruffians, taking advantage of the isolated presence of ladies in stages, to insult them in a manner which would not be possible in horse cars or in rapid transit cars. In every feature that can repel patronage the ancient omnibus may be said to excel; while in all the desiderata of modern travel there is a lack which compels passengers to condemn and discard it. And yet, this is the mode of travel that Broadway property owners have heretofore elected to prefer, and have persistently prescribed as the most acceptable means of carrying customers to and from their properties.

It does not meet the case to suggest that lines of horse cars are now running parallel to and on either side of Broadway, in near proximity thereto. A slight acquaintance with these routes of travel will convince any one probably, other than these property owners, that they do not and cannot contribute to the welfare of Broadway. Below Fourteenth street, these lines of cars either pass through such wholly objectionable parts of the city or else diverge at such sharp angles from he line of Broadway as to render them inaccessible and in every way unsuitable for the accommodation of women, whose patronage constitutes the best shopping trade. It is a stinging disgrace to the city and an evidence of lack of foresight on the part of projectors of at least one of these roads that they should compel passengers to travel through the slums and past the bagnios of the town. The disrepute of a long section of this road is manifest in the noticeable fact that ladies rarely travel in its cars below Tenth street, generally forsaking them at Fourteenth street.

There can be no question that the public convenience would be immeasurably better served by a Broadway railroad, as compared with the service of present parallel lines. Property owners on Broadway have experienced hardships enough directly and indirectly attributable to the lack of such a railroad to induce them at this late hour to forego further objection and opposition.

Between Houston and Fourteenth streets the great thoroughfare presents the appearance of an almost deserted street. Certainly, in special localities, emptiness prevails so conspicuously as to give the street a desolate and repulsive character. These appearances cannot be misconstrued, and only faintly portray the actual calamities which have overtaken the majority of these landlords. Of this condition of their property the future holds out no prospect of early amelioration. The situation calls for the adoption of radical and decisive means for overcoming the lack of business popularity which now prejudices this property and for averting the state of chronic disaster which is fast settling down upon this section of Broadway. There is no physical reason why the wholesale business of the city should necessarily invade the great thoroughfare; and, certainly, below Canal street, there is abundance of store capacity to accommodate the growing wholesale business of the city for years to come. North of Canal street, the natural function of Broadway is and should be to accommodate the best class of retail business; and this function would be in full and free exercise to-day if the necessary means were existing for the transportation of passengers along this line. In the absence of such facilities, stores have been deserted by the retail trade, and as fast as the rents were marked down to the capabilities and resources of wholesale business, they have been prematurely taken up by leading houses. And still the influx of this class of trade is not rapid enough to occupy all the existing vacancies; and its northerly movement, must, necessarily, and for obvious reasons be slow.

In the mean time, other causes have contributed to expedite the dispersion of the retail trade. Sixth avenue, one of the earliest to accept the horse-car, long ago became the favorite seat of retail business. Its threatened disqualification by the rapid transit road is fast being overcome, and new business streets at right angles to it are being opened up which will act as feeders for the avenue. Within less than a year of the establishment of rapid transit, Fourteenth street and Twenty-third street, from Fifth to Seventh avenues, have been largely taken up by retail stores, and there is no doubt that the streets abutting on the depots of the rapid transit will loom quickly into prominence as localities for retail stores. The great dry-goods house of Hearn is preparing to migrate to a new store on Fourteenth street near Sixth avenue, while George Sloane, one of the leading tradesmen of lower Broadway, is about to occupy the magnificent store which he has lately erected on the corner of Twenty-second street and Broadway, and the Solomons have already moved from Broadway near Bleecker street to Union square.

These are examples of changes, radical in their effect and full of significance to Broadway property owners. Unless they wish their property to be relegated to the condition of third or fourth class estates, and the great thoroughfare to be permanently dismantled of its former glory, they must not only cease from opposing beneficial reforms, but they must unite, with hearty and earnest unanimity, in encouraging and promoting measures of relief.

The single, valid public objection which may be urged against building a railroad in Broadway is, that, on certain stated occasions, such as public receptions, holiday processions and the like, the entire width of Broadway is required for public uses. This consideration is entitled to a fair share of weight, and the contingency which it suggests must be provided for. It is not necessary to suppose that a Broadway railroad will suppress existing parallel roads; and it will be an easy matter to form a junction between the tracks at convenient points of the Broadway line, and the lines running on either side of the city, whereby a complete circuit, outside of Broadway, may be established. When an occasion arises, which demands the free and unobstructed use of Broadway, the cars may be switched to tracks of the parallel lines, and there continue to make regular trips, until restored to their own tracks.

The obliteration of stage lines, whose cumbrous vehicles even now, though in such reduced numbers, inconveniently throng Broadway, will be a consummation which might alone strongly recommend the granting of a railroad franchise for lower Broadway. There can be no doubt that such a line of horse cars when in full operation will be the most profitable line in the city. The best interests of Broadway and of the metropolis will be equally served when such a franchise shall be granted, and offered for sale at public auction to the highest bidder.

IV.—LIFE INSURANCE.

Chapter 463, laws of 1853, of this State, and its amendments, authorize the formation of life insurance companies, with power "to make insurance upon the lives of individuals and every insurance appertaining thereto or connected therewith, and to grant, purchase or dispose of annuities." These laws require the deposit of not less than one hundred thousand dollars in specified securities with the Insurance Department, before the commencement of business, and direct the Superintendent to hold such deposit as security for the policyholders. They regulate the investment of the funds and accumulations of such companies when organized and in business, and regulate generally the conduct of the business, and prescribe and limit the powers conferred. All charters are to continue until repealed—those charters are necessarily perpetual. Ample provision is made for cases of insolvency, and the application of the assets by receivers, and by the Superintendent, to the liquidation of all policy claims and other obligations.

The charters themselves provide for the details of the business and the division of profits or surplus. In purely mutual companies, in which there is no stock, all surplus or profits are returned to the insured, and the managers are elected by them, by their votes in person or by proxy; in stock, or mixed companies, the two classes share in profits, in such proportions as the charters provide, usually one-fifth to the stock and four-fifths to the insured; and the management are elected by the votes of the stock-holders. Some charters give the right to vote for trustees to certain classes of policyholders, but is so beset with conditions that it is practically never acted on; and, as a matter of fact, the votes of the stock control. Every precaution is taken to make the controlling power of the stock absolute; and such has always been the fact in every stock company; and while the law holds all assets as security, and for the protection of the insured; and the charters provide for mutuality of interest, in both classes, in the divisible surplus, being a practical community of profit and loss, and the assets all arise out of the contributions of the insured, still the custody and control of the assets remain in the stock-holders. Thus, while in one sense (we speak now of stock companies) every policyholder is a corporator in the incorporation, he is, by its methods of business, forced into the position of a beneficiary, and the stock-holders occupy in law toward him the relation of custodians or trustees. This is the true legal relation of the parties; life managers, in cases of litigation, seek to controvert this doctrine, for its admission raises, as against them, some dangerous questions and important and sweeping remedies, as we will indicate before we have done with this subject; but the position is beyond controversy, that the corporation and its managers occupy a trust relation toward their patrons, the policyholders.

All of the literature of life insurance, the circulars, reports and advertisements of the companies, hold out this relation as existing, and as being, as in truth it is, the most binding and sacred of all business relations: they have flaunted this feature of the business in our faces constantly, and proclaimed it world-wide for years and years, until it is an accepted thing in common, popular understanding, aside from being a direct legal conclusion drawn from the facts, from the very nature of the business.

The members of such an institution may be said to constitute a species of co-partnership; not such strictly, but a relation quite similar, and one which gives rise to a similarity of legal rights and remedies; and these latter are doubtless yet going to be found exceedingly inconvenient and stubborn by many of the dishonest managers, who have forgotton their duties and been false to their trusts.

The accumulations of a company go on from year to year increasing, until, for illustration, the business attains the dimensions of 45,000 risks, or lives, and $33,000,000 of assets. Of these assets nearly all constitute the "reserve": and the small balance forms the surplus. Do the owners of the stock ($100,000), in any sense whatever, own these $33,000,000? Have the insured no voice in regulating their management, no rights or remedies, which stock-holders must respect? Even the stockholders' paltry deposit of $100,000 is pledged and held by law as security, primarily for the insured: and while the policyholders in fact contributed every dollar of the assets, which, with their earnings, have swollen to such great proportions, they are entitled to the protection and preservation of the whole for their own benefit. The policyholders own all. The stockholders contributed nothing, and they own nothing, except contingently, their stock, and its share of the surplus; and that "contingency" is, that every out-standing obligation and duty be first fully retired and discharged; their ownership and rights are wholly subservient to those of the policyholders. This may seem to be an altogether useless discussion, but in view of the lack of general information upon the subject, and the application we wish to make of it, it seems to us quite proper and pertinent.

Thus we have shown, in this and former articles, that this business is extraordinary in many of its features; its scope and limits seem to be boundless; and the operations of the next ten years might easily far exceed those of the past thirty years combined; the relation is strictly fiduciary between the insurers and the insured; or, we should say, the "managements" and the insured, for the insured are in fact their own insurers; it is pure... by a trusteeship; it is a business from the manag... of which are exacted the highest conceivable st... dards of good faith, fair dealing and business integrity; its temptations are simply marvelous. We have shown that control by stockholders of money not their own is perilous in the extreme, and it is the more disastrous in proportion as the amount under their control increases; that the purely mutual plan, with proper and wholesome checks and guards to secure fidelity in officers, is far preferable to the stock plan; that all the wrecks have been of stock companies; that the policyholders are the true owners of the immense treasures accumulated in the business; and they alone should control it; that its secret power insidiously invades the legislative halls, the court room, the jury box and even the bench, and is felt in all the channels of what were once pure and faultless systems of legislation and jurisprudence; and that in all the ramifications of its silent and resistless power, it has betrayed a character which warns the people that they have been tardy in grappling with it; and that the struggle with its monopolizing and aristocratic power and tendencies has come none too soon.

We are not technically versed in the mathematics of the business, and hence invite no contest with actuaries; but we have given, in plain terms, our views of the general features and outlines of this great interest, in the light in which the honest citizen and common man of business looks at it. This business has grown and fed upon and been fostered by the noblest and best element of human nature, the desire of men to provide for their helpless families in case of their death. This side of our natures has been constantly appealed to, by solicitors and agents, by reports, by circulars and advertisements, by itinerant ministers, who preached and lectured and prayed, and then took application in the same community for policies; by religious newspapers and by every possible influence and agency until present results have been attained.

The confidence of the community was secured in the theoretical and mathematical features of the business, and life companies were trusted with a sort of blind confidence and idolitray: many were deemed positively safe and infallible: but the element of dishonesty was wholly overlooked. Upon this grand work of solid confidence, fostered perhaps to some extent by honest men, a gang of worthless financial adventurers saw an opportunity to build up great speculations, and to rob and plunder a credulous and trusty people; and hence, between the years 1863 and 1869, twenty-seven life companies were organized, and since that date just that number have run their dishonest race and gone out of sight. The people have been robbed, through the best side of their natures, of hundreds of thousands of money; and the burden has fallen, too, upon the middle classes, mainly; those among whom it was a conscientious duty, and generally more or less of a privation, to make some provision for the future.

If the truth were known, how many parallels exist, secretly, and undisclosed to-day in life insurance, to the disgraceful record of plunder in the Teutonia Savings Bank, in the Continental Life, the Security, the American Popular, and other now notorious and shameful swindles, which might all have been averted had the State officers honestly done their duty in time? The changing of policies, or "twisting" (as a recent report of proceedings in the Court terms it) in the notorious Dr. Lambert's rotten company, we are assured, has its parallel in the practices of other companies now enjoying the patronage of the public. Hence we can and must assume, if such practices have existed, and if true books and records have been kept by the companies concerned, the Insurance Department has but one plain duty to perform, and that is, to investigate and report upon such cases.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET

Compared with the year 1877, it appears the aggregate amount of the consideration money expressed in the deeds affecting real estate in the City of New York, including the 23d and 24th Wards, and filed for record in the Register's office during 1878, shows a decrease of $7,113,858, while the decrease in the amount of mortgages is $37,733,451, but it should be remembered in this connection that there appears of record during the year 1877 one mortgage made by the Central Railroad Company, of New Jersey, amounting to $25,000,000, and another made by Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company for $10,000,000. The total consideration expressed in the deeds recorded during the year 1878, not including those affecting property in the 23d and 24th Wards, is $61,119,187 as against $71,469,285 in 1877. The value of the property transferred in these wards during the past year, as evidenced by the recorded deeds, reached $2,361,819, while in 1877, the amount was $2,125,579, an increase of $249,240 in favor of the year 1878. The aggregate sum represented by the mortgages recorded during 1878 is $39,196,266, the figures for 1877 being $76,929,717. To various insurance, trust and other financial companies, mortgages were given in 1878 amounting to $9,115,594. In 1877, the amount was $7,588,781.

The sales made at the Exchange Sales-room during 1878, aggregate $20,486,145 against $20,382,740, the figures for the year 1877. The total number of foreclosure suits commenced in the City of New York in 1878 was 2,320, showing an unexpected increase of 61, as compared with 1877.

Tabulated statements are appended showing the amount of consideration given in the deeds recorded in the Register's office since 1873; the amounts of mortgages recorded since 1877; the amounts realized by sales made at the Exchange Sales-room since 1875; the number of transfers of real estate since 1873, and the number of foreclosure suits commenced in New York since 1874:

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

We have been unable to secure necessary figures in time to publish our yearly review with this number of THE RECORD. It will, however, appear in the next issue, covering a retrospective glance at the various markets reported in these columns, the usual statistics, comparisons, etc.

BRICKS.—Holders manifest a continued appearance of steadiness and ask full former rates, or a little more if anything, but this covers about the entire market, as business generally is extremely dull indeed, during the week, demand appears to have been pretty well suspended from all quarters, and the small amounts of stocks handled were only taken under presure of the most absolute necessity. There was scarcely anything afloat, but quite as much as required under the circumstances, and, so far as the current outlet offered, receivers were just as well satisfied that no larger amount had accumulated, though with the prospect of limited additions for some time to come, there was naturally an absence of pressure to realize. Our quotations are revised slightly, but all figures are, for the time being, more or less nominal. On the jobbing distribution, matters are quite as dull as in a wholesale way, and even allowing for the season of the year, dealers in many cases seem to feel quite dissatisfied with the condition of affairs. Especially do we hear complaint of the crowding and squeezing propensities of buyers on prices, the best bids barely giving a margin on cost and expenses, and of course proving very discouraging to those who are carrying the stocks. There is, however, evidences that demand must improve after the "first of the year," stagnation has passed away and the various arrangements are completed to permit of the commencement on contracts. Pale Brick are scarce and wanted, and for desirable quality $2.50 is inside if anything, with a pobability that 25@50c. more would be paid for anything really attractive. The momentary demand for Fronts is moderate, but stocks are very well in hand and held with quite a firm tone. We quote Pale, P M., $2.50@3.00; Hards. Up-rivers $4.00 @4.25; Haverstraw bay, $4.50@4.75; favorite brands, $5.00@6.00; Fronts, Croton—brown, 7; dark, $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $26@28; Trenton, $24@29; Baltimore, $34@38. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@3 higher on ordinary and $5@6 on fronts.

HARDWARE.—We hear of scarcely anything doing in a wholesale way, this being the season when neither buyer or seller is particularly inclined to operate and goods are handled only under the pressure of the most absolute necessity. The stocks on hand are moderate, but from the factories a new supply will gradually be furnished to replenish the accumulations allowed to run low previous to taking inventories. A portion of the manufacturers of Wrought Iron Pipe have made an effort to increase the line of cost, but this not being generally agreed to resulted in an irregular tone on the market. A revised price list on the shovels, spades and scoops manufactured and sold by Hussey, Binns & Co. has been issued, with a discount of 20 and 5 per cent. The discount on Copper Rivets and Bars will be placed at 50 per cent., instead of 25 per cent. as before. No other announcements have been made public up to the closing of our report, but a number of quite important lists are soon expected.

LATH.—There has not been much of a market, either wholesale or retail, and we find little of interest to advise. The cargo rate, in the absence of testing sales, is altogether nominal, and a positive quotation cannot, of course, be given, but it is likely that at least $1.50 might be obtained, and some receivers consider this figure as rather inside if anything. It is certainly low for dealers to gauge their jobbing prices upon, and many, if they should obtain the ordinary advance of 20@25c. over the cargo value, would scarcely come out even at this.

LIME.—Prices are all "nominally unchanged" so far as wholesale valuations are concerned, there being no regular market existing at the moment, and quotations are not worth much. Retail operations, too, are also quite small and unimportant, and generally the position is stupid and uninteresting.

LUMBER.—Business continues generally moderate but especially so on local account, the holiday lassitude still remaining upon the market. Consumption and domestic distribution are confined entirely to the most imperative wants of the hour, and, as a rule, buyers give no sign of increasing their operations for some little time to come. In a few cases, however, agents have been asked for estimates upon cargoes for spring delivery, and there is a hope of closing some fair contracts. Exporters are represented to about the average extent, and there is considered a good prospect that the foreign trade will require the bulk of the accumulation made for it, and at reasonably full rates, which, since the recent "cut" on price on one or two large contracts, have stiffened up into better form again.

Eastern Spruce remains more or less nominal, as it requires an actual offering of stock to determine values. Should a cargo come to hand and happen to find one or two or more buyers waiting for it, an immediate sale at full rates would be assured; but on an absence of open demand it would be difficult to find a place except at a concession. We quote at $11.50@$12.00 for random, possibly $12.50@$13.00 for choice lengths in small cargoes, and $13.00@$14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult.

White Pine appears to be under sufficient control to permit the holding at a comparatively steady line of valuations, and owners views generally remain about as before. The offering, however, is made to a fair extent, and all calls appear to have been met without much difficulty. Exporters on the whole are the best customers, though an occasional fair sized invoice is taken on home account. We quote at $14.50@15.50 per M. for West India shipping boards; $19.50@21.00 for South American do; $11.00@15.00 for box boards; $16.00@17.00 for do. wide and sound; and timber to order at $28@30 per M.

Yellow Pine is quoted as steady very generally, and in some cases the feeling appears to be a shade more confident. Prices are low, and while this scarcely acts as an incentive to increased demand it induces buyers who are likely to want stock to show greater interest, and to commence negotiations on specifications for delivery on the incoming season. We quote random cargoes at about $18@22 per M.; ordered cargoes $22.00@24.00 do; green flooring boards, $20@21 do; and dry do. do. $20@23. Cargoes at the South, $13@14.50 per M.; hewed timber $13@14.

Shingles are not in very active demand on home account, the orders at present being in the main to cover some special necessity. Dealers, however, appear to be very well satisfied with what they have done for export and the prospects on the same line of trade, and hold steady for all really desirable parcels. Offerings are fair. Cypress are selling at about $6 for saps, and $8.50@9 for hearts; pine shipping stocks $4 for 18 inch and Eastern sawed grades at $2.50@4.50 for 16 inch as to quality and quantity. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: For 30 inch $16.00@22.25 for A, and $28.75@33.25 for No. 1; for 24 inch $8.50@16.00 for A., and $16.75@23.00 for Nor. 1; for 20 inch $5.00@10.50 for A., and $11.25@15.75 for No. 1.

Hardwoods are without much demand beyond the ordinary local call for small lots wanted by manufacturers, etc., for immediate consumption. The supply of attractive grade, however, is quite moderate and under very good control, with owners in no way disposed to hurry business or to modify the range of cost, as fresh supplies could scarcely be laid down except at a loss. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut, $77@85 ₱ M; ash, $33@36 do; oak, 35@40 do; maple, $30@35 chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do., do., culls, $18@20 do; cherry, $45@75 do; white wood, ½ and ⅝ inch., $25@27.50, and do. inch $33@35 do; hickory, $35@45 do. for Western, and $65@75 for good near by stock.

Yard trade is dull, indeed, some dealers say at an almost complete standstill, and nothing of special interest is, for the time being, shown. Values remain about as before and are steady with a fair enough offering of stock, both as to quantity and assortment to satisfy all calls. Books are now being straightened out for the year and a lull in business is not altogether without benefit.

THE WEST.

SAGINAW VALLEY.

Lumberman's Gazette Office:
East Saginaw, Dec. 31, 1878.

In the absence of any marked features in the lumber trade, we shall dismiss the subject briefly. There have been no transactions during the past week, and nothing to indicate how the trade will open in the spring. The weather has been favorable for hauling, and reports from the camps are favorable to the operators putting in full stock intended. When operators have accomplished this it is generally believed they will come out of the woods with their men and teams, without any effort to increase their job. While there is nothing doing in lumber, shingles are moving slowly, but at a decline in price. Average prices range from $2.25 to $2.50. The best or special brands are held at $2.60, but there are no sales at these figures.

As yet there is no special improvement in the yard trade either in prices or the movement of lumber by rail. Shippers have the assurance that there will be no change in rail freights, but the Eastern markets appear to be fairly supplied, and there is but little demand outside of a special order now and then, principally for bill stuff.

The Gazette has the following on winter logging:

We give the following as the estimates of the amount of logs that it is calculated will be put in the present winter on the streams named. A portion of the information is furnished by correspondents of the Gazette, and the balance is given on the authority of exchanges, the estimates of Wisconsin streams being mainly from the Northwestern Lumberman:

Thunder Bay District, Mich	100,000,000
Au Sable and Pine Rivers, Mich	153,750,000
Kawkawlin River, Mich	20,000,000
White River, Mich	125,000,000
Pere Marquette River, Mich	125,000,000
Muskegon River, Mich	450,000,000
Yellow River, Wis	40,000,000
Black River, Wis	150,000,000
Wisconsin River, Wis	21,000,000
Wisconsin Central R. R.	65,000,000

These figures we are inclined to believe are very liberal ones, and are more likely to be too high than below the actual outcome in the spring.

Chicago Lumber.—We are in receipt of the monthly report of the Secretary of the Chicago Lumberman's Exchange from which we extract the following figures. Stocks on hand on the 1st of each month in 1878 are given as follows:

	Lumber.	Shingles.
December 1	427,376,806	187,712
November 1	405,747,500	154,806,000

January 1	385,669,024	125,640,000

The following from the Lumberman and Manufacturer:

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., December 26, 1878.

Trade reports from all sections show no improvement in the lumber business. Shipments from Chicago for the week ending the 25th were 7,665,430 feet, while the receipts were 3,221,000 feet, and this with an open rate of $25 per car load (as much as they can pile on) to Missouri river points. The great firms of Chicago are selling common dimension and boards delivered at Kansas City at $14 per M. Notwithstanding this, some of the leading firms of St. Louis report fair sales for the month, at about quotations. The car rates from St. Louis are $30. They are shipping lumber from Chicago by way of Burlington for $25, and the same lines charge Burlington $30 per car. Of course the trade at Burlington were in no humor for a "merry Christmas," and their mood is not likely to grow more kindly. Trade amounts to little or nothing at any of the other river ports from Minneapolis to St. Louis. The shipments from Minneapolis reached only 42 cars last week. But some heavy sales have been made this week.

News from the pineries show that a large amount of snow in Michigan has set every one hauling logs briskly. Wisconsin has from six to eight inches of snow and doing a "land office" business. Northern Minnesota has an average of five inches of snow and the woods full of men. Every one concedes that there will be an unprecedented crop of logs, and all are calculating on low prices for logs next year.

THE SOUTH.

The shipments from Pensacola, Fla., to the United Kingdom and Continent up to October 31st, 1878 as against 1877, are as follows:

	Hewn Timber, cub. ft.	Sawn Timber, cub. ft.	Lumber, super. ft.
U. Kingd'm
1877	146,174	213,808	547,000
1878	213,637	215,669	230,000
Continent.
1877	3,536	8,359	886,000
1878	28,767	2,801	733,000

MAINE.

Following is a statement of the quantity of lumber surveyed at Bangor, Maine, during the past three years, as shown by the report of the Surveyor General of Lumber:

	1876.	1877.	1878.
Green pine	15,001,624	10,655,443	14,258,316
Dry pine	4,613,948	4,048,709	5,224,678
Spruce	82,087,987	85,480,149	81,258,056
Hemlock	13,417,632	17,683,444	21,362,775
Total	115,121,191	117,867,745	122,140,828

The whole amount surveyed since the establishment of the Surveyor General's office in 1832 foots up 7,054,547,562 feet, the average for the 47 years being 150,096,756 feet.

CARBRAY & ROUTH'S REPORT ON THE CANADA LUMBER TRADE FOR 1878.

MONTREAL AND QUEBEC, 1st January, 1879.

The year 1878, like its recent predecessors, has been a continual deception and falling off in sales and prices; with a continual expectation of better times and a better demand, both have failed to put in an appearance, and the year closes with a disheartening feeling among manufacturers and shippers as to what 1879 has in store.

At the beginning of the year it was thought the unfavorable logging season would re-act favorably, but even the little that was made was hardly wanted, and the markets would not have felt any appreciable difference if there had been no new cut at all. Stocks in Quebec, at opening of 1878, were about an average year's shipment without any new supplies; present stocks are materially heavier by some 60 million feet B. M. On the Ottawa, stocks are about an average, if anything a trifle heavier than last year, though a good portion, chiefly common grades, are held by second hands. The falling off in shipments to England was over 200 million feet B. M., and yet the markets there were glutted, and consignments were in all case sacrificed; shipments to France were greater than they have been for some years, but other continental ports show a falling off. To United States, shipments were rather more than in 1877, but sales were only practicable at low prices.

It might now be reasonably supposed that curtailment would be in order, to allow demand to catch up the supply. As far as square timber is concerned, this is being acted upon, the bulk of last year's cut is still in first hands with no demand and no early prospect of a sale; we are glad to say the new cut will be small, but we cannot say the same of saw logs which are being largely got out by many who last year got out square timber, and are now turning all their energies to saw logs; if the winter is favorable, the crop will be very large.

PINE in Deals were lower than in 1877, opening at $85, $55 and $25, per Quebec standard (2750 feet B. M.) for 1st, 2d and 3d quality, respectively, and weakening all through the season, it was impossible at some periods to sell at any price. The shipments from Montreal fell off to 3 million feet B. M. against 21 million in 1877.

In Boards, more business was done, but at poor prices for all the better qualities, coarse lumber sold well.

SPRUCE in Deals were low but sold freely, and were in fair demand, wherever holder was willing to sell cheap, but buyers fixed prices all through the season. Prices closed nominally at $32, $22, $16 per Quebec standard for 1st, 2d and 3d quality, respectively, which may be considered a fall of $2 since the spring.

In Boards, the demand for United States (our principal customer) has fallen off very much since a few years: there were more inquiries than in 1877, but resulted in very little on account of so few of our spruce mills working on this article.

HEMLOCK is entirely neglected.

FREIGHTS ruled low, as might be expected from the falling off in shipments. We beg attention to annexed tables of rates paid during the year.

PHOSPHATE OF LIME, which now, wherever practicable, forms a part (as ballast) of every timber cargo, is steadily increasing as an article of export. Shipments in 1878 were 10,190 tons against 4,800 tons in 1877.

NAILS.—The prevailing demand has been a trifle more active, but not of unusual magnitude, and confined principally to orders from regular customers. Stocks full enough for all wants, both in quantity and assortment, and holders willing to operate on a basis of former figures. We quote nominally 10d. to 60d., common fence and sheathing per keg, $2.12½@2.15; 8d. and 9d., common do. per keg, $2.40; 6d. and 7d., common per keg, $2.65; 4d. and 5d., common do., per keg, $2.90; 3d. and 4d., light, per keg, $3.65; 3d., fine, per keg, $4.40; 2d., per keg, $4.40. Cut spikes, all sizes, $2.60. Floor casing and box, 75c. above the same sizes of common. Finishing, $1 above and fine finishing $1.25 above.

CLINCH NAILS.

1¾ to 1½in.	2 & 2¼in.	2½ & 2¾ in.	3 in. & longer
$5.00	$4.50	$4.25	$4.00 per keg.

OILS.—There is a seasonable call in a jobbing way, but beyond this the market is without animation and the tone somewhat unsettled, though mainly in buyers' favor. We quote linseed oil, 60@61c. ₱ gallon; lard, 49@51c. for winter; 46@48c. for No. 1, and 40@45c. for No. 2; crude cotton seed, 33@36c., and refined summer yellow, do., 40@42c.

PAINTS.—We find most dealers reporting only a moderate amount of business, indeed the current operations are mainly in a retail sort of way, and it is expected that some little time will elapse before the movement for the new year fairly sets in. It is hoped, however, that a good spring distribution will take place, and many of the trade are very confident their hopes will be realized. Accumulations on hand are moderate, and assortments more or less broken in both domestic and foreign goods, but an improvement in this respect is likely to take place before the wants of buyers develop into anything of magnitude. Prices show few changes of an important character, but may be written steady, as holders of stock, while willing to negotiate on a fair basis, find no necessity for naming concessions.

PITCH.—A moderate careful demand continues and the market shows no variation from the general situation ruling for months past. The supplies are very well in hand, and while cost fluctuates slightly on different sized invoices, the average tone is steady. We quote at $2.00@2.12½ per bbl., for city, delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Demand has been rather light, all around, the season, in a measure, tending to induce a moderate handling of stock by most buyers. Most of the accumulation, however, is under control, and holders firm. We quote at 28@29 cents per gallon, according to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—Orders are not very plenty and confined in the main to the regular run of invoices required for trade wants on early distribution. The supply equals the outlet at the moment and is available on a basis of about former rates. We quote at $2.25@2.50 per bbl. for Newberne and Washington, and $2.37½@2.62½ for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

CONVEYANCES.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or incumbered.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

THE INDEX.

A celebrated Englishman once wrote that the state of trade revolves apparently in an established cycle. First, we find it in a state of quiescence,—next, improvement,—growing confidence, — prosperity,— excitement,—overtrading, —stagnation,—distress,—ending again in quiescence. That we have passed from the state of quiescence into that of improvement and growing confidence, no well-informed person seriously questions, and experience teaches us these states are separated by a narrow boundary from that of prosperity. Obviously, the important factors affecting the situation of the country at large, are, the political repose which the United States now enjoy, a necessary condition of all prosperity; the restoration of the currency of the constitution; the extraordinary balance of trade in favor of the United States coupled with an abundance of all those articles of commerce produced by the nation which contribute to comfort and enjoyment, the aggregate of which is Wealth.

Taking into consideration the causes which directly affect the welfare of the city of New York, the successful accomplishment of rapid transit, the gradual reduction of the city debt and the consequent relief from the burden of taxation under which this city has so long groaned, the contemplated improvement in its terminal facilities, and the mammoth building enterprises which are projected, are naturally suggested.

We are of the firm conviction that the time is rapidly approaching when the grand problem of success in the special interest represented by us may be solved by the employment of two elements, to wit, nerve and sagacity—nerve to act at the seasonable moment, and sagacity to discern when that moment arrives.

To the end that our readers may have all the facts spread before them respecting matters affecting real estate, from which correct conclusions concerning its prospective movements may be deduced, our columns have teemed with copious and trustworthy information; and that the labor of our patrons in ascertaining what matter has been printed may be lightened, the accurate and complete Index to Volume XXII., which is supplied with this issue, has been prepared.

It embraces all the conveyances filed for record during the past six months in the city of New York, including those affecting property in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards; all the conveyances filed with the Register of Kings County; all the mechanics' liens filed during the same period affecting property in the counties of New York and Kings; all buildings which have been projected in such counties, and, lastly, the topics which have been discussed in the editorial columns, together with the notices of important new buildings completed in the city of New York during the past year.

SECOND MORTGAGE.

An instructive decision was recently rendered in one of the courts. The case was one where a trustee had delegated his duties to a subordinate, and the latter had invested the trust funds in a second mortgage. Subsequently, the first mortgage was foreclosed and the property, upon sale, failed to realize the amount of the first encumbrance. The beneficiary of the trust sued the trustee to recover the amount of the second mortgage, which was cut off by the foreclosure of the first. The Court held that the trustee was bound by the acts of his subordinate, and was liable for the amount invested in the second mortgage with the interest thereon, inasmuch as the investment was not a proper or legal one under the trust deed. The Court defined the disqualification of second mortgages as acceptable investments to be the necessity they impose of being able and the likelihood they imply of being compelled to control and take care of the first encumbrance.

This is quite a forcible presentation of the subject of second mortgages. As far as the decision relates to the duties and responsibilities of trustees, it is a case where good law coincides with common sense. It suggests appositely the consideration of the whole subject of trust investments in mortgages. By implication, the decision would seem to sanction the holding of second mortgages, provided the first was controlled by the trust estate; or, in other words, that excessive loans by trustees might meet with the sanction of courts at law.

It is by no means certain that the great fiduciary institutions of this city, which are only vast trust estates, are sufficiently impressed with the necessity of exacting proper and sufficient margins upon their mortgage loans, as some of them are continuing to make loans which represent from two-thirds to three-fourths of the market value of the property mortgaged.

The risk attaching to investments in second mortgages is but little inferior to that which is involved in the ownership of the fee of property, and the risk of excessive first mortgage loans is nearly tantamount to that which qualifies second mortgages. The possibility of complete excision must be regarded as the peculiar and distinguishing peril of these latter securities. Aside from this, the disfavor with which second mortgages are commonly regarded may arise from their position as the sole barrier or breakwater between the forces of shrinkage or revulsion on one hand and the reserved rights of first mortgagees on the other. The well-understood effects of depreciation in real estate values, exclude second mortgages from the category of first or even acceptable class securities, and suggest and justify the exaction of a margin amounting to forty or fifty per cent. of value as a protection for first mortgages. No trustee, whether individual or corporate, can be deemed to have faithfully discharged his duty, who invests trust funds either in second mortgages or in excessive first mortgages.

Second mortgages have always played an important part in the game of real estate speculation. The basis for their utterance is generally a sudden or well sustained inflation or gross exaggeration of values. They serve as the convenient steps whereby speculators may carry values to dizzy and otherwise unattainable altitudes. The existence of a second mortgage is a monitory indication that the capacity for borrowing on first mortgage has been exhausted, because the expense of negotiating a second mortgage is usually so much heavier than that of even a full first mortgage that no owner would voluntarily resort to the former method if his hands were free to avail of the latter.

During the upward and seemingly resistless march of real estate values, which culminated in 1874, a current and active business was carried on in second mortgages. There was a class of capitalists, great and small, who addicted themselves freely to their purchase, and there were brokers who made a specialty of negotiating these instruments, reaping lucrative commissions therefrom. It is characteristic of weak holders and especially so of dishonest and unscrupulous operators in real estate, whether lot speculators or speculative builders, to secure, by the inducement of heavy bonuses, liberal law expenses and generous brokerage fees, large advances upon mortgages on property in which they may be operating. This system of borrowing was carried to such an extent during speculative times that third and fourth mortgages were frequently offered for negotiation, and, strange as it may seem, occasionally found takers at liberal discounts. So deep rooted and wide-spread had become the conviction of the steady progression of real estate values that both capitalists and speculators seemed to agree in the opinion that real estate would bear any amount of encumbrance, by way of mortgage, that might be imposed upon it. This lesson of infatuation, however, has been thoroughly unlearned and overturned. No chapter in the history of real estate speculation is more instructive and more calculated to excite genuine commiseration than the experience of those who advanced good money upon the security of liens subsequent to a first mortgage. The miseries of this class of investors have found little or no expression in the daily records of real estate misfortune for the reason that they have quietly submitted to the elimination of their security and the extinguishment of their capital investment through inability or unwillingness to take in and own the property with which they were involved. These investors have called no public meetings, have made no clamorous outcries, and have discreetly refrained from exhibiting their lacerated bank accounts in the Exchange Salesroom. And yet they constitute a large class of sufferers, by the late shrinkage in real estate values.

The process of their misfortunes may be briefly described. Take a mild instance: Suppose a property was considered to be well worth thirty thousand dollars, in times prior to 1874, and that it was mortgaged for fifteen thousand dollars. Then suppose the owner negotiated a second mortgage of five or ten thousand dollars upon this property and afterwards became embarrassed. The accumulation of taxes and assessments, if any (which are always prior liens and superior to any other encumbrance) together with arrearages of interest, which may have been accruing for a year or more, would swell the claim of the first mortgagee from fifteen to eighteen or twenty thousand dollars. At the foreclosure sale the first mortgagee would naturally bid the property up to the amount of his claim or as nearly so as he cared to go. The second mortgagee would be obliged to outbid the first and to indemnify the latter for the full amount of his claim, before he could make any effort to reimburse himself for the amount he had loaned on second mortgage. We will suppose this property, like many others, to have shrunk 50 per cent. As the first mortgagee's claim is largely in excess of present value, there is no inducement for the second mortgagee to protect the property, and no alternative but to sink the amount of his investment and profit by his experience.

Amounts have been loaned on second mortgage, in times past, ranging all the way from one thousand to one hundred thousand dollars; and it is allowable to suppose that ninety per cent. of these second mortgages have either been extinguished without payment or have involved the holders of them in the ownership of the property so mortgaged with small prospect of realizing their capital investment.

It cannot be denied, however, that there are conditions under which money may be loaned on second mortgage, with comparatively small risk, and as these securities are usually looked upon as savory food by those having a tooth for usury, inasmuch as they are made to yield a return of more than legal interest, it may be worth while to enumerate these conditions:

1ST. LOW AND STABLE VALUES.—If the first mortgage is adjusted to a low standard of values, which are considered permanent, it will be quite easy for an experienced capitalist to determine what amount he can safely lend on second mortgage.

2D. A GOOD BONDSMAN.—The application for loan on second mortgage naturally suggests a suspicion of weakness in the borrower; and this fact should admonish the lender to exercise the closest scrutiny over all the conditions of the transaction. A good bondsman, one free from entanglements and of reasonable financial strength, is the main dependence of the second mortgagee. Weakness in the bondsman compels the lender to look entirely to the property and immeasurably increases the risks of this security.

3D. GOOD PROPERTY.—Second mortgagees, as well as first mortgagees, should always contemplate, in making investments, the possibility of becoming the owners of the properties mortgaged. To make this transaction an agreeable one, it is necessary to lend only on such property as the parties would elect to purchase of their free choice. If the property is really meritorious and productive, the act of foreclosure even of a second mortgage may not be an unbearable hardship. The trouble with investments of this kind is that on a stationary, rising or buoyant market the inducements to enter upon them are well nigh irresistible; whereas, on a falling market, even the most judiciously selected second mortgages may prove entirely worthless, and the loss of the money loaned a preferable alternative to any effort to nurse or carry the property.

Second mortgages on vacant lots, which were once so freely handled, are always injudicious and eminently hazardous. During the present revulsion, probably more losses in this description of security were sustained than ever before in the history of real estate speculation for the simple reason that lot values never before afforded so broad a margin for the inception of second mortgages.

Without commending this class of investment to prudent and discreet capitalists, we are still compelled to recognize and treat of it as one of the instrumentalities of real estate practice. It is eminently speculative in its character, and has this disadvantage over practical ownership, that the latter position affords the opportunity of selling out, or at all events of unloading on the mortgagees, while the lenders on either first or second mortgages have no choice but to accept their fate as complacently and heroically as possible.

In times of active speculation in real estate, shrewd and wary operators look out to protect their own interests as much as possible by piling up excessive mortgages, and thus restricting their cash investments. When the crisis arrives, it is only necessary for them to step down and out, leaving their speculative estates on the hands of the mortgagees, while the speculators exculpate and relieve themselves from obligations as a boudsman through the kind offices of the bankrupt court.

OUR YEARLY MARKET REVIEW.

In the market columns of this issue, will be found our yearly review of the various descriptions of Building Material, with comparisons of prices, statistics of shipments, receipts, etc., and other valuable and interesting information to be obtained in no other journal. Throughout pretty much the entire list, the reports are alike in advising a considerable shrinkage in the distribution to other points but an increase in local consumption. The latter is, no doubt, due in a measure to very low range of prices, to which competition and the necessities of the times have brought material, and, as the cost of production has in the meantime been adjusting itself to the reduced level of return to be obtained on goods, and manufacturers have secured experience, through which to regulate supply to demand, there is a reasonable hope entertained that the present year will not only secure quite as full a volume of business, but also afford a fair margin for legitimate profit, which has in too many instances been lacking during the twelve months just past. Preparations already making are encouraging, on city account, and suburban building operations promise to increase.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The auspicious opening of the new year caused frequent congratulations amongst dealers during the week. Brokers are pleased with the present prospect of renewed activity in real estate, and their probable employment in effecting numerous transactions, while builders and others interested in building movements are cheerful and even buoyant in spirit, on account of the many indications of an increased revival of their particular interest.

At the Exchange Sales-room the event which claimed the attention of real estate dealers during the week was the partition sale of the valuable store property, situated on the northwest corner of Sixth avenue and Fourteenth street, having a frontage of about 103 feet on Sixth avenue, and 100 feet on Fourteenth street. The corner store, known as No. 209 Sixth avenue, was bought by F. G. Wetmore for $52,000; No. 211 was sold to L. J. Tonelle for $33,000; Nos. 213 and 215 were bought by Owen Jones, the drygoods merchant, on Eighth avenue, for $50,050; and No. 217 was bought by F. W. Mitchell for $25,200. M. O. Roberts purchased the four-story brown stone front house, adjoining the above on Fourteenth street, and known as No. 103 West Fourteenth street for $23,000, and Joseph Fox purchased No. 237 East Tenth street for $9,700. It is understood that the result of the sale was satisfactory to the parties interested in the property, and the amount realized therefrom approximated in a great degree to the value placed thereon by the heirs of the estate, under whose instructions the sale was effected.

The foreclosure sales were quite numerous, the details of which are printed below. The Mutual Life appears among the purchasers, having bid in parcels on Tenth avenue, Broadway, and Sixty-ninth street, to satisfy mortgages amounting to about $113,200. Several important private sales are reported. Messrs. Duggin & Crossman have sold to Mr. R. B. Hartshorn, for $40,000, one of their houses (25x63x100), now in course of erection, on West Fifty-first street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues. They have also sold to Mr. Clarence S. Day the house and lot (21x55x75) No. 420 Madison avenue, between Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth streets, for $28,000, and No. 29 East Fifty-fifth street (18x65x100), between Fifth and Sixth avenues, has been bought from them by J. Spencer Turner, for $28,000. It is reported that McManus has also sold two houses at prices which have not yet transpired.

The important sale announced for the coming week is that of the store property, No. 486 Broadway, and the dwelling house and lot, No. 133 West Twenty-first street. Full particulars relating thereto will be found on the second page of our advertising columns.

Since our last issue, the complete and exhaustive report of the Superintendent of the Department of Buildings has been presented to the Mayor. During the year 1878 the number of plans filed in the proper office was 753, embracing 1,672 buildings, the estimated cost of which was $15,219,680, and 1,121 plans for alterations, to cost $2,621,046. In 1877 the number of plans for new buildings was 773, embracing 1,432 buildings, the estimated cost of which was $13,365,114. The number of new buildings commenced during 1878 was 1,367, and the number completed 1,247. The alterations commenced were 1,102, and 1,112 completed. The following table shows the number of buildings erected since 1868, and their estimated cost:

During the week among the plans filed with the Superintendent the following are noteworthy: Smith & Bannen will erect four four-story brown stone flats on Fifty-ninth street, near Madison avenue, and Sylvester Brush will erect, at No. 125 Bowery, a five-story brick store.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

REVIEW OF ALL THE LEADING ARTICLES FOR 1878.

In looking back through our weekly reviews for the past year, we find a very monotonous tone pervading nearly all reports, and an unusual absence of exciting features. Business has moved along from week to week, and from month to month, in a slow, uninteresting form, with prices fluctuating only at rare intervals, and then upon an extremely moderate scale. The consumer has, to a very large extent, been master of the situation, the range of cost averaging below that of the preceding year, in pretty much all cases while the slow, cautious hand-to-mouth policy shown in securing stock was a steady influence to crowd supplies back upon a primary point and the wholesale dealer and manufacturer have as a natural sequence found the burden of carrying upon them. It was too much for many who were laboring under the misfortunes of previous unprofitable seasons and they succumbed, but, all things considered, the general Trade stood up very well, and those who never refused to sell when goods would bring a clear profit, however small, are, in not a few instances, slightly gainers on the year's business. The unsatisfactory condition of affairs complained of by what, in general terms, may be called the selling interest, was throughout the entire year attributed largely to overproduction, and no doubt with considerable reason. A great many manufacturers at the close of last season were strongly impressed with the necessity of turning out goods in modified volume and, upon a careful study of the wants of the market, and no doubt a more universal observance of this policy would have helped matters somewhat. Competition to secure what little trade did exist, however, settled the question and every producer kept bringing forth a supply of greater or less magnitude, in order to "be ready for the market." Yet, after all, it is a question if over production has not been so, only in the sense that consumption has been limited by the enforced economy of the times, and that the most absolute necessity alone forms basis for demand, the attraction of low prices, etc., amounting to nothing with the average buyer.

The form of distribution has differed in several essential particulars from that of last year. In 1877, a very good, full outlet was obtained on domestic shipping orders, but 1878 found that rapidly dying out, and it soon almost entirely disappeared, leaving the consumption mainly dependent upon local wants. These have unquestionably been larger, very much larger in many instances, but the increase was scarcely sufficient to neutralize the loss on other sources. A great deal of cheap work has been done and this, of course, made a place for the common stock, but we think most contractors have, in view of the lighter cost, made an effort to work in just as good material as the job required and the limits of their contracts would allow.

As to the future, there can be very little said just now, as the developments are to a certain extent, ambiguous, with all hands awaiting the adjustment of affairs, natural and usual at this season. It may be stated, however, that of late estimates called for on projected work have, if on market limits, been quite generally accepted, instead of pigeon-holed, as was the case last December, etc., and this of course is promising.

We present this week our usual yearly compilation of statistics to which we have added a few new features during the year in order to complete as near as may be the value of our figures. Many of the comparisons are quite interesting and will pay perusal. Our figures of exports and imports are as perfect as can be obtained and are carefully prepared by ourselves from the weekly reports of the Custom House. Of receipts we are as usual unable to give more than a partial record, but in some cases have been sufficiently successful to make the showing interesting.

The following shows the export movement on leading articles of Building Material during the years named:

BRICKS.—The market for Common Hards has been characterized by a slow form of business throughout the entire year, with occasional periods of almost complete stagnation, a lower average of value and a close limit to the manufacturer. Before the river opened last spring there was a show of business, which was retained after the resumption of navigation and well up to the appearance of new crop, but only upon really fine stock, a considerable offering of off quality, washed lots, &c., meeting with decided neglect, unless offered at an attractive shading on cost. As soon as new brick commenced to show in any quantity the tone weakened, and rates dropped off to a point where $5 became an extreme rate on all except one or two favorite brands; indeed, the above price has not properly been a wholesale quotation since, and the final week of the year found values at about the lowest, with $4.50 ₱ M. difficult to obtain on Haverstraws, and the less attractive makes in proportion. The distribution, it is claimed, was of smaller aggregate than for the preceding year, and while enforced and voluntary reduction in the product has taken place, a counterpoise has been found in the diminished call for supplies from all except local sources. Points which in former years were largely, if not wholly, dependent upon our market for their supplies of brick, and could generally be relied upon as a vent, when the surplus afloat became a little full or uncomfortable, have failed entirely as a source of relief during the past year, no matter how great the temptations in the way of cost offered, the reduction or suspension of demand being the natural sequence of the fact that there was no place to use brick if bought. There has also been a falling off in the export demand. Early in the spring a few more cargoes were sent forward to the Provinces, in completion of old contracts, and one or two additional new ventures made, but the latter did not result in form calculated to induce a further movement and the subsequent foreign operations were confined principally to the usual run of small West India orders. Our local demand has on the contrary shown a very considerable increase and many dealers assert it to be the largest known for at least ten years. The wants of the elevated railways in laying foundations for their columns has continued an important factor in swelling the consumption, but the call for regular building purposes was solid and full and has undoubtedly saved the wholesale market from assuming a more depressed tone than we found occasion to note above. As a matter of course there has been the usual talk about the stoppage of production, holding back of receipts, etc., and all to result through the combination of brick makers. But the brick makers if they ever seriously contemplated making any combined movement to control and deal out the supply were far too sensible of the probable results through past experience to carry out the plan, and so long as they were producing, their policy was to keep supplies in motion toward the consumptive outlet. During the fall and winter, our jobbing dealers had ample opportunity to select cargoes for stock and nearly all accumulated a full amount, very little of which has as yet been broken into, as the open season has kept enough desirable supplies afloat to satisfy the current consumptive demand, the latter gradually falling off toward the end of the year. Pale brick have again found a very good market so far as the sale of stock was concerned, and while the shinkage on cost was in proportion to other grades it was not uncommon to find a much steadier tone on Pale than Hard brick. No one appears to know, or at least no one wants to know exactly where and how this class of stock is consumed, but so long as the quality ran good it found favor with buyers to the extent of the offering. The later arrivals, however, were poor and unattractive, and this materially modified the tone.

Taken altogether, the year closed upon a slow, tame market, with the selling interest very generally disposed to complain over the past and present condition of the business, but underlying all could be found a strain of considerable hope respecting the future. The extension of elevated railroad work upon a large scale has already been decided upon with a positive and early date fixed for its execution, and beside this the preparations making indicate that building operations will keep up to the former average and may increase, while it is believed that out of town sources of demand will be heard from to a more liberal extent as spring approaches. The selling interest therefore naturally looks forward with some degree of confidence respecting business for the incoming year and the tone is all the more healthy from being free of positively buoyant expectations, and merely looking for a good distribution of stock, with a fair hardening on values, and a few dealers are even willing to admit a belief that there will be plenty of brick to last well up to the next crop. Just at present the main supplies at primary points are shut off by the condition of the river and this gives holders here greater advantage, though to what extent is doubtful in the absence of direct demand, or enough positive business to fairly test the position.

Fronts show about the same general features as on other grades, with the exception probably that occasionally some orders for shipment could be secured, which were wanting on the more ordinary stock. On the average range of quotations no very decided alterations were made, but cost was naturally somewhat variable according to quantity handled, the mode and time of delivery, etc., and desirable customers could, as a rule, manage to secure favorable terms. Local consumption has been large and especially have the finer grades done well on this outlet, the Philadelphia's probably selling most liberally on a matter of present cost, but the Baltimores finding increased favor, where extreme beauty of finish and durability of texture are considered, full offsets for the higher range of cost. Some of the finest buildings of late erected or under contract will testify to the superiority of these bricks for all really first-class work:

The productive capacity of the Hudson River manufacturing section has been no greater, probably somewhat less, than last year, if anything, owing to weakness among manufacturers, causing the putting up of blinds and hanging out the sign "to let" in a few cases, but those who remained at work have more than made up deficiencies. We learn from competent and reliable authority that the output of the season of 1878 will reach about 350,000,000, which is an increase of 50,000,000 over the preceeding year. The stock on hand is also somewhat larger than one year ago, and the figures given below are rather under than over the actual amounts. The compilation is made upon the basis of close and careful investigation by parties possessing superior facilities for obtaining the necessary information, and the result is probably as nearly correct as could be reached.

CEMENT.—In all its general features the market for Rosendale has varied but slightly from the condition of affairs prevailing during the previous year. The local consumption has reached quite as full and probably a somewhat larger aggregate, but the business was of that slow, uncertain form so noticeable on all other material, and out of which it was simply impossible for the seller to secure any advantage. Prices, in point of fact, have touched a lower limit than during 1877, and developed less recuperative power, the careful form of demand leading buyers into positive resistance against attempts at advance, and considerable competition between manufacturers also acting as a check to buoyancy. About 75c. per bbl. was the lowest rate at which an open quotation was at any time made, though special contracts are said to have been negotiated on still better terms, and on the other hand certain favorite brands could not be obtained as low as this, the manufacturers securing special demand enough to enable them to exact a premium of 5@10c. per bbl. No special effort was made by dealers here to accumulate a Winter supply, but they have a fair amount on hand and as yet cannot secure much of an advance over the closing wholesale valuations for the year. A considerable amount of this class of stock is used for the foundation work of the Elevated railroads, and in view of the additional sections to be built during the Spring and Summer dealers naturally feel assured of one large consumptive outlet, while there is also every reason to calculate upon a good seasonable business in the ordinary form. During the Fall, and indeed up to within a few weeks the orders for shipment have been free and the amount thus taken out added liberally to the year's business of manufacturers without, however, giving them additional margin for profit, owing to the close competition prevailing. While navigation was open water shipments to the interior were free, subsequently followed by same movement by rail, and the Southern and Eastern distribution was large, with a fair amount for California and about the usual call for export.

The Saylor brand of domestic Portland has continued in growing favor and found a good steady sale during the entire year on the regular trade orders, beside meeting with much success in competing for public contracts, in several cases leaving its foreign rivals greatly in the shade. It is now being tried on some very important Government work and as yet the engineers discover no fault. The price has remained at a uniform range throughout. A comparatively new article has been introduced during the year known as the Carbon Black Cement Mortar, particularly adapted to pressed brick fronts, plastering, and sidewalks. The sale has been fair and the demand on the whole rather tends toward an increase.

Foreign Cement has had a good general market all the year so far as the comparative movement of supplies is concerned, and while the imports show an increase they scarcely indicate the full addition to demand, as several parcels under contract have yet to arrive. Local wants do not require a very large amount of this class of stock in the ordinary run of consumption, but contract work is in many cases awarded only to Foreign, while the interior country demand has been and continues quite as promising as ever, though just now only enough is moved to satisfy imperative wants, owing to the high cost of transportation, and since the close of navigation stocks have accumulated somewhat. Competition has again been vigorous and protracted, with a still further shrinkage made on values all around, and on Portland from $3.00 down to $2.75 a considerable proportion of the wholesale business was transacted, the year closing with the higher rate still extreme except in a jobbing way from store, &c. Special contracts have been made below the inside quotation as above given, but buyers also discovered that while the brands to which they have been accustomed retain their standard of quality others claimed to be quite as good would scarcely stand the test of actual trial, and a low price for stock did not in all cases prove as cheap as a little more money for an article of established character, upon which the manufacturer spared no effort to preserve the standard, and the agents here were in a position to stand out for a fair price on an article of actual merit. There has been some slaughtering of what may be called regular brands, but not of a general character, and while the returns will scarcely give the consigners the gratifying results hoped for, it is said the condition of affairs here is understood and appreciated, and the same qualities will be available through new sources to buyers at fair market values. The fine grades of foreign cement have not found much demand beyond a few small calls from ordinary consumptive sources, and values were to some extent nominal at times. The supply however has been fairly adjusted to the outlet and when sales were consummated they were mainly on the basis of about former rates.

DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS.—Business has moved along in an even sort of way from week to week and month to month, with occasional periods of a little hurry, but seldom reaching a state of positive activity, and manufacturers have experienced no difficulty in keeping up with their orders. Yet the amount of distribution on actual footings reaches a much larger total than the manner in which goods have gone out would seem to indicate, and all the small sales, when added together, give a result quite equal to the preceding year, or a little in excess, if anything. Supplies in the main have been sent out on shipping orders from dependent points in the interior, especially within a moderate radius of the city, where the progress and form of building afforded a good consumption for this class of material, though more sections have produced considerable demand and quite an amount of stock has found sale along the Southern Atlantic Coast. Operations on city account have been very good and could no doubt have been further increased, but it is a trade not anxiously sought after as there has latterly been a tendency to run up too many buildings in that peculiar, speculative manner which throws all the risk and, as a consequence, all the loss which so often occurs, upon those who furnish the material. A significant and cheering feature of the market has been the growth of the export movement, more particularly with Great Britain. About the usual call was made from other sources, but to England the main stream of the export movement tended, and so well assured does this trade appear to be one of our principal manufacturing firms has established a branch house in London, which has already secured a large custom. Prices have very generally run to a lower average than last year under the reduced cost of material, etc., and the necessities of the times, which compel a moderate valuation as the basis of negotiation, but the evidences seem to be that hard pan has about been reached and that some little stiffening up may take place with the commencement of Spring trade. There is a seasonable dull tone just now and not much increase of demand is to be expected for several weeks. By the figures given below it will be noticed that while the business with the English markets has brought up the total exports to an excess over last year, there is a decided falling off in the East India trade. As a possible explanation of this, the following from a foreign journal, and which we published some little time ago, we again make room for. It refers to Sydney, N. S. W.:

The rooms are loftier than in England, and the doors hail from San Francisco, as every mail steamer brings some thousands of them; and the market is so glutted with them, that, at the auctions, where they are sold in lots of about 100, they only fetch about what the material would cost in Sydney, and there is a duty of 2s. per door upon them. Two years ago the lowest price realized at auction was 15s., now it is 7s. We know that in San Francisco every building operative is now working for his bare board; but as this is a state of things that cannot last they will soon desist from sending their doors here to be given away at auctions, when of course it will pay to make them in Sydney.

DRAIN AND SEWER PIPE.—So far as local consumption is concerned, this market does not amount to much, and the distribution during the year has been dependent largely upon the shipping demand. This has been a little irregular and at times quite dull, but occasional fair orders were secured and in the aggregate the business will compare favorably with last season. The "fit of economy" has continued among the powers controlling the affairs of many of the interior towns and villages, distant and nearby, through which public improvements have progressed slowly, and this, to a considerable extent, has had its influence upon the call for sewer pipe, especially of the larger sizes, but many causes now tend to change matters in this respect in some degree, and dealers are hopeful of a better trade during the coming year. Values have been more or less irregular throughout and while there was an effort made to preserve a list line of prices, competition over the opportunities to effect sales has thrown the balance of advantage in favor of the buyer and in various cases cost has been low on all orders of anything like respectable size. It is likely that a revision of lists will be made soon by the principal manufacturers, to conform to about the line at which they have in reality for some time been selling, and the market thereby brought to a steadier and more uniform basis.

FIRE BRICK.—It appears to be a somewhat difficult matter to obtain any detailed information on this market as to the course of affairs during the past year, as dealers are reticent and non-committal. In a general way, however, the inference drawn is that business has not differed materially in form from that shown upon pretty much every article of merchandise referred to in this review. There has been, in the aggregate, a fair amount of sales reached, probably quite as much, if not more, than last year, but the competition to secure all the trade going, and the advantageous position of buyers in consequence, resulted in a low line of values and an extremely narrow margin for profit. Local wants have proven rather light, except on the regular outlets, but occasionally some very good calls have come from out of town sources. The domestic product has satisfied most of the calls, the imports amounting to even a smaller amount than last year, and it is claimed that prejudice alone induces the purchase of any of the foreign article, as our home manufactories can turn out quite as good, if not better, stock. About former figures are quoted nominally, but variations occur, according to size of invoice, terms of payment, delivery, etc.

The movements of Fire Brick, so far as reported, were as follows:

The imports of Tiles reported include 558 pieces and 574 packages. The exports are 319 packages, valued at $2,836 and 3,805 pieces valued at $1,478. In 1877, the exports were 3,282 pieces of Tiling, valued at $2,701, and 109 cases valued at $283. Total value of exports for 1877, $2,984.

There was shipped to San Francisco via clipper during 1878, 6,393 Fire Brick, and 1,549 Tiles.

FOREIGN WOODS.—In all its principal features the general market has proven very similar to that of 1877. On pretty much every line of cabinet wood business was slow, and more or less uncertain as outside of certain special products the manufacture has been materially curtailed through the economy of consumers, who either sought substitutes in the cheaper woods of domestic growth, or managed to get along with a very much smaller quantity of the foreign styles than usual, during more prosperous periods. This not only holds good upon furniture, etc., but will apply to trimmings in house, office and car work. Supplies have been very fair in quantity and assortment during most of the year, and the terms of importers and wholesale dealers by no means exacting, indeed, if anything, the average of cost was rather lower but this seldom proved a temptation to buyers who were not positively in want of stock. Mahogony, in particular, sold slowly until toward the close of the year, when there was noticable an increased amount of interest in really good wood, with holders inclined to the display of greater firmness. Rosewood also quickened somewhat, indeed, found a very good demand for the finer grades with the result natural in a healthier and more uniform tone on values for any thing likely to prove attractive. Lignumvitæ, of say 8 to 10 inches, has found a reasonably good market, but all other sizes quite slow and unsatisfactory in their sale and to the same extent nominal on valuation. Cedar has fluctuated somewhat in price and sold lower than last year, but at no time during the past season was under decided depression and has met with a uniformly free outlet, the demand still continuing good up to the very close and values making a recent fractional advance. The consumption of this class of stock continues almost exclusively for the production of cigar boxes, and with no indication of abatement, as the manufacture of cigars is a growing industry in this locality.

GLASS.—A very irregular, and at times doubtful condition of affairs has prevailed on the general market, but with the gain principally made by the buyer for distribution, and the consumer. At the commencement of the year old lists and discounts were supposed to cover the market rates, and it was not uncommon to find dealers making considerable display of what they termed a steady market and cheering prospects. This, however, very soon disappeared, as it became an open secret that the terms of compact over the list rates and discounts were constanaly being violated, and finally the result was found in the entire breaking up of existing combinations. At once competition set in sharp and decisive, which completely upset all regular market values, and for a long time it was impossible to quote even on a nominal basis, as every dealer, wholesale and jobbing, made his own price and varied it daily, or even hourly, if need be, in order to accommodate the circumstances under which negotiations were pending. Finding, however, that the reduced line of cost did not expand the outlet for supplies in any way, or materially hurry the movements of buyers, the "slaughtering" policy was in a measure abandoned and values recovered from the extreme depression. The rebound, however, was very limited in character and not enough confidence was restored to induce the formation of a new combination, though it is intimated that something of this kind will be accomplished at an early date of the coming year. During the Fall and early Winter months business improved somewhat and the aggregate movement for the year was brought up to fairer proportions. From the variety of conflicting statements upon the subject, it is difficult to determine the relative proportions of domestic and foreign glass contained in the distribution, but it is likely that the home product has made some advance into favor In a recent reported interview, a "prominent merchant" is made to remark: "If a customer wants foreign glass, he must have foreign, he won't touch the domestic articles at any price; and if he wants the home-made, he cannot be induced to buy the foreign." Possibly true, so far as it applies to those who purchase on a basis of habit and prejudice, but hardly applicable to the buyer guided by ordinary business caution, whose natural aim is to get the best return for the smallest expenditure of money, and the result reached is not likely to quibble much over the nationality of the goods he handles. For many purposes imported glass is still a necessity, but our home manufacturers are making a steady improvement in quality and do not fail to find appreciative buyers who are ready to handle the offering at the difference in cost, and abandon the foreign goods Importers say they could more readily and successfully, compete were it not for the existing heavy duty, as the cost of glass abroad has materially declined within the past year or two. Indeed, the complaint over the tariff is general and serious, and the Trade assert that glass is more heavily taxed than any other articles from which revenue is derived. Foreign plates of all kinds have found a fair call, and the domestic plates were also selling reasonably well whenever the market contained a few buyers.

The following shows the imports of Glass at New York during the past two years:

HAIR.—Plasterer's hair does not appear to have had much of wholesale market during the past year, and some of the principal dealers who heretofore have made the production and sale of the article, one of the specialties of their business, have abandoned the matter altogether. Diminished consumption, slow sale and the failure of all attempts to induce buyers to handle anything more than the smallest possible invoice on which holders would negotiate, coupled with scarcely a margin over cost and expenses disgusted the manufacturers generally, and as above noted, caused same to withdraw. On prices there has been much irregularity according to size of an invoice, terms, etc., but of late the tendancy seems to have been to a higher range on all really good stock.

HARDWARE.—The general condition of business in all kinds of domestic hardware has been somewhat irregular even during what were considered the regular seasons, and a great many of the Trade were at times quite given to grumbling. After closely canvassing matters we think there has been no falling away in the aggregate distribution, but if anything, some increase. A portion of last year's attendance of buyers was for a time shut off by the dreadful scourge inflicted upon the South in certain sections, but as an offset to this, every place not under quarantine, appeared to double their orders and merchants who came North to escape the pestilence, generally took back a supply of goods when the stamping out of the fever made it safe for them to return. Other dependent points have not drawn heavily at any one time, but steadily and made a good average, while the comparison of exports, as shown below, speak for itself. Local demand, too, has been good, indeed, active frequently, and has consumed a very full proportion of builder's hardware of all grades, though the average tendency of buyers was again toward the evident economy of handling standard articles of sterling worth instead of more showy but less reliable products. While, as we have above noted, the movement of supplies was larger, the return in dollars and cents to the seller was smaller. In nearly all cases prices have been more or less shaded and frequently the rates reached figures below cost of production, owing to the fierce competition between manufacturers and the breaking up of combinations all around. Very few compacts over prices, indeed, have for any length of time been adhered to, the temptation for making a good sale, by a little cutting under, generally proving quite irresistible. The most decided and protracted irregularity has been shown on wood screws, locks, hinges, cast butts, etc., with the latter still somewhat uncertain, though with the turn of the year there seems to be general sort of inclination to make more strenuous efforts looking to a uniform, and if possible, profitable line of values.

LABOR.—The labor market has been quiet and uneventful throughout the entire year and we find few features worthy of extended notice. The labor employed in the arrangement of the sundry materials, of which an edifice is composed, covers all grades, from the most ignorant to the most intelligent, but the supply has been ample and to spare, and the workmen, very generally, quite willing to accept employment wherever it could be secured. Prices have varied a trifle at times, and, as a rule, were a shade under former years, and employers have endeavored to deal as justly as circumstances would admit, and allow their workmen every fraction they were entitled to, either on a basis of skill or the current rates ruling. Indeed, the relations between employer and employee have proven quite harmonious, and beyond a few small strikes against individual contractors, work has seldom been interrupted except by the elements of nature. The Trade Unions have been unusually circumspect in their manifestoes, as the members fully understand the impotence of the old fashoned club and bluster intimidations, as a means for securing better wages and beyond the insane utterances of a few fernatical communists, there has been none of the farcical claims for "working men's rights," through which, in former seasons, the laws of the State were disregarded and business at times seriously hampered.

The following comparative table of wages per week to different classes of workmen at the periods named, may prove of interest at this time.

LATH.—The lowest price reached during the past year was the same as in 1877, viz: $1.25 per M., but on the average cost the buyer has held much greater advantage. Indeed, after the usual Spring fluctuations, which were smaller and less frequent than in former years, the market took a steady turn downward until it reached the above rate, and did not again make a successful recovery beyond $1.50 per M., dealers getting a great many cargoes at $1.40, even up to and after what was considered the close of the regular season. The receivers and manufacturers have had a fair understanding through which supplies have been so regulated as to prevent any very large accummulations afloat except on one or two occasions, but there has as a rule always been about enough for the requirements of the market, and even with an entire absence of cargoes on spot and limited offerings to arrive, it was rare that buyers could be stimulated into any increased show of interest. The local consumption has been fair, but hardly in the same ratio as other material, as the form of construction of a large number of buildings is now such as to do away with the use of the lath. The shipping demand has also been smaller than last season, and the absence of an opportunity to unload upon other near-by markets, has placed the selling interest at still greater disadvantage, though it has not induced them to attempt carrying stocks to any extent, and we can hear of nothing important piled out under control of first hands. The amount now in yard is claimed to be less than last year, but most dealers seem to think they will get along with what there is on hand, and have not sought to make more than a natural and legitimate addition to cost and offer supplies fairly. There is thought to be favorable indications of a quicker and better trade with early Spring, but not much disposition to carry stocks is shown, as experience has taught, that in the present condition of general business it is better to make sales and secure profits when the chance is offered, than to hold off on the expectation of getting a little better margin at some doubtful future period, no matter how encouraging the prospect may appear. At the moment the demand is moderate and the position to same extent nominal, the year may be considered as having closed with the cargo rate standing at about $1.50 per M. LIME.—On values the turn of this market has followed the common tendency so noticeable on all articles of merchandize during 1878, and reached a lower level. At times, indeed, the depression was quite decided, with actual selling rates on Rockland common standing at 65c@70c. and finishing 80c.@85c., and State reported at 50c. per bbl. "all around." These were simply dead loss prices to the manufacturer, and after a short time some recovery took place, but only of a comparatively moderate character and without positive buoyancy, the season finally closing minus the usual flurry, and prices no better than for weeks preceding. The demand has been of that peculiarly slow and indifferent character so discouraging to sellers, and which in reality frequently gives business the appearance of a much smaller volume than it reaches. Indeed, of the Eastern product the sales to city account have, we understand, been somewhat in excess of last year, and had there prevailed anything in the way of a reasonable margin, manufacturers could have secured a fair result. Dealers here have naturally piled up stock to some extent, but the evidences are that the accumulation on hand is less than last season, and with an average consumption during the winter, the prospects are encouraging for a very good market upon the reopening of the next regular season for dealings in cargoes. State lime has had rather more fluctuations than Eastern, and did not make quite so solid a recovery from the extreme inside rates, especially on the common grades, although for the ordinary run of transactions about the usual difference in cost was quoted. Dealers have frequently reported business as quite active, even to sales ahead of the arrival of stock, and they also advice a distribution about equal to last year in some cases, though the aggregate amount disposed of, in all probability, was smaller, as a reduced number of kilns have been burning, and one or two heretofore dependent points were securing a supply nearer at hand, and of course correspondingly reducing the demand. Unless an unexpectedly full inquiry should arise before the opening of the next season, there is likely to be stock enough for all wants.

LUMBER.—Owing to the impossibility of obtaining anything in the way of reliable statistics of the receipts of lumber through the various sources whence our supply is secured or of the proportions of the stock on hand, there is no data upon which to base a comparison of the movement for 1878 with that of other years. Upon this subject we find dealers greatly at variance in the expression of their views, and experience some difficulty in reconciling all the arguments made, but have after careful consideration formed the opinion that for local consumption there has a larger amount been taken, while the distribution to other points, domestic and foreign, has fallen off. Building operations were of increased magnitude and of a character to require a greater proportion of lumber than in the preceding year, and the manufacturing industries of various kinds, while by no means reaching normal proportions, recovered sufficient vitality to make them valuable additions to the line of consumption. To a considerable extent these features did not develop themselves fully until the annual footing and closing of books for the year commenced, and some of our dealers have been quite agreeably surprised at the aggregates of the number of feet shown, though the dollar and cents columns were less encouraging, owing to the reduced line of cost and the narrow margins upon which it was necessary to work. This, however, is but one more addition to the results reached on pretty much every article known to traffic, and can be traced to an influence which in one form or another pervades the entire boundary of the commercial circle. On the one hand we have the slow indifferent movements of all classes of buyers, who having thoroughly eradicated speculative tendencies, and learned the necessity, as well as the benefits of more cautious policy, have simply called for stock as it could be be used, and refused to believe that anything was cheap if it was not wanted. As this policy found development, back from the consumers through the various grades of operators, the weight of stock to be carried was toward the primary points, though not sufficiently so as to produce any intermediate scarcity on the general run. Among sellers or holders of goods the buoyant speculative feeling appears also to be become pretty thoroughly allayed, and the discovery made that it is very good time to offer what there is for sale when a demand exists, and average market rates can be obtained, instead of standing out for just a fraction more, which so rarely comes. The adjustment of the supply, however, has not, during the past year or so, been so well proportioned as to enable all holders to carry until they could secure negotiation on a profitable or even what might be considered a fair basis, and a constant pressure toward all likely outlets was the result, with an occasional scramble to secure the more desirable orders, the buyer in the meant me complacently awaiting the additional benefits naturally secured to him by this state of affairs. However, matters were not so bad but that they might have been worse, and with supply and demand generally getting to a legitimate balance, the lumber trade is probably as well prepared as any to step into line and partake of the benefits of the era of prosperity toward which the business of the entire country is thought to be tending.

Local wants have taken about an ordinary assortment for building purposes, though course stuff had preference for many sizes of work, and was at times quite firm in price. Manufacturers have been very good buyers, especially of many kinds of hardwoods, which they have learned from experience of a somewhat costly character, can be obtained here in prices as wanted on as good, if not better, terms than bringing supplies direct from the interior. On the export trade there is disappointment both as to quantity and the margin for profit. The falling off has been a surprise, and we hear no positive opinions as yet expressed, but the limited line of profit is easily accounted for by the sharp competition and the consequent steady shading on cost to secure customers. No failures of any great importance have taken place, but some few are recorded and made a very poor showing for the creditors.

The accumulation here is not very large, but generally considered as likely to prove quite ample for all wants at present known. Indeed a really new feature for the year may be noted in the fact that a scant supply is seldom among the arguments of sellers, but over-production has been frequently complained of, and even the Western and Provincial lumber journals cry out against the prospect of what is to come in view of the successful winter thus far for work in the woods, and the system of summer logging, which tends to overcome many previously existing checks to a supply of logs.

The Deal trade has not offered many inducements, and shipments through from the West were only ten cargoes, two of which passed through this port. The business, however, is being carefully nurtured and watched on a belief that it can eventually be made an established and profitable matter. Of the various products of wood a large amount has been shipped from this port, a considerable detail of the movement appearing in our table of exports given below. A good proportion of these wares find competition in the European products but hold their own where shippers have used ordinary care in making a selection.

Annexed to this report we give tables of receipts for all the lumber of which any report has been made, and while their manifest imperfections renders them useless as a guide, they reveal some features of interest. The record of yellow pine receipts we think to be nearly perfect, and shows a large increase over last year. The exports are carefully compiled and somewhat more elaborate than last year, with the figures reliable. The footing of lumber shows an increase in feet over 1877, but this is only a nominal growth, and is the result of a judicious arrangement at the Custom House, which requires the reporting upon the manifests of a small parcels of lumber "taken to fill," of ceiling boards, dunnage, &c., and which have heretofore been omitted. A glance at the apparent growth in the outward movement to Europe will show to what important dimensions these little bits grow, though they have probably been as much, if not greater, in former years, and therefore must not be credited with increasing the exports for 1878.

Eastern spruce, at the close of the season for 1877, had a surface appearance of much strength and many of the receivers expressed themselves quite confidently over what they considered the favorable outlook. The year now under review, however, has proven a disappointing one to the selling interest, so far as prices were concerned, at least, and if any margin for profit was secured it could only have been of extremely limited proportions. A considerable amount of care has been exercised in sending supplies forward, and at no time have the offerings been of extraordinary magnitude, while the amount taken for city use (including Brooklyn, of course), was quite as full and no doubt larger than during the previous year, but right here the outlet ceased, and to this receivers attribute a large portion of the difficulties which have prevented them from handling supplies at satisfactory figures. In former seasons it has rarely been difficult to secure customers from the dozens of different smaller cities and towns in comparatively close proximity to this market, by simply offering moderate favors, but since January last there appears to have been no open demand whatever from any of these suburban sources, nor could any be attracted by unusually liberal additions to the ordinary temptations offered. Deprived of this vent therefore, sellers became dependent upon the local trade almost entirely, an advantage to buyers which the latter were not slow to discover and profit by, and they have kept the average cost lower considerably than last season. About $10 00 per M was the lowest figure reached, but some very good randoms sold at $11.00 under a temporary extra depression, though from these figures there has naturally been slow recovery since winter set in, and just now matters are nominally steady. As noted above there has unquestionably been more spruce sold to the local trade than in 1877, but the form of the demand was slow and indifferent, buyers taking their most convenient time for handling supplies, and it required only a very few cargoes to form a surplus, while there was also in some instances so sharp a competition between dealers that purchases could be made from second hands below the ruling cost altogether. Most of the evils resulting from the condition of the market have of course fallen upon the manufacturer, and, we understand, with serious effect among some of the smaller ones, but those who have weathered through, while expressing none of the extravagant and even ridiculous views with which, in former years, they were wont to garnish their predictions for the future, are evidently hopeful that the worst has passed, and that the incoming year must adjust affairs into more healthy form. Rampant, speculative tendencies appear to have disappeared, demand assumes a more natural and legitimate complexion, and the necessities of the situation have adjusted the cost of production in its various forms, to the diminished return for the product, and with no new source of depression the chances for the seller are considered more promising. The preparations made for getting out logs and the facilities afforded by nature thus far are favorable for a good crop, and while there is a possibility that the cut may exceed requirements, the experiences lately passed through are likely to make loggers close calculators on this point. Upon this subject an Eastern journal of recent date remarks, regarding the Maine crop of logs:

We are having a very mild Winter, though cold enough for the lumbermen. The swamps are well frozen and plenty of snow. It looks now very favorable for a good supply of lumber for the next season and at low prices. I am told by one of our old lumbermen that there has been no time within the last forty years where lumber could be laid down at as low prices as this winter. All supplies are at half prices and less, and men have been engaged within a few days at five dollars per month to go in to the woods, and at that price the supply exceeds the demand. Business here is very dull and money scarce.

White Pine has had a slightly variable tone throughout the greater portion of the open season, and while an assumption of cheerfulness was not uncommon among dealers, with an occasional flight of fancy carrying them into a more roseate expression of views, the final results are not as brilliant as might have been expected. Indeed, now that the year is over and the footings made, the hard facts presented compel the admission of feeling of disappointment, not over the losses, for nearly all the principal dealers have managed to squeeze out some profit, but rather over the showing that the trouble and bother attendant upon the placing of supplies have led to over estimates of the amounts handled, and brought such a comparatively small return. So far as satisfying local wants is concerned, there is in reality no established wholesale market here. The larger manufacturers, box-makers, etc., have for some years past, gone direct to the interior sources of supply and secured the bulk of the lumber required to meet their wants, while the principal retailers either followed the same course or have drawn upon the product of their own mills established at primary points. Upon the latter portion of the trade, some of our small city operators are in a measure dependent in cases of emergency, but this is no form of business calculated to shape the market. In view of so many direct receipts by consumers, it is difficult to determine a comparison of city business with the previous season; but the general indications favor the belief in a considerable increase, especially in the way of box-boards, owing to the large amounts of merchandize of various kinds moved. The export movement, however, is very clear as shown by the weekly returns furnished through the Custom House, and these reveal a falling off. About all the white pine goes to South America or the West Indies, and to these points the shipments in 1878, in round numbers, were 37,200,000 feet, against 44,000,000 feet in 1877. Herein, to a great extent, is to be found the disappointment referred to above. Competition over the foreign trade has been unusually sharp and protracted; cut after cut has taken place on prices until at times it seemed as though buyers had things their own way, and while fortuitous circumstance enabled sellers to secure supplies at a cost which lets them out who'er or even with a margin for small profit, the result can hardly be considered an equivalent for the labor expended and the capital necessarily invested. We find, however, of late, some tendency to harmonise discordant elements and to commence the new year upon a basis likely to prove more satisfactory and remunerative to all interested, with fair promises of an addition to the orders, especially from South America. Stocks on hand are, if anything, somewhat larger than calculated upon, but neither excessive or burdensome to holders, and are carried on a steady line of valuation, though available to really fair bids. Future supplies in quantity to satisfy all, likely call, seem to be fully assured by the accounts from the woods, indeed, seller as well as buyer, agrees that there is no doubt of plenty of lumber to come forward this season, and the absence of "short crop" prophets is really a feature of the market this year.

Yellow or Pitch Pine does not appear to have proven a very remunerative article of merchandise to the majority of those who have handled it during the past year, and we find quite a general expression of dissatisfaction prevailing throughout the market. On a portion of the cargoes sold for shipment direct from primary points to the West Indies and South America, some little line of profit was secured, but beyond this the verdict seems to be that no one came out better than "even," and to a considerable extent losses must have been incurred. The English market has proven a very unpropitious one to those who have ventured to test it, both as to absorbing capacity and ability to offer a price in fair accord with the cost of supplies seeking sale, and shippers too late regret their failure to heed the warnings from authoritative sources, against any but moderate and carefully selected consignments. Even as long ago as the fall and early winter of 1877, we published extracts from the Timber Trade's Journal foreshadowing the condition of affairs, since fully realized, and the want of faith in the predictions then made has been costly to a portion of the trade. There does not as yet appear to be much basis for confidence in the recuperative power of the foreign market, though occasionally are to be heard expressions of belief that the worst has gone by. In common with other grades of lumber, Yellow Pine has found a larger local market than in 1877, indeed, the increase is probably the greatest on this grade, owing to an unusual source of consumption, temporary in its character, but liberal while it lasts, in the way of ties and track beams for the elevated railroads. It is, however, extremely doubtful if money has been made on contracts for delivery to this outlet, as in the first place figuring on price was down to a point at which it appeared almost impossible for the seller to secure a margin, and the terms over quality and cut were, in the second place, so very exacting, as to result in constant rejections from even many cargoes upon which the utmost exertions had been expended in the effort to make them conform to the strict letter of agreement. This was not only discouraging, but most decidedly unprofitable, as the stuff thus thrown out had no natural market and could only be forced at a positive slaughter. On the call for regular lines of consumption, city orders have proven of reasonably full proportions, and there has also been a fair amount of sales to points on the "river" and along the coast where distribution is ordinarily made, but over all these competition was continuously sharp and fierce, resulting in serious depression on prices, and at times, as a dealer remarked, "business appeared to have all gone to pieces." The dreadful calamity of disease which swept over a portion of the South during the summer, naturally created the fear that the area of epidemic would become larger, and, with difficulty experienced in finding crews to take vessels on the Southern trip, freights advanced and the asking price on lumber went up also. Upon this, however, buyers withdrew, and the fever failing to reach the Atlantic seaboard, communication with the mills became more certain and cheaper, and values went back again, with a gradual recovery on demand following. As to the immediate future of prices, we find a general disinclination to venture upon any expression except of belief that the lowest has been touched, but the promises for a continued good movement of stock are considered fair, as the extensions of the elevated roads will prove a large source of consumption, and for many kinds of building purposes, this class of wood has now almost a clear field.

Hardwoods have, on the whole, had a very good market; indeed, taking the season through, it is probable that business in this class of lumber was in better form than for any other style offering. Prices were lower than during the preceding year, but a corresponding shading having been obtained at primary points, and somewhat more favorable transportation contracts secured, the seller found it possible to realize, what for the times, was a fair margin, and it is more than likely that some little money has been made. The discouragements which induced a number of the larger dealers to quit the trade last season, and the remembrance of which has made them too cautious to take hold again, has also in a measure proven a beneficial feature to those remaining, as competition was reduced, and "cutting under" on prices to secure customers the exception rather than the rule. Since the close of inland navigation, and the consequent necessity for depending solely upon railroad facilities in the movement of supplies from the West, etc., prices have strengthened here and on the most desirable accumulations holders are looking for extreme rates. On home account the distribution has taken the form common on pretty much all articles of merchandize, and supplies went out only in small parcels as wanted for early consumption, but buyers have returned frequently after fresh invoices, and in the aggregate a pretty full amount of business was reached, and of a character to cover pretty much all the leading styles. In its various forms the manufacturing industry has reached larger proportions, and for house, office and car trimmings the domestic wood has in a great number of cases superseded the more expensive foreign styles, at a gain in the point of economy, and no sacrifice, so far as can be discovered, of either beauty or durability. The export movement has been a satisfactory one both as to volume and profit, and including a general assortment of Oak, Ash, Hickory, Cherry, Maple and Walnut, the two latter probably the most extensively handled, with the shipments made in the main to English and the principal continental ports. A portion of the out-going parcels have passed through direct from primary points, but a good proportion of sales were made from dealers stocks in this city. In the tabular state ment of exports appended to our lumber report, we give in detail the value of the various kinds of hard woods as found in, and carefully compiled from the weekly statements of the Custom House, but through conversations, had with various dealers, we feel confident that for most kinds of wood the showing is very much short of the actual amount sent out. This is not the fault of the government officers, as we have personal knowledge of their careful efforts to secure a reliable record both as to amount and detail, but appears to be traceable to carelessness or design on the part of shippers. The clearance papers are made out in a great many cases for "feet," "pieces," "logs" and "packages" of simple "wood," and from necessity these are placed under one general heading, of "wood unclassified," but, no doubt, including a large proportion of hard woods. There is reason to believe that a "pretty good thing" exists in a portion of the export trade, and interested dealers take this method of covering up the extent of the movement.

Shingles do not have a very extensive market at this point, but a few fair outlets are offered, and the volume of business during 1878 has been somewhat in excess of the year before. On home account the distribution was made on orders from points along the Hudson, in New Jersey, Long Island and the nearby Eastern States, and, while rarely for amounts larger than required for immediate consumption, has, in the aggregate, reached a satisfactory footing. Export clearances were, as a rule, of moderate size, but the end of the year shows that there has been an increased movement on this trade also. Prices have been lower and pretty easy all the year, and close without special tendency to recovery, though it is not likely that further positive concessions could be secured. Supplies on hand are fair in both quantity and assortment.

Eastern Pilling has not found much of a market. There was a considerable amount carried over last year, the demand was slow and uncertain from the outset and fewer cargoes were ordered forward. On prices there has been a range of 3½c.@5c. per running foot according to size of stick; but since the close of navigation the tone became stronger and holders ask nearer outside figures. There is a pretty good amount of stock to carry through the winter, but it appears to be in very good hands.

Retail distribution of lumber from yard has, no doubt, been somewhat in excess of last year, but it has been made without any excitement or even display of animation. On the contrary, in fact, business generally presented rather a dull tone, and the majority of dealers have inclined to speak of operations as showing rather a peddling sort of character. This steady "peddling," however, from day to day and from week to week, has finally taken out a comparatively full amount of stock, and its very form has to a great many sellers proven beneficial, as small orders were mostly for cash, and this was of course better than exchanging lumber for paper, which, in too many cases, to put it mildly, would have been doubtful. There has been a great many more buyers willing to operate than have obtained supplies, simply because their collaterals were not deemed sufficiently attractive by dealers, the majority of whom have learned through experience the necessity for close discrimination, and this caution no doubt places the Trade, as a body, in better position than one year ago. The form of demand has not differed much from the usual line so far as selection was concerned, the tendency of consumers still being to use as much cheap stuff as could consistently be worked into the contracts and jobs on hand, though latterly a few builders gave evidence of rather better views. The bulk of the supplies were for city use, but during the fall and early winter months, some of our principal dealers were gratified by the receipt of some very good orders from nearby points in the interior, and from whence they have secured nothing in this line for several seasons past. Prices have ruled lower all around, with the usual irregularity among sellers prevailing, and a certain class of stuff might have a half dozen different values according to size of invoice, location of yard point for delivery, terms of payment, etc., etc. Since the close of navigation, however, the tone has been steadier, as the stocks on hand are not large and there is no pressure to sell.

METALS.—The year opened with a prevailing hope of better markets for all leading descriptions of both domestic and foreign metals, but expectations have been disappointed as to the volume of business and improvement in values, with producers and importers suffering severely in some cases under the limited margins or entire absence of margins. Upward turns have occasionally occurred, but never of any great magnitude and seldom held for a protracted period, as the production and general offering could not be kept under sufficient control, and the financial condition of holders made them quick to seize upon favorable opportunities for disposing of their goods. Demand has been conducted in a slow, cautious form, and from whatever source it came, bore every evidence of the closest possible calculation to the current wants of the moment, and a determination among consumers to do as little in the way of carrying stocks as the circumstances of the case would admit. There has been a great deal said about proposed shutting down on production and stoppage of importation, but this was not carried to any serious point, as all calls have been satisfied, and the average accumulation and assortment on hand are equal to the likely wants of the market, unless business assumes a much better form than can from present appearances be expected. On manufactured articles the control of combinations has proven altogether ineffectual, and while a certain line of "list" rates were quoted, no buyer with ordinary acumen found it necessary to submit. Reference was made in our last yearly report to the increased favor shown the American product, not only on account of its lower cost, but through knowledge gained on actual trial of merit not supposed to exist, and this still holds good, though, as a matter of course, certain lines of foreign goods, especially tin, are without serious competition from the domestic article.

NAILS.—At the close of last year manufacturers had held a meeting and passed one of the usual "resolutions," under which production was to be reduced, prices adhered to etc., etc., and that is simply all it amounted to. From the very opening of business in January, the signs of old weakness manifested themselves, and steadily increased, with cost dropping off at various times, until from $2.40 per keg for 10d to 60d there was an admitted shrinkage to $2.15, though this was only a jobbing rate, and large orders were negotiable at lea t 2½@5c. per keg less. On this basis, however, neutral ground appeared to have been reached, and both buyers and sellers afterward held the position about steady, the small fractional differences over various sized invoices—pretty much all jobbing—not being considered a positive fluctuation. The amount of business done is somewhat doubtful. The exports show quite an increase, but dealers differ over the home operations. Taking all statements, however, the majority appears to favor the idea that quite as large an amount has been distributed as last year and probably more, as the slow but steady movement is deceiving as to the volume, and reaches a larger aggregate than would be supposed. The local consumption has certainly been larger.

OILS.—Wholesale operators have indulged in few speculative movements with the natural sequence to be found in fluctuating values, but there was nothing remarkably heavy accomplished and no general disturbing element introduced. Indeed, after some little settling off early in the year, prices appear to have reached nearly or quite bed rock, and while the caution of buyers prevented material improvement, a uniform tone was preserved and a good, full amount of stock distributed. On Linseed Oil, crushers have again complained of a narrow margin for profit, and especially on the finer grades, for while these are unquestionably appreciated and have sold to buyers who understand that a good article is always cheapest in the end, a great many have simply looked at bare cost and taken the lowest they could find. This was too often a matter of necessity in order to secure a saving margin on contracts over which fierce competitions forced estimates down to the lowest possible notch, and work had to be completed with inferior material.

PAINTS.—Very generally, dealers, both wholesale and jobbing have adhered to the policy adopted in 1877, and kept supplies in motion whenever opportunity offered. Demand at no time was really active, but in steady way kept up to a fair aggregate, and this with the disposition of sellers above referred to resulted in a pretty good business. About the average run of export orders have been filled, and on home account the distribution was of a sufficiently general character to reach all ordinary points. The local consumption was larger for the regular uses, and considerably swollen during the early portion of the year by the amounts used on the Elevated railways, frame works, etc. The desire to secure customers has naturally generated a strong feeling of competition, and this in turn worked favorably for the interests of buyers who gained all the concessions possible, and frequently even to the extent of inflicting loss upon the seller. Combinations have been tried, but rarely succeeded for any length of time, and once cutting commenced it generally ran into a positive sweep, which broke up regularity on values. Very little in the way of speculation occurred, most of the demand having the basis of early and positive wants, and buyers have preferred operating frequently to handling more stock at any one time than could be turned over to immediate advantage. A scarcity of supplies in some instances occurred, though importers and manufacturers generally managed to make good deficiencies at an early date. Considerable attention and growing consumption has been secured during the past year for a comparatively new article known as Silicate Enamel Paints. The base of this product is found in a peculiar and unique quality of silica, almost pure in its primary condition, and which after being washed, calcined and reduced to a powder finds use in many ways. The paints, however, peculiarly reccommend themselves to those interested in building matters, and painters of experience who have tried them at once became endorsers of their merits. They possess great body and it is claimed far more covering capacity than any other paint in use; have never known to fade, discolor, or tarnish even under the action of sulphuretted, hydrogen gas; they do no chalk or crack off, are nonpoisonous and non-porous, and have no chemical action upon metal. Their use also does away with the necessity for varnish, and correspondingly reduces expense, while their durability has yet to be ascertained as the number of years they have been in use in England brings no signs of deterioration. Another product from this silica deposit is the Petrifying Liquid, which is useful in many ways. For checking the decay of stone and curing the evil of green and damp walls it is said to be absolutely certain. When first applied it is absorbed into the walls with great rapidity, but within a few hours the water used in mixing the silicate, evaporates, petrifaction sets in and soon the wall becomes coated with a covering impervious as stone, and presenting a surface which can be washed with water or even acids, and receive no injury. It can be applied safely and properly by the most ordinary workman. The liquid is itself transparent, but is also mixed with non-poisonous coloring matter, and used for painting the exterior of buildings as well as a substitute for whitewash and kalsomine on interior work.

PLASTER PARIS.—For lump plaster there has not been any regular market, and not much necessity for it, as the greater portion of the importation came direct to burners, and the few calls for cargoes were from out of town sources. Points "up the river" required some stock, and the Southern buyers have also been represented, though a portion of the latter, it is understood, have been operating direct with the primary point. The receipts do not vary greatly in quantity from last year, and there is a fair accumulation left over against the necessities of winter work. Values have ranged from $2.70 up to $3.00 per ton, but rarely exceeded $2.80@2.85 when actual sales were closed. On calcined plaster there has been considerable irregularity, throughout the entire year, but with a very general tendency toward a low range of prices, and buyers have had even greater advantages than during 1877. The necessities of times, as a matter of course, compelled a reduction on cost proportionate to the shrinkage on other lines of material, but in addition to this there has continued a fierce and bitter competition between private concerns, which has kept prices under a constant cut, and left all hands, including producers in no way party to the contest, with a very narrow margin, and frequently none at all. It is difficult to say exactly how low prices did go, but we have had manufacturers admit sales at 75c., and claim that $1.00 per bbl. would buy the best of stock, though the more general line of quotations has ranged to a higher point. The manufacture of calcined plaster certainly has not offered inducements for fresh investment, and a portion of those engaged claim that unless matters soon improve it will be necessary to shut up some of the mills. As an exception to the general rule, however, we find one or two of our largest makers who, while admitting most of the adverse circumstances above enumerated, assert that matters are not so bad, but that they might have been worse, and by keeping stocks moving whenever a fair opportunity offered, and especially when the least profit was shown, have managed to run up a good aggregate of business and secure a small balance on the favorable side of the ledger. On the distribution, the export movement will compare favorably with last year, while the call from the interior has, if anything, been larger and of more positive character, to an extent sometimes pushing the mills to full capacity. Local calls for stock in the ordinary form have been moderate and slow, but a considerable consumption has taken place for non-conducting, block or tile for partitions, floor arches, ceilings, etc., in fire-proof buildings.

PITCH.—This has been a slow, somewhat dragging and by no means satisfactory market. At times, values ranged very low, and seldom were to be found at a point paying a good fair profit, and all tendencies toward an advance on cost had the effect to materially curtail demand. Sellers, however, have rarely refused to part with their supplies when a clear margin could be obtained, and this has kept the offering fairly in motion. The supply carried over will not be large.

SLATE.—On domestic account the market for roofing slate has been in a slow and unsatisfactory condition throughout pretty much the entire year. Some few fair-sized contracts were obtained and occasional shipments of moderate magnitude to interior points were made possible, mostly of course directly from the quarries, while near-by consumption proved very good at times, but local calls have amounted to little in a general way and afforded no margin for profit. Quarrymen and their agents have at all times been ready with an ample supply and assortment and easy terms, but could offer no attractions to buyers not absolutely in want of stock. For large work in the way of mantels, billiard table beds, etc., the amount taken out was if anything smaller than last year, but prices are said to have been better maintained. The introduction of slate for general building purposes in the way of sills, lintels, steps, platforms, etc., has been quite successful, the business making a decided gain and this class of stock taking the place of blue stone in a great many cases, and especially in some of the larger fire-proof buildings. The consumption of slate for mantels continues to increase also, and the latter have already commenced to find an outlet on foreign orders.

The export business has fallen off materially, but still has managed to keep up to pretty good proportions when it is considered that a few years ago it amounted to nothing beyond an occasional shipment to the East Indies. Now the main outlet is Great Britain, where the American product has come in successful competition with Welsh slate, but the severe financial depression, current in the country named, has greatly retarded demand for both its home production and the imported article, and shippers suffer in consequence. Especially is this discouraging when exports are carried out at a shading of at least 30 per cent on cost of material and some reduction on freight charges as compared with last year. It is believed that were trade in any way brisk abroad the export movement might be extended and made profitable, but as matters stand, about the only beneficial results obtained by the shipments is the prompt cash received by the quarrymen. In addition to the shipments from this port, considerable Pennsylvania slate has found an outlet through Philadelphia. The workmen employed in the quarries, are of a class peculiarly given to "strike" the moment they have an idea that employers are getting the least chance for profit, but the past year evidently understood and appreciated the situation, and have refrained from anything, except an occasional grumble. We make room for the following extract from an article on the depression in the foreign slate trade recently published in the British Architect:

If we inquire into the causes of the stagnation in the slate trade, the first answer presents itself in the uncertainty there was through more than half the year whether or no we should drift into war with Russia. Consequent upon this uncertainty the shipping trade in slates to the Baltic ports, a very important one, was stopped. To a less extent the same cause affected the export of slates, both coastwise and to foreign ports. Then it must be remembered that trade is bad everywhere, and that less building has been in progress and fewer improvements have been carried out all over the world than for years past. America has suffered severely, hence fewer slates have been sent to that country. Even the few slates made in that country, which, in ordinary times, would only be a fraction of what is required there, have been sent over here to lie as a drug on our own markets. The same dulness of trade and lack of enterprise which has been fostered by the uncertainty of war has also affected the European markets.

The following is a detailed statement of the export of Roofing Slate for the past year:

STONE.—The consumption of Building Stone has been about in proportion to that of other material and the demand in very much the same form. Buyers move in a careful and to a considerable extent an indifferent form, and when a contract was to be given out it was presented in such manner as to compel keen competition and the closest kind of figuring in order to insure the seller any chance of success. This of course has kept margins extremely low, and left but a small margin for profit, especially on some styles of the domestic product where it was not always possible to secure a fair adjustment of transportation charges. The quarries, however, have been carefully worked, and by keeping expenses down in various ways the producers and their agents, as a rule, have managed to come through the season in about as good shape as the average producer on other articles, and seem to entertain a common feeling of hope respecting the future. A tendency to brick fronts in some of the larger structures may have cut off sales of stone to some extent, but the aggregate business probably amounts to quite as much as last season. It could have been increased to considerable larger proportions, but the most anxious buyers as a rule have been those who were unable to offer acceptable security, and their wants were in consequence very seldom satisfied.

For blue stone there has been a very good demand and some of the leading producers tell us they have done quite as much if not more business than last year on the aggregate distribution to all points. General country distribution was good with shipments to the extreme western limit of this State, and more or less stock again sent into Canada. The hopes of establishing a trade with the Western States have not been realized, but are still entertained. Considerable amounts have found an outlet along the Southern Atlantic coast, and the Gulf ports early in the season promised to become good customers, but were suddenly shut off by the terrible scourge of yellow fever, and have not since been heard from except in a very small way, though they are known to want stock and may commence to send orders soon. For export there has been little done except in the fulfilment of old contracts. The local movement has been very good in quantity and quite general in form, and so far as the aggregate distribution went seems to be considered satisfactory. Over the settlements, however, we again hear complaints, loud and vigorous. Sellers claim that after having figured everything down to the lowest possible notch, buyers would then take hold, but in too many cases when the time for settlement came around, failures, assignments, etc., were the only source through which satisfaction could be obtained in any way and frequently it was a very bad way. For a great many building purposes slate now supersedes blue stone and seems likely to become a greater competitor. On prices the general average has been low and the tone unsettled, with price lists affording only a nominal basis, as a buyer with cash in hand, had matters pretty much his own way, while on time customers it was simply a matter of how much could be squeezed out of them with a forced submission as the only means for securing stock.

Of Foundation or Base stone, nearly all of which comes from the quarries of bastard granite on this island, the general distribution has been first rate and promises to continue. A great deal of "digging out" is going on in the upper portion of the city limits, especially, and this promises well

The following shows the imports of stone as reported by the Custom House during the past two years:

Pieces	23,900	10,597

There was shipped to San Francisco via Clipper ship 2,351 pieces Marble, and 1,741 flag stones.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—There has been a material reduction in the tendency to speculative operations during the greater portion of the year. Where once or twice the stocks have come together in pretty close concentration the advantage to sellers did not extend beyond meeting the orders at that time in hand either on home or foreign account, and the little advances naturally made on these occasions generally had the influence to draw additional arrivals from the South. Indeed, business has been almost entirely of a regular, legitimate character, with buyers operating for known wants, but refusing to anticipate. Prices have averaged lower throughout, and close without indications of probable early recovery.

TAR.—Few features of special import have developed on this market. Demand has come from about the ordinary sources and in the usual form, with a point of actual activity rarely reached, though occasionally dealers secured some very good orders. Supplies for a considerable period were quite moderate, and this gave the position good, strong support, but afterward the offering more than balanced the outlet, and there was a slight shading. All prices, however, have averaged below last year, and close without many indications of early positive recovery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

THE VANDERBILT PURCHASES.

The lethargy into which real estate circles had voluntarily fallen during the holiday season, when the minds of the whole community are absorbed in matters other than those of a material character, the intelligence came booming along, like a succession of artillery shots, that Mr. Vanderbilt, having forsaken for a while the pastime of the stock market and the engrossment of railroad affairs, had made liberal and extensive investments in what is esteemed to be the choicest real estate on the island. The first whisper of this news found many incredulous hearers. The improbability of such transactions seemed patent in view of Mr. Vanderbilt's avowed repugnance to promiscuous real estate investments, and owing to the fact that besides being already established in a palatial residence on Fifth avenue, all his married children are provided with sumptuous establishments in proximity to the paternal mansion. By this time the public are well aware of the nature and extent of these purchases. As reliably as we can trace the stories the facts seem to be as follows:

That Mr. William H. Vanderbilt has purchased from Mrs. Judge Schley, legatee of the Henry Keep estate, the twelve lots of land forming the the face on the westerly side of Fifth avenue between Fifty-first and Fifty-second streets, having a depth on each of those streets of one hundred and fifty feet. The price paid for this plot is credibly stated to be $500,000. It is reported that Mrs. Schley was offered six years ago $800,000 for this same parcel. This shows a decline of between 35 and 40 per cent. of value.

On the northwest corner of Fifty-second street and Fifth avenue Mr. William K. Vanderbilt is said to have purchased a plot of land having a front of one hundred feet on the avenue, and of one hundred and twenty-five feet on the street. The price paid for these five lots is said to have been $200,000. The former owners, the Willett and Steven's estate, were offered, in 1872, the sum of $700,000 for the fourteen lots of which the portion sold to Mr. Vanderbilt is less than a half. At the rate of value just established these fourteen lots would be worth $480,000, showing a ratio of decline about equal to that in the former case. Parenthetically, we would observe that the depreciation of the plot situated on the northwest corner of Forty-ninth street and Fifth avenue, as established by its recent sale, was also in a ratio somewhere between 35 and 40 per cent. from the price previously paid for it These figures indicate the full measure of depreciation from the highest point of inflation which has taken place in choice Fifth avenue lots.

Furthermore, Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt is said to have purchased the northwest corner of Fifty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, comprising a frontage of forty-eight feet on the avenue, by one hundred feet in depth on the street together with two first-class dwellings now erected on the lots, and a stable and full lot on the rear of the property in Fifty-seventh street. For these properties the magnificent sum of $335,000 is said to have been paid which would indicate that improved property on Fifth avenue, especially of modern type, has held its own better than the unimproved. It is said to be Mr. Vanderbilt's design to essentially alter and reconstruct these two residences, and to incorporate them under one facade so as to make of the two a single mansion.

It is also rumored that Mr. William K. Vanderbilt intends to erect his private residence on the Fifty-second street corner, while Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt expects to erect other family residences on the Keep property.

If these lots had been purchased merely for speculative investment some perplexing problems suggest themselves. But as they have been purchased for immediate improvement, the project simplifies itself very much, and presents the case of very wealthy parties who have chosen to suit themselves in the location of family abodes being both able and willing to pay the prices demanded for special building sites. What the Vanderbilts may do in the gratification of luxurious tastes, few if any others in the community might be willing or able to attempt. Consequently these transactions become purely private and personal affairs, with which the public has no occasion to concern itself, except so far as Mr. Vanderbilt may be regarded as a public character, constituting an important and mighty integer of the great metropolis. It is generally conceded that this property has been purchased at the lowest values at which the former owners would have been willing to sell it, and whatever loss of interest might have ensued, that they would have preferred to carry it longer rather than to abate any portion of the purchase price.

We may safely dismiss from our minds any idea that Mr. Vanderbilt has sought the ownership of these properties with any speculative intent. We believe that he is known among his intimate friends to entertain a deep aversion to speculative ventures in real estate, regarding it as a utilitarian commodity only adapted to residence and railroad purposes.

With whatever intent these purchases may have been entered upon, they present the characteristic of the tranfer of property to wealthy owners, from other owners less wealthy. The reported values are accepted with some degree of incredulity by well-informed persons, and the probabilities are that an effort will be made to conceal the true merits of the transactions. Opinions as to the real prices paid will vary according to individual interests, but that the momentary effect of these transactions will be to stimulate and rarify the views of owners of choice properties no one can doubt. If they will remember, however, that such buyers as Mr. Vanderbilt appear in the market seldom, and rarely oftener than once in a life-time, the wiser of these owners will probably conclude that a bird in the hand is worth a thousand in the bush, and will be ready to accept such reasonable propositions as the public may be prepared to make.

The facts hereby established are that the avenue below the Park is sought after and prized by wealthy residents in marked preference to the Park section of it; also that vacant lots in the fashionable quarter have touched the lowest point of depreciation and may be expected in future to recover some small measure of the value that they have lost.

The public will look forward with an interested and allowable curiosity to see the commencement of improvement in these Vanderbilt lots, in the expectation that our great residence avenue is likely to be adorned with fresh and unique exhibitions of the palatial type of mansions.

BUYERS AND SELLERS.

In mercantile establishments, the employees of highest consideration are the buyers and the sellers. The poor drudges who till positions as book-keepers and cashiers are contented with a pittance which barely suffices for their livelihood; while some experts and successful buyers and sellers earn compensation not greatly inferior to that of principals. In matters of real estate, the conditions are altogether different from those which obtain in mercantile circles. The commodity itself is different, being permanent and immovable. It is an item neither of daily necessity nor of daily negotiability. The dealers and operators in it, unlike merchants of kindred types, are generally unknown to each other, and meet for the first time in a given transaction, perhaps never to meet again. The lack of daily and current transactions leaves the values of real estate less definite and settled than are those of commodities in other markets. Nowhere in the world, probably, do the transactions of real estate attain closer resemblance to the importance and dignity of a regular market than in the city of New York. The lists of transfers and mortgages published in THE REAL ESTATE RECORD afford the evidence of an uninterrupted stream of transactions, and there generally figure one or more transactions of special interest. There are various parties concerned as principals in these transactions, some of whom we propose briefly to designate.

BUYERS.

BUILDERS.—Builders must take precedence as the principal buyers of vacant real estate as well as the principal sellers of improved property. Their operations once constituted the major share of activity in real estate, and, though dwarfed in importance now, must soon regain the former rank.

It is to be regretted that builders do not more excel as buyers, and consequently too often fail to become successful sellers. Judicious buying is the necessary antecedent of successful selling.

The principal disability that builders labor under as buyers is lack of cash. This leaves them completely at the mercy of lot owners, and prompts them to undertake risks in values which they might otherwise forego. So long as lot owners are willing to encourage worthless builders, without capital or character, to embark in building operations, with the aid of building loans, so long must the building business labor under an injurious and unnecessary stigma. Reputable builders are generally able to throw cash enough into a transaction to give them power as buyers.

As an initial step in the building transaction, the purchase of lots should be the chief study of the builder. To locate them eligibly, and then to secure them at prices which will warrant their improvement, are the two perplexing problems of the builder's career. Two classes of builders—those who buy with money and those who buy for the sake of the building loan which accompanies the land—have always played a co-operate part in the improvement of this city, and, we expect, will hereafter continue to do so. To save the building business from chronic disrepute and disaster, it is necessary that builders with capital should be encouraged and properly rewarded, and that the abuse of building loans should be exposed and suppressed. The building business in this city will become honorable and profitable, just as soon as the majority of builders understand the efficacy and value of sound business principles in conducting their operations. These are principally to buy for cash, to pay as you go, to sell promptly and always at a profit.

2d. HOUSE BUYERS.—The characteristics of house-wanters generally are an entire ignorance of the construction of buildings and a total lack of acquaintance with standards of current valuations. The majority of buyers start out in search of a house, having an arbitrary limit affixed to their outlay and sternly determined to secure the most that they can for this outlay. As commendable as the disposition is to get full value for money, an unreasoning excess of this desire places the victim of it in the category of excessively greedy and over-reaching persons, and not unfrequently gives him the characteristic of a wrecker or pirate. Too many buyers proceed upon the assumption that the building business is thoroughly dishonest, that builders have no definite knowledge of the cost of their productions and no fixed scale of prices; that buildings are produced for the purpose of being sacrificed to the buying public. Many set out determined to be satisfied with no bargain short of an actual and unsparing sacrifice of the builder's capital. Naturally this purpose throws them into the hands of the more disreputable class of builders. Strong and legitimate builders who aim to secure a fair profit in addition to the cost of production are the least eligible victims for the exploits of ruthless house-hunters.

It is to be deplored that the building business cannot be placed upon the square footing of any other legitimate manufacturing business where builders might expect and exact from the public a fair and reasonable compensation for their anxious and tedious labors, and for their protracted outlay of capital. The proper bases upon which to found such a business system are: first, meritorious and honest workmanship; second, the calculation of moderate profits; third, the enforcement of the one price system.

SELLERS.

BROKERS.—The introduction of the brokerage system into real estate was necessitated principally by the lack of acquaintance between buyers and sellers; and the broker's function, as defined by law, is merely to introduce the principals in a transaction, and to allow them to carry on an independent negotiation.

The extent to which brokers have usurped the places of principals in transactions, is suggestive of the incapacity or inability of owners of property to manage their own business. If brokers would cultivate habits of strict commercial integrity and deportment, their services would be measurably more acceptable and more deserving of liberal remuneration. But too often their anxiety to become entitled to the accruing commission leads them to indulge in chicanery, misrepresentation and general tergiversation. Hence, real estate brokers, as a class, and with notable exceptions, have sometimes failed to occupy a high place in the confidence of the public, or to establish the value or merit of their calling. And yet, in many transactions, their services may be said to be indispensable, if not invaluable. It lies wholly with themselves to correct their defects, and assert and vindicate their claims upon the confidence of the community.

2. LOT OWNERS.—Strange as it may seem, the characteristic of New York lot owners is an unwillingness to part with their property. Whether this is simply a matter of policy or a matter of infatuation, in either case it works an obstructiveness in the improvements of the city, and involves the owner in unnecessary expense and waste. Naturally, one would suppose that lot owners would invite the approach of builders and of others seeking to purchase property for improvement. Instead of this, it is a common experience with lot owners to find them wholly disinclined to negotiate and only too ready to fix arbitrary and unattainable values upon their property, and to resist, as a personal affront, the efforts at negotiation made by brokers or builders. Desirable lots cannot usually be bought at reasonable prices, except at the close of a protracted and vexatious negotiation. Ideas of fabulous values have been fostered in the minds of lot owners from time immemorial, and no more potential cause of the slowness of the city's growth can be assigned than the lack of readiness on the part of lot owners to sell their properties. Vacant property is rarely parted with in this city, except under the pressure of adverse circumstances. High taxes and low rents are the combined leverages which are slowly grinding the life out of improved real estate. In the future, failing of any abatement or amelioration of these adverse conditions, we may expect lot owners to manifest a more ready disposition to turn their unproductive into productive property.

3. BUILDERS.—Builders alone in this list figure in the double capacity of buyers and sellers. After having purchased his lot and made his improvement, the builder then appears as a seller of his manufactured product. One of the most useful accomplishments, which a builder can possess, is an aptitude in treating with house-buyers, and no skill of his handicraft can excel proficiency in the art of selling. Builders, generally, are too apt to copy the habits of lot owners. Having experienced difficulty in acquiring title to the land, they imagine that it is only necessary for them to imitate the example of the lot owner in order to produce the most satisfactory results and stimulate the house-buyer to make his purchase. The position of the builder is so widely different from that of the lot owner that the adoption of such a method is almost certain to be obstructive and ruinous. The lot owner generally is and certainly should be free from impending debt, while the builder is apt to be involved in a partial and often a large indebtedness for both land and building. The attitudes of the lot owner and builder are totally dissimilar from each other. The builder belies his situation and impairs his chances of success, when he attempts to repeat the tactics of the lot seller. Honesty in construction and a good reputation with the public are the best foundations on which to rest the builder's qualities of salesmanship.

It is a dispiriting and almost hopeless task for fraudulent builders to present their poor productions to the suffrages of the public. House buyers, even if unacquainted with the details of mechanical construction, are apt almost universally to be versed in the artistic merits of houses. Common building loan productions are lacking in both mechanical and artistic qualities, and this lack is betrayed to the first glance of the least experienced house buyer.

The builder of good houses may impair or defeat the beneficial results of his business by a lack of the qualifications of salesmanship. There was a time when the demand for houses was so active that the task of selling was nothing more than the consideration of offers made by eager buyers. During recent years, however, the production of houses has outstripped the demand, and there has been a constant though small surplus left upon the market. This condition renders the task of selling a more delicate and laborious one.

Builders must devise some method by which they can impress the intrinsic value of property upon the public. In these times of unsettled values, real estate investments are not the first to be courted. Many buyers, too, are sceptical as to the costs of production, and scarcely any assurances will satisfy them of the real extent of the outlay made by the builder. It would greatly facilitate transactions, if builders would establish fixed and invariable scales of prices, representing no more than the cost of production and a moderate profit. Values of land, labor and materials, long ago touched a natural hard pan bottom, and can hardly be expected to undergo further shrinkage.

BROOKLYN BUILDINGS.

The Annual Report from the Building Department of the city of Brooklyn shows that during the year 1878 there were erected seventeen hundred and forty-eight new buildings, the total cost of which was $6,997,042; eleven hundred and fifty-two of which were brick and five hundred and ninety-six of frame. Eight hundred and eighty-four were for private use—of the balance, two hundred and seventy-eight were intended for tenement and dwellings for more than one family. Two hundred and sixty-eight have stores in the first story. Six churches, seven schoolhouses, twenty-nine factories and seventy-seven workshops help swell out the aggregate. The wards in which over one hundred buildings are to be erected are as follows: 6th Ward, 114; 8th Ward, 106; 18th Ward, 145; 21st Ward, 102; 22d Ward, 200; 23d Ward, 160; 25th Ward, 175.

The total applications for alterations were 915, of which 906 were granted. The cost was $513,382. The wards representing the greatest number of applications were the 7th Ward, 65; 6th Ward, 52; 17th Ward, 64, and the 18th Ward, 51. Applications to remove ninety-three buildings were filed and ninety were granted.

Reported violations of building laws aggregate 324, of which 200 were rectified by owners of property; 81 extensions of time were granted owners in which to comply with the laws, and 43 cases went to the counsel of the Department for prosecution.

THE MORSE BUILDING.

The immense pile of masonry far overtopping adjoining structures, which has attracted the attention of thousands of pedestrians along Broadway, when looking across the City Hall Park, during the past year, has now assumed a shape, that the RECORD must notice it in its columns, as an addendum to that fixed centre of down town life, which defies all efforts to be driven out of its hallowed quarters. The Courts, the Post Office, the City Hall, the leading Insurance Companies and Newspaper offices permit the fanciful features of American business life to move up town even beyond Union square, but the hard, solid work which gives the metropolis its character of pre-eminence and true worth will always remain in that section which has its terminus at Chambers street. The Messrs. Morse therefore made no mistake, when the old Park Hotel had run its course, to erect on its site an office building second to none in the lower part of the city. Aside of this, there is a historical reverence connected with that site which the plain words "Morse Building" cannot efface from the tens of thousands who for years to come will remember that on this identical spot the great electrician first made his telegraphic experiments, which have made his name synonymous with the progress of this wonderful age. It is not within our province to descant upon the historical reminiscences connected with this site. We leave this to those journals, which make a specialty of those matters. Ours let it be to describe this building, so thoroughly as far as altitude is concerned, a counterpart of the Tribune building, which no longer stands alone as a giant sentinel on the east side of the City Hall Park. It was a tremendous responsibilty to undertake the erection of a building of such immense height on a ground measuring only 85 feet 3 inches on Nassau street and 69 feet 7 inches on Beekman street, but the towering eight stories and basement, including an as yet unfinished attic, are all there, rising fully 145 feet from the curb line, and with walls which present the highest straight line in any of our city edifices. The thickness of these walls has been the admiration of all who have watched the progress in the construction of this building, forty-eight inches being in the cellar and three feet and a half on the lower floor.

The style of the building is a distinctly modern style, an adaptation of the Romanesque and Gothic combined, still with well-curved Roman arches. The main entrance is built of brick and terra cotta, except the entrance steps which are of Wyoming blue stone. This main entrance is flanked on each side by marble trimmings and wainscoting, and the main hall runs directly back to the elevators and contains further the great staircase. The floor is laid with tiles and the staircases are of iron with marble and slate steps. Immediately over the doorway are the words "Morse Building" in terra cotta blocks, which add considerably to the finish of this main entrance.

Two elevators of the Otis make, with Hale improvement, will conduct the numerous tenants of this structure to their respective places of business, the two largest offices being on each side of the principal entrance. These offices are beautifully trimmed in ash, cheerful in appearance, and solid as to comfort. All the eight floors, of course, are fitted up for offices, the basement being reserved for a Safe Deposit Company, which finds appropriate vaults already constructed for that purpose. The various floors average about ten offices each, thus making eighty offices all told for the entire building, but additional partitions to suit tenants can be and are being placed on some of the floors, which will no doubt bring the aggregate of offices fully up to one hundred.

The building will be ready for occupancy on the first of May next, and already the entire three upper floors have been rented. Tenants should bear in mind that the building is fire proof throughout, and constructed with beams at spans of about seven feet, spanned with corrugated arches, and filled in with concrete. This is Hoyt's patent fire proof construction for floors, and gives a curbed ceiling. The partitions are all covered with iron laths and plaster, and the exterior even is thoroughly fireproof. The cornices and belts of this immense building are all of terra cotta.

The owners, as we have already stated, are Mr. Livingston G. Morse, who resides in Yonkers, and Mr. Sidney E. Morse, at 138 Chambers street, who have expended about $175,000 in the construction of this building. The very excellent principle of securing good tenants at low rates has thus far guided the renting of whatever floors have already been disposed of, and the Messrs. Morse will find little difficulty in renting the remainder by the time that this building is ready for the tenants.

The young architects who have planned and executed the building are Messrs. Silliman & Farnsworth of 20 Nassau street, the first work of any prominence they have placed before the building trade of New York, and a work of which they may well be proud. Mr. Farnsworth comes from an excellent school, having studied for a number of years with Mr. Vaux, who has done some good work up town at the Museum of Art and other places in and around the Central Park.

Smith & Prodgers, in the Equitable building, are the mason builders, and they have also attended to the plastering, which is of superior workmanship.

The carpenters, Messrs. Morton & Chesley, who are Boston manufacturers, have in this instance successfully competed with our home carpenters, the architects having soon discovered that this firm turn out, owing to their extensive machinery, ash nearly as cheap as they could get estimates for pine in New York. They also have offices in the Equitable building and should be consulted in the construction of buildings of this description.

Stewart & Vanhorn are the decorators and painters, and the steam heating has been provided by the Angell & Blake Manufacturing Company.

The terra cotta has also been furnished by a Chicago firm, for whom S. E. Loring is the agent. Most of the brick used, however, is the peerless moulded and Philadelphia brick, purchased directly from the concern in the Quaker city.

All of the iron work, at least the heavy iron work, has been supplied by Post & McCord, of 102 Broadway, but Poulson & Eager, of Brooklyn, who are experts in the construction of stairs, have attended to this part of the iron work.

The gas fitting and plumbing is by Robert Enever & Son, and the Spanish tiles throughout the building have been furnished by Chadwick & Beasely, 40 Broadway.

The slate work, marbles and grates are from the well-known Penrhyn Slate Company, of Union square.

It only remains for us now to speak of the very top of the building and of the lower part. The roof is a piece of work, constructed on a novel method by Van Orden & Co., of Maiden lane.

The sidewalk, of blue-stone, has been carefully laid by Mr. Myers, and the Dale Tile Company has furnished the vault lights.

J. S. Peck & Son furnish the bricks.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

At the Exchange Salesroom, during the past week, Messrs. A. H. Muller & Son sold the five-story brown stone front store, No. 96 Beekman street, between Pearl and Cliff streets, for $23,900, to E. Ketchum & Co. No. 72 Fifty-second street was sold to plaintiff for $18,700, the amount due on the mortgage being about $16,850. The five-story brick flat and store, No. 942 Eighth avenue, situated on the east side of Eighth avenue fifty feet and five inches south of Fifty sixth street (25x100), were sold to plaintiff for $25,000 to satisfy a mortgage amounting to about $30,600.

The sale of the building No. 486 Broadway, with lot, was adjourned to March 13.

Fourteen plans, embracing twenty-eight buildings, have been filed with the Superintendent of the Department of Buildings since our last report. Seven four-story brick dwellings will be erected on Second avenue, near One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street. Five four-story brown stone front houses will be built on Eightieth street, between First and Second avenues, and three three-story dwellings on One Hundred and Forty-fifth street, near Mott avenue.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—There has been a quiet market all around, and during the past two weeks scarcely enough business took place to form basis for a good positive market. From the North River, of course, the arrivals were entirely shut off, and though a few cargoes came in from Long Island they found rather a slow market, mainly because nobody appeared to want them. The latter are held at about $4.50, and on the River stock the nominal rates range at about $4.00@4.75. Some new work has been commenced since the first of the year but progressed slowly until the snow storm when in most cases it became necessary to suspend operations entirely. The distribution from yard has been about as slow in proportion as the market for cargoes, and generally the situation is flat at the moment, though not without promise for the future. A great many contractors are just finishing up on old engagements, and seek no new material for the time being, while as above noted the weather has been unpropitious for pushing forward even such work as was in hand, but as the existing difficulties are removed there is little doubt that demand must increase to carry out plans now merely awaiting a more favorable opportunity. Pale brick are also scarce and slow, but good lots would probably sell very well at extreme rates. Fronts quiet and held steadily.

We quote Pale, P. M., $2.50@3.00; Hards, Up-rivers, $4.00@4.25; Haverstraw bay, $4.50@4.75; favorite brands, $5.00@6.00; Fronts, Croton—Brown, $7; dark, $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $26@28; Trenton, 21@29; Baltimore, $34@38. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@3 higher on ordinary and $5@6 on fronts.

GLASS.—Trade is pretty dull just now, with the movement confined in the main to local orders or from customers in the near-by country districts. Supplies and assortments are equal to all the calls made upon them, and, as a rule, are available, holders having no idea of retarding operations by withdrawing stocks. Prices in much the same old, uncertain condition and exact quotations an impossibility, though so far as their own individual range of valuation may be concerned, most dealers refrain from any great variation. There appears to be a feeling on this market in common with all others, that a more healthy condition of business will be found during the present year, and there is also a hope that existing difficulties will be overcome, and the preservation of greater uniformity on prices among the trade insured.

HARDWARE.—For the time being, demand is pretty well suspended and, generally, the market has a quiet, uncertain tone. Holders and dealers, however, seem to have a great amount of faith in the future and a good, full trade is predicted as soon as the new year gets fairly under way. Indeed, the "symptoms" are already said to be quite encouraging, and as soon as the transportation companies overcome the difficulties of the snow blockade a number of fresh orders are looked for. Among the numerous announcements of new prices, discounts, etc., recently published, we find the following:

Russell Jennings quotes his extensive lip augers and auger bits as follows: Auger dowel, machine dowel and hand rail bits at 10 and 10 and 10 per cent. discount. Carpenters' augers, 16⅔c. and 10 and 10 and 10 per cent. discount; car and machine bits, boring machine and millwrights' augers at 25c. and 10 and 10 and 10 per cent. discount. Colored crayons and carpenters' chalk will be continued at the price of last year, but white crayon is advanced 1c. per gross. We note a revised list by Yerkes & Plumb for their hammers, hatchets, axes, cleavers, etc., subject to the following discounts: Orders amounting to $100 00 or less, 5 per cent. on hammers and sledges, and 2 per cent. on edge tools; orders of $100.00 or over, 20 per cent. on hammers and sledges, and 33⅓ on edge tools. Oliver Ames & Sons' Corporation have issued a new price list for their goods, with a uniform discount of 20 per cent. The Russell & Erwin Manufacturing Co. have a revised list for padlocks, but no change on discount. The same company announce net prices for Boardman's patent blind staples at 2½c. per lb for ⅜ inch, and 15c. do for ½, ⅝ and ¾ inch. Clark & Co. publish list for their butt hinges with a discount of 75 per cent. At a recent meeting of hinge manufacturers the price of strap and T hinges for the first six months of 1879 was fixed at 10 and 10 per cent. discount from list; cash, thirty days.

LATH.—The market remains firm and the selling interest has most of the advantage of the position. As with other material, ruling influences have been somewhat against any very heavy consumption, and the distribution was comparative slow, but dealers were not burdened with a heavy stock to carry, and naturally refrained from making a modification from previous views. Some delayed cargoes have arrived, but the aggregate was not heavy, and in view of the comparatively moderate amount in second hands receivers were in no great hurry to force sales. The latest exact wholesale rate we can hear of was $1.50 per M., but this is probably inside if anything.

LIME.—So far as it has gone, the business was on about a basis of former rates, and sellers quote prices as unchanged. There has been a fresh receipt of Eastern, and one or two other cargoes are expected, but these are merely of vessels which put in along the coast for a harbor before approaching storms, and have or will work forward as opportunity admits. As new shipments are near making, State stock in the way of fuel invoices could probably be reached at about old rates, but for small lots holders do not care to pull boats out of the basins except at some advance on prices.

LUMBER.—Demand has shown about the same form to which the market has been so long accustomed, and we find few new features to record. The movement looking to the engagement of cargoes for spring demand continues and there is reason to believe that some fair sized contracts have been closed, but the reticence of operators engaged prevents the securing of particulars for the present. On local or nearby account, the demand does not amount to much except in a sort of jobbing way, but exporters are talking somewhat cheerfully over what they are at present doing and what they calculate to do on the wants of the West India and South American buyers. Supplies are fair, as against the current requirements of the market, but, of course, receiving no important additions.

Eastern Spruce has no regular market and the situation is a little better than nominal. A good attractive cargo or two could no doubt be placed at comparatively full rates, but it is doubtful if the market would exhaust any considerable quantity, and certainly offers no outlet for poor stuff. We quote at $11.50@12.00 for random, possibly $12.50@13.00 for choice lengths in small cargoes, and $13.00@14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult.

White Pine has a pretty good demand on shipping orders and accumulations suited to the foreign trade are steadily held, with no special effort made to realize. Over desirable orders, however, there is occasionally quite a sharp little competition, and this tends to hold in check inclinations toward buoyancy. The home call is somewhat uncertain, but rarely reaches sufficient volume to have any special influence upon the position. We quote at $14 50@15.50 per M. for West India shipping boards; $19.50@21 for South American do; $14@15 for box boards; $16@17 for do wide and sound; and timber to order at $38@50 per M.

Yellow Pine continues firm for really good assortments as the amount available is not very large, and a fairish sort of demand prevails for such offerings as can be delivered at an early date. Negotiations also progress for future delivery, the line of cost not meeting with many objections from buyers, and there is as usual more or less figuring over parcels to be sent abroad direct, from primary points, although the latter trade is not a brisk one. We quote random cargoes at about $18@22 per M.; ordered cargoes $22@24 do; green flooring boards, $20@21 do; and dry do. do. $20@23. Cargoes at the South, $12@14.50 per M.; hewed timber $7.50@14.

Hardwoods are in the main selling from yard on small orders for local consumption, and we do not find much change in the general status of the market. Light stocks, and the difficulty, if not impossibility, of adding to them with a clear margin, gives holders the advantage, and on all really desirable goods the tone is at least steady. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut, $77@85 per M.; ash, $33@36 do; oak, $35@40 do; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do. do., culls, $18@20 do; cherry, $45@75 do; white wood, ½ and ⅝ inch, $25@27 50, and do. inch $38@35 do; hickory, $35@45 do. for Western, and $65@75 for good near by stock.

Yard business seems to show a little more animation in some sections of the city. A portion of the stock moving is on contract, but on the regular consumptive outlets calls have slightly increased, and dealers are inclined to believe the prospects cheering for a still further growth. Supplies are parted with on all really full bids, however, as, notwithstanding the seasonable advantages they enjoy, dealers are in no way disposed to miss the opportunity for placing stocks.

THE WEST.

The following from the Lumberman and Manufacturer.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., January 9, 1879.

The lumber market is about frozen up. There is so little lumber trade in the West that it is hardly worth mentioning. Every part of the people seem to be busy trying to keep warm. Up to this time the lumbermen in the woods have been doing a good, fair business, hauling logs. Not having snow to make good roads, they have resorted to sprinkling, and many report splendid ice roads, which enable them to haul all the logs that can be pulled onto the sled.

A letter from the Thornapple ta branch of the Chippewa) says the snow is too light for hauling on long roads in that section.

No additional snow has fallen during the week in the pineries, and many, seeing the result, are praying that no more will come during the winter. It would be hard to tell which horn of the dilemma is preferable, either being sufficiently bad to give one the blues, even at the present long range.

Chicago reports shipping about 1 000 M per day, and receiving about one quarter as much

Some changes have been made in price lists at certain points on the river, as will be noticed. They have been occasioned by the unholy competition from Chicago. Chicago drummers are said to average about three to the square mile in four Western States.

It may be set down as a fact that there will be no scarcity of lumber in any part of the United States in the year 1879, and in the emphatic language of our correspondent at Rudd, "somebody is going to be hurt." Who is it?

The amount of lumber handled in Detroit, Mich., during the past year is roughly estimated to be between 70,000,000 and 75 000,000 feet. Shingles, 40,000,000 M., and lath 10,000,000 bundles. The quantity now in store, as near as can be estimated, amounts in round numbers to 30,000,000 feet of lumber, 6,550 M of shingles and 3,000,000 bundles of lath.

An experienced Western lumber operator says the lumbermen along the shore of Lake Michigan are sending large gangs of men into the woods, and he predicts the log crop for 1879 will exceed any preceding year. He thinks the result of this activity will be an over-production of lumber, and that common stuff will sell next year as low as $6 per M. He thinks the amount received during the past year—$7.25 per M.—low enough, and that there will be little profit in lumbering next season if the indications of an unusually large log crop are realized.

The Chicago Times reports:

At the lumber yards trade was only moderately animated, prices ruling about the same as heretofore. Local lumber stocks were liberal, and reports from the logging camps of the Northwest indicate that the supply of lumber for the next season is to be heavier than ever before. Loggers are proverbially an ambitious class of men, and each section appears determined to get out more logs than in any past winter. Of course, this means another year of low prices.

THE SOUTH.

The Baltimore market is reported as follows by the Journal of Commerce:

Yellow Pine—There is an active demand for rough Yellow Pine boards at an advance of from $2 to $3 per M. feet. We think, however, the advance is only temporary, as large quantities are afloat and now loading. White Pine—Receipts of Michigan and Susquehanna, for which there is a fair demand, continue light. Walnut—One inch stock medium grades and Culls meet with a better inquiry than other thicknesses. Oak meets with but little demand, and with market very dull prices remain nominal. Ash—Market for North Carolina and Virginia is dull and heavy, but for Western and Pennsylvania there is some demand, with light stock on the market. There is considerable improvement in Poplar, with the exception of 5/4, which continues dull, and 1 inch boards especially are in good demand. Light stock on the market. Cherry—Seasoned lumber 1 to 2 inches thick meets with a good demand. There is some inquiry for good, tough White Hickory at former quotations. Cypress Lumber—Receipts liberal; demand light; market dull and heavy.

Shingles—With large stock on hand and liberal receipts, the market continues dull and demand light. We repeat quotations as follows:

The following is from a private circular concerning the wood trade of Miramichi and other New Brunswick ports. The condition of the trade is not satisfactory; the curtailment of exports predicted last season has taken place, the shipments for the year being 30 per cent. less than in 1877; still the quantity produced is so greatly in excess of the demand, that both shippers and the "banks interested in the trade" have wisely determined to enforce a still further reduction. A noted feature of the Miramichi trade is that it is done almost entirely on contract, and is distributed over a large number of ports, many of them small; shipments to France and other European countries are increasing rapidly. Ports with which most business has been done are as follows:

The Toronto Globe comments as follows:

Canadian lumbermen are beginning to feel the beneficial effect of low rates for supplies. Now that prices have come down in proportion to the fall in lumber it is found profitable to make at the low prices which are current. The low price is also stimulating the demand, and if no interference is made with the source from which our lumbermen draw their supplies, we may expect to see them next year on the high road to prosperity. If the price of pork and other necessaries is raised, however, by protective duties, our men will not be able to compete with the American maker, who has all the advantages of low wages and low-priced supplies. We look to an early revival of the lumber trade as the event on which our immediate future depends, and if the men who engage in that business are hampered by trade restrictions, wages cannot rise nor the business be profitable.

FOREIGN.

We find the following in the Timber Trades Journal:

Mr. John Burstall, the well known timber merchant of Quebec, writes: "The quantity of timber named as having been manufactured in the Ottawa district this season (2,500,000 feet) is in round numbers about one fourth only of what was really manufactured there. In the second place, so far from expecting that timber will 'move upwards' in the English market, I can only say that the state of the European market for white pine is extremely bad, and no indications of any improvement are discernible. Business generally in Scotland and England, particularly in the Clyde and in the manufacturing districts of England, the chief markets for white pine, is in so very depressed a condition that it is self-evident any improvement in that article cannot be looked for in the immediate future."

Mail advices from Cuba report as follows:

White Pine.—A cargo is here for sale, for which only $30 gold has so far been offered, but the holders are unwilling to accept this price, and it is believed they have better offers from the outports. In this position of the market we abstain from quoting.

Pitch Pine.—No sales. We quote prices quite nominally at $30 to $31 gold per mill feet.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has undergone no important change of late, the general demand keeping within narrow compass, and business ruling dull. Holders, however, have the stocks fairly in hand, and remain firm at 16c. for lake. Manufactured copper has a fair average jobbing distribution and rules about steady. We quote about as follows: Brazier's Copper, ordinary size over 16 oz. per sq. foot 25c. per lb.; do. do. do., 16 oz. and over 12 oz., per sq. foot, 25c. per lb.; do. do., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 27c. per lb.; do. do., lighter than 10 oz. per sq. foot, 29c. per lb.; circles, less than 84 inches in diameter, 26c. per lb.; do. 84 inches in diameter and over 29c. per lb.; segment and pattern sheets, 26c. per lb.; locomotive fire box sheets, 23c. per lb.; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 20c. per lb, and Bolt Copper 22c. per lb. IRON.—Scotch Pig has found only a moderate and uncertain demand, with the market rather flat and values to a considerable extent nominal all around. The stock on hand is not very large. Quoted at about $19.50@22.50 according to brand and quantity. American Pig does not find much of an outlet, the current light, consumptive wants being met by stocks already on hand, and buyers refusing to bid on further amounts until they really require them. Prices about as before, but showing no great tone. We quote nominally at $16.00@18.00 for No. 1 per ton, $15.50@17.00 for No. 2, and $14.50@16.00 for Forge. Rails are steady, a shade firmer if anything, owing to a somewhat better demand prevailing for both iron and steel. We quote at $32@36 for new iron, and $41@44 for steel, according to delivery. Old Rails $18.50@19.00 per ton; scrap, $21.50@22. Manufactured iron has commenced selling somewhat more freely in small lots from store, the call mainly for standard grades. The market, however, is not stimulated, and dealers generally are quite willing to accept former rates. Common merchant bar quoted in round lots at 1.7c., and Refined at 1.9c., but for ten-ton lots from store, 1.8c and 2c. are respectively insisted upon. Common sheet, 3c., and best R. G. American, 4c. from store. LEAD—Domestic Pig selling along moderately in small lots as required for early consumption with stocks under control, and holders firm at full former rates. We quote at 4@4¼c. The manufactures of lead are steady and quoted: Bar 5c., Pipe 5c. and sheet 6c.—less the usual discount to the trade; and Tin lined Pipe 12c., Block Tin Pipe, 20c., on same terms. TIN—Pig shows great irregularity, and nearly all dealers differ more or less on value with current figures as named to some extent nominal. Business is retarded and the sales unimportant. We quote at nominal for Banca, 13¾@14c. for Straits, 13¾@14c. for English refined, and 13¾@13¾c. for do. common. Tin Plates are firm on cokes, with a fair demand, but charcoals are neglected and somewhat weak. Spelter is offered with somewhat greater freedom, and prices rule easy for all grades, quoted 4¾c@4¾c. Sheet Zinc in fair jobbing demand, and prices steady at 6½@6¾c., according to quantity.

NAILS.—Demand has been moderate and uncertain and confined in the main to small orders required on some urgent necessity. Stocks plenty enough for the wants of the market, and values much the same as before. The quotations are $2.10@2.15 for 10d. to 60d. according to size of invoice.

OILS.—Business without much animation, and mainly of a jobbing form, with buyers taking only enough to carry them over present necessities. Prices show little change. Linseed oil we quote 60@61c. per gallon from crushers hand.

PAINTS.—On most of the leading styles former values continue to be asked, and a reasonable show of firmness is made. The position, however, for the general market is somewhat nominal just now as there is scarcely enough business doing to give matters a fair test. Supplies and assortments are fair, and while holders refrain from urging sales they are willing to entertain neogotiations upon a reasonable basis.

PITCH.—Operations are moderate and slow, and the market without new or interesting features at the moment. Supplies are offered fairly as compared with the outlet, and prices are easy. We quote at $1.85@2.00 per bbl., for City delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Supplies are under fair control, and not urged to a sale with any freedom, but the demand has not of late been very encouraging, and the market in a general way lost tone. As we close the feeling is only barely steady with quotations at 27@28½ per gallon, according to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—Trade is without animation, on either local or shipping orders, and there is not much to write of the market for the present. About former rates are ruling, and the tone is nominally steady. We quote at $2.00@2.37½ per bbl. for Newberne and Washington, and $2.12½@2.50 for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

BANK TAXATION.

We herein lay before our readers a copy of a printed petition, which has been widely circulated for signatures throughout the mercantile and financial communities of this city:

TO THE HONORABLE THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY CONVENED:

The petition of the undersigned, engaged in commercial, mercantile and manufacturing business, respectfully showeth, That taxes upon shareholders of Banks in the City of New York are assessed in a manner that imposes upon that single class of property a heavy and unequal burden, not applied to any other, and which is driving out of the City and State immense amounts of capital, which have hitherto contributed to the public revenues, and have also promoted the growth and prosperity of every variety of taxable and dependent interests.

That the diminution of Banking Capital in this City alone, and of the taxable value of Bank shares consequent upon this unjustly discriminating assessment, has, for the past year, reached some twenty million dollars, and the reduction is still further threatened.

That this loss is occuring at a critical moment, when the commercial pre-eminence of this Metropolis is endangered by rival interests, and when the State and the Nation will require all their combined capital to aid in restoring the country to a sound financial condition.

That neither justice, public policy, nor even immediate revenue is promoted by the present method of taxing Bank shares, but, on the contrary, that the City, State, and Nation are all receiving irreparable injury from the consequent diminution of this important interest.

Wherefore, they pray your honorable bodies to amend the laws so that shareholders of Banks in this State shall not be assessed above the actual value of their property so invested, after deducting all property with respect to which any private citizen or monied corporation, not a Bank or Banking Association, is exempt from assessment and taxation by authority of the State.

And your petitioners will ever pray, &c.

It is not within our province to discuss bank taxation, nor does the subject stand in need of special treatment in this journal, at the present time. The representatives of banking interests are wealthy, alert and influential, and it is evident that no effort on their part is being spared to present their alleged grievances to the public. When the time arrives for the consideration of measures bearing directly upon this subject, we shall claim the privilege of being heard in common with the special advocates of them. The relation of bank capital to the public welfare is a recondite and intricate problem of political economy, and the relation of the government to banking capital as to other species of property in the raising of revenue is an impressive and delicate one.

We question, whether this subject of bank taxation in the end will be found to deserve or command any larger measure of consideration at the hands of legislators or of the public, than will the equally important interests of real estate, real estate mortgages, business capital and many forms of organized capital.

The principal ground upon which this private petition seems to rest is the allegation that a material and serious withdrawal of banking capital has resulted from oppressive taxation. The question may be considered an open one whether the effect here cited is really attributable to the cause assigned. Banking capital, in common with other monied interests, has undergone extensive shrinkage from natural causes, among which are reduction of values, the contraction of business embarkations, the elimination of bankrupt concerns, and, mainly, the voluntary withdrawal of capital from unprofitable employment. Undoubtedly, the banks are the victims of unjust and discriminating taxation, but their claim for relief, we fancy, may be made to rest upon a more substantial foundation than the one adverted to, and must be made to harmonize with the claims of other interests. So long as the efforts of bank managers are directed towards the equalization of taxation, they may be sure of enlisting the hearty co-operation of the representatives of other afflicted and oppressed interests, but any scheme which looks towards the disproportionate reduction of taxation upon this large and active volume of capital, will be sure to provoke the resistance of those representative interests which will thereby be adversely affected.

It is commonly understood that the subject of taxation in its entirety is likely to be taken up and discussed, perhaps to be acted upon by the present Legislature. The intimation to this effect is accompanied by the suggestion that this action will be moved and urged primarily by representatives of organized capital, including banks, railroads and manufacturing corporations.

The evidence is not lacking of a deliberate and systematic effort to direct public opinion, and to influence the judgment of legislators in favor of exclusive real estate taxation. This subject has been studiously and laboriously agitated of late years, and has found some able and zealous advocates. If there is any life in this movement at all, it would be well for all parties concerned that it should receive legislative action at the earliest possible moment, in order that real estate owners may be relieved of the apprehension of an impending calamity, or prepared to meet, as well as they can, an unparalleled and monstrous invasion of their rights. If such a measure is presented and advocated by the representatives of corporate capital, in the present frame of the public mind, it will be, to say the least, suspiciously regarded and legislative action upon it will command more than ordinary attention.

We present the text of this petition to our readers, not with any purpose of entering into an extended dissertation upon its subject matter, but merely and solely, to direct the attention of property owners to the persistence and activity of bank managers in seeking relief from onerous taxation. If property owners allow the subject of taxation to go by default; if they permit expert and perhaps unscrupulous agents of monied interests to invade the legislative halls and control and direct legislation in favor of any partial and undigested scheme; they may be brought face to face with a condition full of peril to the interests of real estate.

We will have discharged our duty for the present when we advise property owners of the tactics of their adversaries and counsel them to combine and confederate together in a determined movement which will run parallel with the action already initiated by bank managers.

These movements need not be antagonistic, nor necessarily co-operative, but should aim to compel an extended and adequate consideration of the whole subject of taxation, and to secure more comprehensive action than would otherwise be taken. Tax payers' associations have already been formed in some wards of the city, and such organizations should be perfected in every ward, and all should then be united under a central directory, which would unify and intensify the influence which property owners may be able to exert in the discussion and solution of the tax problem. Assuming that there are thirty thousand individual property owners in this city; if each, on an average, is able to influence the judgment and secure the good will of even five persons, the momentum of such a volume of opinion could not fail to be potential, and well nigh irresistible in accomplishing any desired result.

At present, two interests, namely, bank capital and real estate, are singled out ruinously and unjustly for oppression by taxation.

This status of the tax system is unwarranted in law and unequalled for wilful discrimination.

The taxable resources of the city are bewildering in variety, incalculable in number and teeming with fruitfulness. The final and fair adjustment of taxation involves merely the selection of accessible and suitable objects through which governmental expenses may be effectively and equitably distributed throughout the community.

BARTERINGS.

In no market perhaps except the horse marke is the principle of bartering so widely recognized and so freely practised as in the real estate market. By whatever designation these transactions may be entitled, whether as exchanges, swaps, dickers, trades or barters, they always bear the same characteristic of the matching of real estate values. Barterings depend upon the principle of equivalency, or the equation of values between two properties. As a rule, parties addicted to these transactions are apt to recognize and cultivate excessive and extravagant scales of value. It is deemed helpful and promotive of this business to inflate values as much as possible, the idea being entertained that the greater the excess of fictitious valuation the larger the opportunity for accommodating differences of opinion with regard to values. In fact the great drawback to this method of dealing in real estate is that parties who effect it are too prone to place unwarrantable and visionary values upon their properties and the chance of agreement is rendered practically hopeless from the outset. Another peculiarity of bartered properties is that they are generally found to be mortgaged about as heavily as their value will bear, and the subject matter of discussion in negotiations of this kind is the equating of the equities of redemption. The principal aim of these operators is to define the difference between their respective equities, in other words to find out which one is entitled to the "boot," if any.

While there are highly cultivated and conservative persons who ignore this form of transaction altogether, deeming it disreputable, impracticable, or unprofitably vexatious, it must be confessed that there are a great many experienced dealers in real estate who give this system of exchange preference over cash dealings. The views of the former class are undoubtedly sound and commendable. Cash money is the true measure of all commodities, and real estate transactions based upon actual money will, as a rule, and in the long run, be more serviceable and satisfactory to the parties engaged in them than any form of bartering. At the same time, the bulkiness and unwieldiness, the chronic unnegotiability of ordinary real estate, render cash transactions difficult, if not impossible of attainment. The element of bartering them comes in as an acceptable relief and presents an eminently fit and proper means of real estate distribution. If owners would exercise as much common sense in barterings in real estate as others are apt to do in reference to cash transactions, the system would enjoy greater popularity and be more freely cultivated. As a rule, either party tries to get the better of the other, and thus thwarts a favorable result. Many totally refuse to entertain a proposition of exchange, because they consider it will involve a fruitless and unprofitable expenditure of time and trouble. The commonest trades are those between desirable country property and undesirable city property. Town lots and eligible farms, usually free and clear of encumbrance, are often exchanged for the equity in improved city property which is not readily negotiable for cash. A natural and presumably acceptable exchange is that of eligible city lots for equally desirable, improved city property. Lots generally belong to capitalists who are intent upon acquiring income, while improved property may commonly be found in the hands of builders who are dissatisfied with the leisurely occupation of collecting rents, and prefer to be engaged in making fresh improvements. The lot owner who secures in exchange for his lots their full value in improved property is really lessening his investment in real estate by as much as it would cost to improve his lots, and the builder in such a trade is liable to double his investment when he completes the improvements of the lots taken in exchange.

An equitable exchange and one which lot owners should be glad to make is to give free and clear lots for the equity in improved property, supposing the mortgage to represent no more than the cost of building. Free and clear lots, when acquired on a satisfactory basis, are almost as serviceable to the builder as ready money. With money in hand the builder is free to choose his location, whereas, in an exchange, he is confined to the locality of an owner willing to make the exchange.

The largest field for bartering is found in suburban districts. There seems to be a natural attraction between the respective populations of Brooklyn and the country towns of New Jersey, particularly the Oranges, which leads to many transactions of this description, real estate in these two sections being considered fair equivalents. Some brokers give exclusive attention to exchanges of property, and acquire great expertness in the adjustment of the differences between properties, and in the settlement of the details of these transactions. The equating of values for an exchange is almost as difficult a problem as many which arise in chess or geometry. Although productive frequently of incalculable trouble to the broker, in the happy though infrequent event of a successful barter, the emolument is much in excess of that derived from ordinary transactions. By special agreement, generally by common consent, a commission is charged to each party, and in the case of country property the commission ranges from two-and-a-half to five per cent. The liberality of the prospective compensation stimulates the exertions of brokers, and prompts them to the performance of heroic labors in this department of the business, since successful transaction will amply compensate for the effort and time expended in many unsuccessful ones.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

At the Exchange Salesroom, Mr. Harnett sold the property on the northeast corner of Prince and Marion streets, having a frontage of 76 feet 10 inches on Prince street, to John H. Tingue for $45,000. E. H. Ludlow & Co. sold No. 109 East Seventeenth street, to close the estate of Charlotte A. Gross, deceased, for $18,800, and the same auctioneers, by order of the executors of Anton Otto, deceased, sold the four-story and basement brick tenement house (24.8x45x100), known as No. 339 Tenth avenue, for $8,800. All other sales were made pursuant to the order of the court, full details of which appear below.

During the week ending January 24, 1879, eight plans were filed, embracing thirty-four buildings. On Eightieth street, near First avenue, five four-story brown stone flats will be erected, and four on Eighty-first street, west of First avenue; fifteen three-story brown stone houses will also be erected on the same street by James Murray, to cost $97,500, and J. BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—The wholesale market continues quite dull and very stupid at present, owing to the limited quantity of stock offering afloat. Nothing can be reached from the river, and, while cargoes come to hand now and then from other sources, the comparative neglect they meet serves to show that it is probably just as well arrivals are no larger. Still there is some evidence that buyers are not entirely neglectful, and towards the close the feeling was if anything somewhat more cheerful. The weather tends to check building operations to a greater or less extent, besides which the condition of the streets has interfered with transportation, and when these difficulties are overcome consumption will no doubt increase as the preparations for new work are quite generally in a forward condition. The cargoes of Long Island stock now offering can hardly be reached for less than $5, and other stock is valued on a corresponding basis, but as the market stands most figures are nominal only. Pale brick are wanted, and good lots would command a full price. Fronts show no important variation at present.

We quote Pale, ℔ M., $2.50@3.00; Hards, Up-rivers, $4.25@4.50; Haverstraw bay, $4.75@5.00; favorite brands, $5.50@6 00; Fronts, Croton—Brown, $7; dark, $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $26@28; Trenton, 21@29; Baltimore, $34@38. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@3 higher on ordinary and $5@6 on fronts.

HARDWARE.—Demand direct from buyers in personal attendance is not very brisk or general, and there is no great amount of stir to business. A great many dealers, however, are commencing to find an increase in the number of their mail orders and the sale of supplies is gradually swelling into larger proportions, the result of the efforts of travelers who have already gone out in considerable numbers. Values, as a general thing, remain favorable to buyers, most manufacturers desiring to conform to the current tenor of the times, and where additions to cost have recently been made, they were almost without exception, a necessity to admit of margin for profit. The Stanley Rule and Level Co. have published this week a new illustrated price list of improved carpenter's tools, &c. The prices show many important changes, among which are the following: bevels, gauges and try squares quote 50 per cent. discount; plumbs and levels, non-adjustable and patent adjustable, 65 per cent.; screw drivers, varnished handles, 50 per cent., and black do. 40 per cent.; boxwood rules 70 per cent., and ivory do. 60 per cent. The list price of Bailey's planes has been reduced, but the discount remains as before. Most of the leading manufacturers have agreed upon a slight advance on picks, mattocks, grub hoes, sledges, hammers, etc. A list on the Webster's patent combination wrench is published, with a trade discount of 35 per cent. Among the new and revised lists is one of Mallory, Wheeler & Co. for padlocks and padlock keys, with discount of 33⅓ per cent.

LATH.—The advantage of the position remains in the sellers' favor and must do so to a greater or less extent while the present seasonable relations of supply and demand are unchanged. It is intimated that some delayed cargoes have yet to come forward but if so, they cannot be many, and receivers remain confident in their ability to face anything at a full figure. Local calls are not very heavy, but promise to increase, especially toward spring, and, with the amount of stock held by dealers smaller than usua and nothing piled out in first hands to fall back upon the situation has a steady basis. For the time being, in the absence of testing sales, quotations are more or less nominal.

LIME.—It is just about the same old story throughout, the general market showing a very dull tone and no features of importance developing themselves. With the exception of such cargoes as may be delayed along the coast there is not likely to be arrivals of Eastern, nor do receivers care for any at present in view of the indifference of buyers. No new shipments are now making. The latter sentence we desired to print last week, but our type got badly mixed and published a remark in connection with State stock that was never written and which certainly requires explanation at this season. The demand for State lime is quite as dull as for other kinds, and the market only barely steady though dealers will not shade on cost, and owing to the difficult harbor transportation are not over anxious to move their boats at present.

LUMBER.—Our winter lumber market does not amount to much, especially in a wholesale way, and we find little of special interest to advise. Many of the agents and dealers are out of town settling up last year's accounts and completing their arrangements for the incoming season, and those who remain here are not troubled with a very large or anxious attendance of customers. Some specifications are under treaty where comparatively early delivery is required, by parties who are so far committed on their contracts that delay in securing material is by no means judicious, but beyond this, demand for specials is limited. Sellers are cautious about naming prices for the next season, but as a rule, are inclined to admit that present evidences are not particulary encouraging to the belief that any important advance can be made and maintained. Trade will probably be very good in volume, but the basis of its development and continuation only to be found in a comparatively low range of cost. Nothing is said about a short supply of any kind, except from a portion of the East, as the evidences of an ample cut and safe, general harvest of logs seem to be fully fortified. The export demand is rather moderate, but takes a fair total in small lots.

Eastern Spruce is still to a great extent nominal. There is a certain line of figures which dealers continue to quote, based upon the supposition that buyers would pay well for a small offering of desirable stock, and no doubt to some extent this is true, but the test of actual sales in sufficient quantity to make a positive market, is wanting. The advices at hand, with few exceptions, indicate much success as attendant upon the work of loggers, so far as the intention to cut was concerned, but it is claimed that from the outset a lighter product was determined upon and that this plan has been carried out. We quote at $11.50 @12 00 for random, possibly $12.50@13.00 for choice lengths in small cargoes, and $13.00@14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult

White Pine is quoted at pretty much former rates all around, and dealers generally call the market steady. On home account, however, there is not much doing, and the shipping operations do not appear to be altogether in first rate shape. The amount called for is somewhat under expectations and competition, or other influences continue to keep prices low, but of late, matters have commenced to look a little more cheerful We quote at $14.50@15 50 per M for West India shipping boards; $19.50@21 for South American do; $14@15 for box boards; $16@17 for do wide and sound; and timber to order at $38@50 per M.

Shingles continue to find some demand on shipping account, in part on direct orders, and in part "to fill" where no other desirable freight can be secured, and as the supply is under very fair control, prices rule steady. The demand on home account, however, is rather slow and uncertain, though an occasional fair order comes in for the choice grades. Cypress are selling at about $6 for saps, and $8 50@9 for hearts; pine shipping stocks $4 for 18 inch and Eastern sawed grades at $2.50@4 50 for 16 inch as to quality and quantity. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: For 30 inch $16 00@22 25 for A., and $28 75@ 32 25 for No. 1; for 24 inch $6.50@16.00 for A, and $16.75@23 00 for No. 1; for 20 inch $5.00@10.50 for A., and $11 25@15.75 for No. 1.

Yellow Pine shows about the same general market last noted. On really first class stock, either in the way of flooring boards or timber, the tone is pretty firm and sellers unwilling to open negotiations except on a basis of full former rates. Ordinary grades, however, are unsettled with a general sort of tendency in buyers' favor. The demand for export direct from the primary points is moderate and confined mainly to India and South American orders. We quote random cargoes at about $18@22 per M., ordered cargoes $22@24 do; green flooring boards, $20@21 do.; and dry do. do, $20@23. Cargoes at the South, $13@14.50 per M.; hewed timber $7.50@14.

Hardwoods are, as a rule, quite firm and holders in a confident mood over the condition of the market. Demand is not particularly active at the moment, and is confined mainly to small jobbing orders, but on both the home and foreign outlets the prospects are considered quite encouraging and stocks are held to a full basis of former valuation. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut, $77@ 85 per M.; ash, $33@36 do; oak, $35@40 do; maple, $30 @35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do. do., culls, $18@ $20 do; cherry, $45@75 do; white wood, ¼ and ⅝ inch, $25@27.50, and do. inch $38@35 do; hickory, $35@45 do. for Western, and $65@75 for good near by stock.

Yard distribution improves slowly but still it appears to improve, and this is encouraging to dealers. The form of demand is much the same all around, only small invoices finding favor, and buyers preferring to make three or four purchases rather than risk handling a surplus. In a general way, prices are firm, but slight variations are not uncommon where special influences seem to demand that that some moderate favors should be shown.

From among the lumber charters recently reported we select the following:

An Am. barque, 555 tons, from Portland to Paysandu, lumber, private terms; a schr., 224 tons, hence to Berbice, W. P., lumber, $5.25; a schr., 224 tons, from Jacksonville to Berbice, lumber, $10; a schr., 586 tons, from Cat Island to Port Spain, Trinidad, lumber, $8.50; a schr., 211 tons, from Wilmington, N. GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

Advices from Glen Falls report that the northern lumber firms are busy drawing logs upon the banks of the upper Hudson. Col. Van Dusen, Finch, Pruyn & Co., and the Morgan lumber company of this place; W. Bloomingdale of Sandy Hill; Bradley & Underwood of Fort Edward, and Lemon Thompson of Fort Miller have each from 75,000 to 100,000 logs skidded.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Notwithstanding the comparatively small amount of original timber standing in Pennsylvania, lumbering operations in various parts of the State are proceeding very actively. On the west branch of the Susquehanna and its tributaries one party has cut 24,000,000 feet; another, 16,000,000 feet, and a third, 8,000,000 feet. These, of course, will cut more before the winter is over, and there are others who will probably cut as much as they do. It is expected that in the spring there will be as fine a stock of logs as was ever floated on that river.

THE WEST.

SAGINAW VALLEY.

Owing to continued delay of the mails our exchanges are all more or less behind, and we are unable to give the lumber markets to as late a date as usual. We extract, however, from the most recent at hand:

Lumberman's Gazette Office:

East Saginaw, Jan. 14, 1879.

There is nothing new in the lumber market, nothing especially new at this season of the year, and we learn of but one sale since the first of the year, for next season's delivery. This was made by Seth McLean & Son, Bay City, last week, for Ohio parties. This firm made a sale of 1,000,000 feet of lumber on the dock to G. K. Jackson—500,000 at $5 50, $11 and $26, and 500,000 (bill stuff) at $8 straight—first sawing in the spring. This is the first sale of any consequence that has been reported, and if any indication of the market in the spring is certainly a favorable omen. This, it will be observed, refers to green lumber, while the first thirty days when the market opens in the spring will effect dry. There is no change in shingles and lath, which are about the same as last quotations. Shingles are not moving very rapidly, and it is not probable this commodity will materially advance. In the yards the trade is dull. Compared with last year, though, there is no disposition to cut quotations, which are the same as have ruled the past thirty days.

The following from the Lumberman and Manufacturer.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., January 16, 1879.

Michigan loggers are having such splendid success that one of the most experienced and intelligent loggers of the Saginaw Valley estimates that over forty per cent. more logs will be put in this winter than were cut in 1878 in that State.

In Wisconsin the loggers who are on long sandy roads can do little or no hauling, but those who have short hauls on clay ground are doing a splendid business.

In Minnesota lack of snow is retarding the work very much; but the boys have been diligent in making ice roads and hauling snow, so that many of them are able to do a good business.

The river markets are doing but little business in lumber. St. Louis and some other points have reduced their price lists one dollar during the week, and will undoubtedly secure a share of the business as soon as spring opens, unless the railways break down the rates from Chicago, as they are liable to do at any time.

The railway mills of the Northwest are about all running, and selling considerable timber cut to order, which is about all the demand there is, and this stuff cannot be found in the regular stocks. This explains the large receipts of lumber for the past few weeks at Minneapolis and other points. It is the harvest time of the railroad mills.

Chicago shipped 10,777,205 feet the first fifteen days of January, and received 2,110,589 feet.

The annual report of the Chicago Lumber Exchange furnishes the following statistics:

There are eighty-six lumber yards in Chicago, and their combined lumber stocks on the 1st inst. amounted to 410,773,860 feet of sawed and hewed pine lumber and timber against 427,576,800 feet on December 1, 1878, and 385,569,021 feet on January 1, 1878. There was, therefore, on the beginning of 1879 an increase of slightly over 25,000,000 feet as compared with January 1, 1878. The number of sawed shingles at the yards on the 1st inst. was 200,750,500, against only 125,640,000 on the beginning of 1878. The local stocks on January 1 on the years named are reported by the Secretary of the Chicago Lumberman's Exchange as follows:

Year.	Sawed pine lumber and timber, feet.	Hewed pine timber feet.	Sawed shingles.
1870	277,2.0,260	5,340,266	54,840,000
1871	295,124,252	2,628,716	22,633,000
1872	233,871,527	567,000	70,970,000
1873	321,943,232	669,000	40,301,000
1874	327,877,742	640,000	29,542,000
1875	344,109,373	142,962	81,019,000
1876	352,578,239	9,391	83,230,750
1877	369,380,182	825	97,467,000
1878	385,569,024	.....	125,640,000
1879	410,573,860	200,000	200,750,500

During 1878 there were 321,851,906 feet of lumber sold at the Chicago Lumber Exchange docks, against 294,433,877 feet in 1877; 294,721,654 feet in 1876 and 352,532,454 feet in 1875. The shingles sold on the docks last year numbered 314,878,050, being 81,738,300 in excess of the sales of 1877, and 61,970,800 in excess of the sales of 1876. Lath sales last year numbered 32,418,015 pieces against 30,962,200 pieces sold at the docks in 1877. During 1877 1,093,532,000 feet of lumber arrived here by lake, and 87,452,710 feet by rail. The receipts by lake and rail in 1877 reached 1,040,774,000 feet by lake and 64,631,362 feet by rail. The shingle receipts last year numbered 692,544,700, against 546,442,000 in 1877. Muskegon sent us 290,434,000 feet of lumber last year by lake; Menominee came next, with 166,519,000 feet, followed by Manistee with 124,443,000 feet. Lake shipments of lumber from Saginaw River to Chicago last year were limited to 29,194,000 feet, against 35,462,000 feet in 1877.

The harbor statistics of St. Louis for 1878 show that logs were received as follows: Pine 16,543, cotton 4,617, walnut 3,420, oak 2,110, ash 518, maple 550; total, 27,758.

Lumber was received as follows: White pine 81,903,693 feet, shingles 36,768,500, lath 25,414 550, poplar 7,795,724, pickets 2,462,504, cotton 1,371,109, mixed 770,000, walnut 557,602, oak 458,100, ash 219,834, gum 150,000; total feet 157,271 613

Logging in Black river will not be as extensive as in some former years, yet it will be large. Enough is known to enable a correspondent to say that 245,000,000 feet of logs will be cut on that river, the present winter. It has been a third greater some years.

Transporting logs promises to be an important feature of railroading the present year on railroads centering at Indianapolis. Immense piles of walnut, oak, hickory and ash logs are being rolled together at convenient points for loading on to cars.

A Northwestern journal has the following: It may safely be said that there is not in any other part of the world so large a body of good timber accessible to commerce as on our northwest coast. It extends beyond us throughout the coast regions of British Columbia and Alaska; but in these localities it is not so conveniently located for that great interior market whose demands in a few years will begin to be felt Persons now living will see lumber transported by rail from here to localities beyond the Rocky Mountains. In the country of the great lakes consumption of timber is extremely rapid, and supplies from there for the far West will within a few years be out of the question. All the facts point to the conclusion that the timber of the northwest coast is destined to become a very extensive and valuable source of industry and wealth. Timber lands now practically valueless, because there is no market, will in that future time be worth much more per acre than the most highly cultivated tracts. In Indiana and Illinois forty or fifty years ago settlers destroyed great bodies of the finest walnut timber, splitting trees into rails enough to make their fences, and rolling into heaps and burning the remainder. Millions of feet of as fine black walnut logs as were ever seen were thus destroyed or put to the commonest uses; yet to day any ten acre tract of that timber, if it stand as then, would be worth as much as one hundred of cultivated land. We have beautiful maple and a variety of ash that will surely be as valuable in a few years as walnut now is in the East. Our fathers wanted to use the land and could not have preserved the walnut timber for their descendants, even had its future value been seen. So no doubt, will we continue to deal with timber as interest or convenience may require, without much regard to the probable wants of posterity. And this very thing is one of the causes that will make timber valuable here.

THE EAST.

The Boston Journal has the following which is hardly in accord with the theorists who were to have the forests of the entire country cut down in from three to seven years:

We ought to add to what we have recently said on the devastation of forests, that one class of alleged depredators has received much more blame than it has deserved. We refer to lumbermen. When our fathers cleared up their farms they made clean work, root and branch, as far as they went, leaving an open plain, generally larger than they needed for thorough cultivation. So with the cotton planter at the South and the grain raiser at the West. But the lumberman has his eye on the mature pine or spruce alone; he picks out those and is willing to let the rest of the forest thrive as fast as it can. Hence it happens that in some of the oldest lumbering regions of Maine certain forests have been cut over three times for timber and yet remain as valuable as ever. One reason is that the thinning out hastens the growth of the young trees; another, that the pine is a very rapid grower. The higher prices, also, will be taken into account. The visitor to Moosehead Lake for the first time will be surprised to learn that that whole region has been cut over by the lumbermen, for the same seemingly interminable forests spread away before him on all sides that were always there. A judicious writer well observes on this topic:

"In accordance therewith, we see that the cedars of Lebanon, which had to furnish timber for every architectural enterprise of Western Asia since the days of Solomon, are not exhausted yet; that the peninsula of Yucatan, which has supplied the world with logwood and mahogany for three hundred years, is still as wooded as before its discovery by the conquistadores; and that the coast districts of Maine, Michigan and North Carolina, which have been most heavily taxed by the lumber trade of North America, contain still as much woodland as the rest of our eastern States taken together."

Another Eastern journal says:

It is understood that that the employes of the McIndoes lumber company, who are now stationed at Mount Tom, deny that there has been any transfer of the entire property of the company to the Connecticut River lumber company at Hartford, and that no transfers are yet recorded on the county real estate records. But the statement of the sale, which was made at a low figure, comes from one of the most experienced log men in the valley, who is sure to be posted in such matters. He says that the Hartford company took possession of the premises on the first day of the month, and that the sale will probably result in the removal of the McIndoes company back to McIndoes Falls, Vt. At present the manager of the company is up in Maine, while the book-keeper continues to live at Mount Tom. The New Hampshire papers say that the Hartford company are about closing the trade for the Mount Tom property. It was supposed that, owing to the extremely favorable season of last year and the early date at which all the drive was secured, that the McIndoes company must have made considerable money, but lumbermen say that it is not possible for any concern to do that at the prices which prevail. This is the reason why it is generally conceded that the Connecticut River company are trying to get a monopoly of the business, and that they are soon to put the price of lumber up $2 per 1,000 feet. That company propose to put 30,000,000 feet of lumber into the river this season. They own 21,000 acres of timbered land at Pittsburg, N. H., and their bargain with the McIndoes company includes 12,000 more acres at Lemington, Vt. They are anxious to get control of the stock of the Upper Connecticut Lake and River Improvement company, in order to improve the bed of the river over and below the Fifteen Mile Falls at Dayton, N. H. Should this projected betterment be carried out, there would then be no obstruction to the running of lumber from the head-waters of the river to Hartford during a single season.

George H. Peters & Co., of Boston, in their recent circular remark:

With the resumption of specie payment, and the finances again on a strong basis, there is every reason to anticipate a better condition in trade this year. Very likely no material advance will occur in prices, but a more active demand may, perhaps, reasonably be expected. The prospective dullness in the English market will have a tendency to curtail operations in the Maine and New Brunswick lumber districts as indeed it has already. The mills at the East are closed for the season, and those at the North, in the mountain regions, have commenced cutting, and will supply most of the orders for spruce this winter. From the West we hear of very extensive operations, which the recent heavy snows and cold weather must greatly assist, unless the snow disappears suddenly. Eastern lumber is quiet, but the open winter causes a fair demand. We cannot expect many arrivals until March, and the market is likely to remain steady. Western lumber continues dull, with moderate shipments. We do not anticipate any change at present. Hardwoods are rather more in demand, especially cherry and ash. Southern lumber is quiet. One large cargo of flooring about due was wrecked. The stock is ight.

AN IMPORTANT LUMBER SUIT.

Lisbon, N. H., January 18.—Associate Justice Lewis W. Clark, of Manchester, has granted an injunction in favor of Isaac L. Homans, of New York, Asa Smith, of Hartford, Conn., John Pearce, Thomas Sherman and others of Boston, stockholders in the Upper Connecticut River and Lake Improvement Co., restricting Benj. H. Corning, Alex. Beattie, Lancaster, and others, from doing any act as officers of said company, or mutilating the company's books. The plaintiffs complain that the defendents unlawfully issued false certificates of stocks to themselves, thereby controlling the election of officers at a meeting of the corporation, January 7th; also, unlawfully refusing to let the plaintiff's vote; that the defendants elected themselves officers and seized and mutilated the corporation's book. The plaintiffs pray for the appointment of a receiver, or the restoration of the book, and the surrender of the false certificates and other relief. A hearing will be held at Colebrook, at the February term of the court. The plaintiffs are interested in the Hartford (Conn.) Lumber Co., and other immense tracts of lumber land in northern New Hampshire.

FOREIGN.

The London Timber Trades Journal as follows:

LIVERPOOL, December 31, 1878.

As usual at the end of the year, there has been a very limited quantity of business done, and even the few orders on hand have been in a great measure retarded in delivery through the severity of the weather.

The importations during the past fortnight have been comparatively few and unimportant, and the arrivals from Canada may now be said to be at an end for the fall season; the most recent, having been on merchants' account, have not been put upon the open market.

Although freights from the pitch pine ports continue to rule very low, there is no disposition shown to contract for arrival, buyers being still in doubt as to the course that future events may take. The stock of sawn pitch pine remains heavy, and that of hewn consists mainly of old and inferior wood, which goes very slowly into consumption. In other words, there is absolutely nothing doing, nor is there any prospect of business becoming more lively until the middle of January, when the building trade may perhaps show some greater amount of animation.

GLASGOW, January 2, 1879.

The closing imports of wood goods to the Clyde for the year have been four cargoes, one cargo deals from Quebec, and one from Annapolis, N. S., a cargo of pitch pine from Pensacola, and a cargo greenheart from Demerara. There is no auction sale to report at this time. Business has been confined to very narrow limits on the near approach of the holiday season.

Duncan, Ewing & Co.'s wood circular (Liverpool), of the 2d January, 1879, gives statistics of timber and lumber receipts for the year past: The shipping arrivals from Quebec, St. John and other North American ports from the 1st of February, 1878, amounted to 260,948 tons; same period 1877, they were 390,617 tons; same period 1876 they were 388,916 tons. The supplies of pine logs from same ports for 1878 were 28,789; for 1877 they were 52,604; for 1876 they were 71,753. Supplies of deals, pieces for 1878 were 6,901,669; for 1877 they were 8,130,625, for 1876 they were 8,137,979. The following observations are made with regard to colonial woods:

Yellow Pine Timber—The demand is moderate, and sales have been by retail only, excepting a parcel of Shediac sold by auction at 12d per foot. A parcel of Newfoundland at 15d, and several lots of Quebec Waney Pine at 2s 0½d to 2s 1d per foot. Red Pine—The consumption continues very small. Oak—Business is confined to sales by retail; a parcel of Quebec offered by auction was withdrawn without a bid being made. Elm is in fair request, but prices are without change. No wholesale transactions to record. Ash has been in more demand during the month, and stocks are materially lightened, but the business done has been by retail only. Birch—The principal transactions have been the sales by auction, which show a further decline in prices from those current last month. Part of a parcel of St. John, all sixteen inches and upwards deep, sold at from 16d to 27d, averaging about 16⅞d per foot; and a cargo from Cape Breton, fifteen inch average, at from 14½d to 2s 1½d per foot, averaging 16d per foot. Pine Deals—The consumption continues very small. A parcel of Quebec, 1st, 2d and 4th quality, was offered at auction, but no bid was made. By auction, 1st quality Michigan sold at £15 7s 6d, and second quality £12 10s per standard. Spruce Deals—There is no improvement in prices. A cargo of St. John, N. B., is reported sold by private treaty at £6 10s per standard. By auction, the most recent sales have been as follows: About two-thirds of a cargo of St. John, N. B., averaging £6 12s 6d per standard; a cargo of St. Buctouche, averaging £6 2s 9d, Shediac £6 11s 9d, and Parrsboro at £6 14s per standard. Palings—By auction, a parcel of five feet at 62s 6d, and four feet at 52s 6d per M. Staves—Both pipe and puncheon are almost unsaleable. Bird-eye maple has not sold during the month, only prime fresh figury wood is likely to meet with buyers, as other woods appear to be substituted for fittings for steamers which usually have been made of this article.

NAILS.—Buyers cannot, as a rule, be induced to give more attention to stock than the requirements of the hour will consume, in the way of redistribution, etc., on home account or the filling of shipping orders, and business lacks positive animation. The supply, however, appears to be fairly under control and held for former figures. A fair trade is doing in small job lots for export. We quote nominally 10d. to 60d., common fence and sheathing per keg, $2.12½@2.15; 8d. and 9d., common do. per keg, $2.40; 6d. and 7d., common per keg, $2.65; 4d. and 5d., common do., per keg, $2.90; 3d. and 4d., light, per keg, $3 65; 3d., fine, per keg, $4.40; 2d., per keg, $4.40. Cut spikes, all sizes, $3.60. Floor casing and box, 75c. above the same sizes of common. Finishing, $1 above and fine finishing $1.25 above.

CLINCH NAILS.

1¾ to 1½in.	2 & 2¼in.	2½ & 2¾ in.	3 in. & longer
$5.00	$4.50	$4.25	$4.00 per keg.

OILS.—The general jobbing distribution is very fair in both character and volume, and dealers express themselves as satisfied with the condition of the market. Supplies, however, are ample for the outlet and prices do not secure a buoyant position. We quote linseed oil, 61@65c. ₱ gallon; lard, 54@56c. for winter; 47@49c. for No. 1, and 41@46c. for No. 2; crude cotton seed, 32@35c., and refined summer yellow, do., 40@42c.

PAINTS.—Business shows some signs of revival and dealers are confident, the indications will soon commence to develope into positive and gratifying certainty. Interior points, in many cases, it is claimed, are quite short of desirable assortments and must replenish, and there is a fair prospect of a good local consumption of standard grades. The difficulties arising from the recent snow blocade for the time being had a tendency to hold in check quite a number of orders. Many dealers report a very good inquiry for dry lead, but buyers bid such low figures as to prevent much of an offering, and actual business did not amount to much. On the general run of prices there is a pretty steady tone and no changes of importance are reported except, possibly, on litharge, which has slightly advanced. Supplies are fair in quantity and assortment on both domestic and foreign goods, but no very full assortment being carried.

PITCH.—Demand at the best can only be called fairly active, and the market is unchanged in all essential particulars. Supplies balance the outlet afforded, and former rates are in most cases accepted. We quote at $1.85@2.00 per bbl. for city delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Buyers in a jobbing way have taken a little more stock and paid current rates without much hesitation. The wholesale demand was careful, but with the supply well in hand holders remained firm and confident, and advanced their views somewhat. As we close the tone is well preserved, and quotations stand at 28c.@29c. per gallon, according to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—Holders have a fair control of the stock and do not urge it for sale or allow the offering to come with any freedom upon the market. Their advantage, however, is not sufficient to add much to values or to stimulate demand beyond the actual wants of buyers. We quote at $2.00@2.07½ per bbl. for Newberne and Washington, and $2.12½@2.50 for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

SANITARY REFORM.

The necessity is being daily emphasized of securing a vital and radical reform of the sanitary conditions of dwelling houses. This subject has been exhaustively treated by the daily press, has been agitated by social science and health associations, and has become the topic of anxious and unceasing discussion in the walks of private life. Yet there are just grounds for believing that the reforms already instituted are inadequate; and that in respect to the majority of dwellings no attempt at reform has been made. Beyond furnishing remunerative employment to jobbing plumbers, and providing builders with the keynote of a popular cry, there has been little real, sound and practical work accomplished in the direction of the sanitary reform of city dwellings. As a rule, builders totally decline to investigate the philosophy and science of the subject; and through inaptness or dread of incurring excessive cost they will not even undertake to study the practical workings of any improved system of house drainage.

In general terms, the plumbing is made answerable for the occurrence of zymotic diseases in dwelling houses. Unsophisticated persons, including not a few intelligent builders, are laboring under the impression that the water service is in part, or in main, the cause of these great calamities, and imagine that, by improving the calibre and workmanship of water service pipes, the healthfulness of an abode may be secured. The fact is that the water service of New York is not responsible for any large share of prevailing disease, the Croton water having been pronounced pure and wholesome by competent experts, and the plumbing system of New York houses, so far as it pertains to the introduction of Croton water for domestic use, is not answerable for these modern maladies. It is the drainage system, and that only, which furnishes the channel for the ingress of sewer gas into a household, and it is the modification, perfecting or complete abolishment of a water carriage drain system which will promote and effect the desired sanitary reform. It is to the drain pipes and not to the Croton water pipes that persons must look to determine the healthful or the morberific condition of their homes. Plumbers, as a rule, pay more attention to the elaboration and extension of their plumbing fixtures than they do to the careful construction of house drainage. Next to the complete abolishment of the plumbing system from our houses, the most radical and practical reform that can be instituted is that of separating the work of drainage from the work of plumbing proper, and placing the responsibility for each class of workmanship in the hands of separate and special mechanics. The drainage system of a house should be designed, superintended and constructed by an expert sanitary engineer, such as can scarcely be found in the plumbing trade of this city. The plumbing work proper, to wit, the establishment of a water service, may be left to an inferior mechanic as involving an altogether lower order of abilities. In the country districts the water service is so liable to become contaminated from the soakage of privies, that the general public have derived the erroneous notion that water service and drainage are twin evils, alike answerable for fatal assaults upon health.

This conception cannot be considered a true one in respect to our Croton water service. While it is desirable and even necessary that the Croton water should be properly filtered before being introduced into the human system, whatever harmful elements it may contain may be considered to act as slow poisons, because the use of Croton water has never been found unfavorable to health and longevity. The sooner sanitarians, plumbers, builders and writers generally, divorce the idea of a contaminated water service from a vicious house drainage system, certainly as far as they relate to the sanitary condition of houses in this city, the sooner will correct notions upon this subject be established and the remedy applied in the right quarter. When a house owner sets out to accomplish sanitary reform in his dwelling, he is sometimes made to believe by the practical plumber, whose services he has invoked, that there is no remedy in his case short of tearing out the entire plumbing and drainage work of the house, and substituting new work for the same. Whereas the whole defect from which he is suffering might be cured by an overhauling of the drainage system without disturbing the Croton pipes. In houses of average workmanship, where the plumbing has been introduced with any sort of propriety, the reconstruction of the drainage system can be easily effected by the outlay of one or two hundred dollars. We have reason to believe that plumbers are so determined to make a big bonanza out of remodeling old work as to entirely discourage and dissuade house-owners from entering upon it. They are compelled to prefer the evils that they are already enduring rather than to incur an excessive and seemingly extortionate bill of expense.

Most modern builders content themselves with carrying the house soil pipe one length or half a length above the roof tinning. Into this soil pipe all house drainage is more or less directly conducted. Perhaps there may be provisions made in the shape of traps duly and properly ventilated, or "vented," as it is termed, to ensure the reliability of water seals.

Besides this, there may or may not be a street trap, as opinions vary as to the propriety of using this device. A system of drainage so constructed is a very small improvement upon the worst systems ever adopted, and the whole of the improvement consists in the venting of the main soil pipe. The operation of the vent above the building is dependent upon heat of decomposition going on within the soil pipe, and the protection of the household from the incursion of sewer gas is dependent upon a water seal which is liable to become siphoned, evaporated or permeated by gas. Such a system has the appearance of being efficient while it is wholly unreliable, and furnishes no adequate safeguard against the ingress of sewer gas.

We do not propose to discuss the drainage question at length, or to suggest a specific system. We have followed this subject with close observation and no little experimentation. At a future time we intend to lay before our readers the results of our researches. Increased insight into the intricacies of this subject has been gained during the past year, and intelligence of this sort is the most readily and widely disseminated in the public press. In the higher walks of sanitary engineering, results have been obtained which contribute largely to the complete solution of this problem. Yet these results have been investigated and discussed, and the deductions and obligations belonging to them have been set forth so scientifically and technically that the knowledge thus arrived at, has become almost the exclusive property of savans and experts. Even a specialist journal, which was recently established with the avowed purpose of effecting beneficial reforms in plumbing, has brought to an elucidation of the subject such a vast amount of technical learning and scientific jargon as to completely obscure and befog the practical phases of the questions at issue. The systems of house drainage and plumbing which have been presented from time to time in that journal have been remarkable chiefly for their intricacy and expensiveness, and have scarcely served any other purpose than to display the ingenuity of their authors, and augment the profits of the plumbing trade.

While the expert discussions of this subject have been profound and comprehensive, and while the popular discussions have been extended, spirited and persistent, there is reason to apprehend that the average plumber and the ordinary builder of houses alike have failed to be properly impressed with the vast importance of this subject.

These discussions have not been gotten up merely for intellectual pastime, to fill the pages of daily papers or to gratify the morbid curiosity of the public. Issues no less than those of life and death are involved, and probably on no current question is there a larger share of popular sensitiveness and curiosity. Plumbers and builders either shrink from the mastery of the scientific principles and practical details involved in sanitary drainage, and utterly ignore and eschew the whole subject, or else furnish inadequate and faulty illustrations of their ideas. The public mind has been aroused almost to the point of panic, and as a result of this widespread apprehension some few private owners have vastly improved, if they have not perfected, the drainage systems of their houses. But the effect of public anxiety upon plumbers and builders has been like the effect of pouring water upon a duck's back.

In the majority of new houses, and in the reconstruction of old ones, a notable pretence is made of conforming to the requirements of healthful drainage; and yet upon examination these systems are usually found to be radically defective and incompatible with the requirements of sanitary reform.

The agitation of this important subject will fail of any practical good to the public at large, unless it is followed up by specialist journals and by the daily press, in inculcating the true principles of house drainage, and by impressing upon plumbers and builders, by patient and persistent effort, the necessity that exists for abandoning all ancient and partial systems of drainage, and of employing that system only which shall be gas-proof at all points and under all conditions.

RESUMPTION.

Having closed the dismal chasm which has existed for nearly seventeen years between the greenback and the gold coin, a chasm into which so many noble fortunes have been tumbled, we may now calmly view the situation and try to forecast the immediate and prospective effects of this great financial adjustment upon matters of real estate.

It is useless now to discuss the probabilities of success or failure of experimental resumption, because the experiment is being fairly and bravely made, and the exigency which would attend a decided failure would involve consequences more momentous than we care just now to contemplate. The success of resumption is assured, not so much by the ample and wise preparations which have been made by the government, as by the hearty and determined acquiescence and co-operation of all the leading legitimate interests of the country, whose influence is exerted silently but potently. The desperate struggles which have been made in the halls of Congress to resist the tide of events and to thwart the will of the people, have been alarming and ominous only to those who fail to apprehend the readiness with which Congressional influence may be enlisted in promoting sinister and selfish purposes. Railroad jobbers, subsidy grabbers, monopolists, mine owners, government contractors and speculative owners generally have for years besieged the doors of Congress in an almost successful attempt to win legislative assent to desperate schemes. Of these efforts the debasement of the silver coinage is the single trophy. Notwithstanding the injunction of the Herald, as expressed in an able editorial on this subject, deprecating further meddling or tampering with currency questions, we are unwilling to believe that any such foul aspersion will be allowed to remain upon the public honor as that involved in the existence of a debased legal tender dollar. The creation of this coin represents an effort on the part of Congress to feel the public pulse, to measure public depravity and to pave the way for a complete overthrow of a sound financial standard. The ill success which has attended this coinage, and the accomplished fact of gold resumption are portents of an early doom. However conservative and prudent the advice of the Herald may be to let well enough alone and to cease from agitation, it is as idle to expect the business of the country to start out upon its new career with two unequal legal tender dollars as it would be to expect a man with a wooden leg to compete with a champion pedestrian. The silver dollar must be enlarged or abolished, and that right speedily. When the largest measure of blessing which successful specie payments are calculated to bestow has been fully realized, we may then confidently expect a gradual contraction and cancelment of greenbacks, the substitution of redeemable national bank notes, and an easy but prompt and certain transition of the finances of the country from the war basis to the normal condition of peaceful and prosperous times. The practical resumption of specie payments by the general government is but the first of a series of steps whose completed circuit will be necessary for the full establishment of confidence and prosperity in this country. A failure to take any of these consecutive steps will be the certain forerunner of disaster, such as will admonish prudent men and even politicians to abstain from obstructive courses, and to contribute their utmost assistance to the establishment of specie payments.

The doctrine of irredeemable paper currency has received its quietus and any fresh agitation of it will be ineffectual, gratuitous and sure to encounter stern rebuke from influential sources. At this late day and in the present status of commerce and finances, the inculcation of this doctrine resembles an effort to make water run up hill. With a spirit of economy controlling all business and domestic relations with a trade balance, which means a coin balance showing annual increments of from fifty to one hundred millions of dollars, with speculation wholly eliminated and dismissed from the calculations of business men, with every legitimate and beneficial industry of the country reasserting its vitality and struggling to maintain itself in successful motion, we can imagine no greater anachronism than a fresh advocacy of this pernicious doctrine. We have scaled the heights of an incredible and almost inconceivable inflation, and have descended by a steep incline to the true and level ground of specie values. The popular voice whenever it has found expression on this subject, has clearly pronounced in favor of a specie standard as the only safe and reliable one, and the advocates of other standards are constrained to remain in a helpless and hopeless minority.

As touching matters of real estate there are three prominent results which are likely to flow from the successful establishment of specie payments.

FIRST. Perhaps the greatest relief will come in the permanent dispersion of all hopes of any immediate or prospective speculative rise in values. Real estate owners, as compared with other classes in a community, stand in a respectable but very small minority, and collectively exert only a slight and remote influence. Owners of speculative property, particularly of unimproved lands, have been, with rare exceptions, advocates of inflation, or, if not outspoken advocates, at least the abettors of those who cherished this doctrine. Upon the minds of such property owners generally, there has been a deep-seated and almost immovable impression that through an enforced inflation of the currency, or through some other undeveloped instrumentality, there would some day suddenly appear a marked appreciation in the values of real estate. This conviction, amounting to a controlling belief, has induced many an owner to hold his property far above attainable rates. Choice and eligible property, standing directly in the line of improvements, has particularly suffered from this faulty judgment on the part of its owners. Whether inflation, growth of the city or some less palpable cause was relied upon to exalt values, in any event the effect has been the same, to induce the owner to withhold his property from the suffrages of buyers. The establishment of specie payments will have the effect of leading this considerable class of persons to moderate their views or to entirely abate their pretensions with regard to high values. The city heretofore was threatened with as great a calamity in the unattainable values fixed upon real estate as in the inaccesibility of the major share of its vacant lands. Dealers in land, particularly solvent and wealthy owners, are loathe to give up the impression of high prices. They may have inventoried their estates at the figures which were current some years ago, and the calculation of their fortunes being based upon these ancient values they have stubbornly refused to alter their figures or to concede a fractional per centage to the shrinkage of the times. The leveling and steadying effect of specie payments cannot fail in time to compel these owners to think more rationally and moderately of the values of their property, and to adjust them in accordance with natural capabilities and attainable results. The remodeling, reforming and readjusting of land values according to the new measure now being set up will be one of the greatest benefits growing out of the new order of things.

SECOND. Side by side with the class just referred to, there has been another whose leading characteristic has been to bewail the approach of specie resumption as the signal of a general collapse and the forerunner of an extensive depreciation of values. These croakers, as they are commonly called, have been greater hindrances to sound recuperation than the class previously mentioned. The former strove to infuse life and hope into their followers, while the latter deny the indulgence of the slightest favorable anticipation. From the moment that specie payments were assured, the croakers thought that they foresaw dire destruction awaiting all the business interests of the country. As the unexpected event is generally the most likely to occur, so we may surmise that these gloomy prognostications are the least likely to be realized. It is the conviction of reasonable and experienced men that one of the earliest effects of resumption will be to establish an equilibrium of values slightly above the depressed level which has prevailed for some time past. Already there are indications that men of wealth and keen business intuitions are satisfied to make large investments in real estate upon the present scale of values, without waiting for the chances of any further reduction. If these investments furnish no promise of an immediate advance, they at least will serve to impart a healthy tone to property and to clearly define attainable values. In the times that are immediately before us, we are likely to part company with the inflationist and the advocate of high and speculative values, and we may be permitted at the same time to bid a final farewell to the croaker, the pessimist, the disbeliever in all values.

The hardening of values or a well-defined advance of five or ten per cent. would undoubtedly transform a great number of these faithless and desponding persons into cheerful and ready buyers of real estate.

THIRD.—Vibrating between the two classes of opinion which have already been discussed, there is another which rationally and warrantably concludes that specie payments once authoritatively and firmly established must determine a mean scale of valuations for all products and commodities commonly dealt in; and that the coin standard when duly applied to real estate will infuse steadiness, regularity and permanence into its quotable values.

The condition in real estate which is most to be desired for the growth and prosperity of this city is that of stability of market values. Fluctuations benefit none but speculators and embarrass and retard the movements of legitimate dealers, whereas steadiness of values for land, labor and materials enables the builder to make reliable calculations. Operations in real estate improvement stretch over a long time, and nothing is more perplexing and ruinous than unexpected and abrupt changes of value. To make the building business successful, and to encourage the public to come forward and purchase houses freely, it is only necessary that values should be defined and crystallized upon some acceptable, solid and rational plane, and there maintained with unflinching and unswerving firmness for a prolonged period.

HOUSE DRAINAGE AND WATER SERVICE.

We will have only space, and we may say only occasion, to barely advert to a recent publication made by Mr. James C. Bayles, a distinguished sanitarian of this city, under the title which forms the caption of this article. Mr. Bayles is recognized as an industrious and indefatigable worker in the domain of sanitary science and has already achieved distinction as the editor of a specialist journal and as an expert authority in hygiene.

In the preparation of this work, Mr. Bayles has enjoyed the double advantage of practical research and experience as well as extended theoretical training. The volume embodies the results of his investigations in this fresbly developed field of domestic science. If it were allowable to take exception to such a creditable performance, it would suggest itself in connection with the painstaking, elaboration and minute particularity with which the author has recorded his experiences and deductions, and has thereby enlarged the volume to proportions somewhat greater than the average reader is readily able to compass. The advantages of this treatment are the presentation of all the facts growing out of the subject-matter, and a thorough and exhaustive discussion of vital topics. The patient reader who faithfully peruses the three hundred pages of this treatise will be amply rewarded for his trouble. It is needless to say that the technical and scientific data presented by Mr. Bayles are inclusive of all the latest ideas and information connected with these topics.

The work is written in a popular and perspicuous style, and is sufficiently replete with practical and scientific suggestions to render it a valuable acquisition to the plumber and sanitary engineer. The measure of popularity which this work has enjoyed is indicated by the fact that it is already exhausting a second edition. If suggestions were in order, we would propose that the author should prepare an abridgment of his treatise, leaving out all extraneous and subsidiary matters, and embracing only the practical and scientifical elements of the discussion. Such an edition, of portable and readable size, and offered at one-half or perhaps one-quarter the price of the present volume, would be a desideratum to the plumbing trade and an acceptable manual of sanitary reform. In the service of master plumbers and householders there is no question that this work has an important mission to perform. Every phase of the intricate subjects of house-drainage and water-service is here fully explored and lucidly and ably expounded. In the present exigency of the plumbing trade, the labors of Mr. Bayles are especially calculated to reinforce and educate public opinion and to conserve and perpetuate the office of plumbing appliances in domestic dwellings.

We have previously treated so fully of the subjects embraced in the scope of this treatise that we will have no occasion now to undertake an extended review of Mr. Bayles' work. In any future discussions of sanitary topics, however, which we may see fit to enter upon, we shall avail ourselves of a ready reference to his pages, and from time to time will give our readers, who may not be familiar with this volume, the benefit of his full and lucid exposition of the correct principles of house drainage and water service.

The book in question is published by David Williams, at 83 Reade street.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—The supplies for the wholesale market have come entirely from Long Island, and these have found a market without much difficulty, the price being understood to stand at $5.00 on hards and $3.00 per M on pales, with indications that more were wanted and could have been placed. Indeed, receivers seem to be quite confident that a few cargoes from the River would sell very fairly and at quite as good a price as above noted. This, to some extent, is surmise, but fortified by encouraging indications, and there seems to be a basis for a hopeful feeling. The jobbing dealers have found an improved business and whenever the weather was open and promising the attendance of buyers was almost sure to increase, and the evidences of intention to proceed with work in hand, and to commence on new operations as soon as natural adverse influences disappear, are still quite prominent. About the thing likely to seriously impede business is an attempt to extort extreme prices on supplies, but at present the expectations of sellers do not appear to extend beyond such figures as may be fairly warranted by the situation. Our present quotations for North River stock are of course merely nominal. Fronts are not very active, but from the supplies on hand dealers are making sales fairly in proportion to the amount moving of other styles. We quote Pale, ₱ M., $2.75@3.00; Hards, Up-rivers, $4.50@5.00; Haverstraw bay, $4.75@5.25; favorite brands, $5.50@6.00; Fronts, Croton—Brown, $7; dark, $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $26@28; Trenton, 21@29; Baltimore, $34@38. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@3 higher on ordinary and $5@6 on fronts.

HARDWARE.—Business commences to show somewhat more animated movements, and while the position is by no means what would be called quick, the prospects are much in favor of a more rapid growth to the demand. Local wants are pretty good for the season, and interior points are heard from in a manner to indicate that their orders are delayed by temporary causes only, and which must soon be overcome. Traveling agents generally, write hopefully of their prospective success. The revision of price lists continues and among the recent announcements we find the following: For Geer's double and single acting spring butts, discount 25 ₱ cent; for Hyatt's patent wrought brass and iron spring bolts, discount on iron and tinned 65@10 ₱ cent., nickel plated up to three inch 25 cents ₱ doz. net, and do. 3½@4 inch, 30 cents net; for solid box vises, showing an advance of 7½@10 ₱ cent.; vise boxes and screws unchanged. The Stanley Works have issued the following new discount sheet for door bolts: Wrought barrel and wrought square bolts 60 and 10 ₱ cent., plated knob and slide flush bolts 50 and 10; bronze knob and slide and real bronze knob and slide 50 and 10, 3½ inch, 1 inch and 1¼ inch sunk flush bolts (not polished plates), 37½ and 10, do. (polished plates) 25 and 10, brass knob flush bolts 50 and 7½, and do. extra heavy 40 and 10.

LIME.—We cannot find that there is much of a market for large parcels, and wholesale valuations, while quoted as before, have a nominal basis only. Eastern, of course, does not come to hand, or at rare intervals only, and it is not often that orders are large enough to move a cargo of State. The distribution in a small way, however, has increased somewhat, and there is a prospect of a gradual improvement to the tone and form of the market.

LATH.—The want of supplies continues to keep the wholesale market in a quiet and somewhat nominal condition, and no quotations would be of any value at the moment. A reasonably full figure, however, could no doubt be obtained for a desirable offering, and receivers are disposed to talk quite confidently. So far as the demand openly goes, there is not much show of interest among buyers, and in one or two cases it is evident that immediate additions to accumulation are unnecessary, but some dealers, it is pretty certain, are really in want of fresh stock, and merely await an offering to make their desires known.

LUMBER.—Operations for immediate delivery on the wholesale market are still of very limited proportions, and in reality amount to little more than the sales made to fill current export orders. Some supplies are available via rail, and it is intimated that the offering from this source has proven sufficiently attractive to induce a few of our dealers to purchase, but the amount (if any) handled was not large and without influence upon the general situation. Sales to the foreign outlet continue to be made with some irregularity in the receipt as well as the size of the orders, yet, on the whole, dealers appear to be better satisfied with the situation than they were at the commencement of the year, so far as the distribution from the stocks here is concerned. On orders for shipment from the primary markets of full cargoes there is rather a lull, and buyers are evidently disposed to move with much caution. More or less figuring is going on, looking to the perfecting of contracts for Spring delivery, but without sufficiently satisfactory results as yet to form a clear idea of probable rates. Predictions of a short log crop are still confined almost exclusively to a small section of the Eastern lumber region.

Eastern spruce remains rather quiet, both on immediate and future deliveries. The "spot" sales at this time are of course dependent solely upon any odd cargo that may happen to work down the coast, but such coming to hand and showing good quality would no doubt secure a market. For future or spring delivery business accomplished is small. Efforts have been made to get matters into working order, but buyers and sellers do not come together rapidly and the market rather drags. There is a very fair prospect for this class of lumber during the coming season on our market, but scarcely on a basis of the prices manufacturers are endeavoring to obtain as a primary cost. We quote at $11.50@12.00 for random, possibly $12.50@13.00 for choice lengths in small cargoes, and $13.00@14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult.

White pine is under very good control and holders make no special efforts to force its sale beyond natural outlets shown. Demand does not show much animation, but the export trade is reported as "picking up" somewhat and promising very well for a still further expansion. Some small calls have been made by box makers, but the majority of this class of consumers have stock enough of their own. A statistician figures that the value of the packing boxes manufactured in the United States in the year 1878 exceeded $11,000,000. We quote at $14.50@15.50 per M for West India shipping boards; $19.50@21 for South American do.; $14@15 for box boards; $16@17 for do. wide and sound; and timber to order at $38@50 per M.

Yellow pine in same demand, a little being salable from stocks here, with a chance for new cargoes of desirable assortment to a moderate extent. Shipping orders for cargoes to go forward direct are also now and then secured, but not many buyers are in want of stock for spring delivery. Former prices remain current and as a whole the market may be called fairly active and steady. We quote random cargoes at about $18@22 per M., ordered cargoes $22@24 do; green flooring boards, $20@21 do.; and dry do. do, $20@22. Cargoes at the South, $13@14.50 per M.; hewed timber $7.50@14.

Hardwoods remain pretty steady on values, as the situation of the supply is such as to leave buyers without many opportunities for crowding holders. Demand, however, lacks spirit at present and business is a little slow. There is some indication that interior shippers propose forwarding with greater freedom. If they do so, prices will be likely to break and the market lose the healthy position so long maintained. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut, $77@85 per M.; ash, $33@36 do; oak, $35@40 do; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do. do., culls, $18@20 do; cherry, $45@75 do; white wood, ½ and ⅝ inch, $25@27.50, and do. inch $32@35 do; hickory, $35@45 do. for Western, and $65@75 for good near by stock.

Yard business is fair, some dealers say first rate, and the majority are evidently very well pleased with the manner in which the new year has opened. Buyers are a little careful in their calculations of quantity but are coming oftener, and in the majority of cases submitting to former cost readily, the situation ruling steady.

From among the lumber charters recently reported we select the following:

An Am. ship, 635 tons, hence to Montevideo, lumber, owner's account; an Am. barque, 293 tons, from Brunswick to Aspinwall, lumber, $10; a Nor. barque, 618 tons, from Norfolk to Amsterdam, timber, private terms; a Br. barque, 957 tons, from Pensacola to a direct port United Kingdom, sawn timber, £5 15s.; a schr., 401 tons, hence to Cardenas or Mantanzas, empty hogsheads, 9/8c., on and under deck; a schr., 348 tons, hence to Cardenas, empty hogsheads, $1; a schr., 295 tons, hence to Charleston, fertilizer $2, and back with small timber, $6.25; a schr., 179 tons, hence to Savannah, fertilizer, $2, and back to Washington, D. THE WEST.

The Lumberman's Gazette of January 22 publishes its annual review of the lumber business of the Saginaw Valley in the characteristic ample and interesting form for which that journal has become famous. As an exponent of the interests it represents the Gazette stands in the very front rank and no lumberman or dealer can afford to be without it. We reprint so much of its review as our space will admit. In reviewing the general lumber trade of the Saginaw Valley during the past year, the feeling is one of quiet satisfaction. Immense fortunes have not been made, as in times past, but fair prices have ruled throughout the year until the close, and the demand has been fair and uniform. The market opened in the spring at the highest prices quoted the previous year, which were maintained until the middle of the season, when a decline was observable, the lowest prices obtained being at the close of the season. The main reason causing the stiffness in the market at the opening of the season of 1878, was the unfavorable winter for logging which prevailed just previously. Estimates of the stock for 1878 were very low, considerably less than half of the cut of the mills the previous year, but the ingenuity of man managed to circumvent Providence in devising schemes by which to get out saw logs, where the latter had failed to make ample provisions. The tram road and summer lumbering, though not an entirely new idea, first came into general use in the Saginaw Valley last season. It increased the expense of lumbering, but, with the assistance of flooding dams and other contrivances, got out the logs, and that was the main thing to be accomplished. On the Tittabawassee River, where the spring estimate of logs banked was less than 200,000,000 feet, over 300,000,000 have been rafted and delivered, a large portion of which were logs cut during the past summer. Through such means, though involving a larger expense than usual, a full stock was secured, and the total product of the mills on the river is fairly up to the average, while the shipments from the river are but slightly behind those in 1877, when they were the greatest ever known. This refers to the lumber trade proper, or boards. The manufacture of shingles is well up to former years, and the amount handled in the Saginaw Valley by local dealers is largely in excess of former years. The salt product greatly exceeds that of former years, and the prices realized from this product, though not large, has been fairly remunerative, owing to the means and methods instituted during the past number of years to decrease the cost of production. In hardwoods there has been a material falling off, not only in the total product, but the price, owing partly to the great inroads that have been made in the oak timber in the Saginaw district, but principally to a falling off in the demand from Canada and foreign countries, the principal consumers of this article. This applies alike to staves and square timber. Many of the dealers who formerly devoted their attention to these productions are now turning it to pine lumber.

In 1856 there was but sixty-one mills in all the territory embraced within Saginaw Bay, Shiawassee and Genesee counties, and none north of this point. The capacity of these mills was placed by a writer of that day at 10,000,000 feet. Of these mills twenty-three were on the Saginaw River. In the territory above mentioned there are now over 300 mills, with a capacity of manufacturing over 1,000,000,000 feet. From 1854 to 1863 we have no record, but since the latter date our record is complete, as follows:

	Feet.		Feet.
1863	133,500,000	1871	529,682,878
1864	215,000,000	1872	602,118,980

1870	576,726,696	1878	577,162,757

The Tittabawassee Boom Company was organized in 1864, and during the first year of its existence rafted out 90,000,000 feet of logs. In 1865 about 180,000,000 were run out, and in 1867 the company rafted out and delivered 186,000,000 feet. The Bad River Boom Company rafted out 20,000,000 feet of logs in 1865 and 23,000,000 in 1866. The Kawkawlin, Rifle and Au Gres Boom Companies were subsequently organized and the products of these streams may be nearly summed up in the operations of the past twelve years, which are compiled in the subjoined table:

1867	429,507,805	1873	680,979,461
1868	446,960,583	1874	589,225,404

Total twelve years			6,825,221,170

Following is a summary statement of the shipments from the Saginaw River during the past year as compared with former years, the subjoined table showing the shipments by water during the season of navigation, and do not include rail shipments, which would increase the amount fully 30,000,000 feet of lumber:

The latest market report we have at hand from East Saginaw, is from the Gazette, under date of January 21, 1879, as follows:

The month of January in the Saginaw lumber market is usually a dull one, and the present one is not an exception. But little is doing in the way of sales, the shipments by rail are less than usual, and a general stagnation seems to prevail in not only lumber but shingles, which up to within the past week have been in fair demand. Operations in the woods are progressing favorably, but the general impression is that when operators have got in the stock they intended they will cease operations, and the overstock, if any, will not be as large as at first anticipated. Quotations are only nominal, and range from $5, $10 and and $25 to $5.50, $11 and $28, eleven dollars being an average price for common, while but little inquiry is made for uppers, the better quality of common, which is assorted in the Eastern markets as selects, being in a large measure substituted for uppers. Our statistics for 1878 show 247,572,283 feet on hand in the Valley against 245,000,000 feet last year. Of this amount reported on hand about 3,000,000 feet is in the hands of interior mills, and the balance is on the river. Probably one-half of the amount reported on hand is held by manufacturers who own and control yards at Albany, Buffalo and other points, and who ship to their own yards, which amount is practically out of this market. This is particularly the case with Sage & Co. and McGraw & Co., while the stocks of Jesse Hoyt (13,000,000 feet) and A. W. Wright & Co. (6,000,000 feet) is largely held for planing mill purposes. There is probably a fair assorment of lumber on the river and very fair stocks may be purchased. Less has been sold for next season's delivery than usual. The demand for lath is light and the supply is an average one. Shingles are dull for this season, and but few are moving by rail. The rail trade is lighter than usual, and yard prices, which we give below, indicate no changes from former quotations.

Our brother of the Lumberman and Manufacturer, who, we should judge from an editorial in the last paper at hand, has qualified to "travel in foreign countries," reviews the Minneapolis market under date of January 23d as follows:

"There is little to report in the way of trade during the past week. The table of shipments below speaks for itself; and there is little opportunity for elaboration in the report of a week's trade which foots up only the shipment of fifty-five cars. Dealers, however, report considerable inquiry from country buyers, and the probabilities of an increased trade during the month of February. Lumbermen wear that complacent smile which comes of faith in increased business in the near future, and are happy in the delusion, if such it is.

Reports from the woods are to the effect that the loggers are pushing things, and that an average crop will be the result. The small amount of snow does not seem to keep them back, the hard frozen ground and sprinklers being sufficient for every purpose. This is substantially true of Wisconsin and Michigan, and, in fact, throughout the entire pine regions of the West.

A correspondent at St. Louis informs us that some dealers predict that lumber will be $8 per thousand next season. This, however, is more an indication of despondency than of philosophical reasoning. The probabilities for a falling off in prices, we admit, are considerable, but we are not yet prepared to expect the verification of the St. Louis man's prediction.

There are no changes in prices to note at any of the river markets during the past week, while the list at Minneapolis remains unchanged.

THE EAST.

The Connecticut River Lumber Company, of Hartford, own large tracts of lumber land in Coos County, including 21,000 acres in Pittsburg alone, and are putting in about 30,000,000 feet of lumber this winter. The company is also anxious to get control of the stock of the Upper Connecticut Lake and River Improvement Company, in order to extend improvements in the river down, over and below the Fifteen-mile Falls at Dalton, so there need be no obstruction to the running of lumber from the headwaters of the Connecticut to Hartford the same season. The company are also said to be negotiating for 12,000 acres in Lemington, Vt.

THE PROVINCES.

The Toronto Mail has the following:

There appears to be a favorable prospect for a lively trade in manufactured lumber between Canada and England. At a recent dinner given by a large building firm at Dundee, the chairman said: "When he occupied the chair on a similar occasion last year, he prophesied that, though the Americans could supply them with very excellent and cheap wood, they would not be able to give them finished works; but the first thing he noticed on entering the room was that a partition had been made of Canadian doors, the wood being excellent, the workmanship unsurpassed and the price lower than could be taken for British workmanship." It appears that the spool and bobbin factories at Elgin, in Albert County, and St. Martin's, N. B., have done something in small wooden wares, including the export of broom handles. Enormous exports are sent to Great Britain in this line from the United States, a recent shipment being that of 100,000 broom handles. The wooden boxes in which English wine merchants supply their goods to their customers are largely made in and exported from the United States. The pieces are put together, like those of shooks, and they are nailed together on the other side of the Atlantic, as required. Lumber and mill-owners should consider whether they could not secure a share of this trade and of the endless line of small wooden wares into which Canadian wood is manufactured in the mother country.

FOREIGN.

The Havana Weekly Report of Jan. 25th advises as follows:

White Pine.—The dealers having finished discharging the cargoes they were receiving, are better disposed for business and the demand is consequently somewhat more active. We therefore quote at $31@31 gold as nominal prices. The last sale was at $29 gold cash.

Pitch Pine.—No sales and very limited demand. We quote nominally $26 gold.

Cooperage Stock—Box Shooks.—Hardly any demand and nominal at 8@8½rs. gold.

Hhd. Do.—Limited demand for sugar hhd. shooks, at 18@19 rs. gold; but holders ask 20 rs. The lack of arrivals of empty hhds. creates more demand for molassess hhds. shooks, and we quote them at 22 rs. gold.

Empty Casks.—For immediate delivery the demand is active at $1½@4¾ gold, but no sales can be effected for future delivery, except at extremely low figures which offer no inducement to import.

Hoops.—The demand has improved somewhat and as high as $55 and $56 has been paid for long shaved, but the generality of buyers are now unwilling to pay so much.

A. C. Nathan & Co. advise from Rio Janeiro to Janua y 4th, as follows:

Pitch Pine Deals.—The arrivals consist of 313,849 feet per F Scalla sold to arrive at 44$000; 377,111 feet per B. Dickermann, for captain's account, sold at 46$000, 2$500 being subsequently abated for inferior quality; 232,954 feet per Ellen Holt sold to arrive at 47$ 00; 239,679 feet per Amelia sold to arrive at 43$000; 287,973 feet per Union sold to arrive at 41$500; 260,692 feet per Live Oak sold to arrive at 45$800. The market remains firm but we doubt if the present high prices will be long maintained.

White Pine Lumber.—The almost simultaneous arrival of three shipments with nearly 600,000 feet has had a demoralizing effect upon our market and has enabled dealers to force down prices. The sales have been 128,353 feet per Westfold at 145 reis; 52,050 feet per Serene at 75 reis; 387,178 feet per Kronprinz F. W. at 90 to 100 reis. We cannot now quote over 90 reis for prime quality and see but little prospect of an early recovery.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot since our last report has well shaded on cost about ½ cent per lb, and at this the sales were liberal for future, including deliveries well into the spring months. For consumption, however, the demand has continued light and only jobbing parcels are reported, with prices lacking tone. Quoted at about 15½ cents for Lake. Manufactured copper in moderate demand and irregular with current named figures extreme if anything. We quote about as follows: Brazier's Copper, ordinary size over 16 oz. per sq. foot 25c. per lb.; do. do. do., 16 oz. and over 12 oz., per sq. foot, 25c. per lb.; do. do., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 27c. per lb.; do. do., lighter than 10 oz. per sq. foot, 29c. per lb.; circles, less than 81 inches in diameter, 26c. per lb.; do. 81 inches in diameter and over 29c. per lb.; segment and pattern sheets, 26c. per lb.; locomotive fire box sheets, 23c. per lb.; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 20c. per lb, and Bolt Copper 22c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig has shown a somewhat weak tone on prices and generally lacks animation, the market has a flat, stupid appearance, though one or two dealers are rather more hopeful of the future. We quote at $19.50@22.50 according to brand and quantity handled. American pig in an irregular sort of way, has sold to a larger amount but the demand is not continuous or positive and there is a failure to infuse a good healthy tone into the market. The offerings are ample in quantity and assortment and sellers well inclined to operate. We quote nominally at $16.00@18.00 for No. 1 per ton, $15.50@17.00 for No. 2, and $14 50@16.00 for Forge. Rails are not much sought on new demand but the old negotiations continue for considerable quantities of steel at full rates and the position is pretty firm for these. Iron ralls are dull, but old rails have sold fairly and prices ruled steadier. We quote at $32@36 for new iron, and $42@44 for steel, according to delivery. Old Rails $18 50@19.75 per ton; scrap, $21.00@$22. Manufactured iron has found about an average demand, mostly in the way of small lots, and the market continues easy with figures a little extreme if anything. Common merchant bar quoted in round lots at 1.7c., and Refined at 1.9c., but for ten-ton lots from store, 1.8c and 2c. are respectively insisted upon. Common sheet, 3c., and b..st R. G. American, 4c. from store. LEAD—Domestic Pig has became pretty closely concentrated, and whi.e not called for with much freedom at present holders think their stocks will all be wanted and are firm at higher rates. We quote at 4¾@5c. The manufactures of lead are steady and quoted: Bar 5¼c., Pipe 5½c. and sheet 6½c.—less the usual discount to the trade; and Tin lined Pipe 12 c., Block Tin Pipe, 40c., on same terms. TIN—Pig has been quiet and nominal for large invoices but fairly active on jobbing lots from store. We quote at nominal for Banca, 14¼@14¼c. for Straits, 14¼@14⅜c. for English refined, and 14@14¼c. for do. common. Tin Plates of all kinds have lately sold with greater freedom and at somewhat higher rates, the market still retaining a firm tone. Spelter has sold very well at somewhat irregular rates, but holders generally call the market firm. Quoted at 4¾@4⅞ cents for Western. Sheet Zinc selling very well on jobbing orders and ruling about steady at 6¼@6½ cents according to quantity.

NAILS.—Stocks on hand continue fair enough in quantity and assortment to admit of the filling of any order likely to arise for the time being, and with the general demand slow the market does not as a rule show many brilliant features. Prices somewhat unsettled, but held to about the former general range. We quote at $2.10@2.15 for 10d to 60d according to size of invoice.

OILS.—Demand not active, and from consumers seldom extends beyond the immediate wants of the hour, and this is reflected to some extent upon the operations of jobbers who rarely anticipate their wants to any degree. Prices about as before. Linseed oil is quoted at 61@65c. per gallon from crushers hands.

PAINTS.—There has been a very fair market for jobbing parcels, and in some cases the orders were quite full, with dealers correspondingly encouraged. Indeed there is a pretty hopeful strain throughout the entire trade, and calculations generally are based upon a good season to come. On prices the full former line of quotations remains current with firmness especially shown on domestic red lead and litharge.

PITCH.—Operations are moderate and uncertain, and rarely to be found extending beyond small orders required on some special necessity. The stock, however, is not allowed to accumulate freely, and about former figures are asked. We quote at $1.85@2.12½ per bbl. for city, delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Following the writing of our last report still higher rates were obtained and some speculation ensued, but the increase of cost checked both shipping and consumptive demand in a measure, and buyers became more careful. Holders, however, have stocks too well in hand to give way readily, and generally assume firmness. On the general extreme range we quote at 29@30¼c. per gallon, according to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—The demand somewhat variable, but rarely active, and the market remains in a nominally unchanged condition. Stocks appear to be under very good control and offered with some show of indifference. We quote at $2@2.37½ per bbl. for Newberne and Washington, and $2.12½@2.50 for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

GENTS—The Perforated Opera Chairs put in my Brooklyn Music Hall have proved a great success. They not only furnish the hall in a very attractive style, but for comfort and convenience they are far superior to any upholstered seat I have ever seen. We have the best audiences that Brooklyn can produce, and as yet I have heard nothing but the highest commendation of our seat. Yours very truly, RAPID TRANSIT.

After persistent agitation for nearly twenty years, we are upon the eve of realizing a complete system of rapid transit around New York island.

It becomes pertinent now to inquire whether the existing system possesses elements of lasting popularity, or whether it is destined to prove merely the precursor of a more acceptable, elaborate and permanent system. In a single sentence: Is the present system of rapid transit a finality, or may we expect in our methods of travel further and radical improvements? For reasons which we will proceed to assign, we prefer to adopt the latter view of the case.

1. INHERENT DEFECTS.—To the minds of engineers the existing system presents the character of a continuous iron bridge, and without doubt is the longest one in existence. The purpose of its present use involves a nearly continuous running of trains, with frequent and abrupt stoppings and startings. In these conditions, expert engineers declare there are elements which predestine the serious impairment, perhaps the complete destruction of the structural framework. These prognostications may be the outcome of malevolence or jealousy, or may be the expression of profound knowledge. In all such matters the multitude must defer to skilled opinion, and time alone can determine with accuracy the truth or falsity of conflicting scientific judgments. The present is too early a period in the history of these enterprises to furnish any safe conjecture as to their ultimate fate. Their present form and construction are little calculated to inspire general confidence. However strong the asseverations of friendly engineers may be to the contrary, however accurately and reliably the formulas may be deduced wherein their confidence reposes, the traveling public cannot cease to feel that there is a degree of risk connected with this method which does not exist in the ordinary surface road. A slight calculation of the innumerable rivets, bolts, ties, beams, struts and girders which make up this wonderful example of human ingenuity, will suggest so many points at which danger may crop out at any moment. Though we may know that the framework, as now constructed, represents the perfection of civil engineering skill, it is nevertheless open to the fatal and comprehensive criticism that it is perishable. Its decay may begin in many ways that will elude or defy scrutiny and control, and its evil effects are likely to be realized suddenly and momentarily, rather than by slow degrees. When the early rigidity of this structure begins to be relaxed, no efforts of its founders will serve to reinspire or conserve the confidence of the public.

2. PUBLIC CONDEMNATION.—It must be ever borne in mind that the present system is a compromise in which such favorable conditions were sought as speedy and economical construction, and the prospect of prompt and remunerative results. In view of these enticing qualities, capitalists were led to embark their money freely and the public, in despair of attaining any more satisfactory means of rapid travel, were led to blindly accept the proffered boon and forego captious and unfriendly criticism. In spite of rapid construction and seemingly efficacious results, the public will never loose sight of the fact that the exercise of these franchises is the greatest invasion of private rights that has ever been attempted in this city. Its existence is not only a compromise, but a menace tolerated under protest. Even those who are most dependent upon its facilities deplore the costly sacrifice of private rights which its erection involved. When the tide of public opinion once turns against the present system of rapid transit the most scathing denunciations will be based upon its high-handed and defiant disregard of these same private rights.

The inaccessibility of the depots of these roads will be a constant inconvenience against which the public are sure sooner or later to rebel. The crowds which throng the landings and waiting-rooms at certain hours of the day imperil life and afford the opportunity for the commission of crime. These roads will have occasion to employ every expedient to conciliate public opinion, to furnish every possible requisite for promoting the safety and comfort of travelers in order to retain and fortify public confidence. It may be too much to assert that any single accident would be sufficient to destroy the popularity of these roads, but it is very certain that a succession of accidents might leave them without paying patronage. In a well disciplined and organized surface road a degree of safety may be attained which is utterly impracticable in a road which is operated in mid air. The accidents that have already happened have been connected with the management of switches, and these have furnished a slight insight into the multiplied perils which will attend the career of these roads. A serious and almost insurmountable obstacle to their prolonged popularity lies in the fact that when completed they may be wholly unable to afford serviceable rapid transit between extreme points, inasmuch as frequent stoppages will consume a disproportionate share of running time. No provision has been made for a third track and it is doubtful whether any will be made, as the present stockholders are too well satisfied with the paying qualities of the roads as equipped, and will demur at incurring any further expense in stationary fixtures or plant. The surfeit of patronage which they are likely at once to enjoy will damp the ardor of their projectors and prompt them to furnish the minimum rather than the maximum of convenience.

3. INEVITABLE COMPETITION.—If the managers of the present lines imagine that they are to possess an exclusive monopoly of this rapid carrying business, the lapse of a little time will probably serve to disabuse their minds of this impression. There is no place in the world where competition so invariably and inevitably follows success as in this city. Let the present lines demonstrate the feasibility of rapid transit, let them develop their maximum patronage and let them attest the enormous profits likely to be derived from this business, and competitors will crowd so closely about them as to hardly leave track room. It may be difficult to precisely define the form which this competition will take, but it will not be necessary to suppose that there is to be any further projection of elevated roads. On the contrary, we believe that any proposition of this character would be stoutly resisted by the popular will, and certainly by the property owners who are likely to be injuriously effected by any such new enterprise. The present rapid transit system will develop its own insecurity and unsuitableness in so short a time that the minds of competing capitalists will be directed towards the devising of a better and more permanent system. It is idle to suppose that this great metropolis can allow its streets to be disfigured and obstructed for all time to come with such intolerable eye sores. When the full productiveness of rapid transit shall have been demonstrated, there will be no lack of capitalists ready to embark their money in safe schemes which will command the full and hearty confidence of the public. The present system affords no assurance of permanent or prolonged success. In time, the frame works that are now being set up will be taken down and sold as old iron, or will be transferred bodily to the river fronts to form a convenient method of carrying freight. The places left vacant by their removal will be taken up by surface roads, laid at a depression of from three to five feet below the grade, with light arches spanning the cross streets. Probably before this new method shall have been realized, the Grand Central depot will be removed to some point in Westchester County and the present Fourth Avenue tracks will be entirely devoted to local rapid transit and will be continued on a depressed road bed down as far as the Battery, there to connect with similar roads which shall make a complete circuit of the island for the accommodation of the east and west sides. Three parallel lines of sunken track will fully accommodate the business of this city, particularly if supplemented with an elevated frame work around the river front, which could be used for carrying freight and slow passenger trains. The function of the present rapid transit system will be to develop and demonstrate the capabilities of quick travel. Under its auspices a large area of the present vacant land of the city will be improved and occupied. In a word, we are led to regard the system as purely tentative and preliminary to a more solid and enduring structure which is yet to be projected.

THE TRUE OFFICE OF BUILDING LOANS.

Heretofore we have endeavored assiduously and persistently to set before our readers an intelligible view of the nature and effects of illegitimate building loans. We may safely assume that any regular reader of this journal has become thoroughly acquainted with the character and results of fraudulent building enterprises. For the present we have said all that we care, and all that we intend to say upon this subject. We have protracted the discussion because until now the course of events was running favorable to such exploits and the times were furnishing signal illustrations of our ideas. The period, however, is fast approaching when these mischievous building schemes will have exhausted their power of injury and will become virtually impracticable or impossible.

Under the judicious instructions of magazines and the daily press, the public mind has become keenly alive to the vices and dangers of malpractice in building. A condition unprecedented in the history of the building trade has presented itself of late years in the utter unsaleableness of unsound and unskilled building productions. House buyers are now able to discriminate so closely between good and bad buildings that the latter find few or no customers in open market. Capitalists who associate themselves with reckless building schemes, find to their chagrin and discomfiture that there is no likelihood of reimbursement by sale, when the buildings are completed, and they are compelled to take the properties in under foreclosure, and offer them to rent. They discover, too, that it is impossible to realize as favorable rents for such properties as for the better and sounder grades of buildings.

When any course of business procedure meets with the unqualified disfavor of the public, its doom is sealed. Fraudulent building schemes are becoming conspicuously and increasingly hazardous and it would be no bold assertion to predict that shortly the building business may be purged of its disreputable elements.

It has now become our agreeable duty to treat of the office of the legitimate building loan. We have defined a function of the illegitimate building loan to be an inordinate and unwarrantable inflation of values, whereby the cost of building productions is so immeasurably increased as to pre-determine failure and to deprive such productions of a satisfactory market. The legitimate building loan conserves the interests of the builder and of the public by applying itself in a manner and under conditions calculated to keep and not to hurt the job.

To say that the building business can be successfully conducted without the assistance of borrowed capital would be to invite easy contradiction. In all cases the operation of building involves the acceptance of a fixed investment, more or less permanent, according to the negotiability of the productions. However promising the ultimate salability may be, the money invested in building construction is irrecoverable until the building is completed and its sale or hypothecation by mortgage is finally consummated. If our readers will consider what is the market value of any average New York building, or if they will estimate the value of its equity of redemption over and above a reasonable first mortgage, they will then be able to realize how vast the capital investment must be which is required in the erection of five, ten or twenty such building While a merchant may embark honorably and legitimately in a business where his actual capital may be less than 10 per cent. of his yearly sales, the builder is restricted in his operations to such scope and limit as his ready capital will warrant. Dollar for dollar in any legitimate building transaction the money must be invested by some one, and must be allowed to remain undisturbed, through the course of six, nine or twelve months, till the buildings are fully completed and ready for sale.

We have frequently remarked that there are exceptional conditions of the building business which enable a trustworthy builder to carry through his works to completion with a comparatively small outlay of capital, mainly through the assistance of his coadjutors in the undertaking, the mechanics, material men and contractors. But these conditions exist only in anticipation of a prompt and meritorious sale, that is, a sale which shall result in a profit over the costs of production, and at a time coincident with the completion of the building. If a delay in selling ensues after completion, then the credit of the builder becomes unduly taxed, creditors become clamorous for payment, and the contingency of prolonged holding demoralizes and defeats the conditions which had previously existed.

There are scores of legitimate speculative builders who are abundantly able to undertake enterprises of great pith and moment without extraneous help and with no other dependence than their own capital and resources. The acme of success in this business in ordinary times is reserved for those who are able to operate with independent means. At its best the business is a close and barely remunerative one. Extravagance, miscalculation or waste, and the assumption of unnecessary burdens inevitably eat up the profits and fore-ordain the bankruptcy of the builder.

It would be senseless to restrict the legitimate operations of building to those who are able to command independent means. As a matter-of-fact, many current building operations, some of exceptional merit, are predicated upon moderate and judicious building loans. Enterprising builders are often lacking in that prime requisite of production, ready money. The question is then presented whether they shall abstain from speculative transactions and confine themselves to jobbing and order work, or whether they shall seek the co-operation of a discreet and considerate capitalist, and with him seek to obtain greater rewards in honest, speculative enterprise.

The principal office of the building loan then is to assist aspiring, deserving and trustworthy builders to embark in the speculative branch of their business. The building loan furnishes the indispensable lubricant to keep in motion the wheels of building industry.

It may be urged in view of the easy financial conditions of the building business that a builder might be justified embarking in a scheme, and then, if disappointed in making a prompt sale at completion, might rely upon such resources as the negotiations of second mortgages. As feasible as this method of financiering may appear, those who have relied upon it know that it far exceeds in expensiveness and risk the conditions of a deliberate and well-conceived building loan. The value of the building loan, when gauged according to the actual capabilities of an undertaking, consists, not only in supplying the builder with ready money during the progress of his works, but in ensuring a prompt settlement with his creditors at completion, and in affording him the ability to carry his productions to a market through any ordinary suspension of demand. One evil of the fraudulent building loan is that capitalists who embark in them generally exact a mortgage which matures within a year from the date of its inception, after which they are apt to be even more exacting and remorseless than any other of the builder's creditors. The probability that the mortgagee will enforce his rights at maturity then causes a dark cloud to lower over the builder's pathway. In anticipation of such calamity the builder is often prompted to resort to ready and well understood methods of self-defence.

In a legitimate building loan, the capitalist embarks with a tacit or avowed understanding that the money advanced as loan shall be reimbursed out of the sale of the property, and the whole transaction is predicated upon the conviction that sooner or later the builder will meet with a purchaser who will furnish him with the means to cancel the whole of his indebtedness.

The distinguishing merit of proper building loans may be comprised in two features: first, moderate bonus, and second, undisturbed investment of the borrowed funds until released by sale.

As ordinarily framed, building loans are connected with the sale of land, although cases do occur where capitalists advance loans independently of any previous interest in or title to the property. The former method is preferable, where any remuneration in excess of legal interest is sought, as what might otherwise be construed as an element of usury is made to figure as a legitimate profit on the sale of the land. The virtue or turpitude of the building loan is concentrated and localized precisely in this item of profit on the lot or bonus. The amount of profit which any builder may have agreed to pay for the use of money may be accepted as a reliable index to the legitimacy or fraudulency of the undertaking. The hardship of a building loan for which an excessive bonus has been paid is that it robs the transaction of any chance of profit from the start, and leaves the builder to struggle along in hopeless and unrequiting labor. To be of service to the builder, borrowed capital must involve no greater bonus than a moderate percentage of the profit which he may fairly expect to realize as the outcome of his venture There is a wide field afforded here for the indulgence of fanciful and unwarrantable hopes. Under the influence of strong delusion, a builder may be induced to pay a larger bonus for money than final results will warrant. In normal conditions of the business, building operations are supposed to be capable of producing a clear and well defined profit, otherwise there would be an absence of any proper incentive to embark in them. The question how much bonus a builder can afford to pay is a practical and personal one, the answer to which can only be given after close and well proved calculation. If a builder confidently expects to realize ten per cent. profit he would not be warranted in according one-half to the capitalist.

The maximum benefit which may be expected from building loans would accrue in a case where the builder with the aid of borrowed capital was able to purchase land at an exceptionally low price. As the initial element in a building transaction, the land value is controlling and paramount. The purchasing of materials on credit often involves an additional element of price which may be saved by the builder who avails himself of an inexpensive and proper building loan. The critical period in all building transactions is when the time of sale arrives. Then in dealing with the buying public, and resisting the onslaught of bargain hunters, a builder needs to be well stocked with funds and far removed from financial distress.

LAW OFFICES IN THE EQUITABLE BUILDING.

In so extensive a building as that of the Equitable Society, at 120 Broadway, changes necessarily occur from time to time, but the tendency is more and more among lawyers to look out for vacant rooms in this building, which offers special advantages to the profession.

Only the tenants of the building can use the Law Library, which is one of the most complete in the country, and is a most attractive place for quiet work and study. A room has been prepared in the same building for the use of tenants, specially intended for references and private consultations. These, with the law telegraph and the many other conveniences, render the building the most popular among lawyers in the city.

In the list of Conveyances will be found the transfer of the block of land on the west side of Fifth avenue, between Fifty-first and Fifty-second streets, to Wm. H. Vanderbilt, the consideration being $400,000.

Dean for $3,300. The seven-story brick (Windsor) hotel on the east side of Fifth avenue, extending from Forty-sixth to Forty-seventh streets, with lease of plot of land 200 10x140, leased May 1, 1871, for twenty years, ground rent $19,400 per annum, was bought by W. J. Barker for $351,000, the first mortgage thereon amounted to about $207,000. Twelve four-story brick (stone front) dwellings with plot of land 200.10x120, on the west side of Madison avenue, extending from Forty-fifth to Forty-sixth streets, covered by a mortgage, the amount due on which was about $288,500, were sold to the plaintiffs for $230,000.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Business continues dependent largely upon the weather, and, as this changes, demand rises and falls. On the whole, however, the situation is fairly promising and dealers, both wholesale and retail, entertain cheerful ideas respecting the future. There is no extravagant expectations of heavy sales on the regular outlets, but a good, steady demand is calculated upon and appears to be secured from present indications, and this, it is thought, must remain until the condition of the river permits of larger and more general arrivals. The consumption by the elevated railroads building new sections, as we have before noted, must be large, and the fact that these roads are to be completed at an early date will urge the improvement of a large amount of property to which they give access. Full former rates are still asked, and sellers think current cost will be maintained easily, and possibly increased a fraction. Fine lots of Pale brick are in very good demand, and the tone on prices seems to be relatively firmer than for Hards. Fronts are selling very well and continue firm on price, with no very large amount of stock offering. Fresh arrivals of all kinds continue small and are composed in the main of cargoes from Long Island. We quote Pale, P. M., $2 75@3.00; Hards, Up-Rivers, $4.50@5.00; Haverstraw bay, $4.75@5.25; favorite brands, $5.50@6.00; Fronts, Croton—Brown, $7; dark, $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $26@28; Trenton, $24@29; Baltimore, $34@38. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@3 higher on ordinary and $5@6 on fronts.

HARDWARE.—Most dealers appear to be very well pleased with the general condition of the market, and while in some respects the inquiry has scarcely come up to calculations, it is generally conceded that business affords more basis for congratulation than complaint. Local wants have proven fair, and the interior is heard from more frequently and on larger orders for staple goods, though a fair general assortment is shown on most invoices. In a general way prices are steady, about the only changes being such as may be shown on the issue of new lists. Among these are to be found one by Hussey, Bunn & Co., for their special brands o shoyels, spades, coal and locomotive scoops, with a regular trade discount of 15 per cent. Henry Disston & Sons have given notice of the following line of discounts for the season of 1879: Circular saws, 35 per cent.; shingle saws, 35 do; concave saws, 35 do; pit saws, 35 do; ice saws, 35 do; butting or drag saws, 35 do; mill, muliay and gang saws, 35 do; segment saws, 15 do; saw mandrels and tools for keeping saws in order, 20 do; standard wire gauges, 20 do; patent cross cut handles, 20 do; cross cut saws, 20 do; hand, panel and rip saws, 20 do; pruning compass and keyhole saws, 20 do; back saws, 20 do; billet webs and buck saws, 20 do; turning webs and butcher saws, 20 do; plastering trowels, 20 do; cane and corn knives, 20 do; samson tree planter and post-holder digger, 20 do; moulders' tools, 20 do; brick trowels, 20 do; hand saw handles and screws, 20 do; steel squares and machinists' rules, 20 do; machinists' levels, 20 do; slaw cutters, 20 do; Barker's double-reversed joint butts and concealed door springs, 20 do; try squares and bevels, 52½ do; carpenters' gauges, 52½ do; screw drivers, 52½ do; plumbs and levels, 70 do; band saws, 25 do; and files 35 do.

LATH.—The wholesale market has not amounted to much, and in all essential particulars the situation remains about the same as noted for several weeks. A scant supply afloat and the natural probability of few additions for some time to come gives sellers an oppotunity to talk with much strength and confidence, and they evidently expect to carry the advantage well on towards warmer weather without much difficulty. All the stock accumulated here for the winter was in dealers hands, and this has been gradually shrinking under a fair distribution which promises to increase rather than diminish, and it is thought this opens a place for fresh parcels as they come to hand. Odd cargoes, however, came in last month to a sufficient extent to make good a portion of the deficiencies and while holding prices sellers gained no great advance.

LIME.—In a wholesale way, the market continues very slow and dragging, and business has no satisfactory features. Two or three cargoes are here afloat and while probably within reach at former rates, no display of interest is made by dealers, and up to present writing we are unable to learn that sales have been made. Valuations remain to some extent nominal, but give no indications of strength. State is also quoted as before, and finds little positive demand, though in one or two cases fair sales have been made since our last, and some of the stock will be hauled out of the basin to make deliveries.

LUMBER.—The seasonable dull tone contiues dominant, and we hear only few and irregular sales for either present or future delivery. Dealers, however, seem to consider the outlook as encouraging, and expectations are based upon a very good season to come, more especially for building grades of lumber of the coarse product. The increased facilities for communication between the extremities of the island has brought a great many of the "vacant lot" properties into a more favorable position, and this in connection with general low cost of all kinds of material induces owners to build, with possibly a little more speed and volume than last year. Stock suited to this outlet is scarce, and manufacturers say it must remain so, as the supply of logs is certainly small. The old, old story; but it does not have the expected stimulus, and while willing to pay a fair rate, buyers are resisting all attempts to force them into contracting at high prices. At the North and West the predictions are still favorable for a large crop of logs, and the representative journals at the principal lumber centres are generally willing to admit not only this, but that rates must of necessity rule easy unless a very unexpected new outlet should be developed.

Eastern Spruce on random cargo remains nominal in the absence of fairly testing business, but anything attractive would no doubt command a very good rate. For specials prices are also quite doubtful, and it is difficult to name a reliable figure. Some contracts have almost certainly been consummated, but the details cannot be obtained, and no guide is afforded as to probable Spring rates, though $13..0@14.00 is thought to have been agreed upon in some cases. We quote at $11 50@12.00 for random, possibly $12.50@13.00 for choice lengths in small cargoes, and $13.00@14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult.

White Pine remains quite steady on all good stock and in fair demand. Both the home and foreign outlets are represented among the buyers, but the export orders on the whole appear to give most satisfaction both as to the quantity and price. Dealers, however, say there is room for considerable improvement even on this, before bringing the market into positive activity or greatly increasing margins. Recent advices from South America were not so encouraging. We quote at $14.50@15.00 per M for West India shipping boards; $19 50@21 for South American do.; $14@15 for box boards; $16@17 for do. wide and sound; and timber to order at $38@50 per M.

Yellow Pine continues to sell on contract for all deliveries to a greater or less extent and to command about former rates, the market ruling steady and reasonably cheerful. Nothing however of a specially hardening tone is developed, and on all goods full bids, sellers are mostly well inclined to open negotiations. A few contracts for timber, direct shipments from primary markets to Europe have been made, but particulars not given. We quote random cargoes at about $18@22 per M., ordered cargoes $22@24 do; green flooring boards, $20@21 do.; and dry do. do. $20@23. Cargoes at the South, $13@14 50 per M.; hewed timber $7.50@14.

Shingles have met with about the usual inquiry, and in a general way the market is dull and uncertain. Home buyers want only small jobbing lots and the export orders do not take much, indeed are evidently to some extent behind expectations. Stocks are fair in quantity and assortment, but under fair control and not offered with much freedom or unusual pressure to realize. Cypress are selling at about $6 for saps, and 8 50@9 for hearts; pine shipping stocks $4 for 18 inch and Eastern sawed grades at $2.50@4.50 for 16 inch as to quality and quantity. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: For 30 inch $16.00@22.25 for A., and $28.75@32 25 for No. 1; for 24 inch $6.50@16.00 for A., and $16.75@23 00 for No. 1; for 20 inch $5.00@10.50 for A., and $11.25@15.75 for No. 1.

Hardwood as a rule hold their own very well, and the majority of dealers appear to be very well satisfied with the condition of the market. Demand is not very brisk at the moment on any outlet or for any style of stock, but an average amount is wanted on home jobbing orders and there is some looking around on export account. Stocks are only fair and under very good control. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut, $77@85 per M.; ash, $33@36 do; oak, $35@40 do; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do. do., culls, $18@$20 do; cherry, $45@75 do; white wood, ½ and ⅝ inch, $25@27.50, and do. inch $38@35 do; hickory, $35@45 do. for Western, and $65@75 for good near by stock.

From the retail dealers the average reports are encouraging, and making due allowance for the season, business is amounting to as much as could reasonably be expected. It is very seldom that any one buyer is a free operator, but numerous small invoices with occasional duplication bring the operations from week to week up to a reasonably full total. Prices have the usual variation according to amount of stock changing hands, terms, etc., but the former general range of figures cover about current quotations.

From among the lumber charters recently reported we select the following: A Br. ship, 1,071 tons, from Pensacola to Bristol Channel, hewn timber, 35s. 6d; a schr., 273 tons, hence to Matanzas, shooks, 20c., hoops $6, and empty hhds. 80c.; an Am brig, 252 tons, from Fernandina to St. Kitts, lumber, $8; a Br. brig, 147 tons, and a schr., 136 tons, from Pascagoula to Port Spain, lumber, $10; an Am brig, 230 tons, from Fernandina to Havana, lumber, $7; a schr., 460 tons, hence to Sagua, empty hhds., 80c., and shooks 18c; a Br. brig, 249 tons, hence to Pernambuco, private terms; a schr., 323 tons, hence to Progreso, $80, and back with wood, private terms; a schr., 175 M lumber, from Bucksville to Martinique, $9; an Am. schr., 162 tons, from St. John, N. GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The latest advices we have from the Saginaw Valley are to Jan. 28th. The Lumbermen's Gazette, says: The lumber market at this time may be considered in statu quo. But little is being done and prices are nominally the same as quoted last week. There are no buyers in the market, and railroad freights substantially the same.

A paper at Manistee, Mich., published the following estimate of the standing pine in the state of Michigan.

Eastern shore from Sebewaing to Alconac including Flint, Lapeer and Cass river.	1,500,000,000
Rifle River	3,500,000,000

Total	43,000,000,000

If the above estimate be correct, and they were made by one of the best and most thoroughly posted lumbermen in the State, it will only take twenty-four years at the rate of 250,000,000 a year, to cut all the timber now standing upon the Manistee river and its tributaries, and will only take the mills at Ludington and White Hall thirteen or fourteen years to cut all the timber on the streams emptying at those places, should they continue to run at the rate they have the past year.

Though all the pine may soon be cut from our Michigan rivers, there will still be plenty in the country for many years to come as appears by the following estimate of the pine lumber of the United States:

Michigan	43,000,000,000
Wisconsin	40,000,000,000
Minnesota	25,000,000,000
Pennsylvania	7,000,000,000

Yellowstone Valley	10,000,000,000
New Mexico, pitch pine	8,000,000,000
California	100,000,000,000
Total	317,000,000,000

While the estimate may be liberal and the figures seem large, it is remembered that the rate of consumption is great.

The following from the Lumberman and Manufacturer.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., January 30, 1879.

The very elements seem to be conspiring against the lumbermen, and the clerk appears to be carrying out their plans. Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska are covered deep under snow, which prevent any operations requiring lumber. The great pine region where snow is required remains without enough to enable loggers to do more than two-thirds work. The near approach of spring time gives hope that all, or nearly all the lumbermen of the West will be able to carry their stocks over without serious trouble. Many new railroad projects are under discussion in the West, with a fair prospect of construction during 1879 which may relieve the markets of large quantities of the surplus lumber that will certainly be on hand next summer. News from the markets of the East and Europe show extreme dullness, with slowly declining prices in lumber, with the further unfortunate fact that stocks are heavy.

While it is now impossible to forsee or fortell the good or ill in store for the trade this year, we confess that there is little that encourages the hope that prices will be better or the demand large, especially in the West. The continued low prices of all the great staples keeps money out of the West and retards greatly its growth. Farmers are holding all they can possibly carry in store for better prices, and sending forward only what necessity compels, and these fact prove a burden to the East.

Ice roads in Minnesota and Wisconsin are doing wonders toward helping out the loggers, and Michigan rejoices in abundance of snow to aid in overstocking the market. The European long timber trade of Michigan will be light this year, and many who have heretofore engaged in it will furnish the home market with the common sort of lumber.

FOREIGN.

We are in receipt of the Timber Trades Journal containing a full and interesting retrospect of the timber trade at the principal ports of the United Kingdom. It is impossible for us to make room for the entire review, and we therefore confine ourselves to such portions as seem most likely to be of interest on "this side;"

LONDON.

In our annual review of the past year's trade, twelve months ago, we had occasion to comment on the growing depression of trade and its influence as bearing on the timber stocks that had accumulated during the season at the docks and in the various yards; that the depression may be said now to be at its worst, and we hope, when it comes to our turn to review the past doing of the season just commencing, we may have the pleasing duty of recurring to this state of trade in the past tense. It is before us now pretty plainly, for on all sides complaints that "there is nothing doing" are heard, but even the present slackness of trade is more attributable to past causes than to immediate effects; nor can we fairly look for any improvement till the evil influences of the last twelve months have had time to disappear.

* * * * *

Coming now to the trade of London, the importation for the past year is stated at 1,811 cargoes in ships, altogether aggregating 832,590 tons, or 143 ships of 153,410 gross tonnage less than last year; notwithstanding which diminution, the deliveries to the public, according to the returns of the various timber docks, have been of sawn wood about 24,959,000 pieces, and of hewn timber 312,000 loads, or about 2,944,000 pieces and 59,000 loads more than were taken into consumption during 1877. This is satisfactory, and, to some extent, reassuring. It also confirms the view we have taken all through the vicissitudes of the market, that the falling prices, however they had operated elsewhere, had stimulated business in London. The timber trade here was never more active than last year, as the Dock returns bear evidence, and a greater quantity of timber was taken into use by many hundred thousands of loads than in any previous year on record.

LIVERPOOL.

Turning to the timber trade of this port for the past year, we find a reduction of tonnage employed in bringing the supplies to this market of no less than 192,000 tons on that of last year, equal to a decrease of about 35 per cent., the tonnage employed this year being 371,000 tons, as against 563,000 tons last year; but it must be borne in mind that the latter was the largest import season ever known, and was far beyond the natural requirements of this district. This large decrease is apportioned among the various shipping districts as follows: From Quebec, 102,000 tons; St. John, N. B., and other deal producing ports, 27,000 tons, North of Europe, Baltic, &c., 30,788 tons and from the pitch pine ports, 32,000 tons.

* * * * *

As was pointed out above, the importation of Canadian goods has been very light during the present year, pine timber being almost two-thirds less than last year; the stocks on hand are, however, much greater in proportion, as will be seen from the taule below. Square pine has fairly maintained its value, when of good quality, but common wood is greatly interfered with by pitch pine, which can be bought at low prices. Waney board pine has, during the past few weeks, been sold off at prices which could hardly repay the shippers, and red pine has almost fallen into disuse. The present state of oak contains a very large proportion of common and middling qualities, which are almost unsaleable, but for the prime lots there is a little better demand though the prices will not leave importers much profit. Both ash and elm have been imported sparingly and the consumption has been on a par with it.

Yellow pine deals have come forward too freely, especially the common qualities, and sales have occasionally been made at very low figures. Spruce deals also have arrived in greater quantities than was expected, and prices have steadily fallen since the beginning of the year, when St. John, N. B., were sold at £8 per standard, until to-day, when the prices may be quoted at from £6 10s. to £6 12s. 6d. per standard with other shipments in proportion.

CARDIFF.

The past year has been a remarkable one in the wood trade here, being characterized by a continual and constant depression in all its branches, induced partially by the unhealthy and unprofitable nature of the coal and iron trades, which led to the stoppage of many large works, and consequently a material decrease in the consumption of goods.

The import has been largely curtailed, but in the face of this fact stocks are heavy, with a limited demand.

Quebec red pine and oak sold at fair prices, but yellow pine, pine deals and staves were difficult to move, and not remunerative. Hewn and sawn pitch pine sold freely, but at low values. Red deals of all descriptions met wih little favor, while Swedish timber was almost unsaleable, being to a great extent superseded by sawn pitch pine.

Although the import of spruce deals was small (in comparison with former years), prices dropped below their legitimate mark, with a dull sale.

Freights have been extremely low, vessels being obtained at 21s. to 25s. from Quebec, 33s. to 36s. from Pensacola, and 60s. (deals) from St. John.

GLASGOW.

The import of wood goods to Clyde has been much smaller than usual during the past year.

The arrivals from British North America amount to 120 vessels, representing an aggregate of 82,500 tons register, while during the twelve preceding years the average reaches 119,720 tons.

This diminution is accounted for by the excessive import of 1877, and the unprecedentedly large stocks held at the close of that year. The continued dulness of trade during 1878 also acted as a check on importers. But it is so far satisfactory to notice that the consumption of the past year has been in excess of the import, so that stocks now on hand are considerably under what they stood at a year ago.

* * * * *

DEALS.—The stock of Quebec pine first quality is large in proportion to the other grades. There is a moderate quantity of Michigan first quality; these have sold readily during the past year. The stock spruce is comparatively light.

RATES CURRENT.

	s.	d.		s.	d.
Quebec 1st quality pine deals	2	1	to	2	8	per c ft.
" 2d " "	1	4	to	1	9	"
" 3d " "	0	11	to	1	2	"

Michigan 1st "	2	2	to	2	10	"
Quebec spruce deals "	0	8	to	0	10½	"
Lower port "	0	9½	to	0	11	"

PITCH PINE TIMBER.—Demand is light, meantime, and the consumption during 1879 is expected to be small. For hewn, 85 to 90 ft. average, 15½d. to 16d. has been obtained. Sawn, 30 to 35 ft. average 14¾d. to 15½d

LEITH.

I now send you a statement of all the wood goods imported into Leith, Granton, and Bo'ness, including the outports in the Firth of Forth, for the year ending 1878, and on comparing the importation of 1877, I find that American pine logs and pitch pine logs are in excess, but not to a large extent—indeed, there are nearly the same number of pieces. American deals are in excess 12,577 pieces; birch, 956 pieces; walnut, 35 pieces; staves, 42,757; fir staves, 341,461; lathwood, 14,866; whole and half sleepers, 25,222. American hardwood shows a deficiency. Ash, 52 pieces; elm, 55; oak, 383; wainscot, 390; hickory, 168; mahogany, 159.

DUNDEE.

The stocks of timber held at this port at the commencement of the year were, on the whole, moderate. Perhaps Quebec pine was the only article held in excess of requirements. The Spring imports were an average, and prices by that time having shown a tendency to weakness abroad, the imports ever since then have been much restricted, and now the stock may be said to be unusually small, which is a gratifying circumstance, and will, no doubt, by and by have a good effect on the prices. The prospects in the coming season are as black as can be. The flax and jute trades never were worse, and since the failure of the City of Glasgow Bank money seems to be almost unobtainable.

NAILS.—The conditions of business do not greatly change. A fair number of export orders are still received, with a promise that the average will be preserved, and the home demand keeps up to about the former average. Buyers, however, are not showing unusual interest in any case, and are seldom known to anticipate their wants. We quote nominally 10d. to 60d., common fence and sheathing per keg, $2.12½@2.15; 8d. and 9d., common do. per keg, $2.40; 6d. and 7d., common per keg, $2.65; 4d. and 5d., common do., per keg, $2.90; 3d. and 4d., light, per keg, $3.65; 3d., fine, per keg, $4.40; 2d., per keg, $4.40. Cut spikes, all sizes, $2.60. Floor casing and box, 75c. above the same sizes of common. Finishing, $1 above and fine finishing $1.25 above.

CLINCH NAILS.

1¾ to 1¼in.	2 & 2¼in.	2½ & 2¾ in.	3 in. & longer
$5.00	$4.50	$4.25	$4.00 per keg.

OILS.—Generally the market shows an absence of decided animation, and the demand apparently cannot be stimulated. Holders, however, have the desirable stocks well in hand, and their limit on values remains about up to fromer rates. We quote linseed oil, 61@65c. ₱ gallon; lard, 51@56c. for winter; 47@49c. for No. 1, and 41@46c. for No. 2; crude cotton seed, 33@35c., and refined summer yellow, do., 41@43c.

PAINTS.—No great amount of activity is found on the general market, either wholesale or retail, yet a fair average daily run of orders is taking out a continued encouraging aggregate of stock and dealers remain hopeful. No speculative inclinatione of a decided character are developed, nor do ideas of values tend to positive buoyancy, but, on the contrary, the feeling is a conservative one, simply looking to a good, legitimate business at a range of prices affording a fair margin for profit. Some irregularity has recently been shown on white lead, but holders have of late assumed a firm position again and full rates are now demanded. Litherge is also very well supported and indifferently offered.

PITCH.—Supplies as a rule still appear to be so placed as to give holders a good, fair control of the situation, and in pretty much all cases full former rates are insisted upon with some considerable degree of firmness. Demand, however, shows no anxiety beyond early wants, and buyers resist positive additions to cost. We quote at $1.87½@2.12½ per bbl., for City, delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The general tone of the market has continued firm and a trifle buoyant. On the part of buyers some caution was shown but actual wants compelled fair purchases, and, with only moderate supplies offering, full prices were insisted upon and obtained. We quote at 29½@31c. per gallon, according to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—The market is very generally quoted steady and some holders quote quite firmly on all good stock. Especially is this view of the situation taken for small parcels on jobbing orders, in view of the additional trouble and expense of handling. Supplies are not large. We quote at $3@2.37½ per bbl. for Newberne and Washington, and $2 12½@2.50 for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

WINTER REVIEW.

The luminous and focal event of the past quarter is the resumption of specie payments—the dawn which is expected to usher in a prosperity of meridian splendor; the event which signalizes the return of the general government from its long wandering in the wilderness of unredeemable paper currency.

Of course, opinions will differ as to the wisdom and providence of the measures which have at length effected a successful, though enforced and precipitous resumption. Many there are who will honestly consider the event an unhappy and deplorable one, because of its abrupt and hasty determination and of the costly sacrifices involved. Others again will esteem the present epoch the auspicious beginning of sound industrial and commercial prosperity. This latter faith is so widely entertained, and, withal, is so popular and acceptable among the business public, that we may imagine all differences of opinion will quickly emerge in a common acquiescence in the wholesomeness and benignity of the great consummation, at however dear a price it may have been attained.

Having heretofore expressed ourselves fully upon this topic we shall rest secure and content in the conviction that honest and persistent resumption will ultimately afford a solid and secure foundation whereon to construct an edifice of enduring national prosperity, in which the legitimate interests of real estate are destined to play no insignificant part.

One obstacle only stands in the path of extended and healthful real estate activity, but one cloud hangs gloomily over the immediate future of this interest. We refer to the increasing onerousness of taxation and to the indisposition, not to say indifference, of city and State officials to effect any serviceable diminution or distribution of this burden. That the fiscal commission of this city should have seen fit to enact and confirm a budget calling for thirty millions of taxation for the government of this city is an incredible and almost inconceivable outrage upon popular sentiment in pinching times like these and a cruel and rankling injustice to those who are compelled, under our present system of taxation, to respond directly with their substance in liquidation of these taxes.

Lessening of the expenses of the city is the first necessary step in the reform of taxation. Another and most imperative one is the distribution of the large burden of necessary municipal expenses among the greatest variety of accessible objects; as it is, real estate is made to bear nine-elevenths of State and Municipal taxation, while personal property is practically almost exempt. When our wealthiest citizen is declared to have released himself under oath from any obligation of personal taxation, how can it be expected that any citizen of less wealth will consider himself obligated to respond. With such a sterling example, we may expect in a short time all astute citizens of wealth will evade this form of taxation and the amount of such capital reached will dwindle to paltry insignificance. Every loss of personal taxation is an additional burden heaped upon real estate.

The representatives of organized wealth, such as banks, railroad companies and manufacturing corporations, are working zealously and energetically to secure the practical exemption of their interests, with the intention of fastening the whole load of local taxation upon real estate. We shall cherish the belief that these schemes will be thwarted as soon as they are exposed; that the grievances under which land owners have been laboring for the last five years will at last make themselves heard and felt in the halls of legislation and that remedial laws will be enacted perhaps during the present session, or at latest during the next session. There are abundant indications that the subject of taxation is attracting a measure of public attention, which will compel legislative action upon it, both as regards substance and method. From any intelligent and wise action, real estate has much to hope for and nothing to fear. In all likelihood, the year 1879 will be the last one of onerous taxation. With favorable legislation and under the auspices of a reformed city government, the prospect is altogether assuring that in the year 1880 the expenses will be so far reduced and taxation so widely distributed, that this burdensome millstone will be taken off the neck of real estate interests.

Real estate is the one investment which should be naturally popular and inviting among persons of moderate means, on account of the readiness and simplicity of acquiring it and the ease of managing it and because it is the one species of property which the owner can keep under his absolute control. And yet the government in this State and city has laid upon it such an oppressive weight of taxation as to render its adoption repulsive and prohibitive to other than persons of colossal wealth. If this system is continued, it will be easy to foresee that the population of this city will be composed of a few overwealthy landlords wielding despotic authority over a million of tenants.

LOANS.—The oldest loan brokers in the street agree in the affirmation that they do not and cannot remember in the experience of from twenty-five to forty years, a period when there was such an utter dearth of applications for mortgage loans of any description as at the present time. The published lists of mortgage loans have dwindled to insignificant proportions and the loans themselves relate with but few exceptions to obscure and unimportant properties. Many of the leading building transactions are sustained and fostered by men of large capital, who prefer to keep their money permanently employed and restrain the builder from negotiating mortgage loans. Another class of builders are accustomed to rely dependently upon securing mortgage loans at a certain stage in their operations. Of these loans, the most desirable are eagerly sought after by conservative individuals and institutions and with no little rivalry, while the less desirable and risky loans are promptly taken up by certain institutions, which pride themselves upon making excessive loans and which seem to be rather ambitious of acquiring titles of property through foreclosure. Outside of building transactions, there is little or no call for money upon mortgage. Either city property is already mortgaged for as much as it will bear, which is the least probable supposition, or else the great mass of property owners have learned the evils of borrowing money upon mortgage and prefer to preserve their real estate free and clear of encumbrance. It is certain that the temptation of 6 per cent. money does not entice persons with free and clear property to encumber it. What effect the offering of money at 5 per cent. might have it is idle now to conjecture. If taxation should be entirely taken off mortgages there is no doubt that the rate for prime applications would fall at once to 5 or perhaps 4 per cent. Even with the present nominal taxation, for hardly 20 per cent. of existing mortgages are taxed, it is difficult to believe that the mortgage rate can be maintained at 6 per cent., when the Government is demonstrating the feasibility of borrowing immense sums of money at 4 per cent. As compared with Government bonds, which are liable to fluctuation, or with city and town bonds which sometimes default, or with railroad securities, the best of which are so high-priced as to insure a loss—and the low-priced are too risky to invite capital, there is no security extant and attainable which will compare in reliability and productiveness with first-class, gilt edged mortgage loans.

Persons desiring to procure loans of money on real estate, experience no difficulty in negotiating approved applications at the rate of 6 per cent., without incurring any expenses for counsel fees either from institutions or from individuals and estates. The reduction in the charges for searches, which has been effected during the past quarter, again restores these charges to their primitive standards and as the aggregate of these fees is likely to be very small in future, it is probable that the institutions and estates, which are now offering to pay counsel fees, will also consent to pay the costs of searches in order to secure the most desirable loans.

RENTS.—For the first time since the panic, the demand for houses in the best quarters of the city, during the past three months, was sufficient to absorb all offerings and few if any vacancies of rentable properties are there to be found. What is true of the best quarter of the city, is relatively true of the entire residence portion. At no time has there been any excess of properties offering below a thousand dollars. In whatever part of the city they may be located, at this rent or under, all desirable houses command ready tenants. The debatable ground in regard to rents is now fixed between one and two thousand dollars and within this range considerations as regards the location, character and condition of the property on the one hand and as regards the solvency and desirableness of the tenant on the other, are elements which entered largely into negotiations.

While the demand has fairly caught up to the available stock of houses and while there is no scarcity of proffering tenants, it has been the universal experience of landlords that collections have been more difficult during the last year than at any time since the panic. We anticipate that during the coming season there will be an extensive weeding out of crippled or bankrupt tenants and this action may furnish an extra supply of houses. As a rule, and in view of their recent experience, landlords will prefer to accept reduced rents from solvent tenants rather than to accept the promise of high rents from irresponsible tenants.

The fashionable quarter, as representing the pinnacle of our real estate system, is taken as the reliable index to values and rents of general property. And yet this is the one quarter where there has been no specific projection of houses intended for renting. The opportunities there afforded for hiring, grow out of the withdrawal of individual owners from the city, or from their change of residence, furnished houses being offered in greater abundance than unfurnished. As most houses there are built for sale, and are immediately occupied by their owners, the stock of unfurnished houses to let is never large or varied. Rents in this quarter may be considered as rather arbitrary and in excess of what such properties would command in outside locations. In the presence of a good demand for choice residences and an active buying demand for homesteads, we may consider prevailing rents as fixed and permanent—likely to undergo no further depreciation.

What constitutes a proper scale for rents in the best quarters, may be easily determined. Throwing out of view the cost or selling price of new houses, we will confine ourselves to the selling prices of old houses, which form the chief stock of rentable properties.

Old twenty-five foot houses sell for about thirty-five thousand dollars. Calculating interest upon this amount at 6 per cent., we will have two thousand one hundred dollars, adding taxes which are rarely less than seven hundred and fifty dollars, and the average of three hundred dollars a year for depreciation or repairs, we will have the net cost of such rents established at three thousand one hundred and fifty dollars.

Twenty-two foot houses sell for thirty thousand dollars. Upon the same basis of interest calculation and adding five hundred dollars for taxes and two hundred dollars for depreciation, we will have for the result twenty-five hundred dollars as rental cost.

Twenty-foot houses sell for twenty-five thousand dollars. Upon the same basis, allowing four hundred dollars for taxes and two hundred dollars for repairs, we will have for the net cost of rental twenty-one hundred dollars.

Sixteen foot houses sell for twenty thousand dollars. At 6 per cent. interest, three hundred and fifty dollars taxes, one hundred and fifty dollars depreciation, we will have the cost of rental seventeen hundred dollars.

These figures represent about the average current results. While some properties may be rented a little below, the majority are rented at or rather above these figures.

Outside of the fashionable quarter so many different influences are at work and such varied competition exists, that it is more difficult to define the limits of rent calculation.

The inestimable benefits which rapid transit is destined to confer upon this island, are only just budding and blossoming. One of the earliest effects will be to to draw population from adjacent cities and suburbs. If property owners at the upper end of the island are wise, and will improve their lands economically and plainly and offer moderate rentals, there will be no lack of incoming tenants. It is not to be supposed, however, that Brooklyn and Jersey City will give up their population without a struggle. The competition between these extreme points will be sharp and spirited. And yet there can be no doubt of the ultimate triumph of New York landlords.

Store rents, both wholesale and retail, are strong and well established in the best localities. The agitation for a horse-car railroad on Broadway is only just beginning to take shape and we may confidently expect in the course of the year to see some effective demonstration in this direction.

SALES.—The words are in almost every mouth, are wafted through the clubs, interchanged between railroad passengers and constitute the staple conversation of counting-rooms and bank parlors, that there has been a notable revival in real estate, that values are coursing upward and the long lane of adversity in this interest has at length turned.

In the main, these cheering assertions reflect true conditions and possess a background of substantial fact. Real estate, as usual, was the last interest that felt the full effect of the panic of 1873 and is the last to feel the revivifying influence of returning prosperity. It would be an empty boast to say that this influence is being universally exerted throughout the length and breadth of city real estate. In point of fact, encouraging influences, as yet, are pervading only the heart of our real estate system, in the quarter of best residences, but they are of a character to warrant the belief that their wholesome effect will at length reach the farthest extremity of the system. Settlement of the tax question, continued plethora and cheapness of money and equalization of rents and values are problems intimately associated with the immediate future of real estate. But none of these questions are likely to prove permanent or serious stumbling blocks in the way of real estate recuperation. Public opinion, fortified and sustained by the master achievement of rapid transit will compel a prompt settlement of at least two of these questions and the third—cheap money—though it may defy the authority of legis ation is in a fair way to be settled by natural laws in the interests of the people at large.

After a dull and uneventful autumn, the early winter ushered in a vigorous and extensive movement in choice real estate, whose momentum has in no wise abated but is likely to run far into the spring. This movement embraced vacant lots and finished dwellings for immediate consumption without any element of speculation entering into it. The Vanderbilt purchases are the commanding events and the absorbing topics of real estate circles. Without question, these are the most sensational and inspiring transactions that have ever occurred in Fifth avenue property and fully justify the great expectations heretofore indulged on this line. Coming as they do on the tide of events, they have served to impart a strong and healthy tone to the general real estate market and to imbue owners of choice property with a renewed conviction that there is still some value left to their possessions. Whatever may be the merits of the sales to the Vanderbilts, they are now established facts which go to prove in connection with other current transactions that vacant real estate on and near Fifth avenue is now salable at higher prices than could have been obtained at any time during the past five years. For instance, the Willett and Stevens estate has sold two lots on Fifty-third street, opposite St. Thomas's Church, for twenty thousand dollars each. Numerous transactions have taken place on Fifty-seventh st, the details of which are not yet ripe for publication, which serve to establish twenty-five thousand dollars as the minimum value for lots on this street between Fifth and Sixth avenues, and fifteen thousand dollars for lots on the same street between Fourth and Madison avenues. The largest sale of lots that has occurred during the winter was made by the Barclay estate to Duggin & Crossman, embracing six lots on the southeast corner of Thirty-ninth street and Park avenue, at seventy thousand dollars. Messrs. Duggin & Crossman intend to commence the erection of private dwellings on these lots forthwith.

Mr. Bryan McKenna, after having sold his two sumptuous mansions, Nos. 8 and 10 West Fifty-eighth street for about fifty thousand dollars each, has bought two lots on the same street of Mr. Abraham Dowdney, a little nearer Sixth avenue, for sixteen thousand dollars each.

Besides these transactions in lots, private dwellings, both old and new, are meeting with ready and satisfactory sales. The new ones have the preference at larger prices over the old ones, while some of the latter are selling at figures which would seem to render them especially attractive for investment or occupation. The skill of the New York builder is so untiring in elaborating his productions that houses of an earlier pattern are scarcely able to compete with those of a later growth.

We are not aware that there has been any marked activity in the growing residence quarter above Fifty-ninth street. The demand exhibited during the winter has been chiefly of a wealthy and luxurious kind, which naturally restricts itself to the older quarters of the city. The coming May day will no doubt witness the breaking up of many old homes adjacent to the line of rapid transit on Third and Sixth avenues. Parties who find the racket of rapid transit unbearable will seek new residences and a most inviting field of choice is presented in the new building quarter above Fifty-ninth street. The supply of new houses is not excessive in that quarter and will probably prove no more than enough to satisfy this prospective demand. The projection of private residences has been kept within very moderate bounds during the past year, in some measure from the lack of a pronounced and active demand in its earlier portion; but principally from the lack of means among enterprising and meritorious builders. The miscarriage of several building loan operations, particularly those undertaken by the Hemenway estate with Buddensieck & Co., on Madison avenue, between Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth streets; of Willet Bronson with Styles & Co., on various streets above Fifty-ninth street; and of Messrs. Soher & Loew with Ballard & Marsh on Fifty-third and Fifty-sixth streets, have all had a chilling effect upon capitalists, who might otherwise feel disposed to cultivate this form of investment. The unsatisfactory results of these operations and of many others like them will continue for some time to exert a deterring effect upon building loan propositions. Legitimate building will flourish and become profitable only when the more speculative and reckless operations are permanently concluded.

48 PINE ST., Jan. 27, 1879.

To the Editor of THE REAL ESTATE RECORD.

SIR: I have been so much impressed by several articles which have been published in your RECORD, on the subject of the inequalties of taxation, as imposed on this community, under the present system, that I venture to make some suggestions that occur to me, after reading your recent article on Bank Taxation and particularly noting the last three paragraphs of that article. My motive is merely to stimulate, if possible, your most commendable efforts and intention to enlighten this oppressively and unequally taxed body of citizens, so that they may cooperate to obtain from the legislature such action as will distribute more equitably the burden of taxation.

That all personal estate or capital invested in business (save and except the sum of $1,000) should be taxed relatively and in connection with Real Estate admits of no question as to principle or public policy. As it is now, the heavy capitalist evades the personal tax, while the receiver of a small income is seriously wronged. The same inequality prevails as to Real Estate; many prominent buildings are assessed but 40 to 50 per cent. of their actual cost, while a large proportion of the moderately improved properties are assessed from 65@85 per cent. of their actual market value. These statements can be verified by reference to the assessors books.

As an illustration of the "taxable resources of this city" to which you allude, let us estimate what sum might be derived by a levy of one per cent. upon all capital invested in business and located here, whether in bank, insurance, manufacturing, elevated or surface railways, ferries or other franchises of the city, mortgages, or any other investment of whatever nature. If it were defined by law that the tax on capital should, under no circumstances, exceed 1 per cent., and that the taxes upon Real Estate should, under no circumstances, exceed 1 and a half per cent. on fair and reasonable valuation, the influx of capital from all large cities and populous districts of this country and from abroad, would greatly develop the commerce and growth of this city, and enhance its taxable resources vastly.

Is the method now adopted of assessing Real Estate the correct one? Should not productive property be assessed upon a different basis from unproductive?

Would it not be more equitable to assess productive property on such a basis as this: Take the net rental for from one to five years, after deducting repairs and taxes paid, and value the property at 80 per cent of the amount of capital on which it has yielded 6 per cent. net, and tax on that basis?

Would it not be more advantageous to assess unproductive property at not exceeding 50 per cent. of its appraised market value, and thus encourage improvement in more individual cases?

In a word, Mr. Editor, can you not devise a method of taxation on capital as well as Real Estate which would not bear oppressively upon either?

If you can, I feel convinced that you could secure, for its advocates before the Legislature, support from a vast multitude who are interested in the development of Real Estate and the investment of capital and the remarkable success which has attended your popular journal would be increased accordingly.

AN OLD SUBSCRIBER AND TAXPAYER ON PERSONAL AS WELL AS REAL ESTATE.

THE SLOANE BUILDING.

On the northeast corner of Broadway and Thirty-second street, there has recently arisen a building, which, owing to its duplex construction, deserves notice in the columns of THE RECORD. The owner, foreseeing the growing tendency of business to move uptownward, has constructed there not only an office building, but also a perfect apartment house. Mr. George Sloane purchased this property a few years ago, and now, at the comparatively low cost of about a hundred thousand dollars, has not only greatly improved that corner of our leading thoroughfare, but has made an investment of which he will very shortly, if he does not already, reap large pecuniary profits.

The "Sloane" building, so called after its owner, occupies a frontage of fifty-four feet on Broadway, and one hundred and twenty-two feet ten inches on Thirty-second street. The building, which is throughout constructed in the Venetian style, presents a quite handsome appearance, and, unless note be taken of the stores on the ground floor, nobody, in passing that corner, would at all imagine that its Broadway frontage on the upper floors was also occupied by business offices. Such is the fact, however, Mr. Sloane himself occupying the corner store, and portions of the first, second, third and fourth floors being already disposed of for business purposes.

Seventy-three feet on Thirty-second street have been appropriated for the use of families, there being three flats in each story, thus making room for nine families in all. The advantage of position occupied by this building is such that a perfect flood of light permeates all of the floors, which are constructed with exceeding good taste and with all the privacy one can wish for, there being private hallways and corridors, excluding the tenants from any interference by outside parties. Each suite is composed of nine rooms, thus affording each family ample convenience, with bathrooms, kitchen, etc., attached.

The entrance on Thirty-second street is through a portico, supported by polished granite pillars, with artistically carved capitals, the lintels being quite heavy. The trimming stone is of a light brown, and upon the lintels are carved rosettes. On entering the building, which has a beautifully tiled hallway, the visitor is at once impressed with the solidity of the structure, its neatness and comfort. No pains appear to have been spared by either architect or builder to give the Sloane building not only the ornamental, but also the practical advantages, which could be procured by the combination of skill and capital.

The interior walls, even, are all supported by fireproof columns, of which anyone can convince himself by examining the large rooms on the front story and in the basement, where there is a substantial engine-room to work the boiler for the elevator and other purposes. It took, however, considerable labor to lay the foundations of this building, as not only concrete and stones, but also piles had to be used to construct a firm and substantial bed. Years ago, there used to be a lake there, the water from the East River coming all the way up to that section, and men are alive to day who remember how a number of boys used to swim there, before ever anyone thought that even this corner would become a centre in New York's business quarter.

Mr. J. Stoud, of 1267 Broadway, has been the architect of this building, and Mr. Sloane, the owner, appears to be more than satisfied with the completion of the work. Great credit is due, however, to Conkling & Kipp, the builders, of 119 West Thirty-third street, as Mr. Kipp, in addition to the regular work entrusted to him, took virtually charge of the entire construction of the Sloane Building, in the capacity of superintendent. The masons are H. B. Weeks & Co.

Mr. Kipp speaks in high terms of the stone cutting on this building, which has been done by William E. Thornton, of Newark.

Mr. S. B. Ferdon, of Thirty-first street, has supplied most of the iron work, while Mr. Banta had particular charge of the construction of the stairs.

James Thomson, of 339 West Forty-seventh street, had charge of the plastering, and upon examination, the work performed by him comes up fully to the very best standard.

In these times of leaky roofs, the work of Irving Brothers, Twenty-fourth street and Ninth avenue, in connection with this building can be examined to advantage.

The glass furnished to the Sloane building forms a very important item, and the London & Manchester Company, of Maiden lane (J. A. Waller, Jr., agent), who have furnished the plate glass, have given extreme satisfaction to the owner and architect. The plain glass has been furnished by Eugene Delano, of 13 Murray street.

Great care has been taken to supply this building with the latest plumbing improvements, Byrnes & Brady, of Seventh avenue and Thirty-fourth street, having carefully made arrangements against the escape of sewer gas, and furnishing patent traps for every line of sewer.

The heating arrangements have been supplied by the Angell & Blake Manufacturing Company and some very excellent grates have been furnished by Mr. Serven, of 1479 Broadway.

H. G. Tremborg, of Third avenue, between One Hundred and Forty-ninth and One Hundred and Fiftieth streets, had charge of the painting, and the bricks used were furnished by A. Seaman & Son.

It will be noticed on approaching the building here described, that the sidewalks are constructed of a superior article of bluestone, furnishing a smoothness and color not always met with, even along our leading streets. These bluestones have been furnished by Mr. Golding, of Fifty-fourth street and the North River.

Thus far the owner has had considerable success with this building, he having rented quite a number of the suites at an average rental of $900 per annum.

DOYING'S NEW THIRTY HOUSES.

THE RECORD has heretofore called attention to the numerous houses erected by Ira Doying in Madison avenue, Sixty-sixth and Sixty-seventh streets, all within the precinct covered by the new Seventh Regiment Armory, which is to be looked upon henceforth as a landmark in the upper part of the city. When we last referred to Mr. Doying's enterprise, the houses on the south side of Sixty-sixth street were not all finished. To-day, they stand ready for the occupancy of those parties of moderate means who desire to invest their spare funds judiciously and still own their own homesteads in what is shortly to be the very heart of the city, so far as comfortable residences are concerned. The locality, being within gunshot of the Central Park, and within a minute or two walk of the rapid transit roads, in a part of the city the most salubrious and select as to health and surroundings, is just the one where the active mind and muscle of our metropolis is going to settle down within the next ten years. The houses, above alluded to, are all four-story brown stone and basement, the frontage ranging from eighteen to twenty two feet, with entrances peculiarly characteristic of the spirit which has dictated the construction of all these houses. Open and ornamental basement entrances, with front doors and vestibules as attractive as any that can be found in the more expensive residences; everything inside finished in an artistic and still solid manner, with parlors, bedrooms and other apartments all constructed on a principle that has been guided by a taste of elegance, these houses, at the low prices now asked for them, will be snapped up even before the Ides of March set in. And yet there are houses equally as good in every respect on Sixty-seventh street, just as acceptable to investors as the others. Only they are a little more ornamental, and, on examination, will be found to be really still more marketable than those on Sixty-sixth street.

The Madison avenue row, between Sixty-second and Sixty third streets, erected by the same enterprising builder, is peculiar in so far as it presents a number of first class residences at low prices in a thoroughfare that, it will now be generally admitted, will be secondary to none in New York. Many inquiries have been made in regard to these houses, which are held at comparatively low rates by the proprietor, and their sale has already begun.

LAW OFFICES IN THE EQUITABLE BUILDING.

In so extensive a building as that of the Equitable Society, at 120 Broadway, changes necessarily occur from time to time, but the tendency more and more among lawyers is to look out for vacant rooms in a building which, like this, offers special advantages to the profession.

Only the tenants of the building can use the Law Library, which is one of the most complete in the country, and is a most attractive place for quiet work and study. A room has been prepared in the same building for the use of tenants, specially intended for references and private consultations. These, with the law telegraph and the many other conveniences, render the building the most popular among lawyers in the city.

A full description of the property to be sold is printed in our advertising columns on the second page. During the week ending February 14th, eighteen plans, embracing twenty-nine buildings, the estimated cost of which is $293,350, were filed with Superintendent Dudley. The following are noteworthy: Mr. Robert Maclay will erect a five-story brick (cast iron front) store (25x206.6), at No. 32 West Fourteenth street, extending to Thirteenth street. Bryan McKenna will erect at Nos. 46 and 48 Fifty-eighth street, two four-story brown stone dwellings. On the north side of Fifty-seventh street, west of Fourth avenue, W. F. Croft proposes to erect four four-story brown stone dwellings. John Matthews will erect six three-story dwellings on the northwest corner of Lexington avenue and Seventy-sixth street and Mrs. Emma J. Johnston will erect four four-story apartment houses on the north side of Eighty-fifth street, east of First avenue.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Wholesale or cargo operations in Common Hards, have as a matter of course, been moderate, in view of the small arrivals, the supply still being confined entirely to such parcels as may work through from the Long Island points of production. These offerings, however, have been quickly taken up, and at better rates, with the cost reaching up to $5.25@5.50 per M for anything at all desirable, and the position firm. Indeed there has been a good trade all around, and some of the dealers we find are already making such a reduction in their yard accumulations as to excite serious apprehension that they may run short before sources of supply are again brought within reach. The consumption has, as before noted been very fair whenever the weather would permit and promises to continue so on both old and new work, though buyers will not pay extreme or fancy prices, and an attempt to secure such must result in shutting off much demand. As to the prospect of reaching the stock in the hands of producers, the feeling is irregular. Some of the trade think the recent rainstorms may have weakened the ice sufficient to cause a break up and a restoring of communication with the yards, but others claim that the ice is unusually thick and compact in the "Bay," and will require a much more protracted period of mild weather to move it. Even with a clear passage however, the only means of communication could only be by "barge," and of these very few are left in the business. Pale bricks are wanted and would command extreme rates for good stock. Fronts receive their due proportion of demand, and are quite steady on price. We quote Pale, P M., $3.00@—; Hards, Up-Rivers, $—@—; Haverstraw bay, $—@—; favorite brands, ——@——: Fronts, Croton—Brown, $7; dark, $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $26@28; Trenton, $24@29; Baltimore, $34@38. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@3 higher on ordinary and $5@6 on fronts.

GLASS.—Demand does not greatly improve or extend over a very wide district of country, but still there is on the whole, some increase in the movement and dealers predict a steady addition to orders up to a point of considerable animation. All small dealers and distributors, as well as consumers, it is claimed, are without stock to speak of in view of the careful hand to mouth policy so long adopted as a basis of operations and must soon commence to get ready for spring trade, and this is looked upon as a oasis for a good, full movement, even if the old plan is still adhered to. On prices, the tone appears to be somewhat more steady and uniform than for some time past. Importers recently agreed upon a list advancing rates from 10 to 15 per cent, especially for the larger sizes and in all cases are understood to be looking for the full prices named. A good local consumption of window glass is calculated upon during this year.

HARDWARE.—There is a fair tendency toward increase on the amount of business doing and the market remains in good and promising shape. Agents are penetrating more thoroughly into sections where stocks are small and broken, and are in consequence enabled to increase the number and proportion of their memorandums, while direct mail orders and buyers in person are helping to swell the movement. Prices in pretty much all cases are well maintained, and the general tone of the market is quite firm. Dealers, as a rule, appear to anticipate a first rate local demand this year. The New York Brace Company have placed a new line of bit braces upon the market at net rates, as follows: New York brace, No. 8, with 8-inch sweep, at $5 per dozen; No. 10, 10-inch sweep, $5.50 do; No. 12, 12 inch sweep, $6 do; No. 18, 8 inch sweep, with ratchet attachment, $10 do; No. 20, 10-inch sweep, do do, $11 do; cutting thumbscrew brace, No. 28, 8 inch sweep, $1 per dozen; No. 30, 10-inch sweep, $1.50 do. Sargent's patent snaps are selling at the former list, but cost has been reduced by changing the discount to 66⅔d and 10 per cent for prompt cash. Henry Disston & Sons announce that they will not in future retail at the factory hand-saws, files and goods of that class.

LATH.—There is not much new to advise upon this market. Business, in a wholesale way, has a moderate volume consequent upon the small amount of stock offering afloat and when receivers are asked for a quotation they generally call the position "about as before." This makes $1.50 per M and is the rate which buyers tell us they have been asked. Openly there does not appear to be much demand, but dealers have run stocks down pretty low in some cases and are so placed that on any increased call for distribution they would be very anxious to find cargo offering.

LIME.—A moderate demand from all quarters and stock enough to meet it without much delay or trouble, keeps the market in rather a dull and stupid condition throughout. Former prices are ruling and nominally steady, but sellers do not appear to be looking for or expecting much advantage for some little time to come.

LUMBER.—We cannot hear of much additional demand, but, as a dealer expressed it, "buyers who have been fooling around for some time seem more inclined to talk positive business," and the feeling is hopeful that, a fair start once made on contracts, operations will steadily increase. The prospects for consumption on building account are quite as favorable as ever, while the calls for various lines of manufacture will probably be proportionately full. All these cheerful expectations, however, are free from speculative views looking to any radical gain on values, and immense sales, &c., but are the natural outgrowth of the conservative tone to which both buyers and sellers have become educated. On the one hand is the acceptance of the probability that cost has gone about as low as can reasonably be expected, and where good use can be found for supplies it is as well to purchase as to wait, while, on the other side, is the knowledge that low prices are the principal basis of demand, that "short crop" is hardly among the possibilities; and that whenever a clean margin for profit is bid, be it ever so small, right then and there is the time to secure it, in nine cases out of ten.

Eastern Spruce could be sold to some extent if here, and for really good desirable lengths pretty full prices would no doubt be paid. Some dealers are already short and naturally desire to replenish, but are not likely to obtain much stock for some time to come. Still the general run of the trade controls a fair amount and assortment as yet, and buyers willing to "shop around" can satisfy most current wants without much difficulty. On contracts for spring delivery a reticent tone is as yet preserved, though $13.00 and above covers the average quotation. We quote at $11.50@12.00 for random, possibly $12.50@13.00 for choice lengths in small cargoes and $13.00@14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult.

White Pine undergoes no very radical change. We find some little variation in the views of dealers over the range of prices and the current tone, but as a rule they admit about former figures to be a fair representation and the situation at least steady. The home demand has been a trifle better and a portion of the export outlet seems likely to require a larger amount of the export outlet seems likely to require a larger amount of stock to fill it. We quote at $14.50@15.00 per M for West India shipping boards; $19.50@21 for South American do.; $14@15 for box boards; $16@17 for do. wide and sound; and timber to order at $38@50 per M.

Yellow Pine is pretty steady, partly because rates are about as low as sellers can really afford to listen to on negotiations, and partly because demand has been fair and promises a continuation if not an increase on the present volume. Nearly all business is on contract for future delivery, but with stock to come along as soon as shipments can be made. The arrivals since the first of the year have been quite full. We quote random cargoes at about $18@22 per M., ordered cargoes $22@24 do; green flooring boards, $20@21 do.; and dry do. do, $20@24 Cargoes at the South, $13@14.50 per M.; hewed timber $7.50@14.

Hardwoods, dealers report as "all right." Business does not assume very ample proportions as yet, but there appears much confidence in improvement in due time, and awaiting this stocks are indifferently offered and carried for full rates. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut, $77@85 per M.; ash, $33@36 do; oak, $35@40 do; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do. do., culls, $18@20 do; cherry, $45@75 do; white wood, ¼ and ⅝ inch. $25@27.50, and do. inch $33@35 do; hickory, $35@45 do. for Western, and $65@75 for good near by stock.

Yard dealers are in nearly all cases fairly active, and some of the larger firms, whose assortments are more attractive than the average, have at times been very busy. The demand is of the usual general character, and covers all grades to a greater or less extent, while on the line of cost former figures remain current with a steady tone.

From among the lumber charters recently reported we select the following:

An Am. brig, 453 tons, from King's Ferry to Rio Janeiro, lumber, $19.50 net; a schr., hence to Cardenas or Matanzas, empty hhds., 75c.; a schr., 857 tons, from Pensacola to Ponce P. GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

The Troy Times has the following on the Tolls on Lumber: Manufacturers of timber justly complain against the discrimination in tolls, which make s the expense of transporting the raw material through the Erie canal to the mills five and a half times that of so transporting sawed lumber. This discrimination accounts, it is said, for the decline of the trade in the easterly portion of the State and its consequent diversion to western mills, and threatens to become a virtual prohibition of this manufacturing interest in the former section. The remedy for this unfortunate condition of affairs is to reduce the rate of toll on unsawed lumber from $2.83 to 51 cents per thousand feet, the latter price being the present rate of toll on sawed lumber. Such a reduction would quickly result in the shipping of large quantities of the raw material via the canal, and operate to the advantage of mill owners in this portion of the state, though it might prove anything but a benefit to manufacturers who, because of the present toll discrimination, have erected mills in Michigan and shipping their lumber by rail avoid baying tribute to the canal. The remedy can easily be found and readily applied if the canal board and the legislature will do their duty in the matter. It may be further said that dealers in the northern part of the state say that they are not materially affected by the present rate of tolls on lumber, but that the tolls on lathes and shingles are at least treble what they should be.

THE WEST.

The following from the Lumberman and Manufacturer:

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., February 6, 1879.

Along the river line of cities there is very little worth noting in the way of lumber business but it is manifest that a feeling of uneasiness exists among holders concerning the prospects of a spring trade. St. Louis has altogether the best local and general trade of any point on the river, it being exceptionally good in all branches of business. The report of Boards of Trade for the week ending the 15th ult., show that only three cities in the Union shows an increase over the corresponding week last year:

New York	14 6
St Louis	32.2
Cleveland	61.8

The losses are:

Boston	8.6
Philadelphia	14.4
Chicago	3.1
Cincinnati	2.9
New Orleans	21.8
San Francisco	13.2
Baltimore	6 3
Milwaukee	26 6
Pittsburgh	2.4
Louisville	8.7
Providence	24.2
New Haven	10.6
Syracuse	6.6

From this it will be seen that the lumber trade is not the only trade that is flat, as these reports cover all the business done in the great staple commodities of the country. Chicago forms no exception to the general rule since the freight rates to the Missouri river were put back to $60 per car. We mention, however, in this connection that a rumor prevails that up to the 15th ult., at least, the $35 rate was continued and drawbacks paid since that time to shippers of lumber. The volume of business, however, does not seem to indicate this.

It is a very nice question whether the lack of snow which the lumbermen have endured for the season, so far, is as great a misfortune as an abundance would have been, the principal difference being that a very different crowd have to do the suffering in each case. Without snow the loggers, who are generally contractors, are unable to meet expenses and too often the losses have to fall on the poor laborers; but the scarcity of logs makes good prices for lumber and the manufacturer frequently makes more out of his limited supply than he would with an overstock. With plenty of snow in this year of Our Lord, 1879, there would have been secured an amount of logs sufficient at least to have forced the price down to far below living rates to the producer and the present scarcity of snow gives promise of something like reasonable pay for logs, as well as lumber, unless some fresh calamity should fall upon the farmers of the West to the destruction of their crops. It is far too early to venture upon estimates or predictions of the crop, as much time remains and it is possible yet to secure many more logs than are needed. Stocks of lumber are being reduced at a very slow rate in all parts of the country. Chicago trade seems mercurial, and only averages up a little over half a million feet per day more than the receipts, which, divided up among seventy-five, or more, yards, indicates dull times in spite of the daily assurance of the papers that "the demand for lumber on shipping account is fair, and prices rule steady," etc. The break on prices at the beginning of the month, which we duly noted, has apparently brought no additional trade to the river cities, and the parties who made the reduction are apparently satisfied with the experiments in this direction, and will probably sit down and wait for trade before making any more changes. A few manifest some anxiety to sell, but do not shade prices much to secure it.

The Lumberman's Gazette, in reviewing its yearly report, says: The record as shown in the mass of figures presented ought to be satisfactory to the trade in the Valley, especially so in view of the unsatisfactory opening of the season just passed. The amounts of lumber manufactured in the Valley proper, comprising the counties of Saginaw and Bay, was the largest for a series of years, with the exception of 1877, when the amount manufactured was the largest ever known, and the shipments were less than twenty million feet short of the largest amount ever shipped in one year from the Valley, while the amount of stock left over on the docks at the close of the season was less than seven million feet in excess of that held over during the winter of 1877-8. These facts, together with the additional fact that a large proportion of the stock reported on hand is held by manufacturers who own yards elsewhere, and ship to them direct, and the additional fact that a much larger proportion of stock than usual is being held for planing mill purposes, taking the stock out of the wholesale or cargo market here, reduces the rough stock for sale in this market to a merely nominal amount, so that we shall enter the season of 1879 with but a fair supply of lumber on hand for sale. Sales made thus far this winter have indicated no very material change from the prices which ruled 30 or 60 days ago, but the transactions during the next thirty days will probably go a long ways in moulding the market the coming season. But few buyers are in the market and only an occasional sale obtains publicity, and these are mostly jobbing lots. The rail shipments thus far are comparatively light, owing to freight rates charged, but mainly to the fact that there is but a light demand in the Eastern markets, where Saginaw lumber mainly goes. The light inquiry for stock at this time is doubtless due to the fact of an anticipation of an overstock of logs the present winter, predicted on the immense lumbering operations in progress in all the lumbering districts at the present time. In the Saginaw districts and along the east shore of the State operations are progressing favorably, with the prospects of a large supply of logs, but from information from various quarters we are led to believe operators will make no effort to continue the season in the woods, after a fair stock has been secured, longer than necessary, even should the season prove favorable. The weather during the past week has been mild, and no snow has fallen, and from some quarters we learn that hauling is prosecuted with some difficulty. We also learn that a number of camps are preparing to break up early next month, and it is quite probable that a large number of operators will cease operations before the first of March, while usually the season runs into April. While it is scarcely safe to make predictions for the season of 1879, the indications are good for a fair year's trade.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Williamsport (Pa.) Gazette says it is announced in lumber circles that a weighmaster has been appointed to weigh all lumber cars leaving that city on the Philadelphia & Erie and Philadelphia & Reading roads, and says: "Hereafter all cars leaving this city will be billed by actual weight, at so much per ton. The old rate, say to Philadelphia, was $3 per thousand feet. Under the new arrangement, lumbermen claim, it will cost them $3.50 to $4 per thousand feet. Our lumbermen consider this an unjust freight, as compared with western freights, and many of them say they will delay shipments until navigation opens, when they can ship by canal. In conversation with prominent lumbermen yesterday, they all agree that a rate at so much per ton is not objectionable but that rate should not make lumber cost them over $3 per thousand in Philadelphia. Mr. George Housel, the gentleman chosen as weighmaster, is an old citizen of Williamsport, and will do his duty both to the railroad companies and to the lumbermen."

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has been unsettled and sold lower since our last report, but of late the offerings fell off somewhat and prices recovered, closing with a pretty steady tone ruling on the market. Quoted at 15½ for Lake. Manufactured copper not very active, but a combination of producers has of late been formed and prices are firm at a new card rate showing some advance. We quote about as follows: Brazier's Copper, ordinary size over 16 oz. per sq. foot 24c. per lb.; do. do. do., 16 oz. and over 12 oz., per sq. foot, 26c. per lb.; do. do., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 28c. per lb.; do. do., lighter than 10 oz. per sq. foot, 30c. per lb.; circles, less than 84 inches in diameter, 27c. per lb.; do. 84 inches in diameter and over, 3 c. per lb.; segment and pattern sheets, 27c. per lb.; locomotive fire box sheets, 24c. per lb.; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 22c per lb., and Bolt Copper 24c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig has found a somewhat more steady demand with a slight strengthening on values, but buyers took no very liberal quantity. We quote at $19.00@22.50 according to brand and quantity handled. American pig also sold with more freedom and in generally better shape, imparting a comparatively cheerful tone to the market, though as yet without greatly advancing cost. We quote nominally at $16.00@18.00 for No. 1 per ton, $15.50@17.00 for No. 2, and $14.50@16.00 for Forge. Rails moderately active on both iron and steel, but for all offerings look for full former rates. We quote at $32@36 for new iron, and $41@44 for steel, according to delivery. Old Rails $19.50@20.00 per ton; scrap, $21.00@$22. Manufactured iron has found a slightly increased outlet for small lots and the ruling tone of the market is somewhat stronger. Common merchant bar quoted in round lots at 1.7c., and Refined at 1.9c., but for ten-ton lots from store, 1.8c and 2c. are respectively insisted upon. Common sheet, 3c., and best R. G. American, 4c. from store. LEAD—Domestic Pig selling somewhat moderately, but holders retain their advantage without much difficulty, and desirable stocks can be reached at full figures. We quote at 4¾@5c. The manufactures of lead are steady and quoted: Bar 5½c., Pipe 5½c. and Sheet 6½c.—less the usual discount to the trade; and Tin-lined Pipe 12 c., Block Tin Pipe, 40c., on same terms. TIN—Pig is offered without indications of special desire or effort to realize, but demand is slow and confined in the main to small job parcels to satisfy early wants. We quote at 17¾@18c. for Banca, 14¾@15c. for Straits, 14⅝@14⅝c. for English refined, and 14@14¼c. for do. common. Tin plates not active on charcoal, but ternes sell very well and prices rule about steady. Spelter dull, but holders firm and asking some advance. Quoted at 4¾@5c. for Western. Sheet Zinc in good average demand and ruling steady at 6¾@6¾c according to quantity.

OILS.—Demand for consumption has shown an increased tendency and the feeling is somewhat more cheerful. Supplies of an attractive character are plenty enough for the outlet, but show no surplus, and holders do no urge business. We quote linseed oil at 61c.@65 per gallon from crusher's hands.

PAINTS.—Business has been very good, somewhat more animated if anything, and, as a whole, the market is improving. Shipping orders are helping move stock to some extent, and there is a very good call on local account of a fairly general character, and which affords sale for more or less of all the standard brands and styles. The situation of affairs naturally has a healthy influence upon prices, and while no special buoyancy is stimulated, a full and even line of valuation is sustained.

PITCH.—Offerings are not very large and appear to be dealt out in quantities to suit the wants of the market, with no special effort made to realize on the part of holders. Demand fluctuates somewhat, but takes a fair amount of supplies, and on a basis of about former cost. We quote at $1.87½@2.12½ per bbl. for City, delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—There has not been quite so much animation, and business at times dragged a little. Holders, however, have the supply under very good control, and refuse to offer with freedom or to shade cost. We quote at 30@32c. per gallon, according to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—Business keeps fairly active in a jobbing way and at about the former full range of cost, the market retaining a steady tone. For wholesale parcels, however, matters are somewhat unsettled, and the movement slow as a rule. We quote at $2@2.37½ per bbl. for Newberne and Washington, and $2.12½@2.50 for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

NAILS.—The demand still shows something of a cautious guiding, and very few buyers have handled more stock than almost positive necessity indicated. Dealers, however, seem to think that for the season of the year they are doing about all that could be hoped for, and the undertone of the market is steady. We quote on a basis of $2.10@2.15 for 10d. to 60d., according to size of invoice.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

EXPENSIVE HOUSES.

During the days of exuberant prosperity, speculative builders of the first rank exhibited an admirable although sadly unrequited ambition to excel in the method and style of house construction. In fact, the period of building activity which followed closely upon the end of the war has been fitly denominated the big bonanza era, because during this time a larger number of very costly and elaborate buildings were erected than during any preceding period. Speculative productions anterior to the war were chiefly remarkable for plainness and awkwardness among the better class and for slovenliness and unskilfulness among the commoner class. The building business was then left so entirely in the hands of the lower grade of speculative builders that their productions appeared in a large majority and characterized the whole building improvement of the city. Expensive mansions were then generally projected by wealthy private owners. Probably not more than half a dozen speculative builders can be recalled who had the courage and skill to produce first-class, elegant dwellings for the market. The exceptional and startling outburst of building activity which followed the war was distinguished principally by progressive merit and sensational extravagance in the style, quality and finish of superior productions. Of the typical buildings of that era it may be said that they displayed substantiality and elegance combined, and they were no less indicative of an honest desire on the part of builders to excel in their calling than responsive to an actual and pronounced demand on the part of the public for more meritorious and impressive dwelling establishments than had theretofore been offered. This rivalry in expensive workmanship ultimately led many builders into extreme and absurd follies. During the seasons of 1872 and 1873, competition reached its culminating point. First-class houses of that period are now acknowledged to excel in all details of construction anything that has ever been produced in a speculative way in this or any other city in the world. The prices then demanded and for a time realized for these expensive mansions ranged from $100,000 to $250,000 a piece and the general magnificence displayed in them readily suggested extravagant purchase prices.

After the panic this class of workmanship fell into disrepute as unsuited to hard times and commercially unprofitable, being regarded as the natural fruit of high inflation and the offspring of over-prosperous days. The enormous and ruinous losses of builders who indulged in these fancies suggest the moral that adorns the tale of many an unsuccessful building venture. With the subsidence of inflation and the fading away of the big bonanza days, it was commonly supposed that master builders, in sympathy with the prevailing spirit of economy, would devise and adopt less expensive models of building, and bring the business back to the simple and severe standards of primitive times. For a while, this expectation seemed likely to be realized, although there are a few leading builders who have never entirely forsaken their established standard of first-class, elegant workmanship, and, we may add, they have never failed in finding appreciative customers for their productions, even during the past five years of unprecedented hardship.

All the fine houses which were left unsold and panic-bound in builders' hands after 1873 were fully marketed within two years thereafter. Then followed an era of plain and unpretentious building, which quickly exhausted itself. One after another, active builders have promptly returned to the higher standards of elaborate and elegant finish, and within the past year a larger number of expensive houses has been built in the fashionable quarter than in any year since the panic. It is the avowed experience of many builders that, within certain limits, the more artistically a house is embellished, the more ready and easy is the sale. The buyers of these elegant residences are representative persons of wealth from the four quarters of the globe. They do not settle in the metropolis in order to economize, but for the reason that they are wealthy and wish to live elegantly and luxuriously. Their number may not be large but is sufficient to absorb the current supply of such properties, and their tastes are particularly fastidious and exacting.

Fifty-fourth and Fifty-eighth streets, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, have each been almost solidly built up since the panic with a superior class of buildings, fully equal to, if not above the average of big bonanza productions. During the past month, the more elaborate of these new structures have found prompt purchasers at prices which are believed to be remunerative to the builders. On Fifty-fourth street, Lynde has sold one at $40,000; on Fifty-eighth street, McKenna two, at $50,000 each, and McManus two, at about $43,000 each. Besides these, the house and lot No. 665 Fifth avenue erected by Mr. E. V. Loew, was promptly sold to Mr. Henry M. Shefflin, on his recent return from Europe, at $75,000, which sum is said to have been actually realized in money. The house and lot No. 15 West Fifty-seventh street was sold by Mr. Sheftel to Dr. Huyler at $55,000. The Messrs. Lynde are now completing one house on Fifth avenue, between Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth streets, for which they will expect to realize about $90,000, and three houses on Fifty-fifth street, between Fifth and Madison avenues, which will fairly rank in completeness and splendor with the highest grade ever produced in this city. For these they will ask respectively, $65,000 and $42,000.

These facts and others which we might cite, taken in connection with events of recent occurrence, known already to pretty much the whole community, all point with unerring accuracy to the growing exclusiveness and permanency which are likely to mark the present fashionable quarter of the metropolis. The value of land in this section has recovered fully twenty-five per cent. from the point of lowest depreciation, and this improvement in value has grown out of a healthy and actual demand for property and is based upon real cash transactions. Not far from one hundred lots have been taken out of the available stock in this section for immediate improvement during the past year. Probably not more than one hundred of the remaining stock of about three hundred are readily available, and for these, builders who may elect to improve them in a speculative way will have to enter into sharp competition with private individuals. It is likely that these few remaining lots will be quickly appropriated by private individuals who now evince greater interest and enterprize in having their mansions built to order than they have displayed in this respect for many years. Between twenty and twenty-five first class private mansions are now being erected in the best quarters of the city by private owners, under the supervision of prominent architects. The significant and notable feature of these new private projections is, that without an exception they are very expensive illustrations of individual ideas, showing that there is a class for whom our great speculative builders cannot successfully cater. All this splendid enterprise and expensive investment, moreover, is being made below Fifty-ninth street. When the Vanderbilts set out to pioneer new homes for themselves, they did not choose corners, or blocks facing Central Park, which might have been purchased at prices greatly below what were paid, but they displayed their judgment and taste in regard to locations by picking out the most expensive property below Fifty-ninth street, and paying for it probably higher prices than could be realized from any other purchasers at this time.

If the fashion and wealth of the city continue to concentrate within the small precinct bounded by Forty-second and Fifty-ninth streets, Fifth and Fourth avenues, it will be increasingly difficult to place any arbitrary limit upon the value of this exceedingly choice property.

LOT DIAGRAMS.

We have a word or two to say upon the subject of lot diagrams. Architects, lawyers, builders, brokers, in fact, all concerned in real estate operations, have occasion, more or less frequently, to sketch diagrams of the location of real estate. An inexperienced person might suppose that so simple a matter could be done in but one way and that the right way. By some unaccountable fatality, however, it is a task more frequently blundered in than done correctly. The diagram constitutes the readiest and most popular method of presenting the location and boundaries of a given piece of property, and, in its terseness and saliency, far surpasses the best coined phrases of verbal description. If this is inaccurately or inexpertly rendered, the result is inextricable confusion. The lesson in geography earliest imprinted upon the infant mind is that of boundaries, and this lesson is generally so deeply impressed upon the memory that scarcely any person, however meagre may have been his education, can fail to recall that the top of the page indicates the northerly boundary; the bottom, the southerly; the right, the easterly, and the left, the westerly.

Failing to keep this idea vividly before them, many really intelligent people not infrequently draw diagrams which would hardly do credit to a Chinese. Without specifying the various mistakes which are apt to occur in this regard, we would call attention to the principal one, that of inverting these well established and widely recognized properties of the diagram, making what should be the north line the south and vice versa. A somewhat singular psychological explanation is given for this error. It is said that these inverted diagrams are more frequently found in the offices of up-town than of down-town brokers and real estate men. The former seem to have a habit of regarding Pine street as the North Pole of the real estate universe, and, as they sit in their offices up-town with their minds directed south to Pine street, they are instinctively and unconsciously led to sketch their diagrams with the southerly boundary occupying the line which is usually reserved for the northerly and vice versa for the different points of the compass. This specie of carelessness or idiosyncrasy may be excusable in inexperienced or uneducated persons, but those who are esteemed to be well versed in the business can hardly be pardoned for presenting a diagram in which the points of the compass are so confusingly disarranged. The plotting of our city blocks is so conveniently devised for the location of property that there is no reason why a diagram should be lacking in precision and intelligibility. Whether the diagram embodies vacant lots or improved property; whether it is intended for circulation from hand to hand, or for publication in the daily press, in pamphlets or in journals, the established rule should always be observed of maintaining the top line as the northerly boundary of the block.

THE BOREEL BUILDING.

This building, now almost completed, has attracted the attention of so many business men during its construction, that a failure to notice it in the columns of THE RECORD would be tantamount to ignoring the existence of the Real Estate Exchange. With a satisfaction akin to the demands of the times, the solid community has seen this building arise, challenging, with its substantial appearance, a contrast with some of the gaudier edifices in the city. With a frontage of 101.2 feet on Broadway and 140 feet on Cedar street, The Boreel Building virtually presents a block of offices, which the Messrs. Ludlow are already engaged in letting. It is seven stories high, exclusive of the basement, and is constructed in the Renaisance style, by Mr. S. D. Hatch, in full accord with American business taste, which requires air, light, room and comfort.

The entrance is a half portico with polished granite columns and Italian marble caps and base, with granite pedestals and cornices. This entrance is eleven and a half feet wide and fully twenty six feet high. To show the solidity of the construction, we merely need to state that the walls of The Boreel have a thickness ranging from three feet four inches to two feet. It is constructed throughout on the fireproof principle, the New York Fireproof Building Company having supplied the fireproof materials for the portico, which have proved such a decided preventative of fires.

The most attractive feature of The Boreel, whoever, is the great court fifty feet square in the centre of the building. This court is supplied with an enormous skylight, throwing an immense flood of light upon what is really the principal entrance to the numerous offices. Here four elevators will be constantly running up and down to give access not only to the offices mentioned, but also to the galleries that run at the north and south side of the court.

The basement and main hall are tiled with marble, while all the halls and corridors are finished in hardwood. The stairs, on the contrary, are all of iron with ornamental balusters, and throughout the building iron has been used to a very large extent, making it as nearly fire proof as possible.

In the two large offices for insurance companies on the main floor are four large vaults, each measuring 5x20 and protected by heavy iron doors.

The mason work is by the well-known Robert L. Darragh, and the carpenter work by Chas. F. True, who has also attended to the hardwood work in every part of the building.

The great mass of iron used, necessitated the subdivision of various contracts, the beams being supplied by Post & McCord, of 102 Broadway; Dwight & Hoyt, of Springfield, Mass., furnished the corrugated iron arches; and the Delaware Bridge Company, of New York, supplied the iron girders. The cast iron is from the West Side Iron Works, in West Thirty-third street, where Mr. A. J. Campbell presides. The Cornells have furnished the iron work for the elevators.

These elevators are the Hale Hydraulic, and were furnished by the Otis Brothers.

Messrs. Post & McCord, who have supplied the immense skylight above alluded to for the great court have really distinguished themselves by the excellence of their work, of which owner and architect speak with great praise. The glass of this skylight comes from the Hyatt Brothers.

The boilers, as well as the general heating apparatus thoroughout the building, have been furnished by the Angell & Blake Manufacturing Company; while all the plumbing, as well as the gas arrangements, have been carefully and satisfactorily attended to by J. P. Quin, of West Fourth street.

Mr. Wm. H. Butler, of the old firm of Valentine & Butler, safe manufacturers, prides himself upon the excellent vault doors he has supplied for the four vaults above described, while the iron stairs have been constructed by the West Side Iron Works.

The French sheet glass and interior fancy glass was supplied by Eugene Delano, of Murray street, and the plate glass was furnished by the Belgian Plate Glass Company.

The marble tiling in the basement and main hall and wherever marble has been used in the numerous offices comes from Fisher & Bird's works in East Houston street; the grates from the well-known Jacksons, of Union square.

Various minor details, such as speaking trumpets, door knobs and the like have been supplied by Mr. Newman, of the old firm of Newman & Capron.

Some of our largest insurance companies have secured offices in this building.

Nothing has been omitted to make this office building one of the most substantial, acceptable structures in the lower part of the city, and to judge from present indications the greater proportion of the offices, of which there are one hundred and eighty, will have been rented so as to be occupied on or about May 1st.

Diagrams of the several floors may now be seen at E. H. Ludlow & Co.'s in Pine street.

The contract for building was $270,000.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—On the market for Common Hards the advantage of the position continues very much in seller's favor, and the tone is strong throughout. There is no rate for North River stock, in the absence of supplies, but a few good cargoes could no doubt be placed just now without much trouble at a good, full price. The supply from Long Island has been moderate and continues to find a quick sale at $5.25@5.50 and a small offering has been made from Staten Island, with the limit at $5.25 per M. Dealers' stocks are reduced, and with better weather would, no doubt, run down still faster. As a rule, the indications for spring work still appear favorable and the outlook on the general market is considered encouraging. We learn that contracts have finally been awarded for about twelve million bricks to be used in the construction of foundations for the extension of the elevated roads. Pale bricks are firm and in fair demand. Fronts steady. We quote Pale, ₱ M., $3.00@—; Hards, Up-Rivers, $—@—; Haverstraw bay, $—@—; favorite brands, $—@—; Fronts, Croton—Brown, $7; dark, $8; red, $9; Philadelphia, $26@28; Trenton, $24@29; Baltimore, $34@35. Yard prices, delivery included, $2@3 higher on ordinary and $5@6 on fronts.

A despatch received by a morning journal during the week says:

"An effort is being made to form a combination among the brick makers on the Hudson River, for the purpose of stopping overproduction, in the hope of getting better prices. Manufacturers are being invited to enter into an agreement not to make more than three-fourths of the product of last year, it being proposed to make only 250,000,000 bricks—87,000,000 less than was made along the river in 1878. The market is now glutted, and prices are below the cost of brick. There is enough old stock on hand to supply the demand until the middle of July, and the brick makers say they must do something. It is hoped by the combination to get $1 a thousand in excess of last year's prices. All the Haverstraw Bay and New Windsor brick makers have entered into the compact, and a committee is visiting all points further up the river."

It is claimed here that this combination is a strong one and really in earnest, with a fair prospect of accomplishing its object. This, however, is the usual story, and, with the ill success attending similar efforts in the past, there does not as yet appear to be much alarm created here. Furthermore we are informed that not "all" the brick makers have entered into the compact, one or two of the largest refusing to have anything to do with it.

CEMENT.—The present market on Rosendale is pretty firm. The stock in first hands is held "strong as a rock" at $1.00 per bbl. and dealers are all getting the same or a fraction more for parcels from yard. Demand very good and supplies diminishing, and this adds strength to the position, as it is likely the river will open late. Foreign has shown some irregularity since the first of the year but without making much change on the general range of cost. Business has been good, the sales from landing parcels and before arrival preventing any very great addition to the accumulation, especially of the leading and favorite brands. In the yearly review of the San Francisco Commercial Herald we find the following:

Portland English cement continues to have a preference over all others for sewers and all other important work, nevertheless, it is claimed that some brands of Eastern Rosendale are fully equal thereto. English has sold during the year at $4@4.50 per bbl, and Rosendale at $2@2.25. The competition in this latter article has been strong at all times, and the business of late years has been unprofitable. On the 31st December, 1878, the stock of Eastern Rosendale cement in store was 36,000 bbls: English Portland cement, 10,000. At this date there is very little cement or plaster en route from the East, and judging from present prospects of projected buildings, etc., there is to be no special demand in 1879.

The following from the Toronto Globe will be of interest to manufacturers:

The manufacturers of cement are looking after their interest at Ottawa, and should they get any protection will have as pretty pickings from the public as any other trader who can be mentioned. It is not possible to prevent competition in such manufactures as woolen goods, agricultural implements, boots and shoes, etc., but in cement a monopoly could very easily be created. The stone from which it is made is not widely distributed, the best beds are at Thorold and Hull, and the cement makers in these two places could combine to run up the price of their product. At present they are submitted to a wholesale competition by Oswego and Lafayetteville makers, but as they have made fortunes in the trade they can hardly with justice complain. Cement is absolutely necessary on account of its properties for the foundations of bridges, for canal masonry, culverts and all walls exposed to the continued action of water, and a duty rising its price would add the whole amount to the cost of public works. The Canadian makers, who now get fine profits, can at any time exclude the American article by slightly reducing the prices. The fact that they have a "natural agent" at command, which is denied to most localities, would enable them to escape home competition, and the increased price which a duty would enable them to charge would all come out of the pockets of the people.

HARDWARE.—Demand has been at times a little irregular and a few dealers were inclined to complain somewhat, but the general business keeps up to the average, and, indeed, if anything tends toward a gradual increase. Points on the main line of the principle railways afford the best custom, as buyers are enabled in many cases to secure very favorable "special" rates, but on the branch roads the exactions on transportation charges are said to be instrumental in reducing and retarding demand. Values on most lines of goods continue to be well sustained. A new catalogue has been issued by Clark & Co., Buffalo, on which the following discounts are announced: Door butts, paneled, loose pin, drilled, 75 per cent.; japanned, 75 do; Berlin bronze, 65 do; nickel plated tip, 65 do. Blind hinges, surface No. 1, 3 and 5, 75 & 10 do; 20, 40 and 45, 75 & 10 do; 50, buff, noiseless, 75 & 10 do; 60, 75 & 10 do; mortise No. 2, 4, 4½, 6, 8 and 10, 65 do. Shutter hinges, mortise improved, Nos. 3, 2½, 2, 1½ 1 and 0, 70 & 10 do. Gate hinges, Nos. 1, 2, 3, with latches, 50 & 10 do; Nos. 1 and 2, without latches, 50 & 10 do. Gate latches, reversible, No. 1, 50 & 10 do; Buffalo pattern, No. 4, 50 & 10 do. Thumb and door latches and pulls, 50 & 10 do. Window pulleys, Nos. 10, 20, 30 & 40, 30 do; Boxwood wheel, No. 50, 30 do; Polished wheel, No. 60, 30 do. Sash locks and and bolts, by the gross, 50 do. Hooks, wardrobe, coat, hat, harness and school-house, 50 do. Sash cord irons, packed 2 gross in a paper box, 35 do.

LATH.—A nominal sort of position continues on this market for want of sufficient movement to give matters a good fair test. Even the arrival and sale of two or three cargoes would hardly settle the point as all regular influences are out of joint at this season, and fluctuation likely to arise through very small causes. Appearances, however, are favorable to sellers, and receivers, as a general thing, believe they can place all likely to come to hand without making any shading on cost. Indeed, of late, the current views have been rather fuller, if anything, at $1.60 asked, with $1.55@1.57½ bid and the small amount available quite indifferently offered.

LIME.—Operations are still confined in the main to the distribution of parcels from yard in a small way as required for early consumption, and the market is without animation. The accumulatton, however, has become somewhat reduced all around and there appears to be an inclination to greater steadiness, especially on finishing. We hear of no recent arrivals.

LUMBER.—The demand for stock suited for local consumption in its various forms for building and manufacturing purposes has increased a trifle, and our dealers are hopeful that this is the forerunner of an addition to business which is to verify the predictions of an improved condition of the lumber trade during the current year. It is, of course, yet too early to become over sanguine upon this matter, but there certainly appears reason for cheerful expectations in view of similar indications in other lines of merchandize, and especially building material and preparations already under way, which, if continued, must result in a good, full consumption. Owners of vacant and heretofore unremunerative property, now see an opportunity to obtain something out of their investments through the facilities offered by rapid transit, and are well incliped to make the additions necessary to secure the return. We hear of a greater number of orders given for special cargoes for spring delivery, and an increasing call for estimates. Prices remain pretty steady but not much inclined to buoyancy, as a reasonable cost is another and important factor in stimulating consumption. The export demand is somewhat irregular at present and uncertain as to the future but with a few exceptions seems to be considered at somewhat less promising than the home trade.

Eastern Spruce remains pretty steady in tone and would be more active on a better offering of desirable cargoes. A number of dealers want stock and would no doubt compete to secure attractive schedules. On contract there is also evidences of a very good demand, but it is of a more cautious character and the figuring is closer. Some negotiations have been closed at pretty full rates as we have before noted, but buyers were in the main of a class compelled to come to an early decision in order to perfect general plans, while those not thus pressed stand off and seek for easier terms. We quote at $11.50@12.00 for random, possibly $12.50@13.00 for choice lengths in small cargoes and $13.00@14.00 for specials, the extreme for extra difficult.

White Pine remains favorable to the selling interest in a general way, but the market affords no special encouragement to hope that the advantage can be greatly increased. For home consumption buyers are willing to take along steadily, at about former rates, such lots as can be used within early date and on good parcels will occasionally anticipate their wants somewhat, but give good evidence that slight additions to cost must greatly curtail their orders. Much the same rule holds good with exporters, who claim that between unpropetious markets abroad and full freight charges they have very limited margins. We quote at $14.50@15.00 per M for West India shipping boards; $19.50@21 for South American do.; $14@15 for box boards; $16@17 for do. wide and sound; and timber to order at $38@50 per M.

Yellow Pine remains in very good shape according to current report, and dealers appear satisfied. In some cases the amount of orders taken, it is said, has already engaged the full capacity of the mills for a long time ahead and additional contracts are not sought after. This, however, is a very common report about this time of the year, and it is not likely that any buyer offering full rates and good terms has gone away dissatisfied. There does not seem to be many favorable expectations over the European export trade, but the West Indies and South America are looked to for their usual call. We quote random cargoes at about $18@22 per M.; ordered cargoes $22@24 do.; green flooring boards, $20@21 do., and dry do. do, $20@23. Cargoes at the South, $13@14.50 per M.; hewed timber $7.50@14.

Shingles show no great change. More or less in the way of an export call is reported, and dealers are hopeful that this outlet will develope with greater liberality at an early day. At present the home consumption is slow, but from certain indications there is a prospect of a very good demand with the opening of spring trade. Cypress are selling at about $5 for saps and $8.50@9 for hearts; pine shipping stocks, $4 for 18-inch, and Eastern sawed grades at $2.50@4.50 for 16-inch, as to quality and quantity. Machine-dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: For 30-inch, $16@22.25 for A. and $28.75@33.25 for No. 1; for 24-inch, $6.50@16 for A. and $16.75@23 for No. 1; for 20-inch, $5@10.50 for A. and $11.25@15.75 for No. 1.

Hardwoods have found a somewhat better demand on home account for manufacturing purposes, and for fine selections of stock occasional pretty high rates were made. The accumulation on hand does not increase in quantity or assortment, and is under sufficient control to induce confidence among holders. Some exporters are thought to be in possession of pretty full orders, and this helps the position to a considerable extent. We quote at wholesale rates by car load about as follows: Walnut, $77@85 per M.; ash, $33@36 do; oak, $35@40 do; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do. do., culls, $18@20 do; cherry, $45@75 do; white wood, ½ and ⅝ inch, $25@27.50, and do. inch $33@35 do; hickory, $35@45 do. for Western, and $65@75 for good near by stock.

At the yards the business doing does not appear to be very active, yet in reality there is a good, general movement going on, and the majority of dealers are very well satisfied with the aggregate of trade reached on their jobbing operations. Prices, too, are fair, and give in nearly all cases some little margin for profit, and this adds to the cheerful tone. There is, however, an irregularity arising out of terms made and distance of delivery, which requires a pretty wide range on quotations, and it is impossible to name an exact figure on any grade.

From among the lumber charters recently reported we select the following:

An Am. barque, 291 tons, from Brunswick to Rio Grande do Sul, 200 M. lumber, $23 net; a Br. ship, 1,028 tons, from St. John, N. THE WEST.

SAGINAW VALLEY.

Lumberman's Gazette:

BAY CITY, February 18, 1879.

A number of retail buyers have been in the market during the past week, but few transactions have come to light, the majority of sales, so far as we could learn, being at opening market prices. Current wholesale or cargo quotations are not well defined, but may be nominally quoted at from $5@5.25 for culls, $10@10.50 for common, and $25.50@27 for uppers, the tendency being toward the highest prices named for good to extra stock. For lath there is a fair demand with but slight change from old figures. The market for shingles is dull and the movement by rail has been light. They range from $2 25 to $2.50 for No. 1, with clear butts $1 less. The demand for lumber has been principally for 1½ inch stuff of common grades, which has found a ready sale. The number of buyers on the market is less than usual at this season of the year, which leads to the belief that the demand later will be greater.

The Logging Prospect.—Letters of inquiry to different lumbering points tributary to the Saginaw Valley and the shore have developed the fact that logging, as a rule, has been quite successful the past winter, the majority of the operators having accomplished all they intended and this being done have suspended operations. While the camps usually are run until the middle and even the latter part of March, many have already broken up, and the men are now coming from the woods. By the close of this month, from the present outlook, at least half of the camps on the Tittabawassee, Rifle and Au Gres will have been broken up and logging operations suspended. The stock secured will be a fair one, but not an overstock, and with a probability verging onto a certainty, with the present amount of snow in the woods, there will be plenty or water for the spring freshet, and the logs will all come down. The feeling among lumbermen is hopeful, and the indications seem to point to an increased trade next season. While lumber may be cheaper, it has cost from $1 to $1.50 per thousand feet less to bank logs this winter than last, and freights will be low, so that with a good movement the situation will be, on the whole, much improved.

The following from the Lumberman and Manufacturer:

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., February 13, 1879.

The trade of the past week shows a slight improvement, and dealers report business again picking up. The shipments were larger than in any week during the present year. Reports from Wisconsin and Michigan are to the effect that snow has fallen in sufficient quantities to enable loggers to do good work. On the upper Mississippi and St Croix the outlook is not so favorable. Many of the crews are working at night on ice roads. The cold weather of tho past few days may have the effect to render the roads sufficiently hard to make sprinklers effective, which they can hardly be said to have been during the thaw. The prospects for a log drive are not very promising, and in view of a failure, stocks on hand are held more firmly, with less inclination to favor buyers with prices. Prices at Minneapolis remain nominally unchanged.

The Secretary of the Lumberman's Exchange presents the following figures, showing the stock of lumber, etc., on hand in Chicago on February 1st with the usual comparisons:

	Feb. 1, 1879.	Feb. 1, 1878.	Jan. 1, 1879.
Lumber, m. ft.	357,590	352,356	410,574
Shingles, m	186,386	126,172	200,760
Lath, m pcs	39,944	44,392	41,271
Pickets, ft.	972,586	1,876,400	1,106,654
Cedar posts, ps	427,510	376,331	479,085

The receipts from January 1st to February 10th were 11,612 M. feet lumber and 10,174 M. shingles. The shipments, 41,666 M. feet lumber and 4,080 M. shingles.

The stock of lumber on hand at the principal distributing markets on January 1st was as follows:

	Jan. 1, 1889. Lumber, ft.	Jan. 1. 1878. Lumber, ft.
Mississippi and branches	611,330,979	519,702,435
L. Michigan ports	694,376,671	609,350,121
East Michigan and Lake Erie	518,745,000	547,400,000

The total, including Fond du Lac, Oshkosh and Flint is 1,896,952,640 feet, against 1,768,452,556 feet in 1878.

THE SOUTH.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution has the following on the Georgia timber trade:

The Board of Directors of the Southern Timber and Lumber Association, which recently met in Savannah, had under discussion the depression in the timber and lumber business. The exchange of views on the part of the members of the board showed that the present demoralized and unprofitable condition of the trade in this and other States is largely due to the reckless cutting and stealing of timber from Government and State lands. The board adopted a series of resolutions setting forth the fact that large quantities of pitch pine are stolen from lands belonging to the Government and cut in the most wasteful manner, enabling shippers to unfairly compete with Georgia shippers in price and quality of cut, and thus depressing the market. The resolutions also declare that all the pine counties of Georgia are largely dependent on the lumber and timber trade for prosperity, and that widespread distress and depression of general business interests now exist in these counties from this cause, making it the manifest interest of all owners, cutters and manufacturers of timber or lumber and all merchants interested in the solvency of the trade in Georgia to unite in stopping one of the principal causes of the low prices of land, timber and lumber in the State.

In view of these facts the Board of Directors have authorized the Executive Committee of the association to at once prepare a memorial to the Legislature of Georgia setting forth the facts in the case, petitioning the State for relief, and asking that instructions be given the Senators and Representatives of the State at Washington, to confer with the Secretary of the Interior, and to urge upon and support him in a policy which shall prevent the manifest injustice of compelling Georgia shippers to compete against stolen timber, from which injustice the citizens of the State annually lose many hundred thousand dollars. It is to be hoped that the members of the association will succeed in arousing the Legislature to the importance of taking action in the matter. A large and thrifty class of our population is vitally interested in finding a remedy for the evil that has already succeeded in crippling the timber trade of Georgia.

THE PROVINCES.

ST. JOHN LUMBER TRADE.

The following observations from an exchange show the diminished trade in lumber at that point:

The following table shows the quantities of deals and ends, boards and scantling, exported from St. John during the month of January past, distinguishing the ports to which the same were sent:

	Deales & Ends. Sq. ft.	Boards & Scantling Sq. ft.
Liverpool	2,836,001	62,820
Glasgow	48,835	9,509
United States	305,677	444,438
Spanish W. Indies	970,360	.....

In addition to the above, the following were exported during the month: 33,433 shooks, 15,000 shingles to Spanish West Indies; 492,000 lath to United States; 64,065 palings to Liverpool; 102,160 do to British West Indies; 2,042 logs, 32 cases of spool blocks and 33,469 feet of spool wood to Glasgow; 30 cases of clothes-line, 59 cases of broom handles and 1,484 tons of birch timber to Liverpool; 3 bundles of braids (samples) to Cardenas, and 6,850 pickets to the United States.

From Musquash during the month past 166,431 feet of boards were exported to Barbadoes.

NAILS.—There has been some floating rumors of a considerable contraction on the amount of the product by all the principal manufacturers, to go into effect at an early date; but trade here is not influenced, or likely to be, until it feels the influence of the actual pinch of a short stock. The demand fair, covering about the usual proportion of shipping orders. We quote nominally 10d. to 60d., common fence and sheathing per keg, $2.10@2.15; 8d, and 9d., common do. per keg, $2.40; 6d. and 7d., common per keg, $2.65; 4d. and 5d., common do., per keg, $2.90; 3d. and 4d., light, per keg, $3.65; 3d., fine, per keg, $4.40; 2d., per keg, $4.40. Cut spikes, all sizes, $2.60. Floor casing and box, 75c. above the same sizes of common. Finishing, $1 above and fine finishing $1.25 above.

CLINCH NAILS.

1¾ to 1½in.	2 & 2¼in.	2½ & 2¾ in.	3 in. & longer
$5.00	$4.50	$4.25	$4.00 per keg.

OILS.—Stocks of desirable quality remain under very good control and are sparingly offered as a rule. Demand, however, shows some caution, and buyers are rather inclined to confine their orders to a basis of early necessity. We quote linseed oil, 61@64c. ₱ gallon; lard, 57@59c. for winter; 49@52c. for No. 1, and 45@47c. for No. 2; crude cotton seed, 34@35c., and refined summer yellow, do., 42@43c.

PAINTS.—A very good general business is doing in a jobbing way, and the indications appear to be favorable for a still further increase on the principal and standard lines of stock. The basis of demand is also to be found in the natural wants of consumption, and dealers find this and the indications that a farther increase may be looked for, a source of considerable encouragement. White "lead" has quieted down somewhat as against the animation of the early portion of the month, but is held quite firmly for all good brands. Zinc fairly active on domestic, but foreign slow. Carmine has found a very fair sale, but the movement aided somewhat by a slight reduction on cost. Quicksilver vermilion selling with some little animation, and at comparatively full rates. Terra Alba not plenty but finds no very anxious call. Paris green commences to harden somewhat in price, as there is an indication that speculators are commencing to take hold, and the stocks on hand are not very large.

PITCH.—Demand keeps along in about the ordinary channel, and the market develops very few really new features. Stocks are so placed as to prevent the necessity for any pressure to realize, and holders ideas are steady, without, however, much inclination to look for higher figures. We quote at $1.80@2 per bbl. for City delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Business has again been rather slow in the wholesale way, and buyers careful, though not gaining many favors. For jobbing parcels, however, a fair and possibly somewhat better demand prevailed with a firm market ruling. As this report is closed we quote at 30@32c. per gallon, according to quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—Stocks are still held quite steadily, and moderately offered with the general tone of the market favorable to sellers, especially on jobbing parcels. Demand, however, is cautious and does not go beyond the early wants of buyers. We quote at $2@2.37½ per bbl. for Newberne and Washington, and $2.12½@2.50 for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

LAW OFFICES IN THE EQUITABLE BUILDING.

In so extensive a building as that of the Equitable Society, at 120 Broadway, changes necessarily occur from time to time, but the tendency more and more among lawyers is to look out for vacant rooms in a building, which, like this, offers special advantages to the profession.

Only the tenants of the building can use the Law Library, which is one of the most complete in the country, and is a most attractive place for quiet work and study. A room has been prepared in the same building for the use of tenants, specially intended for references and private consultations. These, with the law telegraph and the many other conveniences, render the building the most popular among lawyers in the city.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C. and C. a. G. occur, pre ceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows: 1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed in which all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or incumbered.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date
